DE MAHY.

The President of the Council, Minister for Foreign Affairs, in temporary charge of the Ministry of Finance. E. DUCLERC.

War Office, September 8, 1882.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies, have been received by the Secretary of State for War from the Commander-in-Chief of the Expeditionary Force in Egypt:—

SIR, Ismailia, August 26, 1882.

I HAVE the honour to supplement my telegraphic despatch of the 24th instant with a detailed report of the events which took place on that date in the neighbourhood of Abu-Suer and of Tel-el-Mahuta, on the Sweetwater Canal, about nine miles west of Ismailia.

A gradual, but continuous, decrease of level in the canal at this place determined me to push forward my available cavalry and artillery (very little of which had landed as yet), together with the two infantry battalions, which I had advanced to Nefiche Junction on the 21st instant, with the object of seizing and occupying a position on the canal and railway, which would secure possession of that part of the water supply of the Desert lying between Ismailia and the first cultivated portion of the Delta, which I had reason to believe was the most vulnerable to damage at the hands of the enemy.

The paramount importance of this object, as affecting all my future operations, induced me to risk a Cavalry movement with horses which had been less than two days on shore, after a long sea voyage, and also neutralized the objections, which

I must otherwise have entertained, to placing the strain of a forward movement upon the recent and partially organized supply service.

Accordingly, at 4 A.M. on the 24th, I advanced with the troops, marginally noted,* whom I placed for the day under the command of Lieutenant-General Willis, C.B., Commanding 1st Division, reached Nefiche at daybreak, and following the general line of the railway, arrived at 7.30 A.M. on the north side of the canal, at a point about midway between the spot marked El-Magfar on the map and the village of Tel-el-Mahuta.

At this point, the enemy had constructed his first dam across the canal, and after some skirmishing with his scouts and light troops, in which two squadrons of Household Cavalry charged very gallantly, I took possession of it.

From this point the enemy could be observed in force about one and a half miles further on, his vedettes holding a line extending across the canal, lining the crest of a ridge which curved round to my right flank at a general distance of about 2,000 yards from my front.

The canal and railway at Tel-el-Mahuta are close together, and both are there carried through deep cuttings with mounds of sand and earth on both sides of them. These were strongly entrenched, and crowds of men could be seen at work there.

At Mahuta the enemy had constructed a very large embankment across the railway and a wide and solid dam across the canal, which afforded him easy communication from one side to the other.

From the statement of some prisoners taken by the mounted troops, as well as by the length of front covered by the enemy, it was apparent that he was in force at Mahuta, and I could see by the smoke of his locomotives, which kept constantly reaching his position throughout the forenoon, that he was being largely reinforced from Tel-el-Kebir.

I could perceive that the enemy's force, in my immediate front, was large; I estimated it at 10,000 men and 10 guns, but I have since found that it consisted of one regiment of Cavalry, nine battalions of Infantry (about 7,000 men), 12 guns, and a large but indefinite number of Bedouins. Although I had but three squadrons of Cavalry, two guns, and about 1,000 Infantry, I felt it would not be in consonance with the traditions of Her Majesty's Army that we should retire, even temporarily, before Egyptian troops, no matter what their numbers might be. I decided, therefore, upon holding my ground until evening, by which time I knew that the reinforcements, I had sent for to Nefiche and Ismailia, would reach me. I consequently took up a position, suited to the numbers at my disposal, with my left resting on the captured dam over the canal and the Cavalry and Mounted Infantry covering the right.

It was now 9 o'clock A.M. The enemy had kept gradually reinforcing his left, showing considerable skill in the method with which he swung round his left, moving along the reverse slope of his position, and showing only his light troops upon the sky-line.

The two guns of N Battery, A Brigade, Royal Horse Artillery, only reached me at 9 A.M., although the Officer in Command had made every effort to push his way as rapidly as possible through the deep sand over which our route lay. They took up a good position on a sandy hillock near the railway embankment, from which a good view of the enemy's position was to be obtained.

* Household Cavalry, Mounted Infantry, 2 guns N | A., R.H.A., York and Lancaster, Marines.

By this time the enemy had opened a heavy Artillery fire upon us, and his Infantry advanced in very regular attack formation, halting and forming a line of shelter-trenches about 1,000 yards from our position. On my left he had pushed Infantry along the Canal, to within about 900 yards of the dam held by the York and Lancaster Regiment, but the steady and well-directed fire of this battalion easily checked his movement upon that side.

From ten to eleven o'clock the enemy continued to develop his attack upon my centre and right. His guns were served with considerable skill, the shells bursting well among us; fortunately they were common shell with percussion fuzes, which sank so deep in the very soft sand, before bursting, that few splinters flew upwards; when he did use shrapnel the time fuzes were badly cut.

Feeling complete confidence in my ability to drive back any close attack the enemy might make, I did not allow our guns to open fire for some time after they were placed in position, hoping he might thereby be the more readily induced to advance to close quarters, under the notion that we had no Artillery with us. When, however, he brought 12 guns into action, to relieve the Household Cavalry, into whose ranks and those of the Mounted Infantry he was throwing his shells with great accuracy, our two guns opened upon his 12 guns with marked effect, our practice being very good.

The Household Cavalry and Mounted Infantry were skilfully manœuvred by Major-General Drury-Lowe on the extreme right, to check the enemy's advance on that side, but the horses, just landed from a long sea voyage, and fatigued by their march across a desert deep in sand, were in no condition to charge.

Major-General Drury-Lowe spoke in the highest terms of the manner in which the Mounted Infantry were handled throughout the arduous fighting that fell to their lot during the day. No troops could have behaved with greater dash or steadiness. I regret to say that Captain Parr was severely wounded, and also Lord Melgund slightly wounded, who was doing duty with the Mounted Infantry.

The heat at this period of the day was very great. About noon two Gatlings, with a party of sailors under command of Lieutenant King-Harman, and belonging to H.M.S. "Orion," arrived and took up a position for action. The manner in which the sailors brought these Gatlings into position, and the energy shown by them and by the Marine Artillery deserve the highest commendation.

The fire, opened by the enemy on my right, was as accurate as that which he had already directed against my front; but although many shells continued to drop in and around the hillock, where our two guns were in action, causing loss to the over-worked men of N Battery, A Brigade, Royal Horse Artillery, they continued to work their two guns with great steadiness during many hours, exposed to a concentrated fire from 12 guns and under very trying conditions of heat, glare, and sunshine.

I desire to bring to notice the manner in which Lieutenant Hickman, Royal Horse Artillery, the Officer Commanding the Division, performed his duty, and the spirit and resolution displayed by all ranks under him. Later on in the day, when these men were extremely tired, the men of the Royal Marine Artillery requested permission to help them, and did so until the close of the action.

At 3.30 P.M. the Household Cavalry, under General Lowe, and the Mounted Infantry, again moved forward on my right, causing the enemy to partially withdraw his attack on that flank.

At 1 P.M. the 2nd Battalion of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry had arrived from Nefiche.

About 5.15 P.M. the enemy again advanced his left, pushing four guns across the ridge and moving his Cavalry with a considerable force of Infantry some distance down the slope, but not near enough to come within effective Infantry or Gatling fire.

At this time our reinforcements began to arrive rapidly. Colonel Sir Baker Russell with 350 sabres of the 4th and 7th Dragoon Guards reached the field, and at 6 P.M. the Brigade of Guards, under His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, arrived. It was now too late to begin an offensive movement; the troops I had with me were tired by their exertions during the early part of the day, and the Brigade of Guards, which had moved from Ismailia at 1.30 P.M., had suffered much from the great heat of the desert march.

Shortly after sunset the entire force bivouacked on the field which they had so tenaciously held all day, and the enemy withdrew across the ridge to his position at Mahuta.

