

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1864.

BY virtue of an Act passed in the twenty-fourth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to repeal so much of the two Acts made in the tenth and fifteenth years of the reign of His present Majesty, as authorizes the Speaker of the House of Commons to issue his warrant to the Clerk of the Crown for making out writs for the election of Members to serve in Parliament, in the manner therein mentioned, and for substituting other provisions for the like purposes;" and of an Act passed in the twenty-sixth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to further limit and define the time for proceeding to Election during the Recess:"

I do hereby give notice, that it hath been certified to me in writing, under the hands of two Members serving in this present Parliament, that Harry George Vane (commonly called Lord Harry Vane), late a Member serving in this present Parliament for the town and port of Hastings, is become a Peer of the United Kingdom, and that a writ of summons has been issued to him, under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, to summon him to Parliament; and that I shall issue my warrant to the Clerk of the Crown to make out a new writ for the electing of a Member to serve in this present Parliament for the said town and port, at the end of six days after the insertion of this notice in the London Gazette.

Given under my hand this twenty-first day of September, 1864.

JOHN EVELYN DENISON, Speaker.

Whitehall, August 12, 1864.

The Queen has been pleased to grant unto Chapman Delaune Faunce, of Sharsted Court, in the parish of Doddington, in the county of Kent, Gentleman, Her-Royal licence and authority that he may, in compliance with a clause contained in the last will and testament of Alured Pincke, late of Sharsted Court aforesaid, Esquire, deceased, take and henceforth use the surname of Delaune, in addition to and after that of Faunce, and bear the arms of Delaune quarterly with those of Faunce; such arms being first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms, and recorded in the College of Arms, otherwise Her Majesty's Royal licence and permission to be void and of none effect:

And to command that the said Royal concession and declaration be registered in Her Majesty's said College of Arms.

Argyll and Bute Artillery Militia.

Lieutenant George Patrick to be Captain, vice Hoyle, resigned. Dated 20th September, 1864.

War Office, September 22, 1864.

THE Queen has been graciously pleased to signify Her intention to confer the decoration of the Victoria Cross on the under-mentioned Officers and Drummer of Her Majesty's Army, whose claims to the same have been submitted for Her Majesty's approval, on account of Acts of Bravery performed by them in New Zealand, as stated against their names; viz:

Regiment.	Rank and Name.	Act of Bravery for which recommended.
Royal Artillery ...	Assistant-Surgeon William George Nicholas Manley Date of Act of Bravery, April 29th, 1864.	For his conduct during the assault on the Rebel Pah, near Tauranga, New Zealand, on the 29th of April last, in most nobly risking his own life, according to the testimony of Commodore Sir William Wiseman, Bart., C.B., in his endeavour to save that of the late Commander Hay, of the Royal Navy, and others. Having volunteered to accompany the storming party into the Pah, he attended on that Officer when he was carried away, mortally wounded, and then volunteered to return, in order to see if he could find any more wounded. It is stated that he was one of the last Officers to leave the Pah.
Royal Artillery ...	Assistant-Surgeon William Temple and Lieutenant Arthur Frederick Pickard Date of Acts of Bravery, November 20th, 1863.	For gallant conduct during the assault on the enemy's position at Rangiriri, in New Zealand, on the 20th of November last, in exposing their lives to imminent danger, in crossing the entrance of the Maori keep, at a point upon which the enemy had concentrated their fire, with a view to render assistance to the wounded, and, more especially to the late Captain Mercer, of the Royal Artillery. Lieutenant Pickard, it is stated, crossed, and re-crossed the parapet, to procure water for the wounded, when none of the men could be induced to perform this service, the space over which he traversed being exposed to a cross-fire; and testimony is borne to the calmness displayed by him, and Assistant-Surgeon Temple, under the trying circumstances in which they were placed.
57th Regiment ...	Ensign John Thornton Down and Drummer Dudley Stagpoole Date of Acts of Bravery, October 2nd, 1863.	For their conduct at Pontoko, on the 2nd October, in rescuing a wounded comrade from the rebel Maories. They succeeded in bringing in the wounded man, who was lying at about fifty yards from the bush, although the enemy kept up a very heavy fire from the bush at short range, and also from behind fallen logs close at hand. The man had been wounded during an engagement with the rebel natives, and Ensign Down, and Drummer Stagpoole, responded to the call of the Officer commanding the detachment of the Regiment for volunteers to bring him in. The Medal for Distinguished Conduct in the Field has already been conferred on Drummer Stagpoole, for the energy and devotion which he displayed on the 25th September, 1863, at the affair near Kaipakopako, in having, though wounded in the head, twice volunteered and brought in wounded men.

*Board of Trade, Whitehall,
September, 1864.*

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received, from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch from the Acting British Consul at Bogotá, enclosing the following Translations of a Customs' Code and Tariff recently promulgated by the Government of Columbia:—

THE Congress of the United States of Columbia decrees—

CHAPTER I.

On the Customs.

Article 1.

The Custom-houses of the Republic are for the purpose of collecting the duties established by law on imported goods.

Article 2.

The commercial operations subject to the Custom-house rules are classified in the following manner:—

1. Importation, which means the introduction of foreign merchandise for the consumption of the Republic.

2. Exportation, which means the exportation of the products of the Republic to foreign countries.

3. Transit, which means the transit of foreign merchandise imported into the Republic intended for some other nation.

4. Coasting, which means the traffic which is carried on by sea between the ports of the Republic.

5. Bonding, which means the bonding of foreign merchandise in the Custom-house stores, with the view of their being subsequently imported for home consumption, or re-exported within the term and under the conditions prescribed by law.

Article 3.

The operations defined in the preceding Article shall be permitted in the ports licensed by law, their execution being expressly prohibited in all ports not licensed, except as regards exportation, which is provided for in Articles 205 and 206.

PARAGRAPH.—The coasting trade may be carried on between ports not licensed, but that which is carried on between licensed and unlicensed ports shall be subject to the formalities prescribed by law.

Article 4.

The ports licensed for imports and bonding are:—

1. Carthagena, Savanilla, Santa Martha, and Rio-Hacha, on the Atlantic.

2. Buenaventura and Tumaco, on the Pacific.

3. The inland port of Cúcuta, on the frontier of Venezuela.

4. Quibdó, in the State of the Cauca.

5. Arauca and Caffi.

PARAGRAPH.—The inland port of Cúcuta is likewise licensed for the transit traffic with the Republic of Venezuela.

Article 5.

Are hereby declared to be free ports:—

1. All those belonging to the State of Panama.

2. Those belonging to the Archipelago of San Andrés, in the Atlantic.

3. Those belonging to the territory of the Caquetá and that of Carlosama, in the State of the Cauca.

Article 6.

All the customs' ordinances may all be carried out in the free ports, excepting only those expressly prohibited by Article 13.

Article 7.

There shall be a Custom-house established in each of the licensed ports.

Article 8.

The personnel of the Custom-house, the distribution of the duties of the employés and their fixed salaries, shall be settled by law, and by the decrees which may be issued for their execution.

Article 9.

Besides the fixed salaries assigned to the employés of the Custom-houses, and to the Coast Guards, they shall be allowed an eventual extra salary, consisting of a quota on the gross revenue of the respective Custom-house, which shall be divided in proportion with their fixed salaries.

Article 10.

The quotas of which the foregoing Article treats shall be as follows:—

In the Santa Martha Custom-house, from one to two per cent. on the gross revenue.

In the Custom-houses of Carthagena, Savanilla, Rio-Hacha, Buenaventura, and Cúcuta, from two to five per cent.

In the other Custom-houses from four to ten per cent.

These quotas shall be fixed annually by the executive power, when introducing the law for supplies.

Article 11.

The quotas on the gross revenues of the Custom-houses, allowed to the employés, shall be paid monthly, in cash.

CHAPTER II.

On the importation of Foreign Merchandise.

SECTION 1.

General Rules.

Article 12.

All foreign merchandise not prohibited by law may be imported into the Republic by natives or foreigners, without any distinction being made in regard to the flag, or whence the vessel may come, or as regards the country in which the goods were originally produced or manufactured.

Article 13.

The prohibited articles are—

1. False money, which shall be destroyed at the time of its seizure; samples being retained in order that they be transmitted by the Custom-house authorities to the judge who is to take cognizance of the matter.

2. Money of inferior standard to that of $\frac{900}{1000}$ shall be confiscated and sent to the nearest mint to be re-coined into money of $\frac{900}{1000}$.

3. Machinery for coining purposes, not imported for account of the nation, shall be transmitted by the Custom-house authorities to the competent judge, with a circumstantial inventory of which a copy shall be retained, that the machinery specified, when returned, may be destroyed in the Custom-house, when no longer required for the prosecuting of the suit.

PARAGRAPH.—The chief magistrate of those States in which the distillation of spirits is a monopoly under their special laws, or in which there are any excise duties on the importation for consumption of the said article, and its compounds, can exact from the chiefs of the Custom-houses existing in the territory of the respective State immediate information of such imported articles, expressing the quantity, and also the name of the importers, as necessary particulars in order to guard against any violation of the laws of the State.

SECTION 2.

Of the formalities which must be observed in the (foreign) ports in which Vessels load.

Article 14.

Every captain or super-cargo of a vessel, which may load in a foreign port, bound for national ports (Columbia), shall present to the Consular Agent of the Republic (or who ever may represent him) a manifest, in triplicate, written in the Spanish language, and signed, expressing clearly the following particulars:—

1. The name, class, tonnage, and flag of the vessel.
2. The port of loading, and the national port or ports (i.e., those of Columbia) to which the vessel may be bound.
3. The merchandise intended for each port, with the names of the shippers, consignees, and gross weight of each shipment, in the way they may appear in the manifest; the goods to be in separate lots as they appear in the bills of lading, and the gross weight and total number of packages of all the cargo intended for each port.

Article 15.

Every person shipping goods to the licensed ports of Columbia, shall present to the Consular Agent (or whoever may represent him) in the port, whence the shipment is made, an invoice in triplicate, written in the Spanish language, and expressing:—

1. The name of the shipper, of the consignee, the port intended for, and the name of the vessel.
2. The mark, number, contents, gross weight, and description of each package. In stating the contents, it will be sufficient to give the name or description, quantity, and the material of which each class of merchandise is composed.
3. The total value of the invoice, without the necessity of specifying that of each package.

PARAGRAPH. — In commercial places, where there are public officers, whose duty it is to weigh merchandise for sale, and who give a certificate of the weight they contain, the Consular Agent shall exact likewise, the certificate of such officer, with respect to the weight of the merchandise invoiced, without which formality he shall not certify to the invoice presented.

Article 16.

It is prohibited to express, in the documents treated of in Articles 14 and 15, the same packages for different ports. Consequently, when any shipper breaks through this rule, the Consular Agent shall determine as the place for which said packages are intended, the first of the ports named.

Article 17.

The documents once despatched by the Consular Agent, the destination of the goods cannot be changed from that stated in them; and only in the case at the time of the vessel's arrival, public order be disturbed in the port stated, the importation may be permitted in a port other than that named in these documents.

Article 18.

The Consular Agents shall take a note of the manifests in a register which shall be kept for that purpose; he shall compare it with the invoices presented, and after being convinced of the truth and exactness of said documents, he shall write his certificate at the foot of each of the copies of the manifests and invoices, and return one copy to each of the interested parties for its presentation in the respective Custom-house.

Article 19.

