The Troon Harbour Authorities have given notice, dated 1st July, 1889, that a light is now exhibited from the end of the breakwater at that place:—

The light is a fixed red light, similar to that on the pier head.

Position, lat.  $55^{\circ} 33' N.$ , long.  $4^{\circ} 41' W.$

NOTE.—Vessels entering Troon Harbour during the night, should keep midway between the two above-mentioned red lights.

ERRATA.

On certain copies of Admiralty Plan, Lough Carlingford, No. 2800, the characters of the buoys are wrongly marked. The buoyage of the lough is in accordance with the uniform system of buoyage, viz.:—black conical buoys on the star-board hand entering; red can buoys on the port hand.

[The bearings are magnetic. Variation  $16\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$  Westerly in 1889.]

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(No. 245 of the year 1889.)

ENGLAND.—SOUTH COAST.—SPITHEAD.

Regulations in connection with Inspection of the Fleet on 3rd August, 1889.

THE Naval Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth has, on behalf of the Admiralty, issued the following regulations to be observed by all vessels at Spithead and in its vicinity on the occasion of the Inspection of the Fleet to be held on 3rd August, 1889:—

1. In order to reduce as far as possible the chances of collision, Directors of Steamship Companies, Owners of Steam Vessels, Yachts, &c., are earnestly requested to give directions to the masters of their ships to follow closely the instructions herein laid down, and to pay implicit attention to the requests of the Officers of the Patrol Tugs and Boats, who will be specially charged with the duty of keeping clear the inspection ground.

2. The speed of steam vessels when within the columns is to be limited to five knots.

3. All steam vessels present are requested to burn the best Welsh coal, so that smoke may not obstruct the view of the fleet nor cause danger of collision. Vessels neglecting to follow this rule will be removed to a distance.

4. Previous to the hour fixed for the Inspection, private steam vessels, steam yachts, and sailing vessels are to be permitted to pass between the columns under the following regulations:—

5. Up to 11 A.M., no special restrictions are necessary.

6. From 11 A.M. to 2 P.M., and again after the Royal Yachts have left, the course of vessels through the different columns of men-of-war is to be as follows:—

(a.) North of the central column and between it and the northern column, from west to east.

(b.) South of the central column and between it and the southern column, and thence through the lines of the German squadron, or to assigned anchorage, from east to west.

(c.) South of the southern column of the large ships composing the squadrons, and at about a cable's distance from them, from west to east.

(d.) Vessels on arriving at the eastern end of the southern line, must turn to starboard and proceed westward on a line southward and clear of the track they have just followed, passing southward of "Hecla."

7. After 2 P.M. (on a signal gun being fired from Her Majesty's ship "Collingwood"), no private steam vessel is to enter the inspection ground, and all sailing vessels and boats are to be clear of the lines by the same time.

8. The inspection ground is considered to be the space included by a line drawn round the men-of-war at anchor, the buoy (with red flag) N. by W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  W., nine cables from the N.E. Ryde Middle Buoy, and the German Squadron, at the distance of about two cables from the outermost ships.

The approaches to the inspection ground from Cowes, north of the Ryde Middle, and from the south-eastward as far as the line joining the Horse and Norman Forts, are also to be kept clear of vessels and boats, to enable the procession of Royal Yachts to pass.

9. The anchorage between the limits of lines drawn S.W. by S. from East and West Sturbridge Buoys will be reserved for steam vessels that are on the special Admiralty List. All other large merchant steam vessels are to anchor between the East Sturbridge Buoy and the Norman Fort, keeping within the limits shown on the plan of the Position of the Fleet published by the Admiralty, and to be had of all sellers of Admiralty Charts.

10. Small vessels must anchor upon or close to the Mother Bank, Ryde Middle, Horse and Dean Sands, or in Stokes Bay.

11. During the time of the Inspection of the Fleet, no steam vessel, sailing vessel or boat, will be permitted to cross the line of the ships of war, nor pass between the columns, nor to occupy any part of the fairway channel, between Cowes and the western limit of the fleet, nor of the main channel between Spithead and St. Helen's Road.

No vessel will be permitted to follow the procession of Royal Yachts.

12. Great caution must be observed by the smaller steam vessels and sailing craft entering the main channel to Portsmouth Harbour from the swashway.

13. When the Fleet are assembled previous to the inspection day, an opening will be left in the columns of the torpedo boats to permit local traffic to pass between Ryde and Southsea. The torpedo boats on either side of this opening will show every night two white lights, placed vertically, from sunset to 11 P.M.

The western boats in the torpedo boat columns will also exhibit similar lights to enable vessels to distinguish the extremity of the columns.

NOTE.—Nothing in this notice is to be construed as absolving vessels from closely observing the provisions of the "Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea."

By command of their Lordships,

W. J. L. Wharton, Hydrographer.