The attack upon his position was therefore postponed, and I issued orders to General Willis for a general advance at daybreak on the following morning.

I have every reason to be satisfied with the conduct of the men engaged and with the exertions made by the Cornwall Light Infantry and the Brigade of Guards to reach the field in time to share in our operations.

I have, &c.

G. J. WOLSELEY, General.

SIR,

Ismailia, August 27, 1882.

IN continuation of my Despatch No. 2, of yesterday's date, I have the honour to inform you of the events which took place on the 25th instant, in the neighbourhood of Tel-el-Mahuta, and further along the line of the Canal and railway, as far as the station of Mahsameh.

The attack on the enemy's entrenched post at Tel-el-Mahuta, which was deferred on the 24th instant, in consequence of the lateness of the hour, at which the reinforcements could arrive, and also because of the fatigue undergone by the troops in action, was successfully carried out shortly after daybreak on 25th instant.

Accompanied by General Sir J. Adye and the Head-quarter Staff, I left Ismailia at three A.M. and reached the scene of yesterday's fighting at 5.30 o'clock. I took with me the remaining squadron of the 1st Cavalry Brigade, most of whom had only landed the previous day.

The 1st Division, including the troops marginally noted,* had by that hour quitted their bivouacs, and had advanced towards the enemy's position in the following order:—

The Cavalry and Mounted Infantry formed the extreme right, thrown well forward, upon the desert ridges over which the enemy had on the previous day carried out his flank movement.

The Artillery moved on the left of the Cavalry, towards the summit of the high ground overlooking the line of railway between Ramses and the Mahsameh stations.

The Infantry on the left of the Artillery, advanced in echelon from the right upon Mahuta, the Brigade of Guards leading.

* Household Cavalry, 4th Dragoon Guards, 7th Dragoon Guards, N Batt. A Brig. Royal Horse Artillery, 3rd Bn. Royal Bifles.

When the summit of the ridge was gained, the enemy was observed to be abandoning his earth-works at the last named place, and to be retiring his forces along the Canal banks and the railway line towards Mahsameh. His railway trains were also to be seen in motion towards the same place.

At 6.25 A.M., our Artillery came into action against the enemy's Infantry, and guns which were posted on the Canal bank to the west of Mahuta.

As it was of great importance to obtain possession, if possible, of some of the enemy's locomotives, I ordered the Cavalry to push forward with all speed and attempt to cut off the retreating trains. The Cavalry and eight guns moved as rapidly as their horses—which were in no condition for hard work—would permit. The ground was much better and harder than that moved over yesterday.

The enemy offered considerable resistance in the neighbourhood of Mahsameh, but nothing could stop the advance of our mounted troops, tired even as their horses were. Mahsameh, with its very extensive camp left standing by the enemy, was soon in our possession. Seven Krupp guns, great quantities of ammunition, two large trains of railway wagons loaded with provisions, and vast supplies of various kinds fell into our hands. The enemy fled along the railway and canal banks, throwing away their arms and equipment, and showing every sign of demoralization. Unfortunately there was not at this time in the whole Cavalry Brigade a troop that could gallop. Their long march and rapid advance having completely exhausted the horses, who were not yet fit for hard work after their voyage from England.

The results of the operations, extending over two days, have been most satisfactory. The enemy has been completely driven from the position at Tel-el-Mahuta, which he had taken such pains to fortify, and upon which he had, by force, compelled 7,000 peasants to labour.

The Canal has been cleared for more than half the distance intervening between Ismailia and the Delta, and the water supply completely secured to us.

The railway line is in our possession for more than 20 miles from this place, and the vigour, dash, and energy displayed by the troops in the sudden forward movement made with horses out of condition and from a base hastily organized, and where we are still contending with all the difficulties incidental to rapid disembarkations, has assured to the army an important strategic position, the possession of which cannot fail to influence the future operations of the campaign.

Amongst the prisoners taken was Mahmoud Femi Pasha, who was chief engineer to Arabi Pasha, a very important personage amongst the rebel chiefs.

The enemy were commanded by Rashid Pasha, and the force he had collected at Mahuta and Mahsameh, consisted of 10 battalions of Infantry (at least 8,000 men), of 6 squadrons of Cavalry, and 20 guns, besides a large force of Bedouins.

Owing to the result of the action of the previous day (24th instant) many of his troops had retreated during the night, and upon our guns opening on his works early on the morning of the 25th instant, the 7,000 labourers ran away. Rashid Pasha then issued orders for a general retreat.

Military operations in Egypt, at this season of the year, are very trying to the soldiers engaged, and the complete absence of anything approaching the nature of a road, renders all movements most difficult and fatiguing.

Owing to the fact of this advance being made before the railway or the telegraph lines had been repaired, or the canal cleared of obstruction, or any regular system of transport had been effectively organized, considerable exposure without tents, and severe privations as regards food, have been imposed upon all ranks. These hardships have, however, been cheerfully borne, and the conduct of the troops has been everything I could wish.

The troops engaged were, upon both the 24th and 25th instant, under the immediate command of Lieutenant-General Willis, C.B., who carried out my views in a most satisfactory manner.

My advanced troops, under Major-General Graham, now hold the Kassassin Lock.

I cannot praise too highly the manner in which the Cavalry, Horse Artillery, and Mounted Infantry were handled by Major-General Drury-Lowe, who speaks in the highest terms of the assistance rendered him by Brigadier-General Sir Baker-Russell, Lieut.-Colonel Stewart, Assistant Adjutant-General, and Lieut.-Colonel McCalmont, Brigade-Major of the 1st Cavalry Brigade. He also begs me to mention his appreciation of the dash and skill with which the Mounted Infantry were commanded by Captain Pigott, of the King's Royal Rifles.

I am, &c.

G. J. WOLSELEY, General.

Alexandria,

August 19, 1882.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour herewith to enclose a copy of the Proclamation, which I am about to issue, together with its Arabic translation.

I have, &c.

G. J. WOLSELEY, General,
Commanding the British Forces in Egypt.

Enclosure.

By Authority of the Khedive.

Proclamation to the Egyptians.

THE General in Command of the British Forces wishes to make known that the object of Her Majesty's Government in sending troops to this country is to re-establish the authority of the Khedive. The Army is, therefore, only fighting against those who are in arms against His Highness.

All peaceable inhabitants will be treated with kindness, and no violence will be offered to them; their religion, mosques, families, and property will be respected. Any supplies which will be required will be paid for, and the inhabitants are invited to bring them.

The General in Command will be glad to receive visits from the Chiefs who are willing to assist in repressing the rebellion against the Khedive, the lawful Ruler of Egypt, appointed by the Sultan.

Admiralty, September 6, 1882.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies, have been forwarded by Admiral Sir F. Beauchamp Seymour, G.C.B., Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's Ships and Vessels on the Mediterranean Station, describing the occupation of the Suez Canal on the 20th August:—

No. 87. H.M.S. "Penelope," Port Said,
SIR, August 23, 1882.

I HAVE the honour to make the following report of my proceedings after I left Alexandria in the "Iris," on the evening of the 16th instant, with the plan of operations agreed on between Sir Garnet Wolseley and yourself.

2. I arrived at Port Said the next morning

(Thursday) at ten o'clock, and immediately sent the "Nyanza," condenser steamer, with tents, provisions, and one hundred men of the "Northumberland" to Ismailia, as a reinforcement to Captain Fitz Roy.

3. On Friday morning, the 18th instant, Captain Fitz Roy joined me from Ismailia, and after discussion with him I gave him the accompanying orders with reference to the occupation of that place.

4. I also arranged for the occupation of Port Said by Captain Henry Fairfax, of H.M.S. "Monarch," to whom I gave the instructions appended.

5. On Friday evening I brought in two companies of the Battalion of Marines from the "Northumberland," and placed them on board the "Monarch" and "Iris."