The Consular Agent shall send by the same vessel to the Custom-house of the first of the national ports (i.e., of Columbia) to which the vessel is bound, a copy of the manifest, and to the respective Custom-houses a copy of each invoice, with all the information he may think useful or necessary, to guard against any fraud which may be intended.

The other copies of the manifest and invoices are to be remitted to the Minister of Finance by the first post. The postages incurred are to be borne by the nation.

Article 20.

Consular Agents who have no salary, have the right to a fee of five dollars for the certificate of each manifest, and one dollar for that of each invoice, it being understood that these fees relate to the three copies of each document, and not to each copy. The fees are to be paid by the person who requires the certificate.

SECTION 3.

Of the entry and boarding of Vessels.

Article 21.

Vessels which enter the ports of the Republic, shall be boarded immediately by one of the superior officers of the Custom-house, by the Chief of the Coast Guard Service, and other officers who may be considered necessary for watch over the vessel.

Article 22.

If the vessel be a merchantman, on boarding her, the captain or supercargo shall deliver up—

1. The vessel's register; however when the vessel belongs to a nation which does not exact this formality from Columbian merchant vessels, the said register shall be handed over to the respective Consul; but in such case, the captain or supercargo must present at the Custom-house, immediately after the visit of inspection is over, a certificate from the Consul, in which he certifies that he has received the vessel's register, with the promise of not returning it till it be proved to him by Custom-house documents that the vessel owes nothing to the Custom-house, and has been duly cleared at the said Custom-house.

2. The manifest certified in the port whence she comes, according to Article 14.

If the vessel should have touched at and discharged a part of her cargo in any other national port, the manifest, with the certification of the respective Custom-house, drawn up as provided for by Article 64, must be presented.

3. The document or documents which the Consular Agents address to the Custom-house authorities, with a copy of the manifest and invoices of which Article 19 treats.

4. A list of all the effects on board belonging to the captain and crew, or for their use, and the extra materials belonging to the vessel which have not been included in the manifest.

5. A list of all provisions on board for the use of the crew.

6. A list of the crew and of the passengers.

Article 23.

All persons who may come in a vessel are prohibited from communicating with any person whatever of the port before the inspection has taken place.

Article 24.

When a vessel touches at a port with the object of discharging only a part of her cargo, the documents mentioned in Article 22 must be presented, but in this case the collector shall certify on the manifest that the vessel has duly complied with the terms of her entry with respect to what he finds therein mentioned as intended for the respective port, without permitting the vessel to land anything else.

Article 25.

Any vessel which may enter a licensed port without being provided with the documents stated in Clauses Nos. 1 and 2 of Article 22, shall be put in possession of the Coast Guard officers from the time of her entry, and the captain or supercargo shall be immediately notified by the collector that she must leave the same day, and he shall oblige her to do so, except she be in an unseaworthy condition.

In the case of which this Article treats, all the Coast Guards shall be placed in charge of the vessel, in order to guard against there being any communication between the vessel and the shore, except in case of damage, as stated.

Article 26.

Should the vessel be furnished with the papers of which Article 14 treats for one or more of the national ports, and enter a port for which they were not granted, and not with the intention of taking in cargo, or for any other just and indispensable reason, as for instance, in distress or a like cause, she shall be proceeded against, as stated in the preceding Article.

Article 27.

When a vessel arrives in ballast, in place of producing a manifest, the captain shall make oath that his vessel is in ballast, and, moreover, the vessel shall be examined by two Custom-house officers, without which formalities being observed the vessel shall be prohibited from communicating with the shore.

Article 28.

When a vessel proceeds from one port of the Republic and enters another, trading coastwise, the Custom-house authorities shall act towards her in conformity with the rules given in Articles 161 to 178.

Article 29.

When a vessel arrives from a foreign port, where in virtue of arrangements made with the Government of the Republic the goods loaded in said port must be accompanied with a permit, the said permit shall be exacted for all the goods which have been embarked in the same ports, and also the manifest of the goods.

Article 30.

National or foreign mail vessels shall be treated according to their respective contracts, or in accordance with existing regulations, or to what may be agreed upon.

Article 31.

Vessels of war, and transports of friendly nations, are exempt from all formalities; but should they have on board goods for private individuals, they shall be bound by the rules established for merchant vessels.

Article 32.

Immediately after the manifest has been presented, and the boarding visit has taken place, the day and hour the manifest has been presented shall be duly noted, and attested by one of the chief officers of the Custom-house, and also by the Coast Guard officer.

Article 33.

All merchant vessels which may enter any port of the Republic shall be taken charge of by a tide-waiter from the moment she enters until she leaves the port. This officer shall be relieved every day.

Article 34.

After the visit of inspection has been made, and the formalities required by the foregoing Articles have been duly complied with, the luggage of the passengers may be landed for inspection in the Custom-house. The hatchways and other entrances into the hold and other places of the vessel in which there should be goods subject to duty shall be closed and sealed. The seal used for this purpose is to be held by the collector.

Article 35.

The seals placed on the hatchways and other places which require seals, can only be removed or broken by the chief officer of the Coast Guard service, or in default of him, by an employé named by the collector.

Article 36.

Mail vessels or packets shall be visited immediately on their arrival, at whatever hour of the day or night it may be, and when visited they shall be allowed to disembark passengers, and send to the Custom-house all goods and luggage which may be on board.

SECTION 4.

Of the Manifests (entry papers).

Article 37.

Within twenty-four hours after the vessel has anchored, the captain, supercargo, or consignee shall solicit from the collector permission to commence discharging cargo, which shall be granted, should the documents stated in Article 14 have been presented.

Article 38.

Within forty-eight hours after permission has been granted to discharge cargo, each person interested in the cargo intended for the port must present at the Custom-house a copy of the certified invoice of which Article 18 treats, accompanied by a written manifest, in triplicate, stating the same particulars contained in the invoice, likewise the class of goods of each package, according to the tariff established for the collecting of import duty.

Article 39.

The collectors of the Custom-houses shall note the day and hour of the presentation of each declaration, subscribing each page; a copy of which declaration shall be immediately passed to the chief political authority of the place; another to the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, or in default, to the Finance Minister, by the first post.

Article 40.

All alterations in these written declarations shall be considered as falsifications, whether they be made by the interested parties, or by the functionaries to whom they are presented; and the alterations which may be made before presenting them, must appear minutely noted before the date and signature, which date and signature shall immediately follow the said corrections, and in case of no such circumstance, at the end of the last word of the declaration.

Article 41.

The Custom-house authorities shall compare the manifest with each of the written declarations and invoices, to verify the correctness of the said documents; if they are found to agree, the discharge of the cargo shall be proceeded with according to the formalities prescribed in the following Articles. All discrepancy which may be observed between the ship's manifest and the written declarations, or between these and the invoices, shall be extended in a document to be signed by the collector; a copy of the same shall be passed to the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, and in default, by the first mail to the Minister of Finance.

SECTION 5.

Of the Discharge and subsequent Registration of the Vessel.

Article 42.

The Custom-house authorities shall note on the ship's manifest the day and hour in which permission to discharge has been granted, stating at the same time the number of hours in which this shall be effected; a copy of this note shall be passed to the Chief of the Coast Guard, that he may transmit the same to the Custom-house officer in charge of the vessel, with all the precautions which he may judge necessary over and above those established by the following Articles.

Article 43.

The Custom-house officer in charge of the vessel, shall keep a register in which he shall note, lot by lot, the packages delivered to the master of each lighter employed in the discharge of the vessel, expressing the name of the vessel, the marks and numbers of the goods and number of packages, classifying them into cases, trunks, bales, crates, barrels, demi-johns, &c. At each trip there shall be given to the master of the said lighter a bill numbered, in which shall be noted the packages with the same particulars.

Article 44.

On receipt of the packages by the Chief of the Coast Guard, they shall be compared with the respective delivery notes. Any difference between the number of packages and the delivery notes, shall be immediately made known to the Collector of Customs, that he may take the necessary measures with regard to same.

Article 45.

All the packages landed shall be placed daily in the customs stores, excepting those containing inflammable substances, or very bulky articles, such as carriages, &c.; the same formalities shall be observed with regard to them, as to other effects.

Article 46.

The Storekeeper of the Customs shall store in the warehouses the packages as they arrive, and shall enter them in his store book, specifying the vessel, the kind of packages, and the marks and numbers in conformity with the rules which the collector may establish.

Article 47.

The executive power shall decree the supplementary rules to be observed at inland or river ports, in all that may not be applicable, as established by this law for sea ports, or that may not have been expressly established in regard to inland ports.

Article 48.

The Chief of the Coast Guard shall pass to the storekeeper the delivery notes, that he may have them before him in making his entries, and these shall be returned to the said chief daily on closing the stores.

Article 49.

While the vessel is discharging, the Chief of the Coast Guard shall, on the delivery of the last daily boat load from the vessel, compare the delivery notes returned to him by the storekeeper, with the entries made by the latter in his books; and any difference which may result shall be immediately cleared up, giving notice of the same to the collector and to the agent of the foreign creditors should there be one, that the necessary measures may be taken relative to the case.

Article 50.

Daily after the foregoing formalities have been complied with and the warehouses closed, the Chief of the Coast Guard shall go on board of the vessel or vessels which may be discharging, and shall examine the register of the tidewater of the packages delivered from each vessel during the day; he shall compare the said register with the purser's or supercargo's book; he shall then close the hatchways and other entrances to the hold, or other places where effects subject to duty may be stowed. In case of difference between the tide waiter's register and the ship's book, immediate notice shall be given to the collector and to the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, that the necessary steps may be taken that the case requires.

Article 51.

As soon as the lighters are alongside on the following day, the hatchways and other sealed entrances shall be opened, but this shall not take place until the tidewater has been relieved.

Article 52.

When the captain of a vessel has been ordered to leave the port, should he not do so, the collector may place as many of the Coast Guards on board as he may think proper, to be paid by the vessel, the amount so recovered shall be equal to the salaries of the said guards, and shall be paid into the national treasury. After the elapse of 24 hours, should the vessel still remain in port, the weather permitting her departure, the collector shall have the whole cargo discharged at the vessel's cost, and shall examine, take an inventory of, and store the goods, until the requisite written declarations be presented.

Article 53.

Should it happen that by neglect of the captain or consignee of the vessel the discharge is delayed for a longer time than that allowed, the guard shall be increased to a greater number, and from the day from which a greater number be placed in charge, the extra expense caused in conformity with the preceding Article, shall be for account of the party causing the delay.

Article 54.

The articles necessary for the navigation and other uses of the vessel shall not be landed.

Article 55.

In the port where there are wharves or other like conveniences for the unloading of vessels, on the daily conclusion of the work, the vessel shall retire to the necessary distance, to prevent the easy communication with the shore and the fraudulent extraction of goods during the night.

Article 56.

In every case the Coast Guard shall use a constant vigilance over the boats and crews which may come ashore from the vessels discharging, to stop any illegal introduction of goods.

Article 57.

The unloading of vessels shall take place between 6 A.M. and 5 P.M., at the wharves or places destined for that purpose, and from the time of a vessel's arrival, until she have completed her unloading, no person shall be permitted to go on board, except the crew or customs' officers, or who shall not present a written order from the collector.

Article 58.

The foregoing prohibition does not extend to persons who may go to lend assistance to a vessel in distress, or in imminent peril of being wrecked, in such a case the Coast Guard shall take care that the effects taken out of her be not fraudulently introduced, nor be taken to other places not destined for their safe keeping.

Article 59.

