

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1866.

AT the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 28th day of December, 1866.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

THIS day, Sir William Bovill, Knight, Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, and William Robert Seymour Vesey FitzGerald, Esquire, were, by Her Majesty's command, sworn of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took their places at the Board accordingly.

AT the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 21st day of December, 1866.

By the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

PRESENT,

Lord President.
Mr. Secretary Walpole.

WHEREAS by an Order bearing date the 30th day of October last, duly issued under the authority of the Act passed in the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her Majesty's reign, chapter one hundred and seven, and duly continued by divers subsequent statutes to the first day of August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and the end of the then next session of Parliament, the Lords of Her Majesty's Council did make certain provisions for the movement of cattle and other animals from the county of Northumberland into Scotland:

And whereas doubts have been entertained as to whether the town and liberties of the town of Berwick-upon-Tweed is included in such Order:

Now, therefore, the Lords of the Council do hereby declare and order that so much of the town and liberties of the town of Berwick-upon-Tweed as is contained in the Kingdom of England shall be comprised within the operation of the said Order as being part of the county of Northumberland, according to the intention of the Lords of the said Council in issuing the said Order.

Edmund Harrison.

AT the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 21st day of December, 1866.

By the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

PRESENT,

Lord President.
Mr. Secretary Walpole.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the session of the eleventh and twelfth years of Her present Majesty's reign, chapter one hundred and seven, intituled "An Act to prevent "until the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, and to the "end of the then session of Parliament, the "spreading of contagious or infectious disorders "among sheep, cattle, and other animals," and from time to time continued to the first day of August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and the end of the then next session of Parliament, by divers subsequent Acts, and lastly by an Act passed in the last session of Parliament, it is amongst other things) enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Lords and others of Her Majesty's Privy Council, or any two or more of them, from time to time, to make such Orders and Regulations as to them may seem necessary for the purpose of prohibiting or regulating the removal to or from such parts or places as they might designate in such Order or Orders, of sheep, cattle, horses, swine, or other animals, or of meat, skins, hides, horns, hoofs, or other parts of any animals, or of hay, straw, fodder, or other articles likely to propagate infection, and to make any other Orders or Regulations for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of the said Act, and again to revoke, alter, or vary any such Orders or Regulations; and that all provisions for any of the purposes aforesaid in any such Order or Orders contained shall have the like force and effect as if the same had been inserted in the said Act:

And whereas a contagious or infectious disease, generally designated as the "Cattle Plague," has lately appeared, and still prevails, amongst cattle in some parts of England:

And whereas divers Orders have been made by the Lords of the said Council in relation to the said cattle plague, which were consolidated and amended by an Order bearing date the 24th day of March last, which Order has been altered and extended by subsequent Orders:
