IN exercise of the powers vested in me by section 44 of the Burials Act, 1852, as extended

No. 26398.

and applied by section 7 of the Burials Act, 1853, I, the Right Honourable Herbert H. Asquith, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, do hereby make the following regulations with respect to interments in the Cemetery at Romsey:—

I. The burial ground shall be effectually fenced, and, if necessary, underdrained to such a depth as will prevent water remaining in any grave or vault.

II. The area to be used for graves shall be divided in grave spaces, to be designated by convenient marks, so that the position of each may be readily determined, and a corresponding plan kept on which each grave space shall be shown.

III. The grave spaces for the burial of persons above twelve years of age shall be at least 9 feet by 4 feet, and those for the burial of children under twelve years of age, 6 feet by 3 feet, or, if preferred, half the measurement of the adult grave space, namely, 4½ feet by 4 feet.

IV. A register of graves shall be kept, in which the name, age, and date of burial in each shall be duly registered.

V. No body shall be buried in any vault or walled grave unless the coffin be separately entombed in an air-tight manner; that is by properly cemented stone or brick work, which shall never be disturbed.

VI. One body only shall be buried in an unwallied grave at one time, unless the bodies be those of members of the same family.

VII. No unwallied grave shall be re-opened within fourteen years after the burial of a person above twelve years of age, or within eight years after the burial of a child under twelve years of age, unless to bury another member of the same family; in which case a layer of earth not less than one foot thick shall be left undisturbed above the previously buried coffin; but if, on re-opening any grave, the soil be found to be offensive, such soil shall not be disturbed, and in no case shall human remains be removed from the grave.

VIII. No coffin shall be buried in any unwallied grave within four feet of the ordinary level of the ground, unless it contains the body of a child under twelve years, when it shall not be less than three feet below that level.

Given under my hand at Whitehall, this 2nd day of May, 1893.