Immediately after the vessel has completed her unloading, an examination shall be made by the same employé who made the visit of entry, and if no effects subject to duty be found on board, she shall be considered as having completed her discharge in regard to that port, although there may be goods on board intended for other ports, licensed or free, national or foreign, as specified in the certified manifest, as likewise the provisions, sails, and other things necessary for the vessel's use; provided that the said things be in conformity with the declaration made at the time of entry without more diminution than that necessarily occasioned in the provisions for the crew's use.

Article 60.

When it happens that the number of packages landed in a port is less than that specified in the ship's manifest, the duties on the short quantity of effects delivered shall be recovered from the captain, supercargo, or consignee, such duties shall be calculated as appertaining to the highest class of the tariff, and shall be paid in cash before the sailing of the vessel. All the foregoing shall be made known to the agent of the foreign creditors, or in default of such, to the Minister of Finance.

Article 61.

The same proceedings shall be observed with regard to all packages found on board and not manifested, giving to the parties interested a receipt for the payment of the duties. The examination of the merchandise may take place on board or in the Custom-house, as the collector may determine, and the expenses of unloading and loading shall be for account of the party interested.

Article 62.

The agents of the foreign creditors shall have the right to be present at all the visits, and at the inspection of the unloading and custody of the cargo.

Article 63.

When there remains on board merchandise declared to be destined for another or other ports, national or foreign, the same watch shall be held over the vessel till she leaves the port, the hatchways and other places having been duly closed; at this time an inspection shall take place to ascertain if the closings or sealings have been violated or not.

Article 64.

In the case of the foregoing Article, the collector shall return to the captain the manifest which he had presented, with a certificate at foot of same, stating the delivery or non-delivery of the packages shipped for that port, of his having paid tonnage dues, and of the time at which he should have left the port, which ought not to exceed twenty-four hours, unless the vessel should have to take in cargo.

Article 65.

If the merchandise which may have remained on board should be destined to another port of the Republic, by the first post the Collector of Customs shall forward to the Custom-house of the port to which the vessel is bound a copy of the manifest relative to the introduction about to be made.

The Collector of Customs of the second port shall acknowledge, in due course, the receipt of said copy, specifying if the importation have taken place.

Article 66.

Merchandise imported cannot be re-shipped in the same vessel, except by a subsequent voyage.

SECTION 6.

Of the Examination and Inspection of Merchandise.

Article 67.

Immediately after the unloading has been concluded, and the packages found duly in order, excepting those specified in the 45th Article, the collector having the ship's manifest presented by the captain, and the written declarations and invoices delivered by each of the parties interested, in conformity with Article 38, shall, in company with the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, and should he choose to assist, proceed in the following manner:—

1. To compare the manifest, declarations, and invoices, with the statement presented by the storekeeper of the packages received by him; and should they be found not to agree, the manifest specifying a greater or lesser number than the invoices or written declarations, of what may have been stored in the warehouses, he (the collector) shall draw up a circumstantial statement of the differences, and will inform each party interested in the business relative to the packages which have been found in excess or wanting in the warehouses, in order that they may comply with the formalities in regard to those in excess, and provided for in the 38th Article.

2. He shall classify and number the written declarations presented by the interested parties in the cargo, according to the order they have been presented at the Custom-house.

3. He shall proceed to examine and weigh the packages specified in each declaration, according to the number the document may bear.

Article 68.

When it results that there is damage in the packages which compose the cargo, the Collector of Customs shall set aside the damaged goods, and dispatch the packages as they are landed, having previously examined and determined the nature of the damage. Whenever it is necessary to proceed in this manner, the Collector of Customs shall make it known to the functionary who may have to make the visit, and to the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one.

Article 69.

The examination of the cargoes shall be made in public, in a store of the Custom-house, divided by a rail, within which shall be opened, weighed, and examined, the packages of merchandise, in presence of the examiners, of the party interested, and the other employés who ought to be present at the examination. Other persons who may wish to be present shall remain without the railing.

Article 70.

The examination and inspection of the cargoes shall be made in all the Custom-houses of the Republic, by the Collector, Controller, and Weigh-master; and where there shall be no Controller and Weigh-master, by the first and second chiefs of the Coast Guard.

Article 71.

In the Custom-houses where there are agents of the foreign creditors, they shall have the right to be present at the examination of effects, and of making what suggestions they may deem proper.

Article 72.

Without prejudice to the principal and direct responsibility of the chiefs of Custom-houses, conformably to the organic law of national finances, all other employés are likewise to be held responsible, in solidum, who interfere, or ought to do so, in the examination.

Article 73.

The chief object of the examination is to ascertain if each bale contains the weight and contents expressed in the invoices and manifests presented by the interested parties, for which purpose the following mode of proceeding shall be adopted:—

1. Packages declared to contain articles which pay the highest rate of duties, shall be passed, one by one, without the necessity of having them opened for the purpose of examining the contents.

2. Packages declared to contain articles which pay a lower rate of duties, shall be opened and examined, one package in every ten, and each bale shall be weighed. The collector may, moreover, order to be opened all those packages he may think necessary.

3. Packages declared to contain articles free of duty, shall all be opened, and their contents carefully examined.

Article 74.

When the manifests and invoices shall not have been presented, or when these documents want some of the particulars as required by clauses 1 and 2 of Article 15, or those stated in Article 38, all the shipment shall be considered as belonging to the class of goods which pay the highest rate of duty, with 10 per cent. additional.

When the omissions of which this Article treats, can be applied only to certain packages, then these packages only are referred to in this Article.

Article 75.

When the party interested makes oath before the Collector of Customs that he has not received a certified invoice of a whole shipment or part of one, a sufficient time shall be allowed him to present it in, and should the term have expired without the invoice having been presented, the formalities prescribed in the foregoing Article shall be proceeded with. The shipment shall be weighed notwithstanding, bale by bale, and stored in the Custom-house until the examination be made. Of all this a document shall be drawn up, in which shall be stated the marks and number of the bales. The said document shall be made out in duplicate, and signed by the chiefs of the Custom-house, the party interested, and two merchants as witnesses; one of which documents shall be passed to the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, or in default by the first post to the Finance Minister.

Article 76.

All packages which appear to have been opened without the knowledge of the customs' authorities, not belonging to the class of goods manifested as charged with the highest rate of duty, shall be opened and examined one by one.

Article 77.

When making the examination of a shipment, should it happen that more than one of the packages opened be found to contain a class of goods which pay a higher rate of duty than the one manifested, all the shipment save the part charged with the highest rate of duty shall be opened. Should more than two packages be found with the same errors, the highest rate of duty as per tariff shall be levied on the whole shipment, with the additional charge of ten per cent.

Article 78.

Should it happen on making the examination there are some packages subject to a lower rate of duty than that stated in the invoice or manifest, the duties shall be charged according to the contents of said packages.

Article 79.

When the total weight stated in the invoice and documents be less than that given in the ship's manifests, the collector shall name a person who is not a tidewater to go on board of the vessel and send ashore separately, with all due precaution, the shipments in which a difference is observed. These shipments shall be sent direct to the examination department, where the collector and the other examiners shall proceed instantly to verify the weight, and should it turn out more than ten per cent. over that manifested, he shall recover at the time of the examination fifty per cent. in addition to the ordinary duties on such goods. Of this act he shall draw up a written statement, a copy of which he shall pass to the agent of the foreign creditors, or in default to the Finance Minister.

Article 80.

When the invoice and ship's manifest agree, but the weight of the goods should turn out to be ten per cent. over the weight manifested, the goods shall be charged the duties assigned to their class, with ten per cent. more.

Article 81.

When a package contains articles of different classes, subject to different rates of duties, the duties shall be charged on the package as if the whole contents consisted of the articles which pay the highest rate of duties of their class.

Article 82.

The baggage and effects belonging to, and accompanied by a diplomatic agent, shall not be opened or examined, should the order respecting such things, of which Article 97 of the present law treats, be presented.

Article 83.

Luggage of private individuals shall be examined and delivered free of duty, as they may arrive at the Custom-house, should the weight not exceed one hundred and fifty kilograms for each person. When this weight is exceeded the highest rate of duty shall be levied on all excess, save when such effects be accompanied by a certified invoice, and the other forms, in general as regards merchandise, be complied with, then such effects shall pay duty according to their contents.

PARAGRAPH.—Luggage means articles for personal use, such as clothes, boots and shoes, watches, beds, table and kitchen services, saddlery, arms and instruments pertaining to the profession of the traveller, provided that such do not exceed the allowed weight, even should they not have been used.

Article 84.

Travellers passing from one port of the Republic to another, shall not be allowed to land their luggage, without complying with the formalities required from persons arriving from a foreign port, unless they present a certificate at the Custom-house, from the collector of the port whence they come, which must contain a detailed statement of each package, and its weight. The customs' authorities shall satisfy themselves as to the correctness of this document, and should it not be found in order, double duties of the highest class shall be charged.

Article 85.

When an importer is not satisfied with the decision of the collector as to the classification of his merchandise, the importer and collector shall name an arbitrator each to decide the question. Should these not be of the same opinion, nor agree within twenty-four hours, the collector shall name a third party, who shall, on oath, decide the question.

Article 86.

When the examination is being made, should any damage be observed, and the interested party ask to have the same estimated, the same shall be carefully done by the examiners proceeding in the case as the foregoing Article states, with respect to the classification. An allowance of so much per cent. shall be made on account of the damage the goods may have sustained in their market value, such allowance to be taken off the duty to be charged on the class to which the merchandise may belong.

Article 87.

On commencing the examination of a shipment, each of the examiners shall open a register, in which shall be noted the heading of the invoice about to be examined. In the said register there shall be noted the mark, number, weight, class, and description of each package, and likewise all the particulars relating to the examination. In cases of which Articles 85 and 86 treat, each examiner's opinion shall be noted.

The Weigh-master shall announce in a loud voice the mark, number, and weight of each package.

Article 88.

The operations of which the preceding Article treats shall be signed daily by the examiners and by the agent of the foreign creditors, should he assist, and when finished, one of the copies shall be handed to the said agent, and the others shall be sent by post to the chief political authority of the district, and to the Finance Minister.

Article 89.

Immediately as the examination of the merchandise noted in an invoice has been concluded, the goods shall be delivered up to the interested party when he has satisfied the duties, or should the amount of same be not determined, the duty-sheet not being made out, or else when the importer declares that he wishes to make the payment into the national treasury, he shall extend a document to the satisfaction and under the responsibility of the collector, which shall be signed by the importer and by two residents of the place as sureties for the amount of the said document and interest for delay, without prejudice to legal proceedings.

Article 90.

When the owner of merchandise resides in a place distinct from where the Custom-house is situated, two merchants or estate owners, residents of the place in which the interested party resides, or of the capital of the State to which the said place belongs, shall be admitted as sureties, provided the said sureties be accredited by the Governor, President, or Chief Magistrate of the State, under his responsibility. The bond shall be drawn up by a notary public, and contain full particulars of the security given by the signers. In the said document it shall be stated that the sureties and the interested person are responsible each and all for a fixed sum, and a notarial copy shall be deposited in the respective Custom-house, at the charge of the party interested, by the functionary who takes the bail bond. When the sureties reside in the capital of the Republic, the Treasurer-General shall open the credit.

Article 91.

The delivery of goods shall be made by the storekeeper, in virtue of a written order from the collector, and in the presence of the agent of the foreign creditors, or a person named by him, or in the presence of the Surveyor of Customs, in default of the said agent, or the person appointed by him.

