The Speech of the Lords Commissioners to both Houses of Parliament, on Saturday, August, 13, 1859.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

WE are commanded by Her Majesty to release you from further attendance in Parliament; and at the same time to convey to you Her Majesty's acknowledgments for the zeal and assiduity with which you have applied yourselves to the performance of your important duties during the session of Parliament now about to close.

Various circumstances which occasioned interruptions in the usual course of business, prevented the completion of important measures which Her Majesty pointed out to the attention of Her Parliament in the beginning of the present year; but Her Majesty trusts that those matters will be taken into your earnest consideration at an early period of your next session.

The war which had broken out in Northern Italy having been brought to a close by the peace of Villafranca, overtures have been made to Her Majesty with a view to ascertain whether, if Conferences should be held by the Great Powers of Europe, for the purpose of settling arrangements connected with the present state and future condition of Italy, a Plenipotentiary would be sent by Her Majesty to assist at such Conferences; but Her Majesty has not yet received the information necessary to enable Her to decide whether Her Majesty may think fit to take part in any such negotiations.

Her Majesty would rejoice to find Herself able to contribute to the establishment of arrangements calculated to place the general peace on satisfactory and lasting foundations.

Her Majesty, in accordance with the stipulations of the Treaty of Tiensing, has instructed Her Plenipotentiary in China to repair to the Imperial Court at Pekin; and Her Majesty trusts that such direct communication with the Imperial Government will have a beneficial effect upon the relations between the two countries.

Her Majesty commands us to inform you, that She looks forward with confidence to the continued maintenance of those friendly relations which so happily subsist between Her Majesty and all foreign powers and states.

Her Majesty is glad to be able to congratulate you on the complete restoration of tranquillity in Her Indian Dominions.

It will be Her earnest endeavour to promote their internal improvement, and to obliterate the traces of those conflicts which Her Majesty witnessed with such deep concern.

The financial arrangements of that portion of Her Majesty's empire will continue to engage Her Majesty's serious attention.

Her Majesty has had much satisfaction in giving Her assent to the Bills which you presented to Her for the formation of a naval and of a military reserve force. A complete and permanent system of national defence must at all times be an object of paramount importance.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

Her Majesty commands us to convey to you Her cordial thanks for the readiness and zeal with which you have provided the necessary supplies for the service of the year.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Her Majesty commands us to express to you Her heartfelt gratification at witnessing the general wellbeing and contentment which prevail throughout Her Dominions: the happiness of Her Majesty's people is the object dearest to Her heart.

In returning to your respective counties you will have duties to perform intimately connected with the attainment of this great end; and Her Majesty fervently prays that the blessing of Almighty God may attend your exertions in the performance of those duties, for the common good of all classes of Her Majesty's subjects.

Then a Commission for proroguing the Parliament was read; after which the Lord Chancellor said,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

By virtue of Her Majesty's Commission, under the Great Seal, to us and other Lords directed, and now read, we do, in Her Majesty's name, and in obedience to Her commands, prorogue this Parliament to Thursday the twenty-seventh day of October next, to be then here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Thursday the twenty-seventh day of October next.

Whitehall, August 16, 1859.

THE following Addresses were presented to the Queen on Her Majesty's Visit to the Islands of Guernsey and Jersey; and Her Majesty was pleased to receive the same very graciously.

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lieutenant-Governor, the Bailiff, the Jurats, the Clergy, the Procureur de la Reine, and others, the Officers of the Royal Court, in your Majesty's Island of Guernsey, most humbly approach your Majesty to renew, on our own behalf, and that of the inhabitants at large, the expression of our devoted loyalty, and to offer to your Majesty and your Royal Consort, as well as the other Members of the Royal Family by whom you are accompanied our warmest welcome, on your deigning for the second time to visit our shores.

Situated as these islands are as an advanced outpost of your Majesty's dominions, we hail with peculiar satisfaction the opportunity afforded us of assuring your Majesty of our constant attachment to your Person and Throne.

And we fervently pray that under your Majesty's Reign, whether in peace or in war, England may still be looked up to by the world, as the Arbitrer of the Fate of Nations, and the Mistress of the Seas.

Guernsey, August 14th, 1859.

W. H. Slade, Major-General, and Lieutenant-Governor.

On behalf of the Bailiff, the Jurats, the Procureur de la Reine, and others, the Officers of the Royal Court, Peter Stafford Carey, Bailiff of Guernsey.

On behalf of the Clergy,

William Guille, Dean of Guernsey, &c.

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's faithful states of the Island of Jersey, as the representatives, and on behalf of the community of the island, crave to be permitted to approach your Gracious Majesty to express our joy and to offer, with all respect and duty, our heartfelt congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's unexpected, but most welcome, visit to this island.

