Admiralty, July 27, 1854.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies, have been received from Vice-Admiral Dundas, C.B., Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the Mediterranean and Black Sea:

Destruction of Batteries, &c., at the Sulina. Death of Captain Hyde Parker, of the Firebrand.

No. 330, Britannia, off Baljick, July 11, 1854.

I HAVE the honour to enclose for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, copies of the reports of Commander Powell and other officers, who, on the 8th instant, attacked and completely destroyed the inner batteries, stockades and buildings, at the Sulina Mouth of the Danube.

2. The satisfaction I feel at the perfect success of this gallant exploit, is much diminished by the death of Captain Hyde Parker, who fell when leading his men.

The service has lost in him a most promising young officer, who was always zealous to do his duty, and never made a difficulty.

3. Acting Lieutenant Lyons, after the fall of his gallant captain, commanded the Firebrand's boats, and most admirably did his duty, suffering a loss in his own boat of five men wounded.

I have, &c.

J. W. D. DUNDAS, Vice-Admiral.

The Secretary of the Admiralty.

Enclosure No. 1, in Mediterranean Letter No. 333.

Her Majesty's ship Vesuvius, off Sulina, July 8, 1854.

SIR, IT is with great grief that I have to report to you that Captain Hyde Parker, of Her Majesty's steam-frigate Firebrand, has been this day killed whilst in the act of leading his men to take a stockade battery on the Danube.

The loss of this gallant Officer is but ill compensated by the complete success with which his attack was attended.

The circumstances are as follows: Captain Hyde Parke directed a strong party of boats from the Firebrand and Vesuvius to accompany him up the Danube for the purpose of destroying some works which were occupied by the Russians. At 2 P.M. the boats entered the Danube, Captain Parker's gig in advance; at a bend of the river, opposite a number of houses on the right bank and a large stockade on the left, a sharp fire was opened upon him, and his boat was nearly riddled, some of his men were wounded.

The heavy boats were coming up and Captain Parker at once pulled back to them, hailing me to land the marines and be ready to storm. This order was executed by the marines and a detachment of seamen in the same gallant spirit with which it was given. Captain Parker then dashed on shore, in his gig, and at once advanced with a few men, he was in front and greatly exposed; a tremendous fire was soon opened by the enemy upon them, and a few minutes after landing a bullet passed through their leader's heart, and in a moment this gallant sailor ceased to live. Thus died an officer whose merits, sir, are well known to yourself. His conduct on this occasion leaves an example of valour that never can be erased from the memory of those who were present.

The command of the force then devolved upon myself. I directed the gun-boats, and rocket-boat at once to be brought to the front; the storming party was formed by Lieutenant Jull, R.M.A., the gun-boats commenced a most effective fire upon the houses and battery, and in a short time the enemy's fire was silenced.

I directed the storming party to advance, and the place was entered at a run by a detachment of marines and sailors, headed by Lieutenant Jull, R.M.A., and Lieutenant Hawkey, R.M.

We found that the enemy had already retreated at the rear, and so thick was the cover, that pursuit was in vain.

The work that we had taken was a gabion battery, the guns of which had been taken away and the embrasures filled up. It consisted of a front along the river raised about 15 feet high, and 400 yards in extent; in the rear was a morass, and the two flanks, which were not 30 yards in length, were defended as in front; this work enclosed about fifty Government houses, stables, store-houses, and a magazine. The works have been entirely demolished, the houses destroyed, and nothing now marks the spot but a heap of ruins. Part of the town of Sulina, from whence the enemy had opened fire, has been burnt; the principal street I have thought it proper to spare.

There was no means of computing the enemy's loss, although they were seen to fall inside the intrenchments. I am disposed to think that they were assisted in carrying off their wounded, and even defending the place, by some Greeks, as men in the dress of that country were seen intermixed with the Russian troops.

From the heavy fire that was opened upon us, and from the number that were seen afterwards collected at a distance, the enemy must have been in great force before they retreated.

It becomes my duty to report to you the extreme good conduct of all employed on this occasion. The gun-boats were most skilfully managed under circumstances of great difficulty. They were commanded by Lieutenant Sullivan, Acting-Lieutenant Lyons, and Messrs. Gooden and Kerby, mates.

Mr. Carey, second master, has, I regret to say, been badly wounded; he behaved most creditably.

It fell to Lieutenant Jull's lot to have an opportunity of particularly distinguishing himself by his coolness and gallantry whilst in command of the marines, and he speaks most highly of Lieutenant Hawkey, the non-commissioned officers and men that were with him.

The medical officers have merited our best thanks. Dr. O'Hagan, in the execution of his duty, was in the midst of the fire, and his clothes were pierced with bullets.

I must claim your indulgence for the hasty manner in which this Dispatch has been written, as I wish the Firebrand to join your flag immediately, with the body of the late well-loved and gallant Captain Hyde Parker.

I have, &c.

(Signed) RICHARD A. POWELL, Commander.

Vice-Admiral J. W. D. Dundas, C.B.

Enclosure No. 2, in Mediterranean Letter No. 333.

Her Majesty's steam-frigate Firebrand, off Sulina, July 8, 1854.

SIR

I BEG leave to enclose the accompanying letter from Mr. Lyons (Acting-Lieutenant), who commanded the boats of this ship in the attack and destruction of the stockaded battery at the Sulina Mouth of the Danube. He speaks highly of the conduct of the officers and men under his command, especially James Shade, able seaman; but as you were personally present, it only remains for me to state, that Mr. Lyons has displayed much courage and ability, on more than this occasion, since joining the ship.

The death, ever and deeply to be lamented, of our much loved Captain, Hyde Parker, has thrown a deep gloom on all who had the fortune to serve under him; but he died leaving an example to all who survive him, of heroic gallantry and ability.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) WM. GORE JONES,
Senior Lieutenant Commanding Her Majesty's Ship Firebrand.

To Commander R. Powell, R.N.,
H.M.'s Steam-sloop Vesuvius.

Sub-Enclosure No. 1, in Enclosure No. 2, in the Mediterranean Letter, No. 330.

*Her Majesty's steam-frigate Firebrand,
off Sulina, July 8, 1854.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to forward the returns of the boats employed and the number of men killed and wounded at the attack and capture, this day, of a stockade on the left bank of the Danube.

The command of one division of the boats, after the lamented death of Captain Hyde Parker, devolved on me; the pinnace under my immediate command being in advance of the other boats, caused the principal part of the enemy's fire to be directed upon her, and I regret to say that five men in that boat were wounded (three severely).

I have, sir, to speak in the highest terms of the good conduct and steadiness of the whole of the officers and men under my command under the galling fire of the enemy, and I would beg to bring them strongly before your notice. Where all behaved so well it is almost invidious to particularize, but I beg particularly to mention James Shade, able seaman, who, I regret to say, after much distinguishing himself, was severely wounded.

Lieutenant Jull, R.M.A., speaks in equally high terms of the conduct of the marines under his command.

As you have already been made acquainted with the circumstances under which his country has to mourn the death of Captain Hyde Parker, and the total defeat of the enemy and destruction of their works, which followed, yet scarcely avenged it, it will not be necessary for me to enter into any details of the engagement.

I have, &c.

(Signed) ALGERNON LYONS,
Acting Lieutenant.