All packages shall be counted and compared with the examination papers, and, if any difference arise, immediate notice shall be given to the collector, in order that he may proceed in the manner the case requires.

Article 92.

The collector and other employés who ought to take part in the delivery of examined goods, shall be responsible, as likewise the interested person, for the total value of the duties on all shipments delivered without having complied with all the formalities required for such delivery.

Article 93.

When the duties are not paid in cash, nor the bond given of which Articles 89 and 90 treat, the goods shall be stored in the Custom-house, and a charge of five cents for every hundred kilograms shall be made. The said goods or shipment shall be again examined at the time of its delivery, with all the formalities to be observed with regard to goods directly imported.

SECTION 7.

Of Import Duties.

Article 94.

The examination and survey of the goods having been duly performed the duty sheets shall be drawn out, bearing in mind the rules and directions contained in the following Articles :—

Article 95.

The imposts on foreign merchandise shall be levied in conformity with the rates fixed in the annexed tariff, except the following articles, which are free of duty :—

1. Gold and silver unwrought, or of legal coinage, excepting such as is prohibited in clause 2 of Article 13.

2. Luggage, when not exceeding one hundred and fifty kilograms in weight to each person.

3. Effects imported for the use of ministers and diplomatic agents of foreign nations accredited to the United States of Columbia, provided that the countries to which they belong concede the same exemptions to the ministers and diplomatic agents of this country, and that they comply with the stipulations of Article 97.

4. Vessels suitable for sea-going purposes and for the navigation of inland waters of the Columbian territory, and the pieces for their construction should they come in pieces.

5. Machinery and apparatus employed in the construction, repairing, and preservation of roads, for the cleaning of harbours and ports, opening and repairing of navigable canals, improving of navigable rivers; also carriages, utensils, and materials destined exclusively for railroads.

6. Machinery, complete or in pieces, suitable for agricultural, mining, or manufacturing purposes.

7. Ice, guano, lime, bricks, roof and floor tiles of clay or earthenware, slates for tiling, and salt which may be imported in the ports of Buenaventura and Tumaco.

8. Mineral coal.

9. Seeds, slips, and sprigs of plants intended for agriculture.

10. Live animals.

11. Periodicals, pamphlets, and printed matter.

12. Wood for ship-builders, packing-cases, or house-builders.

13. The natural productions of Venezuela and the Equator, excepting salt imported through the Cúcuta Custom-house, should the same privileges be conceded by these Republics to the productions of the United States of Columbia.

14. Samples of cloths, in small pieces not exceeding twenty-five kilograms, gross weight.

15. All articles of whatever kind imported for account of the Government of the Union.

16. Arms and military stores imported by the States for their defence, or for that of the General Government.

Article 96.

When it should be necessary to draw up a new tariff, or a new system for the collecting of import duties, importers shall be allowed to bond in the Custom-houses the whole or a part of the shipments which they desire to pass under the new regulations, provided the bonding license be applied for at least sixty days before the time appointed for the coming into effect of the new tariff. The customs shall make a charge of one cent monthly on each kilogram the shipment weighs.

Article 97.

In order that the luggage and effects of diplomatic agents may be imported free of duty, the following forms must be observed :—

1. A list, written and signed with the marks and number of packages containing the luggage or effects accompanying a diplomatic agent, together with his passport, shall be presented to the first political authority of the port. The said authority shall pass to the Custom-house the original list with a delivery order, and shall return the passport.

2. Should the effects come unaccompanied by a diplomatic agent, they shall be subject to all the formalities required from private individuals, but they shall be delivered free of duty, provided an order from the Finance Minister to the collector be presented, in which the marks and number of the packages to be delivered must be specified. Likewise the delivery may be allowed before the order be received if the importer draw out a bond according to the form prescribed by Article 89.

3. In order to procure the order mentioned in the foregoing clause, the diplomatic agent shall pass a note to the Secretary of Foreign Affairs, stating the marks and number of the packages expected, the name of the vessel, and that of the party to whom they should be delivered.

Article 98.

The account for the settlement of the duties on each shipment shall be made out in the following manner :—

1. Each class of package found on survey to be in conformity with the invoice and manifest shall be made out separately, and the duty-sheet shall contain the total weight of each class.

2. Like formalities shall be observed with respect to packages not found in conformity with the manifest and invoice, or for which these documents have not been presented.

3. Free articles shall form a separate lot.

4. In each of the three lots the marks and numbers of the respective packages shall be stated.

5. The total gross weight of all the shipment, and the sum total of the duties, shall be stated.

6. After these particulars shall be noted, the quota of the duties belonging to the foreign creditors, that which is assigned to the redemption of floating bonds of the fifth class, and that made over to the Custom-house employés, as eventual salaries. Following these particulars, the date and signature of the collector shall be put.

Article 99.

When there is an agent of the foreign creditors in the Custom-house, the collector shall pass to such agent all the duty-sheets in original and duplicate, in order that they be examined. Should the said agent discover any errors, he shall return to the collector both copies, in order that the errors may be rectified; but should the collector insist in the correctness of the accounts, the agent shall sign the duty-sheets, returning one to the collector, and the other he shall send, with his observations, to the Finance Office, where the question shall be determined. The agent shall be allowed a term of twenty-four hours for the examination of the duty-sheets.

Article 100.

Should there not be in the Custom-house the agent of which the foregoing Article treats, the collector shall remit to the Finance Office, by the first post, one of the copies of the duty-sheet.

Article 101.

Within eight days, at the latest, after the examination of the goods of a manifest, an exact copy of the account of duties recoverable on them shall be signed by the collector, and handed to the party interested. The latter shall be allowed six days to revise the account and to make written observations thereon, which he shall present to the collector. Should they be well founded, he shall make the necessary corrections at the foot of the duty-sheet, giving advice of same to the Finance Minister and the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one; but should he consider them unfounded, he shall hold to the liquidation made, and transmit the statement of the objections to the Minister of Finance, that he may finally resolve the case.

Article 102.

Should the collector within the prescribed eight days not hand the account to the party interested, the latter may apply to the chief political authority of the place, or the employé who may be appointed by the executive power, to compel the collector to deliver the account; and at the expiration of three days after being duly notified, should he not have done so, he shall be fined five dollars daily from the day of the notification until he delivers the account.

Article 103.

Should forty-eight hours elapse after the six days allowed for the examination of the account, without an understanding between the party and the collector, relative to the objections, the former shall always pay the amount of the account, retaining his right to reclaim before the Minister of Finance.

Article 104.

At the final examination of the Custom-house accounts, the collectors shall be responsible for the amounts omitted to be charged to the importers; and should too much have been collected, this excess shall be ordered to be paid back to the respective parties; notice of said order shall be given to the Minister of Finance, who on finding it just will order the repayment.

Article 105.

The sum total to which the import duties amount, shall be paid by the importer in cash or in documents of the public debt, in quotas in which they are admissible by pre-existing laws. The delivery in these kinds of payments, shall be made, under a receipt, to the employés appointed by the law at each Custom-house; but should the importer prefer to make the payment at the General Treasury, he shall give a draft payable at three days' sight to the said treasury, provided that he shall have already given the security mentioned in Articles 89 and 90.

PARAGRAPH.—The part of the import duties assigned to the foreign creditors, and that of the eventual per centage assigned to the employés of the Custom-house, shall in every case be collected at the office where the duties have been liquidated except the said creditors shall agree to the payment of their quotas at the General Treasury.

Article 106.

The Custom-houses where importations take place shall collect the duties charged on said importations.

Article 107.

The Custom-houses shall admit the surety bonds specified in Articles 89 and 90 of this law, provided that all the formalities required shall have been fulfilled, and should they be admitt'd wanting any of the said formalities the Custom-house shall be responsible for the consequences.

Article 108.

The chiefs of the Custom-houses shall take care that the drafts given by the importers do not exceed the amount specified in the surety bonds.

The General Treasury shall be bound to advise the respective Custom-house of the payments made by the post immediately following such payments.

Article 109.

Whenever sureties should wish to retire their responsibility, they shall make the same known to the Collector of the Custom-house, who shall suspend the use of the bond, and as soon as the amounts due under the bond are paid, he shall note thereon that the Custom-house has no claim on the sureties in regard to that document, and shall return it to the employé who had admitted the security in order that it may be cancelled.

Article 110.

On the amounts drawn by importers in favour of the General Treasury, no interest shall be charged, except from the day on which they fall due. Nor shall the documents of the floating debt paid in by importers, bear interest after the day of the date of the account of duties.

Article 111.

Should the drafts treated of in Article 105, not be paid at their maturity, or if the person who ought to accept and pay them, cannot be found, the General Treasurer shall note the same at foot of the drafts, and return them to the respective Custom-house for collection. In such cases the importer shall be charged with the interest fixed by an organic law of finance, from the date of the account of duties.

Article 112.

The chief of the Custom-house, to whom a draft omitted to be covered in the treasury has been returned, shall take the measures necessary to collect its value, both capital and interest, in virtue of his coercive legal authority, from any of the parties responsible. Should the sureties be found in the place in which the General Treasury is established, the chief of that office shall retain the drafts, and take measures to collect the amount from the respective sureties.

Article 113.

Of all the quotas assigned to the foreign creditors, namely, those to be collected, and those being collected, a statement shall be made every three months by the Custom-house, showing the names of the debtors. These statements shall be forwarded to the Committee of the Foreign Bond Holders, as the executive power may determine, and shall be published in the "Official Diary."

SECTION 8.

Of documents to be sent by the Custom-houses to verify their operations.

Article 114.

All acts relative to the formalities which the Custom-houses have observed and performed, from the arrival of a vessel to the final despatching of the merchandise imported in her, shall be placed in one packet, which must contain:—

1st. The ship's certified manifest, transmitted by the respective consular agent, and in default thereof a copy of what is mentioned in Article 65.

2. The list or statement of the provisions on board for use of the crew.

3. Documents relative to each of the shipments, containing the invoice, importer's manifest, statement of the examination of the goods, with all particulars of the valuation, estimate of damage, and of all other matters treated of in Section 6, account of the duties charged, and also all other documents relative to incidents of each shipment.

4. The registers kept of the unloading of the vessels mentioned in Article 43.

5. The original orders and lists specified in Article 97.

6. All the correspondence of the Consular Agents in relation to the respective vessels.

7. Copy of all the resolutions of the Custom-house respecting infractions, of the communications and vouchers passed to the judge and all the Acts mentioned in Articles 41, 60, 61, 75, 79, and 84.

Article 115.

The packets specified in the preceding Article shall be forwarded through the Finance Secretary's Office to that charged with the examination and settlement of the Custom-houses' accounts, and the Custom-houses shall send at the same time a statement embracing:—

1. The total number of packages of each class specified in the tariff, the total weight, and the duties charged on the packages of each class.

2. The value of each invoice.

3. A summary classified in Articles, of all merchandise imported.

Article 116.

In the Custom-house department of the Finance Office an account shall be kept of the documents specified in Articles 19, 39, 41, 60, 61, 75, 79, 88, 99, 100, and 101, and immediately after receipt of the Custom-house packets of documents, they shall be compared with the respective ones forwarded in conformity with the foregoing Articles, and afterwards those remitted in the packets shall be examined. All discrepancies and informalities noticed shall be communicated to the office charged with the examination and final arrangement of the accounts. To the Secretary of Foreign Affairs, information of the failings and omissions of the Consular Agents, in regard to what is required of them by this law, shall also be communicated.

Article 117.

The statements required by Article 115 shall be retained in the Customs' department for the forming of statistic accounts.

