*Board of Trade, Whitehall Gardens,
October 2, 1882.*

WITH reference to the notices which appeared in the London Gazette of the 15th November, 1881, and of the 24th March of the present year, stating that empty grain bags carried by ships touching at a Spanish Port should be declared in the ship's manifest as transit cargo, the Board of Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs the following translation of a Spanish Royal Order requiring such bags to be declared in future as ship's stores:—

(Translation.)

Ministry of Finance, Madrid,

August 28, 1882.

WHEREAS a suit No. 2/82, was instituted by the Custom-house at Carthagena, in consequence of a fine of 4,350 pesetas imposed on the Captain of the English steamer "Cimbelgue," (sic) for having included in the list of provisions a quantity of empty bags, which fine was exacted in conformity with par. 13 of Article 213 of the Customs Regulations, and was remitted by the "Delegado de Hacienda" (Financial Agent) of Murcia:

Whereas the number of vessels employed in the conveyance of cereals is large, and those vessels carry the bags necessary for the safe stowage of the cereals in their holds:

Whereas many shipmasters, and especially captains of British vessels, carry the bags as a necessary part of the ship's stores, and merely declare them in the list of provisions, referred to in Article 47 of the Customs' Regulations, and not in the certified manifest:

Whereas this proceeding gives rise to fines because the bags are not categorically enumerated among the ship's stores, mentioned in Article 47, above referred to: and

Whereas in the many cases in which fines, of the nature referred to, have been imposed, they have always and invariably in equity been remitted, as an act of justice, on account of its being recognised, not only that it is necessary to carry such bags, but also that they have, in perfect good faith, been omitted to be included in the certified manifests:

Therefore, H.M. the King (whom God preserve) agreeably to the suggestions of this Head Office, has resolved, as a General Order:—

(1.) That the empty bags carried on board for the stowage of cereals shall be considered as ship's stores, the Captains being required to declare them in the list of provisions, and to produce them at the moment of leaving the Port to the official appointed by the Collector of Customs to verify the fact of the said bags being on board.

(2.) If the Captain should require to use the bags referred to for stowage in a Spanish port he must previously declare the fact to the Customs in order that they may verify it, and take account of the number of bags employed, inasmuch as it will not be possible to produce them at the clearance visit on the ship's departure.

(3.) That the Captain who cannot prove, at the time of the ship's sailing, that he has on board the number of bags declared on entry, shall pay a fine of from two to ten times the duty on those which may not be forthcoming.