6. M. Victor de Lesseps, who is the working head of the Canal Company at Ismailia, came on board on the 17th instant, and entered into a long discussion, presenting a series of arguments against any possible intention on our part to disembark in the canal, and disputing the grounds of my intimation that I considered Ismailia, both town and port, to be Egyptian. He left with the conviction, I feel sure, on his part, that we, sooner or later, should use the canal for a military purpose; while I had imbibed a conviction that no remonstrance on our part would induce Count Ferdinand de Lesseps to willingly accept the position, and withdraw his opposition to our doing so.

7. I considered, therefore, that to ensure the safe passage of our troops it was absolutely necessary that the barges and dredges, &c., should be occupied along the whole line of the canal to Ismailia, and further, that it was most desirable that the Kantara Telegraph Station should be seized and our through telegraphic communication be restored, while Arabi's communication with Syria should be stopped.

8. For this duty I selected Commander H. H. Edwards, of H.M.S. "Ready," as an officer thoroughly conversant with the canal, and in whose judgment I had confidence.

9. He started at eight p.m. on Saturday evening, the 19th instant, taking the necessary telegraphists, and left the parties told off for each post as he passed up.

10. At the same time I brought in the remaining three companies of the Battalion of Marines under Lieutenant-Colonel Graham, from the "Northumberland," and towards daylight transferred them to the "Ready" and "Dee," with two launches from the "Penelope," to facilitate their landing on arrival at Ismailia.

11. The "Falcon," which had just arrived from Alexandria, was sent, an hour before sunset on the 19th, to an anchorage off the coast halfway between Port Said and Gemil, and the "Northumberland" anchored during the night off Gemil Fort; the object being to check an exodus of the Arab coal-heavers from Port Said, and to create an impression that our intention was to attack that work.

12. About four o'clock a.m. on the 20th the movement was executed simultaneously along the line with complete success, the rebels being completely taken by surprise; telegraphic communication was restored between Ismailia, Kantara, and Port Said, and the Syrian telegraph was under our control. It was found, however, that the latter had been previously disconnected.

13. On your arrival in the "Helicon," about eight a.m. on the 20th, I had intended to proceed at once to Ismailia to further reinforce Captain Fitz Roy, who was exposed to the possibility of attack by a large force of the enemy moving down on him by rail.

14. Circumstances, however, as you are aware, necessitated my remaining at Port Said to see the 1st Division of Transports into the canal, and by their entering I was precluded from going on for some time in my flag ship. When night fell, therefore, I went up to Ismailia in a picket boat and arrived about four a.m.

15. I immediately landed and joined Captain Fitz Roy, and inspected the position he had taken up. It appeared to me to have been admirably chosen, and the works thrown up for the protection of our men by Captain Stephenson's party, with the advantage of Major Fraser's, R.E., advice, to have been thoroughly satisfactory.

16. It is known that three trains full of soldiers were moved down by the rebel General from Tel-el-Kebir with the view to attempt to retake the place, but he was deterred from making an attack probably by the shell fire on Nefiche Station, and after some time spent in observation of our position, the trains ran back in the direction from whence they came.

17. I would here draw your particular attention to the effective fire maintained by the "Orion" and "Carysfort" on a position which could only be seen from the masthead of the latter at over 4,000 yards distance; a fire by which a train standing on the rails at the station was twice struck, and the carriages and trucks secured for our own uses.

18. I enclose reports from Captains Fairfax and Fitz Roy, and Commander Edwards, of their respective shares in the operation, and desire to express my sense of the judgment, zeal, and ability shown by them in the performance of the difficult and delicate duties which devolved on them.

I have, &c.,

A. H. HOSKINS, Rear-Admiral.

To Admiral Sir F. Beauchamp Seymour, G.C.B. &c., Commander-in-Chief, Mediterranean.

P.S.—My report would not be complete without my mentioning that I employed Captain Seymour, of the "Iris," on the delicate duty of securing the Canal Company's office at Port Said, and in preventing any information being conveyed through it to their other stations or to the rebels, a duty which was performed, as have all others on which I have employed Captain Seymour, entirely to my satisfaction.

H.M.S. "Penelope,"

(MEMO.) Port Said, August 18, 1882.

SOME time before daylight on Sunday morning next, you are to land the available force under your command at Ismailia, and proceed to occupy the town, which you are to hold until you are reinforced, which will probably be at the latest within 24 hours.

It is of the greatest importance that the Telegraph Offices, both of the Canal Company and the Egyptian Government, should be seized at once, and all telegrams prevented from passing.

The waste weir to the westward of the upper lock should also be seized at once, and held if possible until the troops arrive. As this is under the fire of guns at Nefiche, entrenchments should be thrown up as soon as possible to cover the men.

You are to use your own discretion as to supporting this movement with the fire of the ships, but you will bear in mind that it is most desirable that no injury whatever should be done to the town of Ismailia or its inhabitants by any measures which you adopt yourself, and you should use every means in your power to prevent it on the part of others.

The Staff Commander of the "Orion" should be ready to place any ships arriving with troops in the best berths for them to occupy, with a view to the disembarkation and their draught of water.

From the verbal communication we have had, the support you may expect from myself and Sir William Hewett is made fully known to you.

In the event of your being attacked by a superior force of the enemy, you are to use your own discretion as to falling back upon the ships.

Any persons attempting to set fire to the houses should be at once shot.

A. H. HOSKINS, Rear-Admiral.
To Captain R. O'B. FitzRoy,
H.M.S. "Orion."

*"Penelope," at Port Said,
August 19, 1882.*

AT 3.30 A.M. on Sunday next, the 20th instant, Port Said is to be occupied in the following manner.

2. The direction of operations will be under Captain Fairfax of H.M.S. "Monarch."

3. The landing party will consist of—

From H.M.S. "Monarch," 100 Seamen, small arm men, 18 Gatling gun crews, 48 Royal Marines, 1 Gatling gun.

From H.M.S. "Iris," 80 Seamen, small arm men, 18 Gatling gun crews, 28 Royal Marines, 1 Gatling gun.

From H.M.S. "Northumberland," Battalion, 200 Royal Marines.

Total 180 Seamen, small arm men, 36 Gatling gun crews, 276 Royal Marines, 2 Gatling guns.

Total strength, 492 men and 2 Gatling guns.

4. The "Iris" seamen and marines will at once proceed to the outskirts of the town by the Quay Eugénie, and take the right of the line to extend from the sea to Lake Menzaleh, between the European and Arab towns, i.e., from the right of the Rue du Nord to the beach.

5. They will be followed immediately by the Company of the Battalion of Marines from the "Iris," who will turn to the left at the Rue de l'Arsenal, and form round the north angle of the Barracks.

6. The "Monarch's" seamen and marines will form on the wharf opposite the ship, and march by the Rue du Nord to the Consulate, which the Marines will take charge of, posting sentries. The Blue-jackets will continue on the same line of street, and form on the left of the "Iris" men, extending to Lake Menzaleh, and detaching a party to guard the reservoir and its neighbourhood.

7. The Battalion Company of Royal Marines of the "Monarch" will form on the left of the above, on the wharf, and march after the advance, to the south corner of the Barracks, taking care not to extend into the Rue de l'Arsenal, so as not to be in the way of the fire of the "Iris" detachment. The Egyptian troops are to be summoned to lay down their arms, and then marched down to the wharf.

8. One Gatling gun will accompany the advance of the "Iris," and the other the Marine Battalion Company of the "Monarch" to the entrance of the Barracks.

9. A sergeant's party is to be kept on the wharf to prevent any attempt being made to fire the Custom-house, round which sentries are to be posted.

10. The Khedive's Governor, now in the "Poona," will be on board the "Penelope," and land directly the occupation is effected, and aid in the maintenance of order with the police, who are known to be loyal.