SECTION 9.

On Farming the Customs' Revenues.

Article 118.

The executive power may give on rent the duties of importation up to a fifth part of those payable at Santa Martha, Carthagena, Savanilla,

Rio-Hacha, Cúcuta, and Buenaventura, and to the extent of fifty per cent. at the other Custom-houses, under the following conditions:—

1. That the amount given for the quota taken on rent be equal to that received on each quota during the fiscal year from 1858 to 1859.

2. That the excess of the duties in the quota rented shall belong to the farmer of the customs.

3. That the farmer gives security for a sum equivalent to twenty per cent. of the amount of the rent.

4. That the farmer shall not receive the amount which may appertain to him, until after the amount of the rent of the quota shall have been received in duties; payment to be made to him at the place where the Custom-house exists. The Custom-house shall state, in all the accounts of duties, the quota belonging to the farmer.

5. The amount belonging to the farmer shall be paid in cash.

6. That the farmer, or his agents, shall have the following rights:—

1. To be present at all the visits made to vessels.

2. To inspect all the acts and transactions relating to the landing, custody, and delivery of the cargo, and to be present at the examination of same.

3. To examine all the documents connected with the transactions mentioned in the two preceding clauses, and all those relative to the accounts of duties, and the payment thereof.

4. To take all precautions he may deem necessary to insure that the acts and transactions of the Custom-house employes, and of other persons, be in conformity with the law, and with the rules prescribed by the executive power, and that the revenue be not defrauded.

7. That the term of the contract shall not exceed two years.

SECTION 10.

Of the intervention of the Agents of the Foreign Creditors in the transactions of the Custom-houses.

Article 119.

The executive power shall endeavour to enter into an agreement with the Committee of the foreign bondholders, under the following conditions:—

1. That the Committee appoint an agent in each of the Custom-houses of Santa Martha, Carthagena, Savanilla, Rio-Hacha, Cúcuta, Barbacoas, and Buenaventura, to watch over the operations mentioned in Articles 39, 41, 60, 61, 63, 75, 79, 81, and others of this law, or of others which may hereafter be issued, in all that may relate to the inspection of the operations consequent on the visit to vessels landing, custody, examination of the merchandise, and the liquidation of duties.

2. That the agents shall receive, for account of the Committee, the sums which correspond to the foreign creditors; the part of the products of the Custom-houses applicable to the payment of the interest on the foreign debt.

3. That the individuals who are appointed to the Custom-houses as agents, be considered as also employes of the Government of the United States of Columbia to discharge the duties assigned to them by this law.

4. That the agents shall not directly nor indirectly engage in commercial pursuits during their term of office.

5. That the Government shall pay a part of the certain and eventual salary of the agents, and said part shall be equal to one-half of that payable to the Comptroller of the respective Custom-house.

6. Should the Committee not agree to appoint an agent at each of the Custom-houses mentioned in the first condition, one may be appointed at any or at some of the said ports, as may be agreed upon.

7. The Committee may appoint agents at the other ports not mentioned in condition first of this Act, but in such case the Government shall not be bound to pay part of their salaries.

8. That the Committee may appoint an agent at the residence of the General Treasury, to receive the sums collected at that office for account of the bondholders.

9. That the responsibility of the Republic for the amounts handed to the agents, shall cease from the moment of the delivery, and said amounts may be delivered in cash, or in bills on England, at the exchange of five dollars per pound sterling.

10. That the executive power may discharge the agent or agents from their employment, giving due notice to the Committee that a new appointment may be made.

11. This agreement shall not be binding on the Government for a longer period than six years.

Article 120.

The conditions 1, 3, and 4 of the preceding Article, are essential for the conclusion of a contract, which, should it be entered upon, in accordance with the conditions stated in the foregoing Article, shall be put into execution without the necessity of the approval of Congress.

Article 121.

The agents of the foreign creditors shall transmit to the Finance Office, together with the observations they may think proper, and by the first post, all the documents treated of in Articles 39, 41, 60, 61, 75, 79, and 88, and all other documents which may have been submitted to them by the Custom-houses, with the exception of the statements mentioned in Article 113, which they shall address direct to the Committee of bondholders of the foreign debt.

CHAPTER III.

Of Tonnage Dues.

Article 122.

In future no other impost shall be charged on vessels entering the ports of the Republic than that denominated "tonnage dues," at the rate of fifty cents of a dollar for every thousand of kilograms of the gross weight of the merchandise landed from the vessel.

Article 123.

The tonnage dues shall be collected in all maritime ports of the Republic, including the free ports; in the licensed ports by the respective Custom-houses, and in the free ports by the respective post-masters.

The executive power may suspend temporarily the collection of tonnage dues at the free ports.

PARAGRAPH.—The tonnage dues shall be paid during the time appointed for the discharge of the vessel.

Article 124.

Those who collect the tonnage dues at the free ports shall have the right to exact from the master or supercargo of each vessel, a declaration of the number of tons of merchandise discharged, whether they be computed by weight or by measurement.

Article 125.

No tonnage dues shall be collected on—

1. Vessels of war of friendly nations, and transports characterized as such.
2. Vessels arriving from national ports.
3. Those which come in ballast.
4. Those which bring immigrants exceeding fifty in number.
5. All such as may have been declared exempt by public conventions.
6. All steam vessels which trade regularly to the ports of the Republic, provided that their owners, agents, or masters, bind themselves to carry, gratis, to and fro, the correspondence and printed papers of the Government, and of private individuals.

CHAPTER IV.

Of Exportation and Re-exportation.

Article 126.

All the natural products of the country may be exported from the licensed ports.

Article 127.

Foreign productions imported into the Republic may be re-exported, provided they have paid the import duties, or secured them according to the limitation established in Article 66.

Article 128.

The national products are not subject to any duty whatever on their being exported.

Article 129.

The hours for loading, and the places at each of the licensed ports from which the loading is to take place, shall be the same as those appointed for the unloading and importation of foreign goods.

Article 130.

To load a vessel, a written permit from the collector is necessary.

Article 131.

Should the vessel have landed cargo, the custody of the vessel prescribed in Article 33 shall continue.

Article 132.

Within the term fixed by the collector on granting the permit to load, the shipper shall deliver a manifest, in duplicate, specifying the number of packages, their marks, numbers, weight, and contents, likewise their market value, the vessel in which they are shipped, and the place to which destined.

Article 133.

The examination shall be confined to such packages as may be suspected to contain articles different to those manifested, especially as regards foreign goods subject to import duties. The exporter shall declare the value and weight of the effects he exports, of which an entry shall be made for the formation of commercial statistics.

Article 134.

At foot of the manifest, the clearance of the vessel shall be made out and signed by the collector and comptroller, and one of the copies delivered to the exporter along with the permit to load.

Article 135.

The cargo being on board, and notice given to the Custom-house that the vessel is ready to weigh anchor, the chief of the coast-guard shall carry the register of the vessel on board, and having inspected the vessel and the account of the tide-waiter, and convinced himself that no other effects have been embarked than those declared, he shall deliver the register to the master, and notify to him that he must immediately leave the port; of all the foregoing he shall inform the collector.

Article 136.

When a vessel is ordered to sail, should she not do so owing to stress of weather, or owing to some other imperious or unforeseen circumstance, the collector shall place the guard he may deem necessary on board, and the expense shall be borne by the master of the vessel.

Article 137.

The re-exportation of foreign merchandise on which duties have been paid or secured, shall be subject to the same rules and formalities laid down for the exportation of national products.

Article 138.

The executive power shall decree the special rules which it may consider necessary for the loading and transport of shipments destined for exportation at the inland and river ports.

Article 139.

Of all exports a document shall be formed consisting of the following:—

1. Of the manifests delivered to the Custom-house.
2. Statements of examination.
3. Of the measures taken in cases of infraction of the laws and rules, and of the communications made to the judge and of the vouchers.
4. A statement classifying by articles all the shipments in a vessel, showing also the gross weight, and estimate of each article, and the port or ports for which they are shipped. These documents shall be sent to the Secretary of Finance for the object mentioned in Article 17.

CHAPTER V.

Of the transit and bonding of Foreign Merchandise.

SECTION I.

General Rules.

Article 140.

The executive power is authorised to conclude a customs' treaty with the Government of the Republic of Venezuela for the object of facilitating and making effective the collection of duties on foreign merchandise imported through the frontiers of both nations. This agreement shall be submitted to congress for its approval.

Article 141.

Foreign merchandise from Maracaibo for consumption in the United States of Columbia, shall only be imported by the way of Los Cachos, and entered at the Custom-house of San José de Cúcuta.

Article 142.

All cargoes embraced in the foregoing Article shall be accompanied with a permit or clearance from the Custom-house of Maracaibo, and imported with all the formalities and precautions exacted by the executive power.

Article 143.

The importer or his representative at the time of presenting the permit or document, shall declare if the whole cargo is destined for the consumption of the Republic, or whether the whole or a part thereof is destined for Venezuela.

Article 144.

Merchandise for consumption in the Republic, shall be examined and delivered, and the duties liquidated in the same way as established by law for all merchandise imported into the Republic.

SECTION 2.

Of Merchandise in transit for Venezuela.

Article 145.

Cargoes entered for transmission to Venezuela shall be subjected to the following formalities:—

1. The importer shall deliver to the Collector of the Custom-house an invoice certified by the Consular Agent of the Republic in Maracaibo, containing all the particulars specified in Article 15; also a declaration that the packages are to be forwarded to Venezuela, and likewise the manifest as required by Article 38.
2. The Custom-house shall immediately copy into a book kept for the purpose the invoice and permit which should accompany it, after comparing them with the copy of the invoice sent by the Consular Agent by the first post. Any differences appearing shall be noted at foot of the copy. The copy shall be signed by the collector, the importer, or his representative, and the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one.
3. A copy of the documents mentioned in the foregoing clause shall be sent to the Finance Office by the first post, and, should there be at the Custom-house an agent of the foreign creditors, it shall be forwarded through him.
4. The Custom-house shall examine the cargo, limiting itself to verify the weight, marks, number, and description of each package.
5. Everything being correct the collector shall write a permit at foot of the pass, and shall therein express that within ten days from the date a certificate must be delivered to him from the Custom-house of Táchira, to the effect that the goods stated in the pass have been there imported.
6. The examination of the merchandise having taken place, the account of import duties shall be made up, and the amount secured in the terms prescribed in this law. The cargo shall then be delivered to the importer.
7. When the whole cargo cannot be placed in the Custom-house immediately, the packages as they go on arriving shall be deposited therein until the total number have arrived. A charge of twenty cents on every hundred kilograms shall be levied on those deposited.

Article 146.

The executive power shall decree the rules it may deem necessary for the transportation of merchandise to the Custom-house of Cúcuta from that of the Táchira in Venezuela, or other places distinct from Maracaibo.

Article 147.

Whenever there should appear a difference between the survey of a cargo destined for the transit traffic of Venezuela and the invoice and manifest, or whenever the particulars contained in the said invoice and manifest should prove different, the cargo shall be considered as destined for importation into the Republic, and shall be proceeded with in the manner prescribed in the 6th Section, chapter the 2nd of this law.

Article 148.

The provisions of Articles 18, 19, and 20 of this law are applicable to cargoes imported through the Custom-house of Cúcuta in transit for the territory of Venezuela.

Article 149.

On presentation in due time of the certificate of the Táchira Custom-house to the effect that the cargo has been imported there without any discrepancy, the Custom-house shall cancel the bonds given to secure the duties; in a contrary case the duties shall be collected according to the general rule.

