THE following papers have been received at the East India House :—

No. 1.

GENERAL ORDER BY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA.

*Military Department. Allahabad,
April 5, 1858.*

No. 54 of 1858.

THE Governor-General having now received the despatches from his Excellency the Commander-in-chief, giving an account of the re-taking of Lucknow by the force under his Excellency's personal command, is pleased to publish them for general information :—

In December last, it became the grateful duty of the Governor-General in Council to promulgate, in General Orders, the announcement of the relief of the garrison of Lucknow, so admirably achieved by General Sir Colin Campbell, G.C.B., and the rescue of the women and children, sick and wounded, long beleaguered there. It is now the Governor-General's privilege to convey to his Excellency the tribute of his highest admiration, and of his most cordial congratulations, on the capture of the strong city of the rebels.

From the 2nd till the 16th of March, a series of masterly operations took place, by which the Commander-in-chief, nobly supported, in his well-laid plans of attack, by the ability and skill of the General Officers, and by the indomitable bravery and resolution of the officers and men of all arms, drove the rebels successively from all their strongly-fortified posts, till the whole fell into the possession of our troops.

That this great success should have been accomplished at so little cost of valuable lives, enhances the honor due to the leader who has achieved it.

It is a pleasure to the Governor-General to acknowledge publicly the services of the General and other officers who took part in the capture of Lucknow.

During the last days of the operations, the Nepaulese force, under Maharajah Jung Bahadoor, was associated with the army under General Sir Colin Campbell's command.

To the distinguished leader of that force, the Maharajah Jung Bahadoor, the Governor-General desires to express his thanks for the hearty co-operation which the Commander-in-chief received from his Highness, and for the gallant bearing of his Highness' troops.

To Major-General Sir James Outram, G.C.B., the Government of India is under a new debt of gratitude. After having held the exposed post of Alumbagh for more than three months, in the face of powerful bodies of rebels, whose attacks he never failed to repel, Sir James Outram has further greatly distinguished himself at the head of the 1st Division, by the brilliant and thoroughly complete manner in which he executed the duties entrusted to him. The Governor-General requests that Sir James Outram will accept his most sincere thanks.

His Lordship offers his hearty acknowledgments to the other General Officers whose services are prominently noticed in these despatches :—

To Major-General Mansfield, Chief of the Staff, of whose eminent services the Commander-in-chief speaks with well-merited commendation.

To Major-General Sir Archdale Wilson, Baronet, K.C.B., in chief command of the Artillery, who, after winning lasting renown in the capture of Delhi, has borne a conspicuous part in the reduction of Lucknow.

To Major-General Sir J. Hope Grant, K.C.B., commanding the Cavalry of the force; to Brigadier-General Franks, C.B.; Brigadier-General Walpole, and Brigadier-General Sir Edward Lugard, K.C.B., commanding the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th Divisions of Infantry.

The Governor-General has to record his acknowledgments to Captain Sir William Peel, K.C.B., commanding the Naval Brigade of Her Majesty's ship "Shannon," and to offer his especial thanks to him for his remarkable services.

The Governor-General entirely concurs with his Excellency the Commander-in-chief, in prominently recognizing the great skill and ability of Brigadier Napier, who commanded the Engineers of Her Majesty's and the East India Company's Services forming part of the force. Brigadier Napier is especially entitled to the thanks of the Governor-General; and to him, to Colonel Harness, commanding the Royal Engineers, and to the several officers under them, of both the services, his Lordship's grateful acknowledgments are offered.

The Governor-General has much satisfaction in expressing his high sense of the merits of the several officers commanding Brigades and Regiments.

To the commanding officers of the Royal Artillery, of the Naval Artillery, and of the Bengal and Madras Artillery, the Governor-General tenders his cordial thanks.

To Major Norman, Deputy Adjutant-General of the Army, to whose superior merits and distinguished services the Commander-in-chief bears willing testimony, a tribute in which the Governor-General concurs; to Colonel the Honourable W. L. Pakenham, C.B., Officiating Adjutant-General, Her Majesty's Forces in India; to Lieutenant Colonel Macpherson, Officiating Quartermaster-General of the Army; to Captain Seymour, Officiating Quartermaster-General, Her Majesty's Forces; to Captain Bruce, Deputy Quartermaster-General, and Captain Algood, Assistant Quartermaster-General; to Lieutenant-Colonel Keith Young, Judge Advocate General; to Captain Fitzgerald, Assistant Commissary-General, who is specially mentioned by the Commander-in-chief; to Lieutenant P. Stewart, of Engineers, Superintendent of Electric Telegraphs; to Dr. MacAndrew, Inspector-General of Hospitals, Her Majesty's Forces, and to Dr. Brown, Superintending Surgeon of the Force;—the Governor-General has much satisfaction in expressing his sense of the good service they have rendered.

To the officers of the Personal Staff of the Commander-in-chief, of the Chief of the Staff, and of General Officers commanding Divisions, the thanks of the Governor-General are due; and his Lordship records his acknowledgments to the officers of the Staff of Divisions and Brigades, all of whom have zealously performed their duty.

To the officers and men of every service, soldiers, seamen, and marines, composing the force by which Lucknow has been taken, the Governor-General desires to express his admiration of their conduct, and to tender to each individual the thanks of the Government of India. His Lordship will take the earliest opportunity of bringing under the favourable notice of Her Majesty's Government, and of the Honourable the Court of Directors, the services rendered by the force.

In testimony of these services, the Governor-General is pleased to direct that every officer and soldier, European and Native, and the officers and men of the Navy, who took part in the capture of Lucknow, shall receive a donation of six months' batta.

By order of the Right Honourable the Governor-General,

R. J. H. BIRCH, Colonel,
Secretary to the Government of India,
Military Department, with the Governor-General.

No. 2.

The Commander-in-chief to the Governor-General of India.

*Camp, La Martiniere, Lucknow,

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honor to announce to your Lordship that I transferred my head-quarters to the camp of Brigadier-General Sir Edward Lugard, K.C.B., at Buntara, on the 28th ultimo; the Division which had been detached under Brigadier-General Sir J. Hope Grant, K.C.B., and that under Brigadier-General Walpole, joining the next day.

Having received tolerably correct information with respect to the lines of works which had been constructed by the enemy for the defence of Lucknow, it appeared evident to me that the necessity would arise for operating from both sides of the Goomtee when the capture of the city should be seriously entertained.