10a. Arrangements are to be made to send the breakfasts on shore, with anything else that may be wanted, at about seven A.M. The men to have a meal of cocoa before landing.

11. Care is to be taken that men do not land with loaded rifles, or load without orders; and it is to be impressed on all the landing party that no firing is to take place without orders, and that it is of the greatest importance to preserve amicable relations both with the white inhabitants of all nations and also with the Arabs, on whom we are dependent for the coaling of our ships.

12. A guard must be placed by the "Iris" over the Governor's house at the earliest opportunity. Arabi's Governor, Rouchdy Pasha, is to be received as a friend if he surrender himself.

13. It is very desirable to secure the Bimbashi if possible, and Major Tulloch, with an interpreter and a small party of picked men, will endeavour to effect this. Prisoners should be put on board the "Iris" when the Governor has been consulted as to who should be released and who retained as such.

14. Marines will land in blue, with helmets—seamen in blue with white cap covers. As soon as possible a change of white clothing and hats for the seamen should be sent on shore, and strict attention is to be paid to their appearance on parade and their general tone and bearing. All defaulters are to be sent at once on board the "Monarch."

A patrol of trustworthy men under an officer is to be told off at once for the maintenance of discipline amongst our own men, and such patrols as may be necessary to support the Egyptian police must be forthcoming immediately the occupation has taken place. Major Tulloch will be good enough to attach himself to the Governor pro tem, in order to ensure requirements for the maintenance of order being promptly made known to Captain Fairfax or the officer deputed by him.

Captain Seymour will carry out independently my private orders to him.

Captain Fairfax will act as Military Commandant of Port Said during my absence until the pleasure of the Commander-in-Chief is known.

A. H. HOSKINS, Rear-Admiral.
To Captain Henry Fairfax, C.B.,
A.D.C., of H.M.S. "Monarch," and Captain Edward H. Seymour, of H.M.S. "Iris."

*"Penelope," at Port Said,
August 19, 1882.*

COMMANDER EDWARDS, of H.M.S. "Ready," will start soon after dark this evening, with boats containing one company of the "Northumberland's" landing party.

He is first to occupy the dredges, putting on board each an officer and 15 men to prevent any communication with the shore, and to ensure each dredge being kept close to the bank, out of the way of the passing ships. Four days' provisions are to be put on board with each party.

Having done this and given his orders to the officers, he is to proceed to Kantara and seize the Telegraph Office, and both the Egyptian and Canal Company's wire, and allow no message to pass through till he is certain that it is made either by us or in our interest.

Having done this, he is to take steps to ensure all the ships in the Canal between Port Said and Lake Timsah bound north, i.e., to Port Said, being gared.

Sir William Hewett at Suez has been instructed to allow no ship to enter the Canal on Saturday; therefore, it may be assumed that there will be found to be no ships on the other side of Lake Timsah.

Details of Operation.

The following force will leave Port Said soon after nightfall under Commander H. H. Edwards, who will have charge of the whole operations, viz. :—

3 officers and 35 men of H.M.S. "Northumberland."

4 officers and 56 men of H.M.S. "Penelope."

Total 7 officers and 91 men.

On proceeding up the Canal, 1 officer and 15 men are to be placed on board each dredge met with, with orders to get her into the bank as close as possible, or, if close, not to allow her to be moved.

The officers and men of the "Northumberland" are to be landed at Kantara with the telegraph clerks, who will accompany them and carry out the instructions given them.

The remaining officers and men of the "Penelope" are to be kept ready to occupy any gare which may require it.

All steamers met with bound northward, if gared, are to be ordered to remain so. If under weigh, or secured to the bank of the Canal, to make fast immediately in the next gare. At the same time a despatch boat is to be sent back past the next gare to warn following vessels not to pass the gare. Until the vessel going north has gared, they should make fast to the bank.

The party of 1 officer and 10 men to be sent in a boat to occupy the Gare Station until this has been done, returning in the boat.

For this service a picket boat ("Northumberland's"), a torpedo boat ("Iris"), a steam cutter ("Tourmaline's"), and steam pinnace ("Monarch's") will be appropriated.

A. H. HOSKINS, Rear-Admiral.

*"Orion," Lake Timsah,
August 21, 1882.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, that in accordance with your secret orders of 18th instant, I took possession of Ismailia, the Arab town, and advanced sufficiently towards Nefiche to cover the Weir.

The force landed consisted of 565 officers and men, comprising 40 Marines, 1 9-pr. gun's crew, 1 Gatling, a Torpedo Engineer party, and 12 Riflemen from "Orion," 1 Gatling and Rifle Company from "Northumberland," and 1 7-pr. gun, "Coquette's" landing party with 21 Royal Marine Artillery of "Northumberland" and "Carysfort" under Captain Stephenson, C.B., including a Company of Marines under Captain Gore; also 100 Seamen and Marines from the "Nyanza" troopship belonging to "Northumberland."

The enemy were known to have a strong picket at Arab town, several patrols, and a guard at Ismailia. About 2,000 men and six guns encamped at Nefiche, and a considerable number of Bedouins in the neighbourhood.

At three A.M. on 20th, in perfect silence, the "Orion's" and "Coquette's" men landed, the "Carysfort's" shortly following, and advanced. The silence was so perfect that Commander Kane surrounded the Lock Guard before we were discovered. The Lock Guard fired their rifles, so did our men, and here Commander Kane was wounded by a rifle bullet on left cheek.

The Governor's guard laid down their arms to Lieutenant Lenox Napier and the Royal Marine Artillery under Lieutenant Swinburne. No further resistance was experienced in the town. Commander Kane seized the railway and telegraphs, the "Orion's" men the Canal Lock Bridge, town generally, and Government House (with the Governor), where I established my headquarters.

Captain Stephenson and his party had slight skirmishing in advancing, and in Arab town some of the enemy were killed. The ships at 3.40 bombarded the guard-houses at Arab town, firing five rounds of shell each. By four A.M. the whole place was occupied as ordered. By intercepted telegrams and reports, I ascertained the enemy were making arrangements to forward a large force to Nefiche at once to attack Ismailia and the ships. Considering this, the small force at my disposal, and that the inhabitants were getting alarmed, I determined to dislodge the enemy from Nefiche and destroy their camp and any trains running; therefore, "Orion" and "Carysfort" commenced a slow bombardment at eleven A.M., at a distance of about 4,200 yards; by noon the camp was destroyed and enemy retreating towards Cairo; also one train running south severely hit, and stopped for a time. The bombardment was stopped for a short time, but at four P.M., as another train was seen arriving and discharging men from Cairo way, it was continued, wrecking the train, jamming and apparently overturning trucks on the line, driving every one away, and from the position of the train on the Suez Line, completely blocking Arabi's communications with his forces between Nefiche and Suez by railroad. This was most satisfactory. The squadron was in charge of Commander Moore, Lieutenant Royds having charge of the "Carysfort" and her guns, under Commander Moore's orders. Her mastheads were the reconnoitring and look-out places. The bombardment then ceased until ten P.M., after which shells were fired at Nefiche at intervals of half-an-hour until daylight, to prevent the railway being cleared and to check troops coming by train from the west. My position was still an anxious one. At six P.M. 340 Marines arrived, 200 reinforced Commander Kane, 140 Captain Stephenson, who had, with the assistance of Major Fraser, entrenched himself in advance of Arab town. Lieutenant Napier had secured his admirable position in the Khedive's Palace, and I reinforced him with 20 seamen of "Northumberland" and an officer. I have since heard that on this afternoon Arabi, with 3,000 men in three trains, did advance to within a few miles of Nefiche, but retired again. During the night the search lights were worked as necessary.

At 10.30 P.M. General Graham arrived with the advanced guard of the Army, reinforced the different positions, and assumed military command.