Article 150.

The only route for the transit traffic imported through the Custom-house of Cúcuta for that of Táchira, in Venezuela, is by way of the town of Rosaria, in the direction of San Antonio.

SECTION 3.

Of bonding at the Custom-house of Cúcuta.

Article 151.

In the Custom-house of Cúcuta the importers may, when returning the account of duties handed to them by the collector, declare their intention to bond the whole or part of the cargo in the said Custom-house. In this case a promissory note at six months for the payment of the duties shall be given, and the packages bonded shall be stored in the warehouses of the Custom-house, that the importers may afterwards withdraw them for consumption in the Republic, or for exportation to Venezuela.

Article 152.

The storekeeper shall open an account for each shipment deposited and note the packages as they are withdrawn for consumption or exportation, in virtue of orders issued by the collector on petition of the party interested. At the expiration of the six months the storekeeper shall close the account, and transmit it to the collector along with the original orders.

Article 153.

The Custom-house shall also keep an account with the importer for the amount of duties on the shipment spoken of in the foregoing articles, in which it shall go on crediting the duties on the goods withdrawn for exportation; at the end of the six months this account shall be closed, the goods on hand reputed as for consumption in the Republic, and the balance of duties collected.

Article 154.

The parties interested, each time they wish to take goods out of bond, shall present a memorial to the collector, in which shall be specified the mark, number, and weight of the package or packages, the shipment to which they belonged, and the bond given for payment of the duties. The collector shall on the same day give a permit, written at the foot of the memorial, and transmit it to the storekeeper, who, on delivering the packages, shall return it with the receipt of the party interested.

Article 155.

The time for presenting the certificate treated of in clause 5 of Article 145, shall be counted from the date in which the packages may have been taken out of bond.

Article 156.

The bonding duty shall be one dollar for every hundred kilograms gross weight, whatever may be the time the merchandise may remain in store.

Article 157.

Every time, from bonded merchandise, goods be taken out for home consumption, in conformity with the provisions of Article 151, the duties caused by such goods taken out shall be paid in the same terms, and in conformity with the general rules established by the present code.

Article 158.

The memorials of which Article 154 treats, shall be forwarded to the Finance Office, together with the accounts of the packages, duties, &c., for the purposes stated in Article 116.

Article 159.

Until the executive power provides the Custom-house of Cúcuta, with stores or warehouses capable of containing the salt bonded at that place, the present regulations shall continue in force relative to the case.

CHAPTER VI.

Of the Coasting Trade.

Article 160.

All foreign merchandise may be transported from one licensed port to another, and from a licensed port to one not licensed, provided that the duties on such goods have been paid or secured.

Article 161.

The hours of the day, and the places in which the loading shall take place, shall be the same as those appointed for the landing and importing of foreign goods from abroad.

Article 162.

To commence loading a cargo, intended for another port of the Republic, a written permit from the collector is necessary.

Article 163.

Permission being granted, the chief of the Coast Guard shall make another visit of search to examine that the vessel is in ballast, or if there be only on board articles intended for exportation, or the effects which at the entry of the vessel by declaration of the captain, or as appears by the ship's manifest, are intended for other ports. The visit being concluded, the said chief shall leave a guard on board.

Article 164.

Within the time fixed by the collector on giving the permit to load, the shipper shall present a manifest in triplicate of the merchandise he intends to transport, with all the particulars exacted by Articles 15 and 38.

Article 165.

The said manifests being presented, and the shipments examined as if they were an importation, observing the same forms and forwarding the documents prescribed in the respective articles of this law.

Article 166.

The captain or supercargo of a vessel shall deliver in triplicate to the collector the ship's manifest of the cargo he has received in the same terms prescribed in Article 14, and, after comparing these with the respective examinations, and finding all the documents in conformity with each other, the collector shall put a certificate to that effect at foot of each copy of the ship's manifest, and return one of them to the captain. One of the remaining two copies shall be remitted to the Finance Office through the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, and the other shall be annexed to the ship's clearance-papers.

Article 167.

The Collector of Customs shall forward to the respective Custom-houses a copy of what is treated of in Article 65, and one of the manifests relating thereto. Of the other two copies of the cockpit, one shall be forwarded to the Finance Office, through the agent of the foreign creditors, or directly to the same by the first post in default of the agent.

Article 168.

The cargo being put on board, and notice given to the Custom-house that the vessel is ready to weigh anchor, the chief of the Coast Guard shall go on board, and, after assuring himself by the account kept by the tidewater, and due examination of the vessel that all is correct, he shall deliver to the captain the manifest, certified by the Custom-house, with the requisite clearance from that office.

Article 169.

The provisions of Article 52 are likewise applicable to this chapter.

Article 170.

On the arrival of vessels trading coastwise at the licensed ports, the manifest of the merchandise brought from the port whence the vessel sailed, shall be exacted at the time of the visit; the merchandise shall be landed and again examined with the same formalities as if they had been imported from a foreign port.

Article 171.

When vessels mentioned in the foregoing Article have on board merchandise destined for foreign ports, and shipped at the place from which the vessel sailed, the manifest relative to such goods, with a certificate of the exportation of the Custom-house, shall be exacted from the master or supercargo, the respective employé may compare on board the manifest with the packages therein mentioned.

Article 172.

Should the merchandise treated of in the preceding Article not have been imported into any national port, and consequently not being a case of re-exportation from such port, they shall be proceeded with in the manner provided for in the chapter relative to imported goods.

Article 173.

Whenever a vessel should leave in ballast for a licensed port, bound to another licensed port, the master, supercargo, or consignee shall obtain a certificate from the Collector of the Custom-house, to the effect that the vessel leaves in ballast; of this circumstance advice shall be given by the first post to the port to which she is bound; in this case, as well as that treated of in Article 167, the Customs of the latter port shall communicate to the former the arrival of the vessel, with all other particulars which may have occurred at the last-mentioned port to the vessel.

Article 174.

The Custom-houses of the ports in which vessels trading coastwise enter, and leave, may make use of seals and counter-marks variable at will, with the object of insuring that the goods declared for such trade, are the same as those imported at the ports for which she is bound.

Article 175.

The Articles 161 to 166, and 169, are applicable to vessels which load with foreign merchandise imported into licensed ports, and bound to coast ports which have not been licensed for foreign trade.

Article 176.

Small craft coming from unlicensed ports to licensed ports, shall be only inspected on their arrival, if the collector or other chief of the Custom-house shall deem it necessary to do so.

Article 177.

The small craft trading between unlicensed ports, shall not be subjected to any examination by the national authorities.

Article 178.

Of the entry and departure of vessels which trade coastwise, a statement shall be made up, containing as follows:—

1. The certified manifest, if the statement be made up at the port of arrival, or the copy signed by the captain, should it appertain to the Custom-house of the port of her departure.
2. The information treated of in Articles 167 to 173.
3. A copy of each of the cockets.
4. A copy of each of the acts of inspection.
5. Copy of the resolutions taken in case of infraction, and of the communications and vouchers, sent to the competent judge.
6. The other documents which, in conformity with this law, should be exacted or issued by the respective Custom-houses.

These statements should be remitted to the Finance Office, for the purposes mentioned in Article 117.

CHAPTER VII.

Of Mercantile Statistics.

Article 179.

The Consular Agents of the Republic residing in London, Liverpool, Havre, Bordeaux, Marseilles, Genoa, Hamburg, Bremen, New York, Kingston (Jamaica), St. Thomas, Curaçao, and Maracaibo, shall send every month to the Finance Office, through the medium of the Foreign Office, the following information:—

1. A list of the merchant vessels, which have cleared during the month, bound to ports of the Republic, specifying the name, tonnage, and flag of each vessel, with data, as exact as possible, of the nature and value of the cargo, and of the mercantile houses, to which they are consigned. The Consular Agents of Curaçao, St. Thomas, and Maracaibo, shall remit also an extract of the ship's manifest, relative to the part of the cargo shipped for the port of Cúcuta, by way of Maracaibo.
2. Of the importations at the respective ports of the products of this Republic, with the other particulars which have just been mentioned with regard to exportations.
3. Any official documents which may be published in the foreign countries, if they contain data relative to the trade of the Republic.
4. All other information which the Consular Agents may judge serviceable for the formation of the mercantile statistics of the Republic.

Article 180.

The Collectors of the Custom-house shall remit monthly to the Finance Office,

1. A statement of the entries and departures of vessels, with the name, tonnage, flag, and of the place whence they come and whither bound.

2. A statement of the merchandise intended for the coast trade.

Article 181.

The Finance Office shall publish, through the medium of the customs, at the expiration of the fiscal year, all the data specified in the foregoing Articles, and the statements mentioned in Articles 116 and 189, and they shall be included in the annual report to be presented to Congress; the said data being classified and distributed in the following manner:—

1. A statement of the importations, specifying the articles of which they consist, number of packages, gross weight, value and place whence they come.

2. A statement of the exports, specifying the articles of which they consist, number of packages, gross weight, value, and destination.

3. A statement relative to vessels, with a specification of the tonnage, flag of the vessel, the place whence they come, and whither bound. All the foregoing in conformity with the Custom-house reports.

4. A sheet containing a note of importation according to the consular advices, specifying the value thereof, and whence they come.

5. A sheet relative to exportations in conformity with consular advices, and specifications as to whence they were bound, and their value.

6. A sheet relative to vessels, in conformity with the same advices, with a specification of their tonnage, flag, the place whence they come, and whither bound.

7. A sheet relative to the coasting trade.

8. A general summary of the importations, according to Custom-house data, with a specification of the articles, of what they consist, number of packages, gross weight, and value.

9. Summary of the importations, according to whence they come, with a specification of the articles, number of packages, gross weight, and value, conformably to the data of the Custom-houses.

10. A general summary of exports, with a specification of the articles of what they consist, number of packages, gross weight, and to what place exported.

11. Summary of exportations, according to their destination, expressing the articles, number of packages, gross weight, and value.

In each of the sheets treated of in this Article, a comparison shall be made with the data of the sheets of the preceding year, specifying the increase or decrease.

CHAPTER VIII.

Of Infractions, Penalties, and Rewards.

SECTION I.

Of Infractions.

Article 182.

The infractions which may be committed in commercial operations, subject to the customs' regulations, are classified and divided in the manner and in the following cases:—

1. The want of the certified manifest of the respective Consular Agent, or his substitute, of those which ought to be certified by the customs' of the Republic, or of those certificates and notes which ought to be made in the said documents by the Custom-houses.

2. Want of the register, or of the ship's articles.

3. Want of the certificate treated of in Article 164.

4. Landing in ports or places not licensed, except in trading coastwise, all the formalities for this traffic having been complied with, relative to this traffic.

5. Landing, importing, and conveying merchandise in the licensed ports, during hours or at places different to those assigned, or without the necessary permits or passes.

6. Loading or transport of foreign merchandise for the coast trade, or for exportation, at the licensed ports, during hours or at places different to those fixed upon, or without the examination, permit, or other necessary documents.

7. The same operations specified in the foregoing clause, regarding national products for exportation.

8. Breaking of the seals placed by the employés of the Customs on the hatchways and other places of the vessels.

9. Resistance to leaving the port, or delaying so doing.

10. Culpable delay in the discharge of the vessels.

11. Carrying or landing effects in ports different to those mentioned in the ship's manifest.

12. Deficiency in the data which the manifests relative to importation, exportation, and the coast-trade, ought to contain.