Two very important reasons conduced to show the expediency of such a course: the one being that it would become possible to enfilade many of the enemy's new works; the other, that great avenues of supply would be closed against the town, although I could not hope to invest a city having a circumference of twenty miles.

My first preparations, therefore, were made for the purpose of crossing the river. Bridges of casks had been previously constructed, and were ready in the Engineers' park.

On the 2nd of March, I advanced on Dilkoosha with troops as per margin,* and seized that position after a skirmish, in which a gun was taken from the enemy.

When the brigades of Infantry began to close on the advance guard, the enemy opened several guns, which were in position in strong bastions, along the line of the canal. This fire was heavy and well sustained.

These guns commanded the plateau, and compelled me to retire the camp as far back as it was possible, but not so far as I could have wished, owing to the ravines in rear.

The Palace of Dilkoosha was occupied as an advance picquet on the right, and the Mahomedbagh on the left; heavy guns being placed in battery at both points to keep down the hostile fire.

* Detail.

Head-quarters of the Division of Artillery, and of the Field Artillery Brigade, under Major-General Sir A. Wilson, K.C.B., and Colonel D. Wood, C.B., Royal Horse Artillery.

Lieutenant-Colonel D'Aguilar's troop, Royal Horse Artillery.

Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs, C.B., and Lieutenant Bishops Troops: Bengal Horse Artillery, under Lieutenant-Colonel Turner.

Two 24-pounders and two 8-inch howitzers of the "Shannon's" Naval Brigade; two companies, Punjab Sappers and Miners.

The head-quarters of the Cavalry Division, and the 1st Cavalry Brigade under Brigadier-General Sir J. H. Grant, K.C.B., and Brigadier Little.

Her Majesty's 9th Lancers.

2nd Punjab Irregular Cavalry.

Detachment of 5th Punjab ditto.

1st Sikh Irregular Cavalry.

The 2nd Division of Infantry, under Brigadier-General Sir E. Lugard, K.C.B., consisting of—3rd Brigade, Brigadier P. M. M. Guy: Her Majesty's 34th, 38th, and 53rd Regiments.

4th Brigade, Brigadier the Honorable A. Hope: 42nd and 93rd Highlanders, and 4th Punjab Rifles.

During the whole of the 2nd, until these arrangements could be completed, the troops were much annoyed by the enemy's guns.

After that day, until an advance took place, although the shot ranged up to, and sometimes into, the camp, but slight loss ensued from this cause.

On the 3rd and 4th, the remainder of the Siege Train, together with Brigadier-General Walpole's Division, closed up on the Dilkhoosha position, the right of our line resting on Bibiapore and the Goomtee, the left being towards Alumbagh.

There was an interval of about two miles between our left and Jellalabad, the right of the Alumbagh position. This interval was occupied by a Regiment of Irregular Horse.* Brigadier Campbell, with a strong brigade of Cavalry and Horse Artillery, secured the extreme left, and swept the country towards the North-West.

Three Infantry regiments were withdrawn from Alumbagh, and joined the Head-Quarters Camp.

On the 5th, General Franks, or the 4th Division of Infantry, came into direct communication with me. This officer had marched right across the Kingdom of Oudh, having signally defeated many bodies of insurgents, and kept his time with punctuality according to the orders given to him, with which your Lordship is already acquainted.

On the same day the Goomtee was bridged near Bibiapore. Whilst the bridge was being formed, the enemy showed on the left bank, causing the necessity of a disposition of troops and heavy guns. He did not, however, make a real attack.

These guns were very useful in another respect, as their practice on the Martiniere silenced much fire, which would otherwise have annoyed the picquets.

They were accordingly kept on the same ground for some days, till the advance of the troops rendered them unnecessary.

On the 6th, Sir James Outram, G.C.B., who had been withdrawn from Alumbagh, crossed to the left bank of the Goomtee with troops as per margin,† the 4th Division under Brigadier-General Franks, C.B., taking the place vacated by Brigadier-General Walpole in the line.

The plan of attack which had been conceived, was now developed, and Sir J. Outram was directed to push his advance up the left bank of the Goomtee, while the troops in the position of Dilkhoosha remained at rest till it should have become apparent that the first line of the enemy's works, or the rampart running along the canal, and abutting on the Goomtee, had been turned.

The works may be briefly described as follows:—

The series of courts and buildings called the Kaiser Bagh, considered as a citadel by the rebels, was shut in by three lines of defence towards the Goomtee, of which the line of the canal was the outer one.

* Hodson's.

† Force sent across the Goomtee under Sir J. Outram:

Detail.—Lieutenant-Colonel D'Aguilar's Troop, Royal Horse Artillery; Major Remington's and Captain McKinnon's Troops Bengal Horse Artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel F. Turner; Captains Gibbons and Middleton's Light Field Batteries, Royal Artillery and Head-Quarters Field Artillery Brigade; Head Quarters Cavalry Division and of 1st Cavalry Brigade; Her Majesty's 2nd Dragoon Guards (Bays); Her Majesty's 9th Lancers; 2nd Punjaub Cavalry; Detachments 1st and 5th Punjaub Cavalry, under Captains Watson and Sanford; 3rd Infantry Division under Brigadier-General R. Walpole; 5th Brigade, Brigadier Douglas, C.B.—Her Majesty's 23rd Fusiliers, 79th Highlanders,

The second line circled round the large building called the Mess-house and the Motee Mahal, and the first or interior one was the principal rampart of the Kaiser Bagh.

The rear of the inclosures of the latter being closed in by the city, through which approach would have been dangerous to an assailant.

These lines were flanked by numerous bastions, and rested at one end on the Goomtee, and at the other on the great buildings of the street, called the Huzrut Gunge, all of which were strongly fortified, and flanked the street in every direction.

Extraordinary care had been expended on the defences of the houses and bastions, to enfilade the street. This duty was ably performed by Sir James Outram, who pitched his camp on the 6th instant, after a skirmish of his advance guard, in front of the Chukkur Walla Kotee, or Yellow House.

On the 7th he was attacked by the enemy, who was speedily driven back.

Having reconnoitered the ground on the 8th instant, I directed Sir James Outram to arrange his batteries during the succeeding night, and to attack the enemy's position, the key of which was the Chukkur Walla Kotee, the next day, or the 9th.

