By the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament made and passed in the 24th and 25th years of the reign of Queen Victoria, cap. 115, intituled "An Act for the Government of the Navy," it is enacted (inter alia) that the Admiralty may set apart any buildings or vessels, or any parts thereof, as naval prisons; and that any buildings or vessels, or parts of buildings or vessels, so set apart shall be deemed to be naval prisons within the meaning of the said Act. And that all powers and authorities with respect to county gaols or houses of correction which now are or which may hereafter be vested in any of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, shall, with respect to all such naval prisons, belong to the Admiralty; and that it shall be lawful for the Admiralty from time to time to make, alter, and repeal regulations for the government of any such naval prison, and of the officers and servants thereof, and of offenders confined therein; and from time to time to appoint inspectors and all other necessary officers and servants for any such naval prison, and, as occasion may arise, to remove the inspectors, officers, or servants of any such naval prison; and the senior officer at any port or place, or on any station where they may be any such naval prison, or such senior officer, and such other person and persons as the Admiralty may from time to time appoint, shall be a visitor or visitors of such prison; and every inspector, visitor, or officer having the charge or command of any such naval prison respectively shall, subject to such rules and regulations as may from time to time be made as aforesaid, have and exercise in respect of such prison, and of the officers and servants thereof, and of the prisoners confined therein, all the powers and authorities, as well in respect of administering oaths as otherwise, which any inspector, visiting justice, or governor of a county gaol or house of correction, may respectively exercise as such.

And whereas, in pursuance of the power and authority given to and vested in us by the above-mentioned Act, we, as Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, have deemed it necessary to set apart and appropriate a certain building belonging to Her Majesty, situate at Lewes, in the county of Sussex, and known as "Lewes Prison," as and for a naval prison, for the reception, imprisonment, and government of all such seamen, marines, and others, as may be ordered to be imprisoned under sentence of naval courts' martial, according to such rules and regulations as we may from time to time think proper to make for the government and superintendence of such prison, and for the officers and servants thereof, and of the offenders therein.

And we do hereby notify to all persons whom it may concern that we have set apart and appropriated the said building as and for a naval prison accordingly.

Given under our hands this fifteenth day of February, 1862.

*Charles Frederick,
Sam. Whitbread,*

Two of the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(No. 2.) ENGLAND—EAST COAST.

Revolving Light in Corton Gatway.

THE Corporation of the Trinity House, London, has given notice, that a light-vessel has been placed at the south-east entrance of the Corton Gatway, off Lowestoft, in the North Sea.

The light is a revolving light, showing a red face three times in a minute. It is elevated 38 feet above the level of the sea, and should be seen in clear weather from a distance of about 10 miles.

The light-vessel has Corton Fairway painted on her sides, with a globe at the masthead; and lies in 15 fathoms at low water springs, with Kirkly north mill, its breadth open to the southward of St. John's church, bearing West southerly; Hopton church, on the south side of Hopton Gap, N.W. by N; South Corton buoy, N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E.; South Corton spit buoy, N. by W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W.; and Holm Elbow buoy, N.W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N.

The Stanford light-vessel has been removed.
