AT the Court at Windsor, the 15th day of July, 1881.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS the Right Honourable Sir William Vernon Harcourt, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, after giving to the Incumbents and the Churchwardens of the parishes hereinafter mentioned ten days' previous notice of his intention to make such representation, has, under the provisions of an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the sixteenth and seventeenth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend the laws concerning the burial of the dead in England beyond the limits of the Metropolis, and to amend the Act concerning the burial of the dead in the Metropolis," made a representation stating that, for the protection of the public health, no new burial-ground should be opened in the undermentioned parishes without the previous consent of one of Her Majesty's

Principal Secretaries of State, and that burials should be discontinued therein, with the following modifications, viz. :—

KILKENNIN.—Forthwith, and entirely in the church of Kilkennin, in the county of Cardigan, and also in the churchyard thereof except as follows: (a) In such vaults and walled graves, as are now existing in the churchyard burials may be allowed, on condition that every coffin buried therein be separately enclosed by stonework or brickwork properly cemented: (b) In such earthen graves now existing in the churchyard, as can be opened to the depth of five feet without exposing coffins or disturbing human remains, burials may be allowed of so many of the following relations of those already interred therein, viz.: widows, widowers, parents and children, as can be buried at or below that depth: (c) In such reserved grave spaces in the churchyard (as have never before been buried in, and, when opened, are free from water) burials may be allowed of so many members of the families to whom they have been allotted, as can be buried at or below the depth of five feet.

LLANBADARN-TREVEGLWYS.—Forthwith, and entirely in the church of Llanbadarn-Tre-veglwys, in the county of Cardigan; and also in the churchyard thereof, except as follows:—(a) In such earthen graves now existing in the churchyard as can be opened to the depth of five feet without exposing coffins or disturbing human remains, burials may be allowed of so many of the following relations of those already interred therein, viz.: widows, widowers, parents and children, as can be buried at or below that depth: (b) In such reserved grave spaces in the churchyard (as have never before been buried in, and, when opened, are free from water) burials may be allowed of so many members of the families to whom they have been allotted, as can be buried at or below the depth of five feet.

HAWKESBURY.—Forthwith, and entirely in the parish church of Hawkesbury, in the county of Gloucester, and also in the churchyard thereof, except as follows:—In such vaults and walled graves, as are now existing in the churchyard, burials may be allowed, on condition that every coffin buried therein be separately enclosed by stonework or brickwork properly cemented.

TYLDESLEY-CUM-SHAKERLEY.—Forthwith, and entirely in St. George's Church and the Lady Huntingdon and Wesleyan Chapels in the parish of Tyldesley in the county of Lancaster; and also in the churchyard and the chapelyards, except as follows:—(a) In such vaults and walled graves, as are now existing in the above-named burial grounds, burials may be allowed, on condition that every coffin buried therein be separately enclosed by stonework or brickwork properly cemented: (b) In such earthen graves now existing in the above-named burial grounds, as can be opened to the depth of five feet without exposing coffins or disturbing human remains, burials may be allowed of so many of the following relations of those already interred therein, viz.:—widows, widowers, parents and unmarried children, as can be buried at or below that depth: (c) In such reserved grave spaces (as have never before been buried in, and when opened, are free from water) burials may be allowed of so many