This was done in very good style by the troops, under his command, the enemy being driven at all points, the Yellow House being seized, and the whole force advanced for some distance through ground affording excellent cover for the enemy.

He was then able to bring his right shoulders forward, occupying the Fyzabad road, and to plant his batteries for the purpose of enfilading the works on the canal before alluded to.

He lost no time in doing this, other batteries of heavy guns and howitzers being constructed during the following night to play on the works, and the Kaiserbagh.

While this attack was being made by Sir James Outram, along the left bank of the Goomtee on the 9th instant, a very heavy fire was kept up on the Martiniere both from mortars and heavy guns, placed in position during the previous night, on the Dilkhoosha Plateau.

At 2 P.M., the 42nd Highlanders, supported by the 93rd Highlanders, the 53rd and 90th Regiments, stormed the Martiniere, under the direction of Brigadier-General Sir Edward Lugard, K.C.B., and Brigadier the Honourable Adrian Hope.

It was quickly seen that the enfilading fire on the line of the canal from the opposite side of the river had produced the expected result.

The 4th Punjaub Infantry, supported by the 42nd Highlanders, climbed up the entrenchment abutting on the Goomtee, and proceeded to sweep down the whole line of the works, till they got to the neighbourhood of Banks' House, when it became necessary to close operations for the night.

Major Wylde, 4th Punjaub Rifles, distinguished himself very much on this occasion.

The line of works was strongly occupied by the troops which had first entered, and by the 52nd Regiment.

On the 10th instant, Sir James Outram was engaged in strengthening his position. Sir James Hope Grant, K.C.B., being employed in patrolling towards the cantonment with the Cavalry placed under Sir James Outram's orders, a system of extensive patrolling or reconnaissance having been established by my order in that direction, from the time that the first position had been taken up across the Goomtee.

At sunrise on the same day a disposition of and 1st Bengal Fusiliers; 6th Brigade, Brigadier Horsford, C.B.—2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade; 3rd Battalion ditto; and 2nd Punjaub Infantry.

troops and heavy guns was made by Sir Edward Lugard, for the attack of Banks' House, which was carried at noon, and secured as a strong military post.

The second part of the plan of attack against the Kaiserbagh now came into operation, viz., to use the great blocks of houses and palaces, extending from Banks' House to the Kaiserbagh, as our approach, instead of sapping up towards the front of the second line of works.

By these means I was enabled to turn the new works towards our own left, at the same time that they were enfiladed on the right by Sir James Outram's advance.

The latter had already received orders to plant his guns with a view to raking the enemy's position, to annoy the Kaiserbagh both with vertical and direct fire, also to attack the suburbs in the vicinity of the Iron and Stone Bridges, shortly after daybreak, and so command the Iron Bridge from the left bank.

All this was carried out by Sir James Outram with the most marked success.

The enemy, however, still held tenaciously to his own end of the Iron Bridge on the right bank, and there was a heavy cannonading from both sides, till the bridge was afterwards taken in reverse.

Sir Edward Lugard's attack on the 11th, was pressed forward in like manner.

The operation had now become one of engineering character, and the most earnest endeavours were made to save the Infantry from being hazarded, before due preparation had been made.

The Chief Engineer, Brigadier Napier, placed the batteries with a view to breaching and shelling a large block of palaces called the Begum Kotee.

The latter was stormed with great gallantry by the 93rd Highlanders, supported by the 4th Punjab Rifles, and 1,000 Goorkhas, led by Brigadier the Honourable Adrian Hope, under the direction of Brigadier-General Sir Edward Lugard, at 4 P.M.

The troops secured the whole block of buildings, and inflicted a very heavy loss on the enemy, the attack having been one of very desperate character.

This was the sternest struggle which occurred during the siege.

From thenceforward the Chief Engineer pushed his approach with the greatest judgment through the inclosures by the aid of the Sappers and heavy guns, the troops immediately occupying the ground as he advanced, and the mortars being moved from one position to another, as ground was won on which they could be placed.

The buildings to the right, and the Secunder Bagh, were taken in the early morning of the same day without opposition.

During the night of the 12th, Sir James Outram was reinforced with a number of heavy guns and mortars, and directed to increase his fire on the Kaiserbagh, while, at the same time, mortars placed in position at the Begum's house, never ceased to play on the Emambara, the next large palace it was necessary to storm between the Begum Kotee and the Kaiserbagh.

On Brigadier-General Franks, C.B., who had relieved Sir Edward Lugard, and the 2nd Division, with the 4th Division, on the 12th instant, devolved the duty of attacking the Emambara.

A column of attack was formed for that purpose by Brigadier D. Russell, on the morning of the 14th.

In the meantime, the Maharajah Jung Bahadur, with a force of about 9,000 men, and with twenty-four field guns drawn by men, had arrived, and taken his position in our line on the 12th instant, and moved close to the canal on the 13th.

At my request, his Highness was begged by Brigadier-General Macgregor, C.B., the Special Commissioner attached to him, to pass the canal and attack the suburb in his front, and considerably to the left of Banks' house. To this his Highness acceded with much willingness, and his force was most advantageously employed in thus covering my left for several days, during which, from the nature of our operations, I was obliged to mass all the available strength of the British force towards the right, in the joint attack carried along both banks of the Goomtee.

The Emambara was carried early on the 14th, and the Sikhs of the Ferozepore regiment under Major Brasyer, pressing forward in pursuit, entered the Kaiserbagh, the third line of the defences having been turned without a single gun being fired from them.

Supports were quickly thrown in, and all the well-known ground of former defence and attack, the mess-house, the Tara Kotee, the Motee Mehal, and the Chuttur Munzil, were rapidly occupied by the troops, while the engineers devoted their attention to securing the position towards the south and west. The day was one of long and continued exertion, and every one felt that, although much remained to be done before the final expulsion of the rebels, the most difficult part of the undertaking had been overcome.

This is not the place for description of the various buildings successively sapped into or stormed; suffice it to say, that they formed a range of massive palaces and walled courts of vast extent, equalled perhaps, but certainly not surpassed, in any capital in Europe. Every outlet had been covered by a work, and on every side were prepared barricades and loopholed parapets.

