TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1852.

India Board, September 18, 1852.

THE following Dispatches have been this day received at the East India House:

The Governor-General of India in Council to the Secret Committee of the East India Company.

(Extract.) Fort William, August 7, 1852.

IT is in the highest degree satisfactory to us to be enabled to report that the health of the troops on service in Burmah continues good.

Supplies are superabundant. An immense population has collected round Rangoon and Kেমেন্দিনে. They are quiet and manageable, and they exhibit the most perfect confidence in the troops of every description,—a testimony to the forbearance and good conduct of the force, which will be appreciated by you.

The advance of the steam flotilla on Prome, during which fifty-six pieces of artillery were captured from the enemy, is reported to you.

Commodore G. R. Lambert, R.N. to the Governor-General of India.

I HAVE the honour to forward to you a copy of a letter I have received from Commander Tarleton, of Her Majesty's ship Fox, detailing the services he has performed while in charge of the flotilla in the Irrawaddy.

It gives me great pleasure to state, that gallant and valuable as these services have been, they are strictly in accordance with what I considered were your Lordship's wishes, namely, to gain a correct knowledge of the river as far as Prome, which had hitherto been so imperfectly described, and to dislodge and harass the enemy wherever they appeared, if practicable. How this service has been performed I leave to your judgment to decide, after your perusal of Commander Tarleton's letter.

You will perceive, without particularizing any individual under his command, how fully he appreciates the aid he received from all who partook in this gallant enterprize.

Commander J. W. Tarleton, R. N. to Commodore Lambert.

(Extract.) Moniew, July 11, 1852.

I HAVE the honour to inform you that, in pursuance of the instructions contained in your letter, addressed to me on the 30th ultimo, I proceeded up the Irrawaddy as far as Yengaim, where

I anchored on the 7th instant, having been joined on the way by the East India Company's steamers Proserpine and Mahanuddy. This place is now deserted both by the enemy and its inhabitants; and we were thus compelled to procure our own fuel. While thus employed, the East India Company's steamer Phlegethon joined company; when, finding that she had coal sufficient to supply the other vessels, I immediately proceeded with the four steamers. At two P.M. when opposite to Kon-nonghee, a large number of armed men were observed collected on the bank. On a shell being fired amongst them, they immediately disappeared, either into the jungle, or some holes or trenches near the water's edge, whence they opened a most vigorous fire from five or six guns, and a vast number of muskets. I remained with the flotilla abreast their position for an hour, shelling the enemy to the best of our ability; but, protected as they were by the embankment, no decided impression could be made on them. I have no doubt that we could have carried the work, by running one of the small steamers along side, and throwing the small arm men on shore, but this service could not have been performed without certain loss; and, beyond spiking the guns, there was no object to be gained, the jungle covering the bank offering a secure retreat to the Burmese, from which they would have returned as soon as we had re-embarked. I considered, therefore, that I should be more fully carrying out your instructions, in making this a reconnoitring force, by pushing forwards, without further attempt to dislodge the enemy, reported by the neighbouring inhabitants to be 1500 strong. I have the honour to enclose a list of casualties on this occasion; they are confined to the Medusa, at which, as the leading vessel, the enemy's fire seems to have been principally directed.

At sunset the flotilla anchored off Mcaoung; at daylight, on the 8th, it again weighed, and proceeded till within sight of an extensive fortification crowning the end of a ridge of hills about 300 feet high, terminating abruptly at the town of Akouk-toung (marked in the chart Peeinghee). Bandoola was reported to be here with 7000 men, and a number of guns, differently stated from fifteen to forty. Having ascertained from the pilot that a passage might probably be found at this season through a creek to the eastward of the island, opposite Akouk-toung, and thus completely out of range of the enemy's guns, I determined to attempt it, and happily succeeded in getting through, with not less than two fathoms water. Here we learnt that a small steamer belonging to the King of Ava had only left the day previous, and that the whole army of the country was centred at Akouk-toung, or its neighbourhood.

Foreseeing the panic which the presence of the steamers would create above the defensive force, I urged forwards with all speed, detaching the Proserpine, as the fastest vessel, to endeavour, by proceeding through the night, to overtake the Government vessel. Mr. Brooking, however, found this impracticable, and was compelled to anchor.

The Mahanuddy's fuel being now exhausted, I left the Phlegethon with her, to supply her wants, and, by dint of great attention on the part of Lieutenant Fraser, Indian Navy, and the officers of the Medusa, I succeeded in steaming through the night, and reached Prome at daylight on the 9th. At the south end of the town, near the water's edge, I observed four heavy guns, but no armed men near them. I accordingly anchored the vessel abreast the spot, landed, and made fast a hawser to them, and hove them off: the iron guns were disabled, and sunk in deep water; and the brass ones taken on board. At seven, the Proserpine joined, and, a few hours afterwards, the two other vessels, and, with the boats' crews of the Fox heartily entering on the work, every gun in Prome, twenty-three in number (see Return), were thus brought off. In the afternoon, I ascended ten miles higher up the river, as far as Zeegain, where I anchored for the night, leaving the other vessels at Prome to transfer fuel.