13. A greater or lesser number of packages appearing on board or landed, than those specified in the manifest.

14. Any inexactitude in the same documents, relative to the gross weight of the packages.

15. Carrying into the interior, or to other places, foreign merchandise, without the documents for such purpose, or by ways or in places and at hours different from those established.

16. The going on board of persons not authorized to do so.

17. Want of certified invoices or manifests which should be presented in due time, for the effect of importation or for the coast trade.

18. Want of, deficiency in, or inexactitude of, the manifests which should be presented for the object of exportation or re-exportation.

19. Deficiency or inexactitude in the data which the invoices and manifests relative to importations and coast trade should contain, when these data do not refer to the number of packages, their gross weight, or the class of merchandise according to the tariff.

20. The same deficiency in regard to the class of merchandise, according to the tariff.

21. The same deficiency in regard to the gross weight of the packages.

22. The same deficiency in regard to the number of packages of which the cargo is composed.

23. Any inexactitude with regard to the gross weight of the packages as may result in examination.

24. Any inexactitude relative to the class of effects conformable with the tariff, as may appear by the examination.

25. The appearance of more or less packages or of different packages than those enumerated in the invoices and manifests of importation or for coast trade.

26. The importation of prohibited articles.

27. Want of or inexactitude in the document required by Article 84.

28. Extraction of merchandise from the Custom-house stores without the requisite formalities.

29. Want or undue delivery of the certificate required by clause 5 of Article 145.

30. Loading transport or importation of foreign-merchandise coastwise in the same vessel in which they have been imported, and during the same voyage.

SECTION 2.

Of Penalties.

Article 183.

In the cases specified in the foregoing Article the following penalties shall be applied:—

In cases 1 and 3, the penalties established by Article 25.

In case 2, the confiscation of the vessel, sails, and rigging.

In case 4, the confiscation of the vessel, sails, rigging, and merchandise.

In case 5, the confiscation of the merchandise, and if the captain be culpable, confiscation likewise of the vessel and rigging.

In case 6, a fine equal to the value of the merchandise, which shall be paid half by the captain of the vessel, and half by the owner. And should the owner not appear, all the merchandise shall be confiscated.

In case 7, fines on the parties culpable, from fifty to one thousand dollars.

In case 8, a fine on the captain, from one hundred to one thousand dollars, without exempting him from other responsibility which he may have incurred.

In case 9, a fine on the captain, from one hundred to one thousand dollars, and the guard shall be doubled at his cost.

In case 10, a fine on the captain or consignee, of from fifty to one thousand dollars, and payment of the cost of the guard from the moment the delay commences to take place.

In case 11, confiscation of the goods, and fine in the captain of, from one hundred to one thousand dollars.

In case 12, a fine on the captain of from two hundred to one thousand dollars, and cost of the guard, which shall be doubled.

In case 13, the penalties established by Articles 60 and 61, and in case of not being able to obtain knowledge of the weight of the packages, a fine on the captain of twenty-five dollars for every missing package.

In case 14, the highest duty payable by tariff shall be charged to the captain for the differences which may result in the weight, as per Article 77.

In case 15, confiscation of the merchandise and of the vehicles in which the transport or carriage may be made.

In case 16, a fine of from five to fifty dollars on the captain and the person who may go on board.

In cases 17, 20, 21, and 22, the penalties established by Article 74. Should it not be possible to ascertain the weight of the packages missing, the importer shall pay a fine of twenty-five dollars for each missing package.

In case 18, a fine of from ten to one hundred dollars on the person who shall deliver the manifest.

In case 19, a fine of ten per cent. on the amount of duties.

In case 23, the penalties established respectively by Articles 79 and 80.

In case, 24, the penalty established by Article 77.

In case 25, the penalties established by Articles 60 and 61 shall fall on the importer.

In case 26, the penalties established by Article 13.

In case 27, the penalties established by Article 84.

In case 28, a fine shall be levied upon all merchandise taken out at the rate of twenty-five dollars for each package without exemption of the payment of the import duties. Should the merchandise be taken away before the examination, all shall be calculated for the formation of the account of duties as belonging to the highest class.

In case 29, the duties calculated shall be collected the same as if the goods had been imported for the consumption of the Republic.

In case 30, the cargo shall be confiscated, and the captain fined in one hundred to one thousand dollars.

Article 184.

The persons committing the infringements of clauses 4, 5, 11, 15, 26, 28, and 30, of Article 182, shall also incur the penalty of suspension of the right of doing business of a mercantile kind, personally or through another party, or of doing any banking or exchange business. The suspension shall continue for one year, if the fraud does not exceed the value of five hundred dollars, and one month more for every fifty dollars in excess of the five hundred dollars.

Article 185.

Whenever the effects shipped, landed, or carried off fraudulently, should not be seized, but the commission of the fraud is proved, the defrauder shall pay to the national treasury a sum equal to the value of the said effects, if this can be ascertained, and if not, a fine of one hundred to two thousand dollars, in relation to the probable amount of the value of the effects in proportion to the number of packages and other data obtained relative to the fraud.

Article 186.

In cases of fraud or violence on the Custom-house revenues, not only the authors of the fraud or violence, but also the accomplices or aiders in it, shall be responsible collectively to the national treasury for the sums not received.

Article 187.

When a person who has been suspended from the right to do business should violate the suspension personally, or through another person, he shall pay a fine of from fifty to five hundred dollars every time that he does any business, and in case of a repetition, he shall be banished to the distance of twenty miriametres from the place in which the infringement has been committed, during the whole time that the suspension shall last.

Article 188.

All fines imposed for infringement of the law relative to the customs' revenues, shall form part of the product of the respective Custom-houses.

Article 189.

Whenever deposits of foreign merchandise be found in houses, cabins, huts, or other places on the coast, which from proximity to a port are liable to suspicion, such merchandise shall be considered as in the clause 4, of Article 182, unless their legitimate importation be proved.

Article 190.

The vessel and all her appurtenances shall answer for the fines and pecuniary penalties imposed on the captain.

SECTION 3.

Of the mode of proceeding and jurisdiction of persons in cases of Smuggling.

Article 191.

Any employé who, in the exercise of any of the acts specified in this code, or in the regulations decreed by the executive power, should become cognizant of any infringement liable to a penalty having been committed, or that there is an intention to commit any such, shall, should he have judicial functions, proceed at once to institute an investigation into the matter, procure all the evidence tending to clear up the case, and transmit the same to the competent judge, who shall also be put in possession of the goods embargoed, if any.

Article 192.

Should the employé who discovers the infringement, or who has received notice thereof, not be legally authorized to take measures, he shall give the necessary information to one who is so authorized; preferring, in every case, the collectors of the Custom-houses, and shall also communicate what has occurred to the Governor of the State, the agent of the foreign creditors, and the farmer of the duties, should there be one, that they may exercise due vigilance over the functionary who forms the indictment, and over the judge who tries the case.

Article 193.

The collector, comptroller, surveyor, and chief of the Coast Guards at each Custom-house, are primary legal authorities in cases of smuggling, but they may be exempted from the exercise of such functions when impeded by their ordinary occupations.

Article 194.

The judges of the primary court who have jurisdiction at the place where the Custom-house exists, or at those places where the fraud is committed, or where the seizure is made, shall take cognizance of all cases of infraction as expressed in Clauses 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 11, 15, 25, 26, 28, and 30 of Article 182, and of the others in which suspension of the right to do business is imposed, regulating their proceedings to the laws of the respective State.

Article 195.

In all the cases not mentioned in the preceding Article, cognizance shall appertain to the collector, who shall decide the matter extrajudicially.

Article 196.

In cases of smuggling, the comptroller shall act as prosecutor, and the agent of the foreign creditors, and the farmer, shall also be heard in the case.

Article 197.

The Collectors of the Custom-houses shall forward to the finance officer through the agent of the foreign creditors, or directly should there be no agent, a certified copy of all sentences pronounced in cases of smuggling.

SECTION 4.

Of Rewards.

Article 198.

In cases of the confiscation of vessels, or of merchandise, or of both, the value of the things confiscated shall be distributed in the following manner:—

1. Should it be a vessel with merchandise or effects, or without these twenty-five per cent. of the proceeds to the discoverer of the fraud who makes it known, whether he be an employé of the Customs or not.

2. Should it be merchandise or effects which are on board, twenty-five per cent. of the proceeds to the discoverer who denounces them.

3. Should the confiscation be of merchandise which has been landed or taken out of the Custom-house stores, or carried into the interior, or taken out of the bonded stores, and of the vehicles which have been seized, twenty-five per cent. of the proceeds shall be paid to the informer, and twenty-five per cent. to the captor, whether he be a Custom-house employé or not.

4. The remainder of the proceeds of these confiscations shall belong to the Custom-houses.

Article 199.

Of the fines detailed in Clauses 7, 8, 11, 13, 16, 28, and 30, half shall be given to the informer if he be also the captor, but if the informer and the captor be different persons, twenty-five per cent. shall belong to each.

CHAPTER IX.

Sundry Resolutions.

Article 200.

At the ports where there are no Consular Agents of the Republic, nor of Chile, whose Consular Agents are bound by treaty to certify the invoices and ships manifests, the documents mentioned in Articles 14 and 15 shall be presented to the Consular Agent of a friendly nation, should there be one at the port.

Article 201.

When the case of the preceding Article occurs, the Custom-house shall exact the original bills of lading, and compare the ship's manifest with them.

Article 202.

In regard to vessels which arrive at one of the licensed ports, not enjoying immunities, and coming from a free port, the same proceedings shall take place as if she had come from a foreign port.

PARAGRAPH.—The National Post Masters at the free ports shall perform the duties of a Consular Agent relative to the certificates treated of in Articles 14 and 15, and in all other particulars assigned to such agents by this code.

Article 203.

In the maritime Custom-houses there shall be kept a registry of visits made to vessels, and of all the particulars relative thereto. This book shall be initialed in every page by the collector, the chief of the Coast Guard, and the agent of the foreign creditors, should there be one, and these shall also sign all the entries made.

Article 204.

The ballast of one vessel shall not be transhipped to another, and shall not be subject to duty when not consisting of articles intended for the consumption of the Republic; but should it consist of articles destined for such consumption, it shall be liable to duty and like all other merchandise must be accompanied with the necessary documents.

Article 205.

In regard to the effects sent by way of Salazar, for exportation at the port of Los Cachos, the presentation of which at the Custom-house of Cúcuta would be costly and onerous to the exporter, the following regulations shall be observed:—

1. Application to the Custom-house for permission to export on handing the requisite manifests.

2. The Custom-house shall write the permit on one of the copies of the manifest and return it to the exporter.

3. The tidewater who may be stationed at the port of Los Cachos shall, with this manifest, examine the packages, and if no difference result, the exportation shall be permitted, notice thereof given to the Custom-house.

Article 206.

A similar proceeding shall be adopted in regard to shipments for exportation at the port of Zispata, delivering the manifests at, and obtaining the permit from, the Custom-house of Carthagena, from whence a Coast Guard officer shall be sent on board of the vessel to make the survey.

Article 207.

That a consignee may make responsible the owner of merchandise, he shall hold a sufficient authority from said owner. But a consignee may make himself responsible without such authorisation, by presenting the requisite sureties.

Article 208.

In cases of doubt in the tariff the highest rate of duty shall be charged.

Article 209.

The executive power shall issue the necessary regulations for the carrying out of this code, and if the organic fiscal law specifies nothing in regard to the monthly visits of inspection which should be made to the Custom-houses, the executive power shall decree what it may deem necessary in the case.