The extraordinary industry evinced by the enemy in this respect has been really unexampled. Hence the absolute necessity for holding the troops in hand, till at each successive move forward the Engineers reported to me, that all which could be effected by Artillery and the Sappers had been done, before the troops were led to the assault.

The 15th instant was employed in securing what had been taken, removing powder, destroying mines, and fixing mortars for the further bombardment of the positions still held by the enemy on the line of our advance up the Goomtee, and in the heart of the city.

Brigadier-General Sir J. Hope Grant, K.C.B., was sent out with Cavalry on one side towards Seetapore to intercept fugitives, while Brigadier Campbell marched with like orders in the direction of Sundeela on a similar duty. They returned on the 17th to their former positions.

On the 16th instant, Sir James Outram, with the 5th Brigade under Brigadier Douglas, supported by two other regiments, Her Majesty's 20th and the regiment of Ferozepore, having crossed over the Goomtee by a bridge of casks opposite the Secunderbagh, advanced, according to order, through the Chutter Munzil to take the Residency.

During the first movements of this operation, a movement of the enemy in retreat across the stone bridge became apparent.

Sir James was ordered to press forward, and he was able, almost without opposition, not only to take the iron bridge in reverse, which was my principal object, but also to advance for more than a mile, and occupy the Muchee Bawun and Great Emambara.

In short, the city was ours.

Brigadier-General Walpole's picquets on the left bank were attacked by the retreating enemy, who was, as usual, heavily repulsed.

On the 19th a combined movement was organized.

Sir James Outram moved forward directly on the Mousabagh, the last position of the enemy on the line of the Goomtee.

Sir J. Hope Grant cannonaded the latter from the left bank, while Brigadier Campbell, moving right round the western side from the Alumbagh, prevented retreat in that direction.

The rout was now complete, and great loss was inflicted on the enemy by all these columns.

On the 16th, for the last time, the enemy had shown in some strength before Alumbagh, which up to that date was held by only two of our regiments.

Jung Bahadoor was requested to move to his left up the canal, and take the position in reverse from which our position at Alumbagh had been so long annoyed.

This was executed very well by his Highness, and he seized the positions, one after another, with little loss to himself.

The guns of the enemy, which the latter did not stop to take away, fell into his hands.

On the 21st, Sir Edward Lugard was directed to attack a stronghold held by the Moulvie in the heart of the city. This he occupied after a sharp contest, and it now became possible to invite the return of the inhabitants, and to rescue the city from the horrors of this prolonged contest.

Brigadier Campbell, with his Cavalry, attacked the enemy when retreating from the city in consequence of Sir Edward Lugard's advance, inflicting heavy loss, and pursued him for six miles.

I beg to inclose Sir James Outram's own account of his operations, which were removed from my immediate superintendence, till he re-crossed the Goomtee prior to the attack of the 16th.

It was matter of real gratification to me to be able to entrust the trans-Goomtee operation to this very distinguished officer; and after that had been conducted to my perfect satisfaction, to bring him forward again to put the finishing stroke on the enemy, while the extended position in the town was of necessity held by the troops who had won it. My thanks are eminently due to him, and I trust he will receive them as heartily as they are offered.

I have now the pleasing task of communicating to your Lordship the name of an officer to whom not only I, as Commanding General, but to whom, in truth, the service at large is under great obligation—Major-General Mansfield, the Chief of the Staff, whose labour has been unceasing, whose abilities are of the highest order, and have been of the greatest use to me during this campaign. It is impossible for me to praise this officer too highly, or to recommend him sufficiently to the protection of your Lordship and of the Government.

I desire to draw the particular attention of your Lordship to Brigadier-Generals Franks, C.B., Walpole, Sir J. Hope Grant, K.C.B., and Sir Edward Lugard, K.C.B.

Their divisions have been most admirably commanded, and they have on every occasion amply justified all my expectations.

Brigadier-Generals Walpole and Sir J. Hope Grant were employed more immediately under the direction of Sir James Outram, who speaks in the highest terms of the assistance he received from them.

Sir J. H. Grant's management of his Cavalry and Horse Artillery is always most admirable.

As detailed above, the manner in which the attacks on the main line of operations were directed by Sir Edward Lugard and Brigadier-General Franks reflected the greatest credit on them.

The officers in command of the Cavalry Brigades have proved themselves equal to their high position, and are worthy of your Lordship's favourable consideration.

Brigadier Campbell, in command of the Cavalry on the left, performed his detached duty with much vigilance and judgment. His march round the city on the 19th instant, which was a running fight for the greater part of the day, was a very difficult one.

His pursuit, on the 21st, of the party which broke away, after being driven by Sir Edward Lugard from Saadut Gunge, was highly effective.

Brigadier Hagart has received the marked commendation of Sir J. Hope Grant, and the Brigadiers in command of Infantry Brigades have particularly distinguished themselves under the eyes of their Divisional Commanders:—Brigadier D. Russell, 1st Brigade; Brigadier P. M. M. Guy, 3rd Brigade; Brigadier the Honourable A. Hope, 4th Brigade; Brigadier Douglas, C.B., 5th Brigade; Brigadier Horsford, C.B., 6th Brigade; Brigadier Eveleigh, 7th Brigade. And Lieutenant-Colonel Longden, Her Majesty's 10th Foot, attached to the Goorkha Brigade, by order of the Commander-in-chief.

The head-quarters 2nd Brigade, with the 5th Fusiliers, and 78th Highlanders under Brigadier Franklyn, remained at Alumbagh in position, and was well disposed by that officer to resist the enemy's demonstration on the 16th instant.

To Major-General Sir Archdale Wilson, K.C.B., my warmest acknowledgments are due for the effective manner in which he commanded the Artillery Division.

The four Corps, the Naval Brigade, the Royal Artillery, the Bengal Artillery, and the Madras Artillery, worked with the greatest harmony under his happy direction as one regiment.

The merits of Sir Archdale Wilson are too widely known to gain anything by encomium from me, but I may be permitted to express my great satisfaction at having been able to avail myself of the assistance of this most distinguished officer. The effective fire of the Artillery during the long operations which depended so much on the management of that arm, elicited general admiration.

The practice of the 68-pounders of the Naval Brigade was capital, while the Kaiserbagh and other great buildings which had been stormed, showed in a very convincing manner how truly the shells had been directed by the Royal and Bengal Artillery.