I was directed to retain command in Ismailia until four P.M. the 21st August, 1882, when Sir Garnet Wolseley relieved my guards.

At eight A.M. to-day I sent a Gatling gun and crew under Lieutenant Adair and Lieutenant King-Harman, torpedo engineer party with General Graham, to occupy Nefiche, where they now remain; I have also a steam cutter and the jolly boat working on the Fresh Water Canal to Nefiche.

The officers and men all did their work perfectly. I have to thank Captain Stephenson, Commander Kane, Commander Moore, Major Fraser, R.E., Lieutenants Napier, Royds, and King-Harman (who destroyed the railway approaches to my west front in two advanced positions), also my First Lieutenant Cross, who had, with a gun, charge of the Canal bridge and town approaches, specially.

Seven prisoners, Arabi's soldiers, were taken near Lock Bridge and Arab town, sent on board "Orion" for two days, and, being disarmed, were allowed to proceed on shore.

I had every reason, on the evening of the 20th August, 1882, to expect a night attack in force, so I placed the "Ready" and the "Dee," that had arrived with the Marines, close in shore in positions that would cover a retreat on our part through the town.

Captain Stephenson brings to my notice the services of Lieutenant Langley, the Senior Lieutenant of the "Carysfort" with the landing party. I have great pleasure in also specially mentioning this officer to you. Captain Stephenson forwards a letter from Major Fraser, R.E.

I have the honour to enclose herewith a report from Captain Stephenson.

Major Fraser's report will follow.

I have, &c.,

ROBT. O'B. FITZ ROY, Captain.

Rear-Admiral Anthony H. Hoskins, C.B.,
Senior Officer.

"Carysfort," at Ismailia,

August 22, 1882.

Sir,

IN accordance with your confidential memorandum, I landed with the force as per margin* at 3.30 A.M. of the 20th, leaving Lieutenant Thomas, H.M.S. "Northumberland," with 13 small arm men in charge of the telegraph station on the pier, I advanced with a strong advanced guard in skirmishing order under Captain Gore, R.M.L.I., over the canal bridge, through European, native, and Arab towns, meeting with no opposition.

2. Having taken possession of Arab town, I immediately looped it and threw up entrenchments under the guidance of Major Fraser, R.E.

The Egyptian picquet retreating was fired upon by the Gatling and 9-pr. guns, two of the picquet were killed, one carrying a Remington rifle, but no ammunition.

3. About eight A.M. three Egyptian mounted officers galloped towards our entrenchments from Nefiche, waving a flag of truce. They stated they came to place themselves under my protection, and, receiving their swords and horses, I sent them under escort to you, and now forward their swords.

4. About ten P.M. General Graham, C.B., V.C., arrived with 300 of the 50th Regiment, under Colonel Tyler, whom he placed under my command for the defence of this outpost.

5. About eight A.M. of the 21st I advanced with the force under Major-General Graham, with two Gatling guns, on Nefiche, which was occupied without opposition, leaving the Gatlings for the defence of the railway bridge. I then returned to Ismailia, and embarked two small arm companies and the 9-pr. field gun, in accordance with your orders.

6. In referring to this service it is my pleasing duty to report the satisfactory behaviour of all under my command. Entrenching the outpost under a burning sun was most trying; and I regret the death of A. Wager, ordinary seaman, from sunstroke.

I would especially like to mention the name of Major Fraser, R.E., who was of great assistance in fortifying the Arab town.

* 74 Small arm men (companies); 12 Field gun crews; 15 Gatling gun crews; 24 Pioneers, &c.; 74 Marines; 2 Captains and A.D.C. Total 201.

Captain Gore, R.M.L.I., belonging to H.M.S. "Northumberland," and Lieutenant Langley, Senior and Gunnery Lieutenant of this ship, whose untiring zeal and energy deserve my best thanks.

I enclose a report and sketch of the position from Major Fraser, R.E.

I have, &c.,

H. F. STEPHENSON, Captain.

Captain R. O'B. Fitz Roy,
Senior Officer, Ismailia.

Ismailia,

August 26, 1882.

Sir,

HAVING been detailed to accompany your force in taking Ismailia, I submit the following, as to the part I took under your orders:—

The enemy being at Nefiche, with a force of all arms, it was to be expected that in the first instance he would resist us at the Arab village, west of Ismailia.

Your force of 200 men, viz., 150 small arm men, 1 9-pr., and 1 Gatling, having reached the bridge at the waterworks about 4 A.M., I took some skirmishers forward so as to gain and secure the front for the main body, which came up by the canal.

On moving into the open a number of people appeared on our right front, and as a security, I took by your orders a party of small arm men and posted them on the bank in front of the bridge.

After a little firing we found we were not attacked, and then organized the defence of the village.

The village consists of low houses of sun-dried bricks, generally only one story high, with flat roofs and garden walls. There is a good east foreground towards Nefiche, but to the north and west it is more undulating.

The garden walls were cut down, houses loop-holed, lateral gaps and gaps to the rear formed where required.

The upper rooms of the few two storied houses were loop-holed so as to give a double tier of fire and the ends of streets were closed by shelter trenches.

The gun and Gatling were entrenched with sand or sun-dried brick parapets, and platforms were made of doors.

The spirit bottles were smashed in the grog shops and the windows made defensible by filling up with boxes of wood containing sand.

The sailors' cutlasses proved most useful for loop-holing walls, and the shovels we took out enabled us in an hour or two to be in a state to resist a serious attack. After some hours' labour we could let the men rest and feed.

Before sunrise Arabi Pasha must have learned of our landing by telegraph from Nefiche.

Our information from all sources made it appear probable that an attack in force would be made before we could be reinforced, it was therefore desirable to induce the Arabs to postpone the attack.

Finding telegrams arriving from Cairo to the Traffic Manager, Ismailia, in ignorance of our arrival, I telegraphed in his name to the War Minister at Cairo to say 5,000 English were already on shore, and asked him to inform the authorities. He acknowledged receipt and said he had done so.

An officer, stating himself to be the Chief of the Staff of Arabi's forces in the district, having come in to surrender, strongly advised the bombardment of Nefiche by the ships, to prevent attack.

This was done, and the effect was to cause the retreat of three trains of troops that approached Nefiche, and the abandonment of a fourth at Nefiche, a very remarkable result considering the place was only seen from the tops, and the range was 4,000 yards.

In the afternoon I opened communication by placing two canal boats across the Sweet Water Canal, stern to stern.

In the fighting line itself a party of R.M.L.I. held the shelter trench by the canal, where also was the signalling station. The Marines also held the group of houses by the railway, and the bluejackets held the remainder.

In the evening, having been reinforced by some 140 marines (R.M.A.), they were posted along the high canal, as a support for our fighting line.

At night we posted sentries 300 to 400 yards to our front and went rounds, and in the early morning Major-General Graham came in with part of his Brigade, and bivouacked in our rear.

In conclusion I would draw your attention to the very efficient and willing manner in which all of your party did the work of entrenching, and the aptitude they showed for such work.

T. FRASER, Major,
Brigade Major, R.E.

Commanding H.M.S. "Carysfort."

REPORTING PROCEEDINGS IN THE SUEZ CANAL 19TH TO 21ST AUGUST, 1882.

