Admiralty, June 20, 1885.

A DESPATCH, of which the following is a copy, has been received from Admiral the Lord John Hay, K.C.B., Commander-in-Chief on the Mediterranean Station, dated on board H.M.S. "Alexandra" at Malta, the 8th June, 1885 :—

Services rendered by Officers and Men of the Royal Navy in connection with operations around Suakin.

"Alexandra," at Malta,

Sir, June 8, 1885.

BE pleased to lay before the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty the enclosed report, dated 20th May, by Commodore Molyneux, C.B., on the services rendered by the Red Sea division of the Mediterranean squadron in the course of operations which have extended over a year in a climate, and generally under circumstances, of a somewhat trying character.

2. The fact stated by the Commodore that the immense number of vessels, some of great length, were piloted without a single accident to vessels or piers in a channel so narrow and with such sharp turns, is as creditable as the result is astonishing, considering the difficulties to be contended with.

3. I refrain from referring in detail to the services of the officers and men, to whom full justice is done in the Commodore's report, further than to add my testimony to the admirable manner in which the service has been carried on, and which has, without an exception, given me entire satisfaction.

4. It is, perhaps, unnecessary to state how fully sensible I am of the admirable manner in which Commodore Molyneux has performed the duties of Senior Officer in the Red Sea. He has displayed tact, intelligence, and judgment in dealing with an infinite variety of circumstances, and always with credit to himself and with advantage to the public service.

JOHN HAY, Admiral.

Services of Officers and Men of the Royal Navy in connection with operations around Suakin.

"Sphinx," at Suakin, May 20, 1885.

MY LORD,

THE active operations of the Suakin Expeditionary Force having now been brought to a close, I have the honour to bring to the notice of your Lordship the services of the Red Sea Division under my command during the operations, and previously in the defence of Suakin.