Whenever the Field Artillery could be used, the Troops of Horse Artillery, and field batteries of Royal Artillery, the Bengal Artillery, and the Madras Artillery, did the most excellent service.

Sir Archdale Wilson expresses his great obligations to Captain Sir William Peel, K.C.B., R.N., till that most gallant officer was severely wounded; and to Brigadiers Wood, C.B., Royal Horse Artillery, and Barker, C.B., Royal Artillery, respectively commanding the Field and Siege Artillery Brigades.

It would be difficult for me to give an adequate idea of the zeal and activity displayed by the Chief Engineer, Brigadier Napier, Bengal Engineers. Many of the operations depended on his proper appreciation of the obstructions to be overcome, and the means at his disposal for that purpose. His great professional skill and thorough acquaintance with the value of his enemy have been of the greatest service, and I recommend him most codially to your Lordship's protection. I am under very great obligations to him.

The officers of the great Departments of the army have accompanied me during the siege, and I beg to return them my thanks. They are as follows:—

Major H. W. Norman, Deputy Adjutant-General of the Army.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. Macpherson, Officiating Quartermaster-General of the Army.

Colonel the Honourable W. L. Pakenham, C.B., Officiating Adjutant-General of Her Majesty's Forces.

Captain C. F. Seymour, 84th Regiment, Officiating Quartermaster-General of Her Majesty's Forces.

Captain G. Algood, Officiating Assistant Quartermaster-General of the Army.

Lieutenant-Colonel Keith Young, Judge-Advocate-General of the Army.

Lieutenant P. Stewart, Bengal Engineers, Superintendent of Electric Telegraphs.

Dr. MacAndrew, Inspector-General of Hospitals, Her Majesty's Forces.

Dr. Brown, the Superintending Surgeon of the Force, has again won my sincere thanks for his admirable arrangements.

Captain Fitzgerald, Assistant Commissary-General, who has had the disposition of the Commissariat in the field, has met every want of the army. He has distinguished himself much, and is a credit to his department.

I must draw very particular attention to the services of Major Norman, Deputy Adjutant-General, who, besides his ordinary departmental duties, has performed the very onerous one of Adjutant-General of the army in the field throughout the campaign.

To Captain H. Bruce, Deputy Quartermaster-General, Head of the Intelligence Department, and to Captain G. Algood, Officiating Assistant Quartermaster-General, who performed the duties of Quartermaster-General of the army in the field, until the arrival of Lieutenant-Colonel Macpherson. These officers have all been most active in the performance of their duties.

To my personal Staff, and that of Major-General Mansfield, my acknowledgments are due, but more particularly to my Military Secretary, Colonel Sterling, C.B., and to Captain R. G. Hope Johnstone, Bombay Army, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General to the Chief of the Staff. These two officers are most indefatigable.

A list of the other members of these Staffs is appended.

Finally, I wish to draw your Lordship's attention to the conduct of the regimental officers, commissioned and non-commissioned, and to the men of the regiments.

Their conduct has been very brilliant throughout. The manner in which the 93rd Regiment flung itself into the Begum Kotee, followed by the 4th Sikhs, and supported by the 42nd, was magnificent; and the subsequent attack on the Emambara and the Kaiserbagh reflected the greatest credit on the regimental leaders of the 4th Division, and the soldiers who followed them.

Corrected lists will be sent immediately of the officers and soldiers who are deemed most worthy of distinction in a force in which every one has a claim.

I have, &c.

The Commander-in-chief to the Governor-General.

Camp, Lucknow,

March 28, 1858.

My Lord,

I HAVE the honour to report to your Lordship the departure of his Highness Jung Bahadoor from the camp before Lucknow.

I desire to take this opportunity to express my thanks to his Highness for the assistance rendered to me during the late operations by him and his gallant troops.

I found the utmost willingness on his part to accede to any desire of mine during the progress of the siege, and from the first his Highness was pleased to justify his words that he was happy to be serving under my command.

His troops have proved themselves worthy of their commanders, and it will doubtless be a happiness to them hereafter that they were associated with the British arms for the reduction of the great city of Lucknow.

My best thanks are due to the special Commissioner, Brigadier-General Macgregor, C.B., the medium of communication between his Highness and myself.

I beg to recommend him and the British officers serving under his orders to the favourable consideration of your Lordship.

I have, &c,

No. 5.

Memorandum of Operations carried on, under the command of Major-General Sir James Outram, G.C.B., during the Siege of Lucknow.

On the morning of the 6th instant, shortly before daybreak, I proceeded, with the force named in the margin,* to cross the Goomtee river, over the two temporary bridges which had been constructed by the order of his Excellency; the whole of the Cavalry being under the command of Brigadier-General Sir James Hope Grant, K.C.B., the Infantry under that of Brigadier-General Walpole, the Field Artillery under Brigadier D. Wood, C.B., the Siege Artillery, which subsequently joined me, under Lieutenant-Colonel Riddell, R.A. After proceeding a short distance in a northerly direction, the enemy became visible on our left flank, and on being approached by the Cavalry, they were discovered to be in considerable force, chiefly sowars. The 2nd Punjaub Cavalry then attacked on the right, while Major Smith, of the Queen's Bays, with two squadrons of his own regiment, one squadron of the 9th Lancers, and Lieutenant-Colonel D'Aguilar's troop of Horse Artillery, advanced from our left. The enemy were immediately driven back, and pursued to the banks of the river, many being cut up, but I regret to state that in this charge the gallant Major Smith was killed. Our camp was then formed on the Fyzabad road, about half-a-mile in advance of the village of Chihut, on the Lucknow side; early on the following morning, 7th March, the enemy made a smart attack on our advanced pickets, and brought out several guns under cover of ravines and clumps of trees in our front. They were, however, speedily withdrawn, on our skirmishers and Horse Artillery and Captain Middleton's Field Battery, protected by the Cavalry, coming to the front and opening their fire. The Artillery† practice on this occasion, as on the preceding day, was admirable.

