Board of Trade (Harbour Department), London, July 5, 1887.

THE Board of Trade have received through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a copy of a Despatch, dated 24th ultimo, from Her Majesty's Representative at Rome, enclosing the following translation of a Decree issued by the Italian Government, stating the measures necessary for ships arriving in Italy having cases of smallpox, &c., on board :—

1887.—Ordinance of Maritime Health, No. 7.

THE Minister of the Interior decrees that ships arriving, having on board cases, or having had cases of smallpox, scarlatina, measles, typhus, or other disease, contagious or not, but which is endemic in our country, will be admitted to free pratique after medical inspection, provided that they conform to the following regulations, the exact performance of which is left to the responsibility of the captain and officers of the port :—

1. The sick, or those who are suspected of incubating the disease in question, shall be sent with proper precautions to the hospital of the port of arrival, or of the nearest town.

2. In case of smallpox all the persons on board shall be re-vaccinated who have not already been vaccinated succesfully.

3. On no account shall linen or woollen articles be disembarked, which are of personal or household use, without first being disinfected by immersion for at least ten minutes in boiling water, or in the regular steam disinfecting machine of the ship ; and the sanitary authorities will decide whether the clothing used by the passengers should be treated in a similar manner.

4. That the bilge water be not emptied in port unless it has been disinfected as follows :—

(a.) In case of steamers, different parts of the hold should be disinfected separately by carrying the water contained in them to boiling point by injecting steam from the boilers before emptying it, and then substituting it by sea-water, to be heated to boiling point in the same way.

(b.) Sailing-vessels, which cannot thus disinfect the hold by steam, must use chloride of chalk in large quantities.

5. The berths in which the patients have been must be carefully disinfected and re-whitewashed according to the following rules :—

(a.) They must be washed with water containing $\frac{1}{1000}$ of corrosive sublimate, viz., the walls, floors, and ceilings, and they must then be rasped whilst still wet, and afterwards re-varnished completely.

(b.) The same treatment must be applied to all wooden articles in the cabins, and all metal articles must be washed with water containing $\frac{1}{1000}$th of corrosive sublimate.

(c.) All linen, woollen things, mattresses, &c., used by the patients must be steeped for ten minutes at least in boiling water before being washed, or else must be burned.

6. The rest of the ship must be properly washed with sea-water, and all the parts destined for passengers and crew must be re-whitened.

7. Goods kept in compartments separate from the passengers' cabins may be landed at once without disinfection, excepting in case of linen or woollen articles of personal or household use, rags, or old clothes not perfectly cleaned.
