TUESDAY, JULY 11, 1854.

Admiralty, July 11, 1854.

A LETTER, of which the following is a copy, has been received from Commander Rice, of Her Majesty's steam-sloop Prometheus.

No. 6. Her Majesty's steam-sloop Prometheus, Gibraltar, June 28, 1854.

I HAVE the honour to report to you, for the information of my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that, in pursuance of their Lordships' orders, I left Lisbon, on the evening of the 22nd instant, and proceeded towards Gibraltar.

On the afternoon of the following day, when about six miles S.W. of Cape St. Vincent, I fell in with Her Majesty's steamer Medina. On learning from her commander that she had despatches for Admiral Dundas, and that her coal would not be sufficient to take her either to Gibraltar or Cadiz, I kept company with her until the next morning, when, as it blew hard from the eastward, with a heavy sea, I was unable to take her in tow until the afternoon, when it moderated.

I left her at Cadiz, at 6 A.M., the 25th instant, and proceeded to Gibraltar, where I arrived at 6 o'clock the same evening.

Having immediately communicated with Captain the Hon. George Grey (delivering to him their Lordships' letter), I was informed by him that, on the night of Tuesday last, the 20th instant, an English brig, called the "Cuthbert Young," of South Shields, had been captured and plundered by piratical boats, about 10 miles to the N.W. of Cape Tres Forcas, but that the master and crew,* 12 in number, had escaped, and arrived at Gibraltar. Captain Grey sent the master, Mr. Marshall, on board, as also a pilot, for the Riff Coast, and at 8 o'clock the same evening I proceeded to sea.

On the following morning I anchored for a short time near the Spanish Fort of Albuçema, which is on the coast of the district of Beni Oriaga (mentioned in the extract of a despatch enclosed in their Lordships' letter), and communicated with the Governor. I learnt from him that the boy referred to by their Lordships' letter had been given up and sent to Tangier, unhurt, in charge of two soldiers of the Emperor of Morocco, four days previously, having been confined five weeks in the neighbourhood of Albuçema.

The Spanish vessel captured by the Moors was

* I have since learnt that only six arrived here; the other six went away from the brig in a boat but have not been heard of, they left half an hour before the master and other five escaped.

laden with water, oil, and Spanish Government stores for the fort of Albuçema. She was taken at night, and subsequently destroyed on the shore of Beni Oriaga, in sight of the Spanish garrison, just out of gun shot.

The Moors sent to offer to sell her, the cargo, and the boy, to the Governor of Albuçema for 6,000 reals. The Governor declined, and detained the messenger as a hostage for the security of the boy, and he is still a prisoner, but to be released.

The boy was given up immediately the two persons sent by the Governor of Setuan arrived. I believe their Lordships are informed that seven of the captors of the felucca were made prisoners by the Governor of Tetuan when attempting to sell the oil, &c., which they had carried there for sale.

The Governor of Albuçema also informed me that he believed the Spanish Government were about to station a force of armed vessels at Penon Velez, Albuçema, and Melilla for the suppression of piracy.

On leaving Albuçema, I proceeded close along the coast, in search of the brig "Cuthbert Young," and at 4 P.M. found her anchored about 200 yards from the shore, in a rocky inlet, 10 or 12 miles S.W. of Cape Tres Forcas, near the spot marked "Zera" on the chart. I steamed in towards her, and as we neared her, the Moors opened fire on us with volleys of musketry from the rocks, among which the brig was anchored. As the brig was in 3 fathoms water I could get close to her, and Lieutenant Visconti and a party of men were sent to make a hawser fast from our bows to hers, and to slip the cable. The cable could not be unshackled, the anchor was therefore hove up, and at 6 o'clock we backed out of the cove with the brig in tow.

Soon after the Moors had begun firing, and were assembled in considerable numbers round us, we opened fire on those ahead, and on the port bow from the pivot gun forward, and on those on the starboard side and starboard quarter, from the quarter deck guns, with grape, canister, and short range shells. The Minie muskets were also used with success.

The firing under the direction of Lieutenant Edye, senior lieutenant, was very accurate, and the Moors must, in all probability, have suffered severely.

Lieutenant Visconti and his party did their duty of running out and securing the hawser, and weighing the anchor, &c., &c., with great steadiness.

During the hour and a half we were employed in getting the brig away, the Moors kept up a constant fire, which, from the nature of the ground, they were, from some quarters further in shore, able to do so with comparative safety.

