THE ADMINISTRATIVE COUNTY OF LONDON.

BY-LAWS—OVERHEAD WIRES.

BY-LAWS made by the London County Council in pursuance of the London Overhead Wires Act, 1891.

[N.B.—The Act (see section 18) does not extend to any wire placed by any person for his private use over land belonging to him or in his occupation, which does not extend over any street, and is so constructed and placed that neither the wire nor any support thereof, or attachment thereto, would be liable to fall into any public street.]

In these By-laws—

The expression "the Act" means "The London Overhead Wires Act, 1891."

The expression "wire" has the same meaning as in the Act, except that it does not include any support or attachment.

The expression "cable" means any covered or insulated wire, of which the diameter to the outside of the covering exceeds twice the diameter of the bare wire, and where more wires than one are enclosed in the same covering or insulation, includes all such wires and covering, without reference to diameter.

General.

1. The Company shall deliver to the Council and the Local Authority full particulars of the material and gauge of the wires of the Company, and the nature and position of the several supports, and the length of span between the several supports. The Company shall also deliver to the Council a plan, on a scale of not less than 25 inches to the mile, showing the routes of such wires, and the position of the supports, or, at their option, shall cause the routes of such wires and the position of the supports to be marked upon a map, to be supplied for the purpose, at the office of the Council.

Existing Wires.

2. In the case of wires or supports existing at the date of the approval of these By-laws, the Company shall comply with requirements of By-law 1 within six months after that date.

New Wires.

3. In the case of new wires or supports placed after the date of the approval of these By-laws, the Company shall comply with the requirements of By-law 1 within one month after the placing thereof.

4. A wire shall not be placed so as at any point to be at a less height above the ground than 20 feet, or where it crosses a street 35 feet, or at a less height above the roof of any building than 6 feet, except where it is brought into any building for use in that building, or is attached to a chimney or other part of a building in accordance with these By-laws.

5. Every wire shall be supported at intervals not exceeding 115 yards unless permission in writing be obtained from the Council and the Local Authority for a longer span.

6. Every support for a wire shall be of durable material, and properly stayed against forces due to wind pressure, change of direction of the wires, and unequal length of span; and all independent conductors and suspending wires shall be securely attached to the supports.

7. The factor of safety for all stresses arising from the weight of conductors and suspending wires shall be at least four at a temperature of 22° F. The factor of safety for all other parts of the structures shall be at least ten, taking the maximum possible wind pressure against a support acting in a horizontal direction at 30 lbs. per square foot. No addition need be made for a possible accumulation of snow.

8. Every support for a wire shall be marked in such manner, to be approved in the case of each Company by the Council, as to identify the Company to whom it belongs.

9. Where a support is used for the wires of more than one Company, the Company owning the support shall be responsible for the support and the attachment of the wires thereto.

10. No cable shall exceed one pound per lineal foot in weight; and every cable shall be carried by independent suspending wires, and attached to the same by efficient slings.

11. Every iron or steel wire, and every iron or steel support or attachment, shall be efficiently protected from oxydation.

12. All poles erected on buildings as supports for wires, unless fixed through the roof, shall be carried on shoes or saddles properly protected from oxydation, and shall be efficiently stayed, so that in the event of a pole breaking it shall be impossible for it to fall into any street.

13. Every wire attached to a chimney, wall, or other part of a building, shall be efficiently supported by angle plates of iron or bronze or other device approved by the Local Authority.

14. Every wire support and attachment shall be duly and efficiently supervised and maintained by the Company.

15. No wire support or attachment shall be in such a condition that danger to the public using the streets may be apprehended therefrom, and the Company to whom any wire, support, or attachment being in such condition belongs, shall be guilty of an offence against these By-laws.

16. No wire support or attachment shall remain erected after it has ceased to be in use unless the Company intend within a reasonable time to take it again into use, and give notice of such intention to the Council and the Local Authority.

17. On reasonable notice being given by the Council or the Local Authority to the Company, access at all reasonable times for the purpose of inspection of the Company's wires, supports, and attachments shall be given or secured by the Company to the Inspectors of the Council and the Local Authority.

Penalties.

18. Any Company or person failing to comply with any of these By-laws, or of the provisions of "The London Overhead Wires Act, 1891," or delivering any particulars which to their or his knowledge are incorrect, shall be guilty of an offence against these By-laws, and shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such offence is continued after conviction thereof.
