WHEREAS by a certain warrant, bearing date the eighteenth day of March, in the year of our Lord 1853, under the hands and seals of two of the Commissioners of the Property and Income Tax, acting for the district of Holborn, in the county of Middlesex, reciting that James Scott, of Southampton-buildings, Holborn, a Collector of the duties on profits arising from property, professions, trades, and offices, for the united parishes of Saint Andrew Holborn, and Saint George the Martyr, in the said district, had, as such Collector, collected and received from divers persons within the said united parishes the sum of five hundred and eighty-five pounds, five shillings and eight pence, in respect of the said duties, and that the said James Scott had neglected to pay the said sum of money, according to the directions of the several Acts of Parliament in that behalf, and that he had detained and did then detain the same in his hands, and hath not paid or accounted for the same in manner directed by the said Acts:
