Return and Disposal of Undelivered Parcels.

11. With regard to—

- (a.) Parcels which are addressed to a Post Office in the United Kingdom to be called for, or to a place in the United Kingdom beyond the limits of the free postal delivery of any town or district, or to a ship at any port in the United Kingdom, and which are not called for or delivered within such reasonable times as the Postmaster-General may from time to time prescribe; and
- (b.) Parcels which cannot be delivered in the United Kingdom for want of a true direction, or by reason that the addressee is dead, or cannot be found, or has refused the same, or has refused to pay any charges thereon, or for any other sufficient reason:

The following provisions shall (subject to the provisions of the Warrant of the 12th day of December, 1888, relating to Foreign and Colonial Parcels) apply, that is to say:—

- (1.) The Parcel shall, as the Postmaster-General may from time to time direct, be retained at or forthwith forwarded to such place as the Postmaster-General may from time to time appoint, and may, if necessary, be there opened and examined.

- (4.) The Postmaster-General may, in his discretion, specify in any such notice, or otherwise, the periods during which Parcels may be returned to the senders thereof, and in so doing may have regard to the nature and contents of Parcels.
- (5.) Where in the case of a Parcel which cannot be delivered for want of a true direction the sender corrects the address of the Parcel, the Parcel shall be forwarded to the corrected address, subject to the following conditions:—

- (6.) A Parcel shall not be given up or returned by post to the sender except upon payment by him of any charge for re-direction or other charge to which the Parcel has become liable under the provisions of this Warrant, or of any such Regulations as are referred to in section 14 of "The Post Office (Parcels) Act, 1882."
- (7.) Where the sender requests a Parcel to be returned to him by post, such Parcel shall not be returned to the sender except upon payment by him of a new and distinct rate of postage, according to the rates fixed by this Warrant, and in such case the said rate of postage and all other charges to which the Parcel has become liable, if not prepaid by the sender, shall be collected on the delivery of the Parcel to him.
- (8.) The Postmaster-General may require proof to his satisfaction that an applicant for the Parcel is entitled to receive the same.
- (9.) Where no application is made for a Parcel within the period specified in any such notice as aforesaid, or an applicant fails to prove to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that he is entitled to receive the Parcel, or refuses or fails to pay the charges to which the Parcel has become liable under this Warrant, the Parcel may be dealt with or disposed of in such manner as the Postmaster-General may in his discretion direct or authorize.

12. Any Parcel may be re-directed from its original address, or any substituted address, within the United Kingdom, to any country or place with which a Parcel Post to or from the United Kingdom or Finland is established, and in every case of such re-direction there shall be charged on such Parcel in respect of such re-direction a new and distinct rate of postage according to the rates for the time being payable in respect of the transmission of a like Parcel from the United Kingdom to the country or place to which it may be re-directed, and such postage, if not paid at the time of such re-direction, shall be collected on the delivery of the Parcel to the addressee.

Re-direction to Places within United Kingdom.

Any Parcel may be re-directed from its original address, or any substituted address, within the United Kingdom to any other address within the United Kingdom, and in every case of such re-direction there shall be charged on such Parcel in respect of each such re-direction, and (if not previously paid) paid by the addressee thereof in money upon the delivery of such Parcel, a new and distinct rate of postage, equal in amount to the rate of postage which would have been originally chargeable on such Parcel as an Inland Parcel.

Remission of Re-direction Rates.

14. The Postmaster-General may wholly remit the rate of postage for re-direction on any Parcel addressed to the United Kingdom, which may, on the request of the addressee thereof, be re-directed by an Officer of the Post Office, and again forwarded by post to the same person at any address within the limits of the same free postal delivery as the address from which such Parcel was so re-directed.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(No. 139 of the year 1889.)

GERMAN COASTS.

Uniform System of Buoyage and Beacons.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 113, of 27th April, 1888, on the intended establishment of a Uniform System of Buoyage on the German Coasts:—

The German Government has given further notice, that on 1st April, 1889, the following Uniform System of Buoyage was established in marking the channels and shoals on those coasts:—

The seaward entrances of channels, not marked by light-vessels, beacons, or moles, have beacon buoys, of the same colour as the channel buoys, moored in such a position that the nearest channel buoys may be plainly seen from them.

The term starboard hand denotes that side of a channel which lies on the right hand of the mariner when entering from seaward; and the term port hand, the left hand under the same circumstances.

Where a channel connects two parts of the sea, or two sheets of water separated by banks, the starboard hand is that side which lies on the right hand when entering from the westward. The term, from the westward is taken to include the whole of the western semicircle, from north (true), inclusive, to south; and the port hand that on the left.

Floating Sea Marks.

a. Buoys surmounted by a top-mark, bell buoys, gas buoys, or automatic signal buoys, are called beacon.

b. Buoys showing a mast above water are called spar, and may be of any shape.

c. Buoys showing the pointed top of a cone above water are called conical.

d. Buoys showing a flat top above water are called can.

e. Buoys showing a domed top above water are called spherical.

f. Buoys showing a portion of a cylinder with the arched side uppermost above water, are called barrel.

Fixed Sea Marks.

a. Beacons consisting of a group of piles are called "d'Alben."

b. Beacons consisting of single stakes or perches, and driven into the ground, are called perches; these may be surmounted by branches or brooms.

c. Beacons consisting of young trees with branches, or branches only, are called "Pricken."

Letters or numbers on channel buoys or beacons are painted white, and begin with the buoy or beacon farthest seaward; but channels of considerable length may be divided into sections, each with a separate series of letters or numbers.

Starboard hand buoys are spar buoys, painted red; or where several channels are near each other, or the water is not deep enough for spar buoys, can buoys, painted red, may be used.

Port hand buoys are conical buoys, painted black.

