In the Matter of John Bell, of Fulmodestone, in the county of Norfolk, Blacksmith, a Bankrupt.

UPON reading a report of the Trustee of the property of the bankrupt, dated the 30th day of June, 1873, reporting that so much of the property of the bankrupt as could be realized without needlessly protracting the bankruptcy had been realized, and that no dividend has been paid, the amount in hand, after paying costs and expenses attending the bankruptcy being too small for that purpose, and that the same has been voted to him by the committee of inspection as remuneration for his services, the Court being satisfied that so much of the property of the bankrupt as could in the joint opinion of the trustees and the committee of inspection, in writing under their hands annexed to the said report, be realized without needlessly protracting the bankruptcy has been realized, as shown by the statement annexed to the said report, and that no dividend has been paid, because in the opinion of the committee the amount in hand, after payment of costs and expenses attending the bankruptcy, was considered too small for that purpose, and that the amount was therefore voted to the trustee as remuneration for his services by resolution passed by the committee at a meeting held at the office of Mr. Alfred Kent, Solicitor, Saint Andrew's Hall Plain, Norwich, on the 17th day of March, 1873, doth order and declare that the bankruptcy of the said John Bell has closed.
