THE Government of Bombay has given notice, that on 15th September, 1889, the following system of storm signals would be established at the undermentioned ports on the west coast of Hindustán :—

Ports to be Warned.

¶ Storm Signals.

The objects of the system of storm signals are :—

1st.—To warn shipping at the ports on the west coast of Hindustán, and more especially at Bombay and Karáchi, of the probable existence of cyclonic storms in the Arabian Sea, which they are likely to encounter if they leave for the Red Sea, &amp;c.

2nd.—To warn the port authorities and shipping of the probable or certain approach of a cyclonic storm to the port in question, in order that necessary precautions may be taken.

It should be distinctly understood that the storm signals will only be hoisted before and during cyclonic storms, and will not be used to indicate the prevalence of strong westerly winds, approaching in force to a gale, which occur occasionally during heavy bursts of the south-west monsoon, and are partly if not entirely dependent on conditions in the interior of India.

¶ The day signals are made by means of two canvas shapes, a cone and a drum.

The night signals are red lights.

Signal No. 1, or warning signal, a black drum.

This signal signifies that a storm is in existence in the Arabian Sea, which may either approach the port, or which may shortly cross one or other of the usual tracks of vessels leaving the port.

There is no night signal corresponding to this day signal.

Signal No. 2, a black cone apex down by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex down at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the southward. The shift of wind will depend on the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward, &c.).

Signal No. 3, a black cone apex by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex up at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the northward. The shift of wind will depend upon the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward).

Signal No. 4, a black drum over a black cone (apex down) by day, and four red lights placed in the form of a square at night.

This signal signifies that a heavy cyclone is approaching the port, and that the centre will pass over or very near the port; and hence that the shift of wind is likely to be sudden, and the force of the wind very great.

North Caister Buoy will be moved 2 cables N.N.E.

Caister Elbow Buoy will be moved 1 $\frac{1}{4}$  cables N. by W., and will be named Middle Caister. The present Middle Caister Buoy will be named Caister Elbow, and will mark an elbow which exists at this spot.