I am happy to say that we had but one casualty, John Hays, stoker, wounded in the head by a musket ball, but not dangerously.

The brig is complete, with the exception of the destruction of some of the internal fittings and spare sails.

At 7 30, I proceeded with the brig in tow for this place, where I have the honour to report my arrival at 1 A. M. this day.

Shortly after leaving the shore, at Zera, the starboard engine broke down, and we have been obliged to proceed, until within 20 miles of this place, working one engine only. I find that the defects of both engines, as detailed in the report of Mr. Thomas Murray, Chief Engineer, herewith enclosed, will detain us at this place three or four days. As soon as ready I shall return to Lisbon, agreeable to their Lordships' orders.

I have, &c.,

EDW. R. RICE, Commander and Senior Officer.

The Secretary of the Admiralty, London.

AT the Court at Buckingham Palace, the 3rd day of July, 1854.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by the eleventh section of "The Merchant Shipping Law Amendment Act, 1853," it was enacted that, upon the erection of any new lighthouse, Her Majesty might, by Order in Council, fix such toll in respect thereof, to be paid by the master or owner of every ship which should pass the same, or derive benefit therefrom, as Her Majesty might deem reasonable.

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, in exercise of the powers vested in Her by the said recited Act, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, is pleased to direct :

That upon the erection and lighting of the said lights, respectively, on the Out Skerries of Whalsey, and upon the island of Unst, there shall be paid in respect of each of the said lights, for every British vessel (the same not belonging to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, or being navigated wholly in ballast), and for every foreign vessel privileged to enter the ports of the United Kingdom upon paying the same duties of tonnage as are payable by British vessels, which may pass or derive benefit from such light, the toll of two-sixteenths of a penny per ton of the burthen of every such vessel for every time of passing or deriving benefit therefrom, if on a coasting voyage, and one penny per ton for each time of passing or deriving benefit therefrom, if on an oversea voyage ; and for every foreign vessel not navigated wholly in ballast, and not privileged in manner hereinbefore mentioned, double the amount of the respective tolls hereinbefore specified, according to the voyage on which she may be employed :

And that the said tolls, in respect of each of the said lighthouses shall be levied by the Commissioners of Northern Lighthouses subject to the abatement or discount of twenty-five per cent. on vessels engaged in oversea voyages, and of ten per cent. on vessels engaged in coasting voyages, provided for by an Order in Council, dated the twenty-ninth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, and subject also to the regulations contained in a table of tolls prepared by the said Commissioners, and sanctioned by an Order in Council, dated the thirtieth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four.

The Ulting Hall Estate and the Champions Estate, comprising the several manors of Ulting and Champions, and very valuable Freehold Farms near Chelmsford, Witham, and Maldon, in the county of Essex; several Rent Charges in lieu of Tithes, and a Freehold Land Tax.

MESSRS. Daniel Smith and Son will sell by auction, in four lots, at the Mart, on Tuesday July the 18th, by Order of the High Court of Chancery, and with the approbation of the Vice-Chancellor Sir John Stuart, in a cause Nicholson v. Locke.

First, that truly desirable and valuable property called the Ulting Hall Estate, consisting of the Manor and Grove Farms, in the parishes of Langford and Ulting, comprising, altogether, 427 acres, in a ring fence, all freehold (with the exception of a few perches of copyhold), and in high condition, and a very superior farm residence and homestead, together with the rent charges in lieu of the great tithes of the larger part of the estate (the whole being in the occupation of Mr. William Aldham, under a lease which has but a few years to run), and together also with the Manor of Ulting, its quit-rents, fishery, &c.

Secondly, that very superior Corn Farm, well known as Champions, in the parish of Woodham Ferris, comprising 534 acres, in a ring fence, all freehold, and in high condition, with a most respectable and commodious residence, and farm homestead (the whole being in the occupation of Mr. James Paine and Mr. Thomas Main, under a short lease), together with the valuable manor of Champions, its courts leet, fines, beast heriots, and quit-rents. The above estates are within an easy distance of the county town and other good markets, and one of them (the Ulting Hall Estate) is partly bounded by the river Chelmer; they form remarkably good properties for investment, and present a particularly desirable opportunity for any persons, who being fond of agricultural pursuits, wish to secure compact properties for the employment of their skill and capital; they are well adapted for game, and the right of sportiug is reserved to the landlords.
