WHEREAS by "The Marriage Act, 1890," and "The Foreign Marriage Act, 1891," the Consular Marriage Acts are amended, and as amended are made applicable to marriages in the houses of British Ambassadors or Ministers residing within the country to the government of which they are accredited, or before Governors, High Commissioners, Residents, Commanders of Ships, or Consular or other officers authorized in that behalf without or within Her Majesty's dominions, and by the same Acts Her Majesty the Queen is authorized by Order in Council to make regulations for the purposes therein specified;

And whereas by "The Consular Salaries and Fees Act, 1891," Her Majesty the Queen is authorized by Order in Council to fix the fees to be taken in respect of any matter or thing done by a Consular Officer in the execution of his office.

3. For the purpose of marriages solemnized in pursuance of section two of "The Marriage Act, 1890," the house in which a British Ambassador resides in the foreign country to the government of which he is accredited, or which is occupied by him in that country for the purposes of his embassy, shall be deemed to be the house of such Ambassador, and is in this Order referred to as the embassy house, and every place within the precincts or curtilage of any such house, and any church or chapel annexed to such house, or for the time being used with the consent of the Government to which the Ambassador is accredited as the chapel thereof, shall be deemed to form part of the embassy house.

4. For the purpose of marriages in an embassy house in a foreign country in pursuance of section two of "The Marriage Act, 1890," expressions in the Consular Marriage Acts shall be construed as follows:

- (a.) that both the parties are British subjects ; or
- (b.) if only one of the parties is a British subject, that the other is not a subject or citizen of the country, or
- (c.) if one of the parties is a British subject and the other a subject or citizen of the country, that sufficient facilities do not exist for the solemnization of the marriage in the foreign country in accordance with the law of that country.

(2.) If a Consul, by reason of anything in this article, refuses to solemnize or allow to be solemnized in his presence the marriage of any person requiring such marriage to be solemnized, that person shall have the right of appeal to a Secretary of State given by section seven of the Consular Marriage Act, 1849.

7. In the case of any marriage under the Foreign Marriage Acts, if it appears to the officer by or before whom the marriage is to be solemnized and registered that the woman about to be married is a British subject, and that the man is an alien, he must be satisfied that the marriage will be recognized by the law of the foreign country to which the alien belongs

8. The following modifications of the requirements of the Foreign Marriage Acts as to residence and notice which appear to Her Majesty to be consistent with the observance of due precautions against the solemnization of clandestine marriages, shall have effect in the following class of cases, that is to say, where one only of the parties has dwelt within the district of the Ambassador or Consul :—

- (1.) A marriage may be solemnized under the said Acts in the embassy house or consulate of an Ambassador or Consul in whose district one of the parties has dwelt—

(b.) if a Secretary of State is satisfied that such adequate notice has been given as will prevent the marriage being clandestine, and gives permission for the same to be solemnized.

- (2.) In either case the oath, affirmation or declaration under section three of the Foreign Marriage Act, 1891, shall, in addition to the matters specified in sub-sections (a) and (c) of that section, state that one of the parties has for three weeks immediately preceding had his usual place of abode within the district of the Ambassador or Consul, and further state the place where the party who has not dwelt within that district has within three months immediately preceding had for three consecutive weeks his usual place of abode, and the notice which has been given in that place during those three weeks.

- (3.) The notice to be given where the marriage is not solemnized with the permission of a Secretary of State shall, if the party has dwelt in a foreign country, be given, entered, and suspended in the manner and during the period provided by the Foreign Marriage Acts, in like manner as if the marriage were to be solemnized in a consulate in that country, and the Consul shall, on payment of the proper fee, give a certificate that the notice has been so given and suspended, and that he is unaware of any impediment which should obstruct the solemnization of the marriage.

- (4.) If the party dwells in a place in the United Kingdom, the notice shall be given in the like manner and on payment of the like fee as if that party were about to be married in that place, and in England or Ireland shall be given to the superintendent registrar or registrar, and in Scotland shall be given by proclamation of banns, and the superintendent registrar or registrar shall deal with the notice and give a certificate for marriage in like manner, and on payment of the like fee, as in the case of a marriage in his district, and the session clerk of the parish in which the banns were proclaimed in Scotland shall in like manner and on payment of the like fee, as in the case of a marriage in his district, give a certificate of proclamation of such banns.

or in pursuance of section three of "The Marriage Act, 1890," authorizes any high commissioner, resident, or other officer outside Her Majesty's dominions, not being a consul as defined by this Order to solemnize and register marriages, then for the purpose of marriages solemnized and registered by or before any high commissioner, resident, or officer, or person so authorized expressions in the Consular Marriage Acts shall be construed as follows :

- (2.) Expressions referring to the consular seal shall refer to the seal ordinarily used by the commanding officer if the latter seal is authenticated by his signature with the addition of his official description.
- (3.) The commanding officer, before he solemnizes a marriage, shall be satisfied that at the port or place where the marriage is solemnized sufficient facilities do not exist for the solemnization of the marriage on land, either in accordance with the local law of the country or in accordance with the Foreign Marriage Acts.
- (4.) The requirements of the Foreign Marriage Acts as to residence and notice shall be modified as follows, namely, not less than three weeks'

notice of the intended marriage must have been given in such public manner, or to such relatives or friends of the parties, as satisfies the commanding officer that as much notice of the intended marriage has been given as would be given if the marriage took place in England, and that the marriage is not clandestine.

2. The  $2\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms rock (Vestre Lamholmboe) heretofore shown as lying about half a cable W.S.W. from Lam Islet, and eastward of the track leading to Farsund, is found to lie with Lam Islet bearing E. by N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  N., distant  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cables, or close southward of the fairway of the channel.
