

and the Billiter-avenue contract; 4. The Trustee within the like period shall pay to the Killby family, or account for to them, and relinquish in their favour all moneys already received, or to be received, and all claim to moneys payable, or henceforth to become payable from, or arising out of, or under the following contracts or properties, that is to say:—Drapers' gardens, Salmon's lane premises, Anderson's contract, Roan's Charity, Hornsey's Schools, Gresham contract, Life Policies. And the Trustee will also, at the request of the Killby family, allow his name to be used in any actions, suits, or proceedings with respect to any of the premises, and will join in any receipts or discharges in respect of the same; 5. All rents, rates, and taxes in respect of Salmon's lane premises, as from the 29th day of September, 1878, to be paid by the Killby family, and the Trustee to have the use and occupation, free of charge, of the Salmon's lane premises up to the 24th June next, the Trustee within the said period of one week paying, or accounting, to James Killby for the sum of £410, the amount of wages and other proper payments made by James Killby subsequent to the date of the presentation by the bankrupt of his said liquidation petition; 6. Any moneys payable by the Trustee under clauses 4 and 5, may be deducted out of the £2,417 3s. mentioned in clause 3; 7. The Killby family to take a dividend, from the estate of the bankrupt in respect of their claims above the estimated value of their securities, but such dividend is to be paid as upon the sum of £1,500 only, notwithstanding that their proofs for such claims above such estimated value of the securities may amount to a larger sum; 8. The Trustee and the Killby family will forthwith after approval of this scheme sign an agreement binding them respectively to the performance of the foregoing provisions and conditions, so far as the same relate to them respectively; 9. In consideration of the foregoing payments to be made by the Killby family, and of the abandonment or discharge by them of their claims as hereinbefore provided, the bankrupt shall be released as and from the date of the approval by the Court of this scheme of settlement from all debts proveable under the bankruptcy, the creditors being of opinion that such bankruptcy, or the failure to pay 10s. in the pound has arisen from circumstances for which the bankrupt cannot justly be held responsible, and they desire that an Order of Discharge should be granted to him as from the last-mentioned date.—Dated this 13th day of March, 1879.
