The Pragmatica about the Money begins to be put in execution; The Pistoles are to go now for 40 Silver Reals, and other Pieces proportionably. The Emperor's Ambassador has acquainted the King with the News of the taking of Segedin, Five Churches, and other places in Hungary.

The Count Onoffe Campori, Envoy from the Duke of Modena, to Compliment the Count de Fuenfalida upon his coming to this Government, made yesterday his Publick Entry into this City. The Duke of Mantua arrived here this day from Genova, being accompanied with a great many Persons of Quality, who went from hence to meet him. The Marquis de los Balhaces is arrived at Castelleto.

Lemberg, Novemb. 29. The Court is expected here this week from Zolkiew, where we hear several Councils have been held about the Affairs of Moscovy. The Czar's Ambassadors refuse to enter into any Conference, till they have had their Audience; And the Commissioners whom the King had appointed to adjust with them the Difficulties arisen concerning the execution of the League lately concluded at Moscov, are gone to Zolkiew, to give his Majesty an account thereof. These Ambassadors have Orders, after they have performed their Commission at this Court, to go to Vienna. The King has not yet named the Person to be employed in the Embassy to the Sophy of Persia. The great Men of Lithuania insist to have the next Dyet meet at Grodno. An Envoy is arrived here from the Chant of Tartary, accompanied with Deputies from the Prince of Valachia, to treat about the exchange of Prisoners taken during this last Campaigne.

Warsaw, Decemb. 12. We have an account from Zolkiew, that the Senate having, to express their respect to the Prince, the King's eldest Son, and the Regard they have for his Valorous Actions during the last Campaignes, desired he might be introduced into the great Council; He had accordingly assisted in the said Council the 2d Instant for the first time, taking his place on the King's Left-hand. It's reported that a Turkish Envoy is arrived at Caminnec, being sent to the King of Poland with Proposals of Peace. They say the Grand Signior offers to yield to him Caminnec, and the whole Ukraine.

Buda, Decemb. 14. We have an account that the Turkish Troops are moving towards Essecke, with a design, as is thought, to put Succors into the places they have left in Lower Hungary, which we have the more reason to believe, for that we are assured they have caused a great many Boats laden with all sorts of Ammunition and Provisions, to be drawn up the Danube by Men and Horses from Belgrade to Essecke; at which last place they have likewise provided Materials to make a Bridge over the Danube for a Communication with Temeswaer, Great Waradin, &c. We are farther told, That they have reinforced the Garrison of Valpo, situated on the other side of the Drave over against Siclos; And that the Grand Visier, after having given these, and such other Orders as he thought necessary for the security of the Turkish Garrisons on that side, was parted from Belgrade for Constantinople, whither the Grand Signior had called him, to direct the Preparations for the next Campaigne. They write from Zalnocke and Segedin, that Lieutenant-General Carassa had so ordered the Quarters for the Imperial Troops under his Command, that it was not feared the Turks would be able to put any Succors in, to Agria, Great Waradin, or Montgat, although they had advice that the Enemy had very considerably reinforced the Garrisons
