Balakhava, September 28, 1854.

MY LORD DUKE,

I HAVE the greatest satisfaction in acquainting your Grace, that the Army under my command obtained possession of this important place on the 26th instant, and thus established a new and secure base for our future operations.

The Allied Armies quitted their position above the Alma on the morning of the 23rd, and moved across the Katscha, where they halted for the night, and on the following day passed the Belbeck.

It then appeared that the enemy had established a work, which commanded the entrance of the river, and debarred its use for the disembarkation of troops, provisions, and material; and it became expedient to consider whether the line of attack upon the north side should not be abandoned, and another course of operation adopted.

It having, after due deliberation, been determined by Marshal St. Arnaud and myself, that we should relinquish our communication with the Katscha, and the hope of establishing it by the Belbeck, and endeavour, by a flank march to the left to go round Sevastopol and seize Balaklava, the movement was commenced on the 25th, and completed on the following day by the capture of this place by Her Majesty's troops, which led the advance. The march was attended with great difficulties. On leaving the high road from the Belbeck to Sevastopol, the Army had to traverse a dense wood, in which there was but one road that led in the direction it was necessary to take. That road was left in the first instance to the Cavalry and Artillery; and the divisions were ordered to march by compass and make a way for themselves as well as they could; and, indeed, the Artillery of the Light Division pursued the same course as long as it was found to be possible, but, as the wood became more impracticable, the batteries could not proceed otherwise than by getting into the road above mentioned.

The Head Quarters of the Army, followed by several batteries of Artillery, were the first to clear the forest, near what is called, in Major Jarvis' map, Mackenzie's Farm, and at once found themselves on the flank and rear of a Russian division, on the march to Baské-Serai.

This was attacked as soon as the cavalry, which had diverged a little into a bye and intricate path, could be brought up. A vast quantity of ammunition and much valuable baggage fell into our hands, and the pursuit was discontinued after about a mile and a half, it being a great object to reach the Tschernaya that evening.

The Russians lost a few men, and some prisoners were taken, amongst whom was a Captain of Artillery.

The march was then resumed by the descent of a steep and difficult defile into the plains, through which runs the Tschernaya River, and this the cavalry succeeded in reaching shortly before dark, followed in the course of the night by the Light, First, Second, and Third Divisions; the Fourth Division having been left on the heights above the Belbeck till the following day, to maintain our communication with the Katscha.

This march, which took the enemy quite by surprise, was a very long and toilsome one, and, except at Mackenzie's Farm, where two wells, yielding a scanty supply, were found, the troops were without water, but they supported their fatigues and privations with the utmost cheerfulness, and resumed their march to this place on the morning of the 26th.

As they approached Balaklava nothing indicated that it was held in force; but as resistance was offered to the advance of the Rifle Brigade, and guns were opened from an old castle, as the head of the column shewed itself on the road leading into the town, I deemed it prudent to occupy the two flanking heights by the Light Division and a portion of Captain Brandling's troop of Horse Artillery on the left; movements terminated by the surrender of the place, which had been occupied by very inconsiderable numbers of the enemy.

Shortly after we had taken possession we were greeted by Captain Mends, of the Agamemnon, and soon after by Sir Edmund Lyons himself.

His co-operation was secured to us by the activity and enterprize of Lieutenant Maxse, of Her Majesty's Ship Agamemnon, who reached my camp on the Tschernaya, on the night of the 25th with despatches, and who volunteered immediately to retrace his steps through the forest, and to communicate to Sir Edmund the importance I attached to his presence at the mouth of the harbour of Balaklava the next morning, which difficult service (from the intricacy of the country infested by Cossacks) he accomplished so effectually that the Admiral was enabled to appear off this harbour at the very moment that our troops shewed themselves upon the heights.

Nothing could be more opportune than his arrival, and yesterday the magnificent ship that bears his flag entered this beautiful harbour; and the Admiral, as has been his invariable practice, co-operated with the Army in every way possible.

We are busily engaged in disembarking our siege train and provisions, and we are most desirous of undertaking the attack of Sevastopol without the loss of a day. I moved up two divisions yesterday to its immediate neighbourhood, when I was enabled to have a good view of the place; and Lieutenant-General Sir John Burgoyne and General Bisot, the French Chef de Génie are occupied in reconnoitering it closely to-day.

