THE Lords of the Committee of Council on Education have received, through the Foreign Office, a Despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Cadiz, enclosing copies of a notice issued by an Association of that city, denominated the "League of Ratepayers" (Liga de Contribuyentes), offering prizes for the most successful Essays which may be addressed to the Association on the means best adapted for promoting new industries or manufactures within the municipal district of Cadiz. The following are the terms of the notice in question:—

LEAGUE OF RATEPAYERS.

The Directing Board of this Association, impressed with a sense of deep concern for the fulfilment of the duties that are imposed upon it by the 9th clause of its Regulations—which is to the effect that its proceedings shall be devoted to the general interests of this city, in order that the welfare and prosperity of bygone days may, within the shortest possible period, be restored to her—and considering that one of the best means of realizing so noble a project is that of promoting, as far as possible, the establishment at Cadiz of industries of more or less consequence, has determined to publish the following resolution:

Competition is invited, with a view to the awarding of prizes for the best written Essays on the installation and development, in this city and its municipal district, of one or more industries or manufactures. Each Essay to be accompanied by its corresponding estimate of the cost that would attend such installation and development.

The Essays will be rewarded with medals of gold, silver, or bronze, or with diplomas or certificates of honourable distinction, from the Directing Board, which shall be given according to their respective merits and conformably with the decision of the appraising Judges, who will be guided in their considerations, not so much by the literary worth of each composition, as by the excellence and the opportuneness of the ideas propounded and the facility of carrying them into practical effect.

Should one or more of these papers be found to excel the others in a remarkable degree, they will be published in Spanish, at the expense of this association; and one hundred copies of every such excellent paper will be given to its author.

That Essay will be deemed to excel in merit which will be found to treat most effectually of the conditions of speedy installation and expansive development, as well as offer to the greater number of people the advantages that would immediately accrue from the industry or industries to which it should refer.

On the prize medals will be inscribed a statement commemorative of the occasion, in which the object for which they are given, as well as the name of the Association by whom they are presented, are set forth.

The Essays should be written in a distinct and legible hand, and expressed in the Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, French, English, or German language.

It is also necessary they should be forwarded to, and, before the 1st of February, 1876, delivered at the office of the Secretary of the League, which is situated on the ground-floor of the "Casa Consular," Cadiz. The authors must not sign these papers, but mark them only with a distinguishing device or motto, which should closely resemble another device or motto on the outside of a sealed envelope accompanying each essay and inclosing the signature and address of its author.

Essays found, on arrival, to differ in form or substance from the above prescribed conditions, or the authors of which shall have made themselves publicly known either directly or indirectly, will be excluded from the competitive examination.

The envelopes corresponding to the winning Essays will be opened, in public and solemn session, when the prizes are awarded. The remaining ones will be destroyed, unless duly claimed by the parties interested.

The winning Essays will be retained by the Association as their own property. None of those forwarded can be withdrawn from competition.

For the examination of these Essays and adjudication of the prizes, the Board will name a quorum of arbiters composed of competent persons, be they members of the Association or not.

Respecting the formalities to be complied with, on the occasion of the distribution of the prizes, the indication of the locality where that distribution is to take place, and other matters in connection with this subject, timely notice will be given to the public.

The above competitive contest will, whenever the Board may think proper, be followed by another, of which the object shall be to reward the best project of association for the purpose of facilitating the immediate inauguration of the industry or industries treated of in the successful Essays.