I had now, Sir, fully carried out the instructions contained in your letter of the 30th June. There was no prospect of overtaking the steamer, and I had seriously to consider the safety of the vessels under my orders. With an enterprising foe, I was aware that the creek near Akouk-toung might be made impassable; and even by the Burmese, when, by the large force in the neighbourhood, such means were at their command. I, therefore, decided on an immediate return, with the view to prevent their having time to complete their preparations. I rejoined the vessels off Prome, at daylight on the 10th, and commenced the descent of the river. The city had been in our possession for twenty-four hours, the Governor, Mounghwine, having fled at our approach. At 10 A.M. we arrived at the entrance of Akouk-toung Creek; when about half way through, we observed several large boats, crowded with armed men: at first it was difficult to make out their intentions, whether these were to attack the vessels, supported by a fire from the shore, or were crossing. It proved to be the latter; and they succeeded, before our guns could be brought to bear upon them, in reaching the bank; from which a straggling fire of musketry was opened, but soon silenced by the great guns of the flotilla. Ten men, who had not time to escape from one of the boats, were made prisoners, and will be sent to Rangoon for interrogation. The steamers now turned round, and ascended the creek again, dispersing the enemy wherever he was to be seen, brought away five brass guns on field-piece carriages that were still in the boats, and burnt the general's state barge and a number of war boats, with a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

I am not quite certain as to the movements of the enemy; the reports of the natives not entirely agreeing. They stated that the force began to cross at 3 P.M. on the 9th, and continued to do so through the night, and until we reached them at 10 A.M. on the 10th, as above related. One party insisted that the whole army had crossed; but this was not true, as men could be seen still on the fortifications opposite. The other stated that a thousand men only had been sent over to defend the creek. I am inclined to believe that the principal part of the army, including the general, had crossed (as our informant told us) on their way to Prome, the road to which leads from here, leaving a small force only at Akouk-toung. The barge, with the two gilt umbrellas and flag, would certainly not have been on this side had Bandoola not crossed himself; and I do not think it probable he would have come over with a detachment. I now continued the descent of the river, being joined by the East India Company's steamer Pluto, at 3 P.M. The enemy had evacuated his trenches at Koun-oung, and gone upward. At sunset, the flotilla was anchored off this place, where it is employed provisioning, and getting into readiness for further service.

I trust that this expedition has, for the present, entirely freed the lower country of the presence of the enemy, and I do not apprehend that they will again venture so far from Prome. This will be an incalculable blessing to the inhabitants, who evince to us everywhere the most friendly disposition, and only require security to become contented and happy.

I should be doing great injustice to every officer and man in this little force (consisting of the Medusa, Phlegethon, Proserpine, Mahanuddy, with three boats of the Fox, and twenty marines, the officer commanding whom I regret to say is severely wounded) if I failed to represent to you the zeal and attention that has been shewn on this service by all; without it, I have no hesitation in saying that it could not have been brought to a successful issue.

J. W. TARLETON, Commander, R.N.

Commodore G. R. Lambert to the Governor-General of India.

Her Majesty's ship Fox, at Rangoon, (Extract.) July 21, 1852.

IN continuation of my dispatch, dated the 14th instant, I have the honour to inform you that this morning I received a report* from Commander Tarleton, detailing further successful operations against the enemy in the neighbourhood of Prome, by a portion of the flotilla under his orders.

Mr. Burbank, the Commander of the Pluto, having been informed that the Burmese troops had evacuated the fortified post on the heights of Akouk-toung, and had left their artillery there, he sent a force on shore to demolish the works, and to destroy or bring on board the guns.

This was accomplished on the 14th instant, without any opposition, after five hours' hard work under a burning sun; when all the enemy's guns on the heights of Akouk-toung, 28 in number, were either destroyed or brought off to the steamers. Their calibre was from 4 to 18 pounders.

Next day the steamers proceeded to Sahlaydan, where they captured six large boats laden with grain and arms, which were being conveyed upwards; and, on the 16th, arrived off Pendangmew, where some Government boats were destroyed.

On the morning of the 17th, Mr. Burbank anchored off Prome. Some of the inhabitants immediately came off with the intelligence that 500 troops had been stationed on the hill at the back of the town, but decamped directly the steamers came in sight. He also learnt that General Bandoola, with the remnant of his army, consisting of only 2000 men, the rest having deserted, was encamped at Ethamew, a town without any defences, nine miles inland. The inhabitants of Prome, as well as of all the other towns, are most anxious that a steamer shall be permitted to remain off their city, to protect them from the lawless gangs of disbanded soldiers.

In bringing Mr. Burbank's zeal and activity to my notice, Commander Tarleton recapitulates the services performed by the small steam force under his orders, assisted by three boats and 60 seamen and marines from Her Majesty's ship Fox, during the last ten days.

The river has been ascended to Prome, 56 guns have been captured, 10 war boats, and several boats containing military stores and ammunition have been burnt; and an army of 7000 men, commanded by one of the highest officers in the Burman empire, dispersed, with the exception of 2000 who are collected in the neighbourhood of Prome, where, without artillery or defences, they are no longer formidable.
