FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1855.

LORD PANMURE has addressed the following Telegraphic Despatch to General Simpson.

War Department, September 12, 1855.

THE Queen has received with deep emotion the welcome intelligence of the fall of Sebastopol.

Penetrated with profound gratitude to the Almighty, who has vouchsafed this triumph to the Allied Army, Her Majesty has commanded me to express to yourself, and, through you, to the Army, the pride with which she regards this fresh instance of their heroism.

The Queen congratulates her troops on the triumphant issue of this protracted siege, and thanks them for the cheerfulness and fortitude with which they have encountered its toils, and the valour which has led to its termination.

The Queen deeply laments that this success is not without its alloy in the heavy losses which have been sustained; and, while she rejoices in the victory, Her Majesty deeply sympathises with the noble sufferers in their country's cause.

You will be pleased to congratulate General Pelissier, in Her Majesty's name, upon the brilliant result of the assault on the Malakhoff, which proves the irresistible force as well as indomitable courage of our brave Allies.

WE your Majesty's most humble servants, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses, of the Borough

To your Majesty, and to His Royal Highness Prince Albert, we tender our gratitude for the munificent encouragement given to Art and Science, whereby they have flourished during your benignant reign beyond all example, not only in your Majesty's dominions, but throughout the civilized world.

Especially we beseech your Majesty and His Royal Highness Prince Albert, to condescend to accept our most cordial thanks for the liberal patronage with which your Majesty and the Prince have been pleased to assist our Community in its endeavour to raise a monument to the memory of the illustrious Newton.

And we devoutly pray Almighty God ever to pour his choicest blessings upon your Majesty, and your Royal Consort and Family.