The following day, the 8th instant, under the instructions of his Excellency, Colonel d'Aguilar's troop of Horse Artillery, and the 9th Lancers, re-crossed the river to the head-quarters camp, and the siege guns named in the margin‡ joined me. Having decided upon an attack on the enemy's position on the next morning, the 9th instant, I caused an entrenchment for eight 24-pounder guns and three 8-inch howitzers to be constructed during the night. The battery was armed, and commenced its fire at daybreak with excellent effect, after which the right column of Infantry, accompanied by Captain Gibbon's field battery, under Brigadier-General Walpole, covered with a cloud of skirmishers commanded by Brigadier Horsford, C.B., supported by the 5th Brigade, under Brigadier Douglas, drove the enemy through the jungles, walls, and villages which afforded them an excellent cover, and bringing the right shoulders forward, occupied the Fyzabad road. In the meantime, the left column of attack, composed of the 1st Bengal Fusiliers, supported by two companies of the 79th Highlanders, which had been held in readiness on the left of the battery, together with the Horse Artillery under Brigadier Wood, which had been formed in rear of the bridge across the Kokral, advanced, and in concert with the right column, carried the Chukker Kotee (or Yellow House), the key of the rebel position, in gallant style, and thereby turned the strong line of entrenchment, which had been constructed by the enemy on the right bank of the Goomtee, of which success the skirmishers on the other side of the river, subsequently, were apprised by Lieutenant Butler of the Bengal Fusiliers, who swam across the Goomtee, and climbing the parapet, remained in that position for a considerable time under heavy fire of musketry, until the work was occupied. After the occupation of the Chukker Kotee, we drove the enemy rapidly through the old Irregular Cavalry lines and suburbs to the Padshah Bagh. The fortified gates of this strong walled inclosure were blown open, and the garden occupied, and two guns found by our troops. Three guns and a howitzer were then placed in position to enfilade the works in the rear of the Martiniere, a battery of two 24-pounder guns, and two 8-inch howitzers, was placed near the river to keep down the fire from the town. A battery for five mortars was constructed during the night, and in the morning commenced playing on the Kaiserbagh. Four heavy guns were also placed in a work thrown up by the enemy at the east entrance into the Padshah Bagh.

On the 10th, we were occupied in strengthening our position, the enemy being in force in the suburbs in our front, from which they made an attack in considerable numbers on a picket held by the 79th Highlanders, but were repulsed with heavy loss. General Sir James Hope Grant occupied himself the while in patrolling the vicinity, during which operation a most valuable young officer, Major Sandford, of the 5th Punjaub Irregular Cavalry, was unfortunately killed, but the enemy suffered severely.

During this night, another battery was constructed in the Padshah Bagh for four 24-pounders, two 8-inch howitzers, and five 8-inch mortars, which kept up a vertical and direct fire on the defences in the interior of the Kaiserbagh. Two more 24-pounders were also brought to bear on the mess-house, and on the Kaiserbagh, in compliance with the instructions of his Excellency. I made arrangements to attack the suburbs in the vicinity of the iron and stone bridges, and shortly after daylight on the 11th instant, the right column as per margin,* formed on the Fyzabad road under the immediate command of Brigadier-General Walpole, and worked its way, covered by its skirmishers, through the town, until it reached the Mosque, on the old cantonment road, which commands the approach to the iron bridge.

* 79th Highlanders; 2nd and 3rd Battalions Rifle Brigade; 1st Bengal Fusiliers; Captain Gibbon's Light Field Battery, and two 24-pounders.

The left column, as per margin,* proceeded along the lower road towards the iron bridge. These two columns were connected by a strong chain of skirmishers, which, as well as the left column, met with considerable opposition, as the enemy opened three guns on them from the opposite side of the river, and also held the ground in great strength in front of the rifle skirmishers, commanded by Brevet-Major Warren, Captains Wilmot and Thynne, and Lieutenant Grey, who all behaved most gallantly. Captain Thynne, a most promising officer, I regret to say, was mortally wounded. This column occupied the houses down to the river's bank, and the head of the iron bridge, to the right of which, the two 24-pounder guns were placed in battery. The spirit and dash of the men during this critical operation was most remarkable, and merits my highest commendation. Lieutenant Moorsom, Deputy-Assistant Quartermaster-General, who had been deputed by me to guide the column, was killed on the spot, while reconnoitering on the opposite side of the road. I deplore sincerely the loss of this most gallant and promising young officer, whose soldier-like zeal and acquirements rendered him an ornament to his profession.

Having left the Bengal Fusiliers posted in the Mosque on the Cantonment Road, I proceeded with the remainder of the right column in that direction, and shortly afterwards met Sir J. H. Grant's Cavalry and Horse Artillery, which in the meantime had been operating on the extreme right. Turning now towards the Stone Bridge, we surprised the camp of the rebel 15th Irregular Horse, whose standards and two guns were captured by the Rifles; the enemy flying in all directions over the plain, many being cut up by our Cavalry.

I then penetrated to the head of the Stone Bridge, through the strong and dense suburbs, without encountering any material opposition. The enemy, however, were able to command it with guns, as well as with musketry, from the tops of several high and strong stone houses, from the opposite side of the river, and the position was, moreover, too distant, and the approaches too intricate, to warrant my holding it permanently with the force at my disposal. I therefore withdrew to the Mosque at the cross road, already occupied by the Bengal Fusiliers, our route being through suburbs in which we destroyed a quantity of munitions of war, and finally we retired to camp, when the arrangements for the occupation of the iron bridge had been completed.

During the nights of the 12th and 13th, having been reinforced by four 18-pounder guns, two 10-inch howitzers, five 10-inch mortars and four 5½-inch mortars, three batteries were erected, from which five 10-inch mortars, ten 8-inch mortars, four 24-pounder guns, were brought to bear upon the Kaiserbagh, on the fall of which, on the morning of the 14th, the guns and mortars were turned on the Residency, and the buildings to the right of the bridge. During this operation Lieutenant Cuthbert, of the Royal Artillery, brought himself prominently to notice by extinguishing a fire in a small building in front of his battery, in a very dangerous and exposed position. The operations, connected with a breastwork across the Iron Bridge, were conducted by Lieutenant Wynne, R. E., and Serjeant Paul, who displayed great coolness and resolution in the face of a heavy and continual fire.

* Two 24-pounder guns, three field battery guns, Royal Artillery, 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers, 2nd Punjaub Infantry, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Pratt.

Having been ordered to join his Excellency's camp, my operations on the north side of the Goomtee were here brought to a close.