Starboard hand beacons are beacons with spars, painted red, or perches: port hand beacons are beacons without spars, painted black, or pricken.

Mid-channel buoys, which may be passed on either side, are spherical buoys, painted red and black, in stripes.

The extremes of shoals extending from the shore, or of reefs in channels, are marked by beacons or beacon buoys, painted red and black, in stripes.

The extremes of middle grounds are marked by beacons or beacon buoys, painted red and black in stripes, and surmounted by a cross.

Shoals lying seaward of channels are marked by spar buoys, beacon buoys, or beacons. Should a shoal be so small that it can be marked by a single buoy or beacon, and passed on any side, such buoy or beacon is painted black and white in stripes, and surmounted by a drum.

Buoys and beacons, marking the edges of shoals seaward of channels, are painted white, and surmounted by two vertical equilateral triangles, arranged as follows: when on the northern edge of the shoal, the points of both triangles upwards; on the southern edge, points downwards; eastern edge, point of upper triangle upwards, point of lower triangle downwards; western edge, points towards each other.

The name of the shoal, either in full or abbreviated, is painted on the buoys and beacons marking it, in black letters; and buoys and beacons on the edges of shoals have the letters N., S., O., or W. painted on them in black letters, to correspond with the side of the shoal on which they are situated.

Wreck buoys are either can, conical, or barrel buoys, painted green, with the word "Wrack" (wreck) painted on them in white letters. The distinguishing marks on wreck buoys are similar to those used for marking shoals seaward of channels.

Buoys marking the position of telegraph cables, are spherical buoys, painted green, with the word "Telegraf" or T painted on them in white letters.

Buoys marking the boundaries of quarantine stations are either can, conical, or barrel buoys, painted yellow.

Buoys marking target, mine, or torpedo grounds are barrel buoys, painted yellow, and surmounted by a small red flag.

Buoys and beacons for mooring purposes, or to define the boundaries of a roadstead, or used for surveying purposes, are so constructed in shape, colour, and top-marks, as to prevent their being mistaken for any other buoys or beacons in the vicinity.

The tramways described in the first part hereof have since been laid under the provisions of the said Act, and have been worked by the said William Turton and Daniel Busby, as if they had been comprised in the said lease.

By the Salford Corporation Tramways Order, 1885, the Corporation were empowered to construct and have constructed the several tramways described in the second part hereof, the right of user whereof the Corporation had agreed to demise, and the said William Turton and Daniel Busby had agreed to accept for the residue of the said term of 21 years created by the before-mentioned Indenture, and on the like terms and conditions.

The said William Turton and Daniel Busby agreed to sell, and the Manchester Carriage Company Limited (which Company has been subsequently reconstructed, and is now known as "The Manchester Carriage and Tramways Company") agreed to purchase (inter alia) all leases and agreements for leases to work and use tramways in Salford.

The lessees' covenants are as follow:—

1. To pay the rent quarterly, and in advance if required.

2. As to the use of the tramways, to run over each of the said lines of tramway, and the Manchester and Barton Tramways connected therewith respectively, carriages of approved construction, at approved hours, for the conveyance of passengers, and their personal luggage (not exceeding 28 lbs. in weight for each passenger), at fares not exceeding one penny per mile, but for any less distance than two miles two pence may be charged. Children on the lap and under three years not to be considered as passengers. Children above three years, and under seven, travelling inside the cars, half fares.

3. To run at least two carriages each way on each of the said tramways every morning and evening of the week (Sunday, Christmas Day, and Good Friday always excepted) for the conveyance of the labouring classes, with their tools and personal luggage, at such hours, not being later than 7 A.M. or earlier than 6 P.M., as the Corporation may fix, at fares not exceeding one halfpenny per mile, but so that no fare less than one penny need be taken.

No. 25932.

4. To observe all the bye-laws and regulations of the Corporation.

5. Not to use the tramways or carriages thereon for the conveyance of any animal, goods, or chattels, other than passengers' luggage not exceeding 28 lbs. in weight, and small parcels not exceeding 56 lbs. in weight, and not to permit any advertisements on the said carriages, except with the consent of the Corporation.

6. Not to employ any motive power other than animal power without the like consent.

7. To save harmless the Corporation from loss or damage occasioned by the act or default of the lessees or their servants.

9. To be answerable for trespass and damage done to the tramways (reasonable wear and tear excepted).

10. To give the Corporation notice if the tramways become in any way in a dangerous or defective state.

11. To permit the Corporation to use the tramways at all reasonable hours for the conveyance of scavenging stuff, road metal, &c., free of toll.

12. Not to assign, underlet, or otherwise part with the user granted without the written consent of the Corporation.

The lessors' covenants are as follow:—

1. For quiet enjoyment.

2. To maintain the tramways in repair.

The lease contains the following provisoes and conditions:—

1. The Corporation may demand payment of the rent in advance.

2. Power of distress for rent in arrear.

3. Power for Corporation to enter into receipt of the tolls and profits of the tramways if rent not paid.

4. Lease to become void on winding up or insolvency of the lessees.

5. Power for Corporation to vacate the lease on non-payment of rent for twenty-one days or for breach of any covenant.

6. Reservations of the power of the Corporation to open and break up the roadway and of every other power conferred upon or vested in the Corporation by Act of Parliament or otherwise.

7. Power for the Corporation to construct temporary tramways.

8. Additional crossings, passing places, and other works to be constructed when necessary or expedient, and the lessees to pay an additional rent equal to £10 per cent. per annum upon the cost.

9. The lease to be subject to the approval of the Board of Trade.

10. Disputes to be referred to arbitration.

The draft lease is deposited at the office of the Town Clerk, at the Townhall, Salford, and may be inspected at any time between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon.