*H.M.S. "Ready," at Ismailia,
August 22, 1882.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report my proceedings in carrying out your orders dated 19th August, in connection with the occupation of certain points on the Suez Canal. Learning that it was very important that the dredger stationed at the ninth mile should be secured, I placed Lieutenant Davies of the "Penelope" with 20 men in charge of her. Proceeding up the Canal, I informed all vessels bound to Port Said, also the garekeepers, that it would be necessary for the ships to remain in gare until they received further instructions. I detached Sub-Lieutenant Blomfield in "Tourmaline's" steam cutter with six additional hands, to ensure the above instruction being complied with, having previously obtained a promise from the English shipmasters that they would obey them. After occupying Kantara as instructed, I detached Lieutenant Barnes-Laurence in "Iris" torpedo boat to ensure the canal being kept clear. He reports that on his return to the gare at Kilo No. 34, he found the Messageries Maritimes steamer "Melbourne" leaving, and that on remonstrating with her captain, he was informed that the steamer should only be stopped by armed force, and that the first man stepping on board would be signal to let go the anchor and leave the ship in his hands.

Lieutenant Barnes-Laurence not considering that his instructions warranted the use of force, left to report to me, and sent the "Tourmaline's" steam cutter to warn ships coming up from Port Said.

Shortly after leaving, he observed the British steamers "Ross-shire" and "Counsellor" weigh and follow the Messageries steamer, upon which he chased them, and compelled them to haul into the next gare, and having cautioned the masters, who reiterated their promise, he left to rejoin me. Mr. Blomfield informed me on his return, that directly the "Iris" torpedo boat was out of sight, the English ships appear to have again left the gare, as he met them steaming down the Canal at a point where it was useless to stop them. The other duties assigned to the party under my command were all punctually executed, and on Sunday, the 20th instant, all who could be spared were employed lightening the steamer "Kaiteur," aground in the Canal, but she could not be moved.

No. 25145.

In conclusion, I beg to express my thanks to all the officers, especially Lieutenant Barnes-Laurence of the "Iris," Sub-Lieutenant R. G. H. Blomfield, of the "Tourmaline," and Mr. A. H. Freeman, Midshipman of the "Monarch," for their zealous attention to my orders, also my great satisfaction with the behaviour of the men during nearly 48 hours of continuous hard work.

I have &c.,

H. H. EDWARDS, Commander.

To Rear-Admiral A. H. Hoskins, C.B.,
Second in Command.

PROCLAMATION.

H.H. the Khedive having given the Admiral commanding the British Fleet authority to take charge of all places in or near the Maritime Canal as may be necessary for operations against the rebels, Rear-Admiral Hoskins, commanding the British vessels in the Maritime Canal, now takes possession of Port Said for the purpose indicated, and trusts that all the inhabitants will assist him, as far as lies in their power, in maintaining order and protecting life and property.

The Governor, Ismael Pasha Hamdy, appointed by H.H. the Khedive, will resume his office, and conduct his duties as formerly.

The Captain of H.B.M.S. "Monarch" will act as Military Commandant of the garrison, and be responsible for the defence of the town against the rebels, and the support of the Khedive's civil authorities against any attempts that may be made against life or property.

The police patrols, which will consist of English soldiers and Egyptian police, will at once arrest all persons causing disturbances, more serious crimes being dealt with by martial law.

The Rear-Admiral trusts that all business will be conducted, and the affairs of the town go on in the ordinary course, under the rule of His Excellency the Governor.

A. H. HOSKINS, Rear-Admiral,
Commanding H.B.M. Ships in the Maritime Canal.

H.M.S. "Monarch,"

Port Said, August 21, 1882.

SIR,

IN pursuance of your orders, dated the 19th instant, that at 3.30 A.M. on the 20th, I was with the force named in the margin* to occupy the town of Port Said, and, if possible to surprise and capture the soldiers whilst in barracks, and before they had any time to commit any acts of incendiarism, I made the following disposition of the force under my command.

1. Lieutenant A. Cook, R.N., with "Iris" Naval Brigade, a Gatling gun, and a company of the Royal Marine Battalion under the command of Captain R. P. Coffin, R.M.L.I., were to land abreast of the "Iris," and double along the beach, the company of Marines turning down the street in which the barracks are situated and halting immediately opposite them, the men from H.M.S. "Iris" advancing along the beach till they reached the narrow neck of land which separates the European from the native town, there to place sentries across from the sea to the road that passes down the centre of it.

Commander T. F. Hammill, with two companies of seamen from the "Monarch," was ordered to land abreast of the ship, and doubling through the southern part of the town (leaving half a company to protect the block of buildings in which the British Consulate is situated) to push on to the neck and form a line of sentries from Lake Menzaleh to the road, thus completing with the "Iris" men a chain of sentries right across from the lake to the sea, and barring escape from the town.

3. The company of the Marine Battalion under Captain F. M. Eden, R.M.L.I., and a Gatling from the "Monarch" under Lieutenant Charles Windham, R.N., was to proceed up the centre of the town, and halt on the other side of the barracks to that occupied by the other company of Marines.

4. Arrangements were made that the force should fall in with the least possible noise, so as not to alarm the sentries on the quay. A lighter was planked over, and after dark placed alongside the ship—this, a few minutes before landing, was hauled to the shore, and with the launch formed a floating bridge over which the men were able to pass.

5. The Khedive's Governor, who had been living on board the P. and O. steamer, came on board the "Monarch" at 3 A.M. and landed with me.

6. Major Tulloch, of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers (who gave me much valuable information and assistance), landed with six Marines, and secured three out of the four sentries on the quay.

7. At 3.30 commenced landing, and succeeded in getting on shore without observation, and all the arrangements made were carried out in every particular. I was accompanied by Major James W. Scott, R.M.L.I., commanding the two companies of the Royal Marine Battalion, who posted his men in such a way that escape from the barracks was impossible.

8. The soldiers, who when we arrived appeared to be asleep, were ordered to surrender. Shortly after, 160 fell in and laid down their arms.

The Governor having addressed them, they swore allegiance to the Khedive, and his Excellency then requested that I would permit them to return to their barracks, but two officers were arrested and sent on board H.M.S. "Iris."

9. On Monday afternoon I received a request from the Governor that I should make prisoners of the soldiers, as he found they were leaving the town, and some were trying to incite the Arabs against the English. I therefore ordered two companies to arrest them in barracks, where only 52 were found. They were marched down to the quay, where they were embarked, and sent off to H.M.S. "Northumberland."

* From H.M.S. "Monarch," Seamen, 100 Small Arms Men, 18 Gatling Gun's Crews, 48 Royal Marines, 1 Gatling Gun. From H.M.S. "Iris," Seamen, 80 Small Arms Men, 18 Gatling Gun's Crews, 28 Royal Marines, 1 Gatling Gun. From R.M. Battalion, 200 Royal Marines. Total, 180 Small Arms Men, 36 Gatling Gun's Crews, 276 Royal Marines, 2 Gatling Guns.

10. I am much indebted to Commander T. F. Hammill and Major J. W. Scott, R.M.L.I., for the able way in which they executed my orders, the silent and orderly manner in which the work was done, contributing very much to the success of the undertaking.

11. The conduct of the officers and men landed gave me entire satisfaction.

I have, &c.,

H. FAIRFAX, Captain.

Rear-Admiral Anthony H. Hoskins,
C.B., &c., Senior Officer.

OPERATIONS IN THE SUEZ CANAL.

"Euryalus," at Suez,

August 21, 1882.

Sir,

ON Friday last, the 18th instant, I had the honour of receiving through Rear-Admiral Hoskins, C.B., a copy of the plan of operations in the Suez Canal agreed to between yourself and Sir Garnet Wolseley, and your telegram of the 17th instant gave me authority to act on it.

2. I immediately put in train the work to be carried out at Suez, and telegraphed to you that your instructions had been received and would be complied with.

3. In the course of the same afternoon the rebels were observed entrenching themselves in our front, and movements of Bedouins on our left flank also called for attention. I consulted with Brigadier-General Tanner, C.B., who commanded the troops, and we agreed that the Naval Brigade would be too weak to hold the place by itself if attacked by a large force, such as we knew to be in our vicinity. I, therefore, with the concurrence of the Brigadier-General, telegraphed to you that one hundred of the Seaforth Highlanders would be detained at Suez until the arrival of the troops from India.