Our casualties during these proceedings amounted to 5 officers killed, and 9 wounded, and the loss in men, including serjeants, was 21 killed, and 101 wounded; total 26 killed, and 113 wounded. With the exception of the officers, the above statement of casualties does not include the Cavalry Division; General Sir J. H. Grant having been ordered off into the district, neither his casualty list nor his notice of his officers has been received. From the peculiar nature of the fighting, the actual loss of the enemy is difficult to ascertain. But I cannot estimate it at less than 2,000 throughout the whole operations.

On the 16th instant, under instructions from his Excellency, I proceeded to the Kaiserbagh, where I found the 5th Brigade, under the command of Brigadier Douglas, C. B., comprising the 23rd Fusiliers, the 79th Highlanders, and the 1st Bengal Fusiliers, to which his Excellency had added Her Majesty's 20th Regiment, and the Ferozepore Regiment of Sikhs.

Vast numbers of the enemy having been seen crossing the Stone Bridge from the city, apparently with the design of attacking Brigadier-General Walpole's camp, on the north of the Goomtee, his Excellency ordered me to press our movement. I immediately ordered the advance, and took possession of the Residency, with little opposition, the 23rd Fusiliers charging through the gateway, and driving the enemy before them at the point of the bayonet, the remainder of the Brigade following them in reserve.

The enemy having been dislodged from the Residency, two companies of the 23rd, under Lieutenant-Colonel Bell, accompanied by Captain Gould Weston, who pointed out the road, pressed rapidly forward, and captured the brass gun, which was in position to sweep the Iron Bridge, after some opposition. In the meanwhile the Residency height was crowned by a field battery of Madras Artillery, under the command of Major Cotter, which kept up a heavy fire on the Muchhee Bhowun. This battery was subsequently withdrawn, and replaced by two 68-pounder guns of the Naval Brigade. On their arrival, the Bengal Fusiliers moved to the Iron Bridge, and shortly afterwards advanced, together with the Regiment of Ferozepore, and took the Muchhee Bhowun and the Imambarah, the enemy precipitately retiring and abandoning six guns. One company of the Fusiliers, under Captain Salisbury, was pushed on to the Roomi-durwaza Gate, where another gun was captured. The 79th were then brought up to occupy the Imambarah, and the remainder of the Bengal Fusiliers were placed in the Muchhee Bhowun.

On the morning of the 17th, Brigadier Douglas caused the Hoseinabad Mosque and the Dowlatkhana, in which two guns and a small mortar were found, to be occupied by a company of the 79th Highlanders. About 1 P. M., with the force named in the margin,* I moved towards the block of buildings known as Shurfooddowlah's house, having previously occupied the entrance to the Chowk, with three Companies of the 79th Highlanders.

* Captain Middleton's field battery.—Two 8-inch howitzers; 1 company of Native Sappers; 1 wing of Her Majesty's 20th Foot; 1 ditto 23rd; 1 ditto 79th; Brasyer's Sikhs.

On arriving at the Juma Musjid, nine cart-loads of powder were found in a court-yard in the rear, which impeded our progress. I, therefore, directed it to be destroyed under the supervision of the Engineers. I regret, however, to have to state that from some accidental cause the powder ignited.

Captain Clarke, R. E., and Lieutenant Brownlow, B. E., who had greatly distinguished themselves, have since died from the effects of the explosion, in whose melancholy death the service has sustained a heavy loss, which I sincerely deplore. About thirty men shared their fate, and the rest of the working party were more or less injured.

I then sent two companies of the 79th Highlanders, with one 8-inch howitzer, to take possession of Shurfooddowlah's house, which was occupied without any casualty, the enemy precipitately retreating, although they had made every preparation for a vigorous defence. An iron gun and a brass gun, with an ammunition waggon, together with several small guns, all in position, were captured.

I then reinforced the three companies of the 79th in the Chowk, with five companies of the 20th Regiment, and completed the chain of communication.

On the 18th, Brigadier Douglas ordered Lieutenant Gordon, commanding a picket of the 20th, to clear the houses in his front, which he effected much to the Brigadier's satisfaction, killing 23 of the enemy.

The Stone Bridge was found to be undermined, and the circumstance reported to his Excellency.

On the morning of the 19th, under instructions from his Excellency, I proceeded to attack the Moosa Bagh, the force named in the margin* being assembled for that purpose.

At about half-past 6 A.M., I proceeded to Gao Ghat, and found Ali Nuki Khan's house occupied by the enemy, who opened a sharp fire of musketry on the head of the column: two companies of the 79th, led by Lieutenant Everett, being ordered to advance, soon drove the enemy out, and took possession of it. Considerable delay here took place, in consequence of having to break through a thick wall, during which time I ordered up a wing of the Bengal Fusiliers to occupy the house.

The troops then advanced through the suburbs without opposition towards Moosa Bagh, which position the enemy was reported to occupy with thirteen guns, and 5,000 or 6,000 men.

On arriving on the open ground, two guns were opened on the column, and the enemy appeared in great strength on the road. I immediately ordered out skirmishers from the 79th and 23rd, and Captain Middleton's battery to the front, whose fire soon silenced that of the enemy, during which time the Lancers made a flank movement to the enemy's left, and on our advance their whole force took to flight, abandoning their guns; on finding which I sent to order back the heavy guns under escort of the three companies of the 20th Regiment, as being no longer required.

* Two squadrons 9th Lancers; 1 company Royal Engineers; 1 ditto Native Sappers; 1 field battery, Captain Middleton's; two 8-pounders, two 8-inch howitzers, four 8-inch mortars, under Captain Carleton, B. A.; three companies 20th Regiment; seven ditto 23rd Regiment; 79th Highlanders; 2nd Punjaub Infantry.

The two squadrons of the 9th Lancers followed up the pursuit for about four miles, when they overtook the enemy, captured six guns, and killed about a hundred of them, the rest dispersing over the country, and escaping by the aid of the nullahs and broken features of the country. The conduct of the officers and men of the 9th was most gallant, as they undauntedly charged masses of the enemy.

The Field Artillery and Infantry followed in support as rapidly as possible, and captured four more guns, making in all twelve, which I believe to be the total possessed by the enemy, no trace of the reported thirteenth gun being observable.

I then occupied the Moosa Bagh with the 2nd Punjaub Infantry, under Major Green, and withdrew the rest of the troops to their quarters in the city.

Throughout the course of these operations, which were very laborious, the cheerfulness and zeal of both officers and men were most conspicuous, and merit my warmest thanks.

