walled grave unless the coffin be separately entombed in an airtight manner, that is, by properly cemented stone or brickwork which shall never be disturbed.

3. One body only shall be buried in a grave at one time unless the bodies be those of members of the same family.

4. No unwalled grave shall be re-opened within fourteen years after the burial of a person above twelve years of age, or within eight years after the burial of a child under twelve years of age, unless to bury another member of the same family, in which case a layer of earth not less than one foot thick shall be left undistarbed above the previously buried coffin, but, if on re-opening any grave, the soil be found to be offensive, such soil shall not be disturbed, and in no case shall human remains be removed from the grave.

5. No coffin shall be buried in any unwalled grave within four feet of the ordinary level of the ground unless it contains the body of a child under twelve years, when it shall not be less than three fect below that level.

Now, therefore, Her Majesty in Council is pleased hereby to give notice of such representation, and to order that the same be taken into consideration by a Committee of the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council on the twenty-first day of June next:

And Her Majesty is further pleased to direct that this Order be forthwith published in the London Gazette; and that copies thereof be affixed on the doors of the churches or chapels of, or on some conspicuous places within, the parishes affected by such representation, one month before the said twenty-first day of June.
