6. That where the owner cannot conveniently make this declaration himself he may do so by his bailiff, or farm steward, or by any other person authorized by him, by writing under his hand, to make it on his behalf.

7. That the prohibition to remove cattle from one place to another within the jurisdiction, shall not apply to the removal of cattle from one part to another of adjoining lands in the occupation of the same person; nor to driving cattle backwards and forwards between their ordinary pasture and the shed or building where they are usually kept, provided that they shall not be sent more than half a mile along the public road, nor to any place where there has been cattle plague within one month, and that in any such case cattle shall not be allowed to be sent at all along the public road.
