Board of Trade, Whitehall, August 21, 1857.

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade and Plantations have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at St. Petersburgh, enclosing a circular which has been addressed to him by the Minister for Foreign Affairs, calling attention to certain regulations which have been laid down for vessels navigating the River Neva, of which the following is a translation:—

In the course of this navigation many captains of merchant-vessels of great draught of water, enter the channel of the Neva in spite of injunctions from the authorities of the Ports of St. Petersburgh and Cronstadt, and often venture into the channel without a pilot, and there run aground and stop the passage of other vessels.

These cases have for some time past become so frequent, that the Ministry of Marine is forced to call for the interposition of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs, to insist upon the captains of foreign merchantmen—

1. To conform strictly to the directions of the commanders of the guard and light ships.
2. Not to enter the channel without a pilot.
3. Not to attempt to cross from Cronstadt to St. Petersburgh, and vice versâ unless their vessels, when loaded, draw less than eight feet of water, or, where this is not the case, either to lighten the vessel or to cast anchor at the first signal from the Captain of the Guard Ship.

Every vessel of any nation or tonnage, which, in spite of the injunctions from the authorities of the port, shall disobey orders, will be liable to a fine of 25 silver roubles.
