

THE FAIRS ACT, 1871.

BURY SAINT EDMUND'S FAIRS, SUFFOLK.

WHEREAS a representation has been duly made to me, as Secretary of State for the Home Department, by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the borough of Bury Saint Edmunds, in the county of Suffolk, that a Fair called St. Matthew's Fair, which was originally held within the said borough, three days before and three days after St. Matthew's day, that is, from the 18th day to the 24th day of September in every year, has for many years past, instead of being so held, been annually opened within the said borough on or about the 11th day of October, and remained in full force until on or about the 5th day of November following, and that it would be for the convenience and advantage of the public that the said Fair should be abolished :

And whereas notice of the said representation and of the time when I should take the same into consideration has been duly published in pursuance of "The Fairs Act, 1871" :

And whereas on such representation and consideration it appears to me that it would be for the convenience and advantage of the public that the said Fair should be abolished :

And whereas the Corporation of the said borough, as lords or owners of the said Fair and the tolls thereof, have consented in writing that the said Fair should be abolished :

Now therefore I, as the Secretary of State for the Home Department, in exercise of the powers vested in me by "The Fairs Act, 1871," do hereby order that the Fair called St. Matthew's Fair, which has been annually held within the borough of Bury St. Edmund's, in the county of Suffolk, from on or about the 11th day of October until on or about the 5th day of November following, shall be abolished, as from the date of this Order.

Given under my hand at Whitehall, this 23rd day of September, 1871.

(Signed) H. A. Bruce.
