War Office, September 26, 1882.

A DESPATCH, of which the following is a copy, has been received by the Secretary of State for War from the General Officer Commanding in Egypt:—

Camp Kassassin,

September 10, 1882.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you that the enemy made a combined attack, yesterday morning, upon this position,—one column advancing from the north from the Salahiye direction, the other from Tel-el-Kebir. Arabi Pasha was on the ground, but the attacking troops were commanded by Ali Fehmi Pasha, Rashid Pasha being, it is asserted by prisoners, in disgrace, for having lost his camp and guns in the fight of the 25th ultimo, at Mahsaneh station. The enemy's force was about 30 guns—of which we took 4—and 17 battalions of Infantry, several squadrons of Cavalry, and a few thousand Bedouins.

From the information I have obtained from prisoners, it would seem that the enemy expected an easy victory, thinking the force here was only a weak advance guard.

The troops in camp, when the attack began, were, as below, under the command of Lieutenant General Willis, commanding 1st Division. With these, he immediately moved out, attacked, and drove back the enemy, who retreated with loss within their line of works at Tel-el-Kebir, from which they opened an angry but harmless fire upon our troops, which had been halted beyond the range of their guns.

Our troops moved with great steadiness, and Major-General Graham has especially brought to my notice the dashing manner in which two Krupp guns were taken by the battalion of Royal Marine Light Infantry, and the excellent manner in which that battalion was handled by its Commanding Officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Jones.

Our casualties were three men killed, and two officers, and 78 men wounded.

Lieutenant Purvis, of H.M.S. "Penelope," is amongst those who were severely wounded. He was in command of the naval detachment that was serving the 40-pr., which is mounted on a railway truck. He is a very good officer, and I have to regret very much the loss of his valuable services with this Army.

With the exception of five, who were too severely injured to be moved by railway, all the wounded were sent to Ismailia last night, and those five were sent there this evening by the freshwater canal.

I have, &c.,

G. J. WOLSELEY, General,
Commander-in-Chief of the British Forces in Egypt.