The march of the French Army on the 25th was still more fatiguing and prolonged than ours. Being behind our columns they could not reach Tschernaya till the next day, and I fear must have suffered sadly from want of water.

I regret to have to acquaint your Grace, that Marshal St. Arnaud has been compelled, by severe illness, to relinquish the command of the Army. I saw him on the 25th, when he was suffering very much, and he felt it his duty to resign the next morning. I view his retirement with deep concern, having always found in him every disposition to act in concert with me. He has since become much worse, and is I fear in a very precarious state.

Fortunately he is succeeded by an officer of high reputation, General Canrobert, with whom I am satisfied I shall have great pleasure in acting, and who is equally desirous of maintaining the most friendly relations with me.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) RAGLAN.

His Grace the Duke of Newcastle.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the annexed code of regulations for the admission of candidates at the first examination, to be held in January next, for the appointment of Assistant-Surgeons in the service of the East India Company, has been framed by the Board of Commissioners for the Affairs of India, under the provisions of the Act 16 and 17 Vic., cap. 95, sec. 38.

"I (christian and surname at full length), a candidate for employment as an Assistant-Surgeon, in the service of the East India Company, do hereby declare, that I was _____ years of age on the _____ day of _____ last, and that I labour under no constitutional disease or physical disability that can interfere with the due discharge of the duties of a medical officer; and I also attest my readiness to proceed on duty to India within three months of receiving my appointment."

This declaration must be accompanied by the following documents:

1. Proof of age, either by extract from the register of the parish in which the candidate was born, or by his own declaration, pursuant to the Act 5 and 6 Wm. 4th, c. 62.

2. A diploma in surgery or a degree in medicine, provided an examination in surgery be required for such degree, from somebody competent by law to grant or confer such diploma or degree.

3. A certificate of having attended two courses of lectures, of six months each, on the practice of physic, and of having attended for six months the practice and clinical instruction of the physicians at some hospital, containing at least on an average one hundred in-patients; or of having attended one course of lectures of six months on the practice of physic, and clinical instruction for twelve months.

4. A certificate of having attended for three months the practical instruction given at one of the public asylums for the treatment of the insane.

Candidates producing satisfactory certificates will be admitted to an examination to be held in January, 1855.

The examination will include the following subjects:

1. Surgery in all its departments.
2. Medicine, including the diseases of women and children, therapeutics, pharmacy, and hygiene.
3. Anatomy and physiology, including comparative anatomy.

2. By object examinations and experiments, when the subject admits of such tests.
3. By practical examination at the bedside of the patient, and by dissections and operations on the dead body.
4. By vivâ voce examination.

The persons who shall be pronounced by the examiners to be the best qualified in all respects, shall be appointed to fill the requisite number of appointments as Assistant-Surgeons in the East India Company's Service.

All Assistant-Surgeons are required to subscribe to the military or medical, and medical retiring funds at the presidencies to which they may be respectively appointed, and to the Military Orphan Society also, if appointed to Bengal.

All Assistant-Surgeons who shall neglect or refuse to proceed to India under the orders of the Court of Directors, within three months from the date of their appointments, will be considered as having forfeited them, unless special circumstances shall justify a departure from this regulation.

Candidates may apply to Dr. Scott, 13, Stratton-street, for further information, if needed.

N.B. The certificates and notices as to examination herein contained apply only to the examination to be held in January next.

Regulations regarding the requirements of candidates for future examinations will be issued after the first examination.

James C. Melvill, Secretary.

Note.—4th October, 1854.

Candidates who may not have been able to attend the practice of an asylum for the insane, or of an ophthalmic hospital, for three months previous to offering themselves for examination in January, 1855, will not be excluded from examination, but will, if successful in obtaining recommendation for appointments, be required to produce certificates of having attended such practice during the interval between the examination and the time of proceeding to India.

The Board of Examiners of candidates for the appointments of Assistant-Surgeons in the East India Company's Service give notice, that on the 8th January, 1855, they will hold examinations at the East India House for the selection of Assistant-Surgeons.