I have to express my particular acknowledgments to Brigadier-General Walpole, who afforded me on every occasion the most cordial support, and very ably carried out the operations which fell to his share; also to Brigadier-General Sir James Hope Grant, commanding the Cavalry, whose vigilance and activity in the execution of his onerous duties, were unceasing.

Brigadier Wood, C.B., commanding the field batteries, and Lieutenant-Colonel Riddell, commanding the siege-train, carried on their respective duties to my entire satisfaction. The services of Lieutenant-Colonel Turner, Bengal Artillery, specially attached to the force, were of the highest value to me, and I beg to tender him my cordial acknowledgment for the same.

It is a source of much gratification to me to submit the names of those officers engaged in the operations on the north bank of the Goomtee, who have been honourably mentioned by Brigadier-General Walpole and their respective commanders, viz.: Brigadiers Horsford, C.B., and Douglas, commanding 5th and 6th Brigades, Lieutenant-Colonel Hill, commanding 2nd battalion Rifle Brigade, Lieutenant-Colonel Macdonald, C.B., commanding 3rd battalion Rifle Brigade, Captain Gibbon, Royal Artillery, who commanded the 9-pounder field battery.

The Brigadier-General also particularly notices the conduct of Captain Barwell, Deputy-Assistant Adjutant-General, and Captain Carey, Deputy-Assistant Quartermaster-General; also that of Captain Warner, Aide-de-camp, and Lieutenant Eccles, his orderly officer.

The Brigadiers wish to record the services of their respective Staffs:—Captain Macpherson, 78th Highlanders (wounded), Brigade-Major of the 5th Brigade, Brevet-Major Mollan, Brigade-Major 6th Brigade, and Brevet-Major Ross, and Lieutenant Walker, their orderly officers.

Brigadier Wood, C.B., favourably mentions the conduct and professional knowledge of Lieutenant-Colonel Turner, Lieutenant-Colonel D'Aguilar, Major Yates, Brevet-Major Pennyquick, Captain Gibbon, Captain Mackinnon, Captain Remington, and Captain Johnston; he also notices the assistance he received from Captain Frith, his Brigade-Major, and Captain Scott, in charge of the Commissariat arrangements.

Lieutenant-Colonel Riddell, commanding Siege Train, eulogizes Captains Thring, Goodenough, and Walker, R.A., Captain Pearson and Lieutenant Simeon, B.A., and Lieutenants Cuthbert and FitzMaurice, R.A., and Major Turner and Captain Young, Staff officers.

Major Nicholson, R.E., highly applauds the energy displayed by the officers of that department, viz., Lieutenants Malcolm, Wynne, Swetenham, and Keith, R.E., and Lieutenants Watson, Tennant, Hovenden, and Nuthall, B.E.

Lieutenant-Colonel Wells records the services of Major Bruce, Captains Prevost, Duff, and Norton, of the 23rd Fusiliers.

I have next to notice the services of the officers engaged on the south of city side of the river.

Brigadier Napier, Captain Hutchinson, Brigade-Major, and Lieutenant Greathed, of the Engineers, afforded me, on different occasions, the greatest assistance by their professional advice, and I tender them my cordial thanks; they were ably seconded by Lieutenant Tulloch and Mr. May, attached to that department.

Major Brasyer led his Sikhs with his usual gallantry, and, I regret to add, was severely wounded.

My thanks are also due to Captain Bennett, commanding Her Majesty's 20th Regiment.

Captain Coles, in command of two squadrons of the 9th Lancers, did good service in pursuing the enemy when they abandoned their position in the Moosa Bagh. On this occasion, the local knowledge of Captain Carey, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, of the 3rd Division, was of much use to me. Captain Dodgson, Assistant Adjutant-General, Captain Gordon, Deputy Judge Advocate-General, and Ensign Hewitt, 41st Regiment Native Infantry, orderly officer, were present at the occupation of the Moosa Bagh, having joined me from Alum Bagh, where they had been of much service in their respective appointments.

I have, lastly, to bring to his Excellency's consideration, the services of those officers who had the good fortune to be engaged in all the operations on both sides of the river.

Brigadier Douglas has carried out all his instructions with signal ability and success, and deserves my cordial acknowledgments, as does Major Nicholson, R.E., who evinced the most indefatigable industry in the construction of the heavy batteries which it fell to his department to execute, and in choosing sites for which he was constantly exposed to a very heavy fire.

Lieutenant-Colonel Wells commanded the 23rd Fusiliers until incapacitated by illness (on the last day's operation) when the command was assumed by Lieutenant-Colonel Pratt, who also commanded the left column of attack on the 11th instant across the river. Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor was in command of the 79th Highlanders, Major Green, Punjab Rifles, and Captain Cunliffe commanded the 1st Bengal Fusiliers, until the arrival of Captain Hume, who also deserves my thanks. Captain Middleton commanded the field battery, which was actively engaged throughout.

Brigadier Douglas mentions, with approbation, Captain Stevenson, Acting Brigade-Major, and Lieutenants Walker, 79th, and Utteton, 23rd Fusiliers, his Aide-de-camp and orderly officer.

I have the highest pleasure in acknowledging how much I am indebted to the officers of my personal Staff.

His Excellency is already aware of the opinion I have formed of the merits and services of Colonel Berkeley, Her Majesty's 32nd Regiment, my Military Secretary; and the assistance I have derived from him throughout these operations is an additional obligation I am under to this most deserving officer.

Captain Chamier, Aide-de-camp, and Lieutenant Hargood, Aide-de-camp (horse killed), have worked with the unremitting zeal and activity which has characterized their conduct in all the operations in which I have been engaged since I left Allahabad in September last.

Captain Weston, 65th Regiment Native Infantry, orderly officer, has signalized himself by the spirit and gallantry which he has displayed on several occasions, and has been of much use to me.

Captains Orr and Bunbury, of the Intelligence Department, have performed their duties with great ability, and Mr. Denison, Civil Service, who recently brought up despatches from the Governor-General, accompanied the forces, and was most active and zealous in rendering aid to the poor sufferers who were blown up in the explosion on the 17th instant.

Mr. Kavanagh, Assistant-Commissioner, from his knowledge of the localities, rendered good service on several occasions.

J. OUTRAM, Major-General,
Commanding the 1st Division of the Army.