Article 210.

The executive power shall immediately endeavour to make an agreement with the Corporation of the district of San José de Cúcuta, that the management of the store-houses belonging to the said district be placed under the inspection and direction of the Custom-house. Should it not be possible to make this agreement, the executive power shall take the measures it may deem proper in the matter, appropriating the said storehouses in a legal manner if necessary.

Article 211.

The executive power is also authorised:—

1. To assign to the Consular Agents, viz.: at Liverpool a salary not exceeding twelve hundred dollars; at Maracaibo, New York, Havre, and St. Thomas, salaries not exceeding nine hundred and sixty dollars for each place; and salaries not exceeding four hundred and eighty dollars each for those at London, Bremen, Hamburg, Bordeaux, Marseilles, Lima, and Curaçoa.

2. To increase the personnel of the Custom-houses, where such is wanted.

3. To remove the Custom-houses to other places, except those of Santa Martha, Carthagena, Rio Hacha, Cúcuta, and Buenaventura, and to suppress those where the income does not pay the expenses.

Article 212.

The executive power shall take care to prevent any imposition by the Governments of the States of formalities, exactions, and charges whatever, under any pretext, upon the commercial operations subjected to the Custom-house regulations before the merchandise may have been offered for the consumption of the State.

PARAGRAPH.—The foregoing does not exclude the collecting of tolls or other charges for the use of the public highways maintained by the State.

PARAGRAPH.—Nor are excluded charges for the use of buildings belonging to private individuals, such as stores, bridges, canals, roads, &c., provided that such charges be in conformity with the respective privileges granted to such individuals, or that the use of the said buildings be not made obligatory either by the terms of the privilege, or that the buildings are so constructed that it be not possible to avoid making use of them as a public highway.

Article 213.

For the performance of the duties ascribed to the customs' department in the Finance Office, the executive power shall, should it be deemed necessary, appoint a clerk whose special business shall be to examine all the documents remitted to the said office in virtue of this code, and to make up the commercial statistics. The salary of such clerk shall not exceed one thousand dollars per annum.

Article 214.

This law shall commence to take effect at ninety days after its date, and from the day it is enforced all other anterior organic customs' laws of import duties and tonnage-dues shall be annulled.

Article 215.

The executive power shall render an account to the next Congress of the use it may have made of the authorizations conferred by this law.

CONTRACT FOR BREAKING-UP OLD SHIPS AND VESSELS.

Contract Department, Admiralty,
Somerset House, September 9, 1864.

THE Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland do hereby give notice, that on Tuesday, the 27th instant, at two o'clock, they will be ready to treat with such persons as may be willing to contract for lying in the Thames and Medway.

BREAKING-UP OLD SHIPS AND VESSELS,

A form of the tender may be obtained, and conditions of contract seen, in the Contract Department, Admiralty, Somerset House.

No tender will be received after two o'clock on the day of treaty, nor will any be noticed unless the party attends, or an Agent for him duly authorized in writing.

Every tender must be addressed to the Secretary of the Admiralty, and bear in the left-hand corner the words "Tender for Breaking-up Old Ships," and must also be delivered at the Department of the Storekeeper-General, Admiralty, Somerset House, accompanied by a letter signed by two responsible persons, engaging to become bound with the person tendering, in the sum of £5000 for the due performance of the contract.

CONTRACTS FOR SALT PORK.

Contract Department, Admiralty,
Somerset House, September 3, 1864.

THE Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland do hereby give notice, that on Monday, the 10th October next, at half past one o'clock, they will be ready to treat with such persons as may be willing to contract for supplying and delivering into Her Majesty's Victualling Stores at the undermentioned Ports, the following quantities of

SALT PORK,

all of the cure of the present season, viz. :—

NAVY PORK.

	Tierces.	Barrels.
Deptford	2,900	.. 2,900
Haulbowline	2,900	.. 2,900

The Pork to be delivered into the respective Stores as follows; viz. : one-third of each quantity for each place by the 28th day of January, 1865; another third thereof by the 11th day of March, 1865; and the remainder thereof by the 29th day of April, 1865; or any greater portion, or the whole, at any earlier period, if preferred by the party tendering, and to be paid for by bills at three days after date, which will be sent to parties as usual.

Their Lordships reserve to themselves the power, when the tenders are opened, of contracting either for the whole, or for such part thereof only as they may deem fit, or for a greater quantity, or of not contracting for any; and also an unlimited power of selection.

Every tender must specify the name of the person by whom the meat is intended to be cured, the brand of the meat, and the place of cure.

Tenders for pork, of the cure of the United States of America, will not be admitted.

Persons tendering for more than one Port must give a separate tender for each Port.

Persons tendering must give a reference to a banker for each surety proposed; and they are desired to take special notice that the use of wooden hoops is abolished, and that iron hoops only will be required for the casks in accordance with the conditions of the contract.

A form of the tender may be obtained, and the conditions of the contract, to which particular attention is called, may be seen in the Lobby of the Department of the Comptroller of Victualling, Somerset House, at the Victualling Yards at Gosport and Plymouth, or by applying to the Agent Victualler at Haulbowline; or to the Collectors of Her Majesty's Customs at Bristol, Limerick, Belfast, Waterford, and Newry; or to the Secretary to the Postmaster-General at Dublin; or to the Commander conducting the Packet Service at Liverpool; or to the Resident Agent for Transports at Leith.

No tender will be admitted for a less quantity than 100 tierces, or 100 barrels.

No tender will be received after half past one o'clock on the day of treaty, nor any noticed, unless made on the printed form provided for the purpose; but it will not be necessary that the party tendering, or an agent appointed by him, should attend, as the result of the offer received from each person will be communicated to him and to his proposed sureties in writing.

Every tender must be addressed to the Secretary of the Admiralty, and bear in the left-hand corner of the envelope the words "Tender for Salt Pork," and must also be delivered at the Department of the Comptroller of Victualling, Somerset House.

Bank of England, September 22, 1864.

THE Governor and Company of the Bank of England give notice,

That the General Court held at the Bank of England this day is adjourned till Tuesday next, the 27th instant, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of taking the determination by vote, in print or writing, of the question on the following resolution proposed at the Court for a Dividend; viz.:

That a half year's Dividend of interest and profits be made, on the 10th October next, of £5 15s. per cent., without deduction on account of income tax.

EDW. BERNARD,

Assistant Inspector-General of Imports and Exports.

CONTRACT FOR BEES' WAX.

Contract Department, Admiralty,
Somerset House, September 21, 1864.

THE Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland do hereby give notice, that on Tuesday, the 4th October next, at two o'clock, they will be ready to treat with such persons as may be willing to contract for supplying Her Majesty's Dockyards at Deptford, Woolwich, Chatham, Sheerness, Portsmouth, and Devonport, with under a contract for twelve months certain, and further, until the expiration of three months warning.

A sample of the bees' wax and the average annual consumption for the last three years, together with a form of the tender and conditions of contract, may be seen in the Lobby of the Store-keeper-General's Department, Admiralty, Somerset House.

No tender will be received after two o'clock on the day of treaty, nor will any be noticed unless the party attends, or an agent for him duly authorized in writing.

Every tender must be addressed to the Secretary of the Admiralty, and bear in the left hand corner the words "Tender for Bees' Wax," and must also be delivered at Somerset House, accompanied by a letter signed by a responsible person, engaging to become bound with the person tendering, in the sum of £400 for the due performance of the contract.

Sambre and Meuse Railway.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the thirty-eighth Half-yearly General Meeting of the Proprietors in this undertaking will be held at the Offices of the Company, No. 61, Moorgate-street, London, on Wednesday, the 12th day of October next, at one o'clock precisely; and at the Siége of the Company, Jardinet lez Walcourt, Belgium, on Thursday, the 27th day of October next, at twelve o'clock precisely, on the general business of the Company; and notice is also given, that the meeting will be made special, in order to take into consideration a proposal which will be made by the Directors to re-transfer the Siége of the Company to Brussels.—Dated this 21st day of September, 1864.

Geo. Sheward, President.

By the statutes of the Company, it is required (Art. 34) "to be admitted at a General Meeting, whether ordinary or special, every holder of shares 'au porteur' (payable to bearer), must deposit them with the Secretary, or with the party appointed by the Board of Directors to receive them, at least ten days before the meeting."

Brewer's, Chester's, and Galley Quays.

THE Proprietors of the said Quays hereby give notice, that in pursuance of the Acts of the 10th Victoria, cap. 399, and 11th and 12th Victoria, cap. 200, and of "The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862," 25th and 26th Victoria, cap. 63, they intend, on Wednesday, the 5th October, 1864, and two following days, at one o'clock precisely each day (unless the charges shall have been previously paid), to have a Clearance Sale at the London Commercial Rooms, Mincing-lane, of such wines, spirits, and miscellaneous goods as from length of deposit or depreciated quality are considered not to be worth the charges due thereon; and that sundry parcels for which warrants have been issued, and the proprietors thereof are unknown, will be included in such sale. The sale will be without reserve, and will comprise hops, camomile flowers, aniseed, bark, poppy seed, rose leaves, barberry root, glycerine, oatmeal, rice, rice meal, tea, coffee, onion seed, black lead, glue, indigo, extract, bristles, Mexican fibre, poppy shells, corazza nuts, sea weed, dye stuff, patent fuel, peat, cement, boiler composition, painters' colours, copper wire, wax candles, pencils, clocks, clock cases, gun stocks, veneers, paper, ink, corks, books, fly paper, pulp, seal skins, bamboo rods, codilla, albumen, leather, straw hats, mohair, fringes, lace, cut garnet beads, porte monnaies, linen collars, window blinds, brooms, lasts, trunks, model of a ship, machinery, mill stones, mill bands, a fire engine, ghost apparatus, glass, glass ware, a quantity of building materials, empty carboys and cases, 100 cases lac lake, &c., &c.; and also 1 pipe, 13 drums, 117 hds., 28 qr.-casks, and about 2500 cases of champagne, moselle, sauterne, claret, port, sherry, brandy, cordials, and geneva. The goods may be viewed two days previous, and mornings of sale, and samples of the wines and spirits in cases, with catalogues, obtained of Ellis and Poole, Nos. 37 and 38, Mark-lane.

Joseph Barber and Co.

Manchester Cotton Company (Limited).

Hartford Chambers, St. Ann's-square,
Manchester, 15th September, 1864.

NOTICE is hereby given, that at an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Company, held in the Company's Offices, Hartford Chambers, Saint Ann's-square, Manchester, on Thursday, the 15th day of September, 1864, Hugh Mason, Esq., in the Chair, it was moved by the Chairman, seconded by Josiah Radcliffe, Esq., and resolved:—

"That the resolution adopted and passed at the Extraordinary General Meeting of the Shareholders of this Company, held on the 18th day of August, 1864, in the words following, namely—'That the Manchester Cotton Company (Limited) be, and is hereby voluntarily dissolved, and that, notwithstanding such dissolution, the present Directors be and are hereby authorized and empowered to sell and dispose of the business and property of the Company, and to do all such other acts as may be necessary for winding up the Company; and that the powers hereby conferred may be exercised by the Executive Committee, in pursuance of the sixty-sixth clause of the Articles of Association'—be and is hereby confirmed."

It was also moved by the Chairman, seconded by James Roberts, Esq., and resolved:—

"That the members of the said Executive Committee be and are hereby appointed Liquidators, for the purpose of voluntarily winding up the affairs of the Company, and distributing the property."