4. Later on Captain Hastings, whom I had sent in the "Seagull" to reconnoitre the banks of the Canal, returned with a report that showed the information sent me from time to time by Captain Fitzroy of the movements of the enemy in our direction to be fairly correct; and the Brigadier-General then agreed with me that it would not be prudent to send any of the Highlanders away without previously reconnoitring the neighbourhood, for, as I have already stated in my telegram, the collection of military stores at Suez represented a considerable value; and a matter of still more serious consequence was the fact that the town had recently become crowded with women and children, Copt Christians, who had sought refuge at Suez from the brutalities of the surrounding Bedouins.

4. On the Friday night I caused the telegraph wires to be cut between Suez and the first Canal Station, and on Saturday morning notices were issued that from that date, the 19th instant, until the prohibition was formally removed, no ships or boats would be allowed to pass into the Canal from the Suez side without my special permission. The damage to the wire on the above occasion was soon repaired, but on the following night I caused the poles which conveyed the line across the creek, close to the Company's offices, to be cut down, and placed a guard over them to prevent their being restored.

5. At the time when it was decided to detain the Highlanders the regiment was already on board the "Bancoora." This was on Saturday night, and their disembarkation on Sunday must have had a very puzzling effect upon the officials of the Canal Company and others who were interested in our movements. It must also have had the happy effect of qualifying any reports that may have reached the rebels that our troops were about to enter the Canal.

6. On Sunday morning, at daylight, 400 Highlanders, under Colonel Stockwell, were disembarked from the transport, and marched eight miles in the direction of Chalouf, to make a feint attack in our front. Brigadier-General Tanner, C.B., accompanied this force, and at the same time I sent my Flag Captain, Captain A. P. Hastings, in the "Seagull," with the "Mosquito" in company, and 200 of the Seaforth Highlanders to Chalouf by the Maritime Canal.

7. The party under Colonel Stockwell returned to Suez at about four p.m. without having touched the enemy; but later in the day Captain Hastings returned in a steam pinnace to report very successful operations from the gun vessels. It appears that the first that was seen of the enemy along the canal was a small cavalry patrol about three miles this side of Chalouf, and on arrival at Chalouf his presence in force was only discovered by a few heads appearing over the railway embankment on the other side of the Sweet Water Canal, this embankment forming a natural entrenchment behind which it was afterwards discovered there were some 600 infantry ready to resist our advance. These men were extremely well armed and accoutred, and had a plentiful supply of ammunition with them.

8. The manner in which the position was taken reflects the highest credit on Captain Hastings, and I recommended him to your favourable notice.

9. The coolness and dash of the Highlanders, and the excellent fire from the ships' tops seem to have been the chief causes of success, and the conduct of all concerned appears to have been in every way creditable.

10. I consider that credit must be given to Lieutenant-Colonel Helsham Jones, R.E., for the fact of there now being fresh water at Suez. Opening the lock gates above the point occupied kept the canal below full notwithstanding the waste that took place through a breach made by the enemy in the banks of the canal, which has since however, been repaired by a company of the Madras Sappers.

11. I am in hopes that the action taken at Chalouf will do much to secure the safety of the canal, and as the Indian forces are now fast arriving, the Highlanders will go to Serapeum to-morrow.

12. I beg to recommend to your favourable notice the officers mentioned by Captain Hastings in the accompanying letter.

I have, &c.,

W. HEWETT, Rear-Admiral,
and Commander-in-Chief on the East Indies Station.

Admiral Sir F. Beauchamp Seymour,
G.C.B., Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean.

H.M.S. "Seagull," at Chalouf,

Sir, August 20, 1882.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report of my proceedings in command of the force

(as per margin*) despatched this day from Suez to secure the Freshwater Lock at Chalouf.

2. On my arrival off the place, which is distant 15 miles from Suez, on the west bank of the Maritime Canal, there were at first but few signs of the enemy's presence; there was no camp visible, and the first indication we saw of him was a few men's heads showing over the embankment of the railway on the other side of the Sweet Water canal which lay between us and the position the enemy occupied. This embankment, forming as it did a natural entrenchment, concealed a force of about 600 Infantry, and in the distance we saw from 40 to 50 Cavalry patrolling in the direction of Suez.

3. I first landed the Highlanders and the landing parties of the "Seagull" and "Mosquito" without field guns, and then opened fire from the tops of the ships, which were armed as follows:—

"Seagull," in fore-top—a 7-pr. boat's gun, in main-top—a Gatling gun.

"Mosquito," in fore-top—a Gatling gun.

For some time there was no reply to our fire, but presently we got a volley from the left which left no doubt as to the enemy's position.

Previous to this Captain Lendrum had occupied the lock with G. Company of the Seaforth Highlanders, and Lieutenant-Colonel H. Helsham Jones, R.E., to whom I am much indebted for his valuable advice and assistance throughout the day, finding the gates open, closed them, and so kept the Suez end of the canal full of water. Had this not been done it is needless to say that the canal would have soon emptied itself.

Major Garnett's company and the men of the "Mosquito" now searched the village between the Freshwater and Maritime Canals, where the firing was coming from, the advance of this party being protected by the small arm companies of the "Seagull," and the remaining companies of the Highlanders, under Brevet-Major Fergusson and Captain Hughes-Hallett.

Previous to this the skiff of the "Mosquito" had been transported to the Freshwater Canal, and I sent Lieutenant E. Rae, of H.M.S. "Seagull," to the opposite bank in her to examine the enemy's movements.

By this time Major Garnett had passed the village, which was found to be deserted, and had pushed his men across the canal by means of a boat obtained by Lieutenant H. G. Lang, of the Highlanders, who in a very plucky manner swam the canal, and in the face of a hot fire procured it from under the opposite embankment.

Sub-Lieutenant W. O. Story and the men of the "Mosquito" accompanied the Highlanders, and the fire from this party and from the machine guns of the ships was now so hot that the enemy was soon dislodged from his position.

Another boat having been procured by Assistant Paymaster Thos. R. B. Rogers, of H.M.S. "Seagull," from the lock end of the canal, the remainder of the ships' landing parties and Highlanders were likewise crossed over the water, and the enemy was soon in full retreat. Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, R.E., accompanied me with this party.

Some of the fugitives took the line of the railway, others went straight into the desert, while a few fled to a hill to the rear of their line where they were eventually surrounded by Captain Hughes Hallett, and made prisoners of.

At this point was captured a 7-pr. brass field piece of French make, from which two rounds had been fired before being seized.

We now ceased firing, and proceeded to embark our prisoners.

The enemy's loss is about 100 killed (including 3 officers, one of whom was the officer in command), and 62 prisoners, out of which 27 are wounded, and we have captured a large number of Remington rifles, with quantities of ammunition and stores.

The enemy fought with bravery, but their shooting was most inferior, and owing to this latter defect I am happy to say there are only two casualties on our side, viz.: Benjamin Davis, A.B., "Euryalus," one of my boat's crew, who accompanied me, slightly wounded; and Joseph Fernandez, Wardroom steward of the "Seagull," one of the stretcher party, severely wounded.

Besides the above, I regret to say Corporal Hind and Private Reeves, of the Highlanders, were drowned in trying to cross the canal.

The wounded men are receiving every possible attention from Surgeons A. McKinlay, of the "Mosquito," and S. W. Vasey, of the "Seagull," who were attached to the landing parties of their respective ships.

The conduct of the seamen and marines under fire was everything that could be desired, and I would wish to express my admiration for the coolness and gallantry of the Highlanders, to which, with the excellent fire from the ships, the success of the day must be attributed.

