Board of Trade (Harbour Department), London, July 30, 1892.

THE Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of the following Notices issued by the Austro-Hungarian Government, respecting precautions against cholera :—

As regards warding off the danger of infection coming in by land, the Ministry of Commerce have hitherto confined themselves to ordering the administrations of those railways which come into consideration owing to their lines joining with those of Russia (i.e., the Imperial State Railways and the Kaiser Ferdinand's Nordbahr), to place the different localities in such a position as to enable the proper sanitary measures to be applied to travellers, and to supply and judiciously distribute the necessary stores of disinfecting apparatus and disinfecting substances. These administrations, and the postal authorities, were enjoined to assist as much possible in the prophylactic measures to be taken by the political authorities by order of the Imperial Ministry for the Interior.

In addition, negotiations have been begun by request of the Imperial Ministry of the Interior with the Imperial Finance Ministry and the Hungarian Ministry of Commerce, for the promulgation of a prohibition to import rags, linen that has been used on the person or in beds, &c., from Russia, similar to the one which already exists as regards imports from Asia.

This document is a reprint of an article in the weekly periodical called Das Oesterreichische Sanitatswesen, containing a Decree issued by the Austrian Minister of the Interior to the political authorities. It applies almost wholly to Galicia
