And whereas further powers are given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury by another Act of Parliament, passed in the 11th year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for giving further facilities for the transmission of letters by post, and for the regulating the duties of postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post-Office.

And whereas certain powers are also given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury by another Act of Parliament passed in the 18th year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to amend the laws relating to the Stamp Duties on newspapers, and to provide for the transmission by post of printed periodical publications."

13. If any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered, in order to be sent by the post, under the 6th, 7th, and 8th clauses of this Warrant, shall in length, or breadth, or width, exceed the dimensions of two feet, or if any such packet, or the cover or envelope thereof, shall not be open at the ends or sides, or if any such packet shall be sent otherwise than in conformity with the terms, conditions, and regulations hereinbefore in the 9th clause of this Warrant contained, every such respective packet shall and may be detained and opened, and at the option of the Postmaster-General, shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof; and every such respective packet, on being so returned or given up, shall, at the option of the Postmaster-General, be either free of postage, or be charged with any rate of postage he may think fit, not exceeding the postage to which it would have been liable as a letter.

14. ##### Finding Compass deviation at Kronstat.

THE Hydrographic Department of the Russian Imperial Ministry of Marine has given the following notice of an arrangement made in the commercial port of Kronstat to enable mariners to determine the deviations of their compasses, as resulting from the effects of the iron of the ship, or the cargo on board, whilst lying at anchor in the great roadstead of that port : viz.—

The correct magnetic bearings of the Foundry chimney from various parts of the western wall of the commercial port of Kronstat are indicated by a series of marks, ranging between the bearings of N.  $89^{\circ}$  E. and S.  $79^{\circ}$  E., painted on the western face of the wall.

No. 22554.

The degrees are marked in figures legible from the roadstead of Kronstat, the even figures being on a black ground, and the odd figures on a red ground in the following order,—indicating as here stated, under each figure,—

9	80	1	2	3
S. $79^{\circ}$ E.	S. $80^{\circ}$ E.	S. $81^{\circ}$ E.	S. $82^{\circ}$ E.	S. $83^{\circ}$ E.
4	5	6	7	8
S. $84^{\circ}$ E.	S. $85^{\circ}$ E.	S. $86^{\circ}$ E.	S. $87^{\circ}$ E.	S. $88^{\circ}$ E.
9	90	9
S. $89^{\circ}$ E.	East.	N. $89^{\circ}$ E.

The half degree between each of the above is also denoted by a white circular mark between them,—

The difference between the bearing of the Foundry chimney as indicated by any one of these marks and that observed from the ship when it is seen in line with it, is therefore the deviation of the compass.

[Mariners will remember that this arrangement is similar in principle to that adopted at Liverpool, where the bearings of Vauxhall chimney for the same purpose are legibly painted on the sea face of the dock walls of that port.]

The variation of the Compass at Kronstat has been assumed in the above arrangement to be  $4^{\circ}$  W.