The memorable event of your Majesty's visit to Jersey, in 1846, lives in our remembrance and is cherished as a bright and happy epoch in our insular history, and we venture to avail ourselves of this fresh mark of royal favour to renew the earnest expression of our loyal and devoted attachment and fidelity to your Gracious Majesty.

In the name of the inhabitants of Jersey, we humbly beg to convey to your Majesty our cordial thanks for the signal honour which your Majesty has been pleased to confer upon us by this second visit to our shores, and, in presenting the dutiful homage of ourselves and of our fellow citizens, we would add our fervent supplications to Almighty God that he would vouchsafe to pour down His best blessings upon your Majesty, His Royal Highness the Prince Consort, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and the Royal Family, and long preserve your Majesty to be, as now, the watchful and benignant guardian of the happiness, honour, and welfare of those whom it has pleased God to place under your Majesty's sceptre.

By order of the States,

Chas. Ahier, Greffier.

The loyal Address of the inhabitants of the parish of St. Helier, in the Island of Jersey.

To Her Most Gracious Majesty, QUEEN VICTORIA.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Constable, or Mayor, and inhabitants of St. Helier's, Island of Jersey, beg respectfully to express the pleasure we feel at this second visit of your Gracious Majesty, and your Royal Consort to this island. Such visits denote the interest your Majesty is pleased to take in the Channel Islands; they gladden the people, and, beside the principle of inherent loyalty which exists in the breast of every inhabitant, they excite a feeling of personal affection leading to devotedness.

It would ill become this comparatively small community to intrude on your Majesty any political opinion it may entertain, but your Majesty, we are sure will allow us to express the fervent hope we entertain, that the blessings of peace may long, long, be enjoyed by the Empire under your gracious sway, and that your Majesty's reign may be rendered glorious, less by deeds of heroism, although performed in the justest cause, than by the propagation of the Gospel, the extension of commerce, the promotion of the arts, in short, human progress.

Should such hope, however, be destined to meet with disappointment, should it, at any time, be decreed that your Majesty's dominions are to be exposed to insult or danger, then, may it please your Majesty, allow us to affirm, that among the people who are proud of the glorious flag of Britain, among the subjects who love their Sovereign, none more readily and firmly than our fellow citizens would run all risks to prove their attachment and loyalty.

Placed near the watch-tower of England, their post would be one of trust as well as danger; the latter, be graciously pleased to believe, they would not be daunted by, and the trust, they would endeavour to prove themselves entitled to.

Philip Aubin,

Constable, or Mayor, of St. Helier's.

NOTICE TO SHIPOWNERS AND MASTERS.

*Board of Trade, Whitehall,
August 17, 1859.*

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade and Plantations have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Decree which was published in the Monitore Toscano of the 22nd ultimo, instituting a new system of measurement for Tuscan and foreign vessels, in the place of that formerly in use.

The following is a translation of the Decree:—

The Government of Tuscany, considering that the present system of the computation of tonnage is burthensome to the commerce of Tuscan vessels, inasmuch as it differs from that adopted by the principal maritime powers in the points of mensuration, which yield as the result a smaller amount of tonnage ; and being desirous of securing to shippers the advantages to be derived from a similar method of computation ;

On the proposition of the Minister of Finance, Commerce, and Public Works—

DECREES :—

Art. I.—The capacity or burthen both of sailing and steam vessels, whether national or foreign, shall in future be reckoned in tons, their dimensions being measured in the following manner.

Length.

For a one-decked vessel—

From stem to stern along the level of the deck, that is from the poop to the prow (internally).

For a two-decked vessel—

Add to the first length that which is comprised between the stern-post and the stem, measured along the floor of the second deck, and divide the sum of the two lengths by two, to obtain the medium length.

Width.

At the main beam, or point of the greatest width of the vessel.

For vessels having an inner fixed planking, from one surface to the other of that planking.

For those with a moveable planking, or with no planking, between the two inner boards.

Height.

At the point of the greatest width.

For a one-decked vessel—

From under the floor of the deck, without reckoning the aperture for the mast, or the cross beams of the deck, to the upper side of the floor of the store room (pagliolo).

For a two-decked vessel—

From under the floor of the deck as above, to that of the gangway, and from under that to the store room.

Art. II.—These three dimensions shall be expressed in metres and their decimal fractions, and after multiplying such products into each other, the produce shall be divided by 3.80, and the quotient shall indicate the amount of the tonnage of the vessel.

Art. III.—The computation of steam vessels shall be reckoned in a similar manner, but forty per cent. shall be deducted from the amount of the tonnage for the space occupied by the engine and its accessories.

Art. IV.—The Minister of Finance, Commerce, and Public Works, is charged with the execution of the present decree, which shall have effect from the 1st day of August next.

Given in Florence, 20th July, 1859.