I have to thank Commander Mather Byles, of the "Seagull," Lieutenant-Colonel H. Helsham Jones, R.E., Lieutenant and Commander the Honourable F. R. Sandilands, of H.M.S. "Mosquito," and Major W. F. Kelsey, of the Seaforth Highlanders, for their valuable co-operation and assistance, and I beg to bring to favourable notice the services of—

Lieutenant E. Rac, who commanded the landing party from the "Seagull";

Sub-Lieutenant W. O. Story, who commanded the landing party from the "Mosquito";

Sub-Lieutenant E. J. Carus Wilson, who worked the Gatling gun in the main-top of the "Seagull";

Mr. George Peavitt, gunner, who worked the 7-pounder in foretop of the "Seagull";

Mr. G. Gore-Browne, midshipman, my aide-de-camp, who was most useful to me; and

Mr. T. R. B. Rogers, Assistant Paymaster in charge, of the "Seagull," who rendered good service by bringing the boat from the lock.

I attach a plan of the position drawn by Navigating Lieutenant Richard J. Rogers, of H.M.S. "Seagull."

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith reports from Major Kelsey, of the Seaforth Highlanders, and the Lieutenant in command of the "Mosquito," relative to the recent operations at Chalouf, forwarded to me by Captain Hastings after the despatch of my letter of the 21st inst.

I have, &c.,

"Euryalus," Suez,

August 25, 1882.

No. 62.

FORWARDED for the information of the Commander-in-Chief with reference to my letter of proceedings dated the 20th inst.

I would wish to call attention to the fact that after Lieutenant Lang, of the Seaforth Highlanders, procured a boat, Sub-Lieutenant W. O. Story and the blue-jackets of the "Mosquito" were the first to cross the canal, and they held a house on the opposite bank until reinforced by the Highlanders.

I was not aware of this until I received the written report from Major Kelsey now submitted.

ALICK P. HASTINGS,

Captain.

From Major W. F. Kelsey, Commanding Detachment, 1st Battalion Seaforth Highlanders, to Captain Hastings, Commanding Naval Brigade.

Chalouf,

August 20, 1882.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report for your information that on landing at Chalouf on the 20th August, 1882, I found two companies, each company 50 rifles, up in extended order, supported by two others, total 200 rifles.

On arriving on the bank of the Freshwater Canal the enemy showed, and I opened fire about 11.30 a.m.; at the same time I sent Captain Lendrum, with one company under the direction of Colonel Jones, R.E., to hold the lock about two miles to our right.

About twenty minutes after the action commenced I sent a company, under command of Major Garnett, to work round through some houses on our extreme left; this company was supported by a party of blue-jackets and Marines from H.M.S. "Mosquito," under command of Sub-Lieutenant Story, R.N.; the houses were occupied by Major Garnett, and I reinforced him with half another company of Seaforth Highlanders under command of Lieutenant Lang.

The houses were passed through and the bank of the Freshwater Canal lined.

Major Garnett's party was here checked for some time until a boat was procured by Lieutenant Lang swimming over to the other side under the enemy's fire, and bringing it back.

Sub-Lieutenant Story, R.N., and a party of blue-jackets then crossed and held a house until re-inforced by the Seaforth Highlanders, then advanced and took the enemy in flank, who then retreated rapidly.

About 4 p.m. Captain Hughes Hallett took his company across the canal in a boat sent to me by Captain Lendrum from the lock he was occupying, this boat was towed up by a couple of men of his company under the direction of Paymaster Rogers, R.N., H.M.S. "Seagull."

As soon as Captain Hughes Hallett's company had crossed, the remainder of our line was taken across, and advanced, driving the enemy before it.

A party of blue-jackets and Marines from H.M.S. "Seagull" occupied a forward position in the centre of our line during the action, and by their fire kept down the enemy's considerably.

The Gatlings in the tops of H.M.S. "Seagull" and "Mosquito," kept up a galling fire during the day, and did great execution.

I beg to bring to your notice the name of Sub-Lieutenant Story, R.N., H.M.S. "Mosquito." Major Garnett reports to me that he led his men in a forward and gallant manner.

I regret to have to report the loss of two men of Major Garnett's company by drowning; their names are Corporal David Hind and Private William Reeve.

I enclose Major Garnett's report of the occurrence.

I have, &c.,

W. F. KELSEY, Major,
Commanding Detachment 1st Battalion
Seaforth Highlanders.

H.M.S. "Mosquito,"

August 21, 1882.

SIR,

AT one time during the action yesterday, I wished to send a party of men across the Freshwater Canal; the boat we had previously used was on the far side of the canal and there was no means of getting it across, so two men belonging to my company (Corporal Hind and Private Reeve) after taking off their belts and ammunition, jumped into the water and swam towards the boat; the water was very deep and very weedy. After swimming about a third of the way, they found they could not get on on account of the weeds, so turned back; they evidently had got so entangled in the weeds they could not swim, and before some men could reach them, who had jumped into the water with a rope, they both sank; both the men were first rate swimmers.

I have, &c.,

R. GARNETT, Major,
Seaforth Highlanders.

August 23, 1882.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to inform you that on Sunday, the 20th inst., I secured the ship alongside the west bank of the canal near the village of Chalouf, and, having landed the company of the 72nd, under Major Garnett, I also landed our small arm men and Marines under Sub-Lieutenant W. O. Story.

I opened fire with the Gatling, rocket, and 20-pr. guns immediately on securing the ship.

I enclose a report of the proceedings of the landing party furnished me by Mr. Story.

I beg to bring to your favourable notice the conduct of Mr. Story and Surgeon A. McKinlay, of this ship, the officers landed with the party.

They were under fire from 12.30 p.m. till 5 p.m., and were with their men the first to cross the Freshwater Canal, and were at that time within 20 yards of the Chalouf railway station occupied by the enemy, and exposed to a cross-fire.

The men's behaviour was all that could be desired.

The seamen working the Gatling gun in the fore-top were exposed to considerable fire, the rigging being cut, and ship struck by bullets in several places.

After the fire slackened, all the available men were landed to collect in the wounded.

I have, &c.,

F. R. SANDILANDS,
Lieutenant and Commander.

To Captain A. P. Hastings, Senior Naval Officer at Chalouf.

Lieutenant J. L. Lory and Mr. C. H. Deighton, gunner, were most zealous, and of great assistance in directing the fire of the guns and rockets.

F. R. S.

H.M.S. "Mosquito," Suez,

August 23, 1882.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report to you that I landed with the landing party of this ship about 12.30 p.m. I received orders to support the company of the 72nd on the left.

I marched the men to the left and placed myself under the orders of Major Garnett, commanding the company, and with them skirmished through the village of Chalouf as far as the bank of the Freshwater Canal.

About 3.30 p.m. I obtained permission from Major Garnett to take some of my men to the ferry, where there was a boat on the opposite shore.

I took eight men and one petty officer, and proceeded to the ferry with Mr. Lang, of the 72nd.

Mr. Lang obtained the boat and we crossed immediately, a few men from the 72nd having joined us.

I sent the boat back with one hand for the remainder of the men.

We skirmished up, on the enemy's flank and drove them from their position on the bank of the canal.

We retired at about 5 p.m. to the ferry by orders of Major Garnett.

At about 5 p.m., the enemy having retreated, I went out with my party, by order of Captain Hastings, R.N., to pick up the wounded; this I did, and returned on board about 6 p.m.

On Monday, 21st, landed at 4 p.m. with the same company of the 72nd, and advanced as far as Serapeum Lock, where I remained until ordered back to the ship by Captain Hastings; I returned on board at 5.30 p.m.

On Tuesday, 22nd, landed at 10 a.m. under orders of Captain Hastings, and advanced to Geniffa Lock.

We found the lock gates closed, and the farmhouse deserted.

We returned on board at 11.30 a.m.

I have, &c.,

Sub-Lieutenant, R.N.
