THE following information, concerning certain shoals &c. in the inner channels of British

The bar between White Bluff and Sandy Island, on the east side of the sound, is marked by two black spar buoys placed on the north-west side of the channel, not on the south-east side as heretofore shown.

5. A reef extending about 5 cables in a W.N.W. and E.S.E. direction, with a breadth of 2½ cables, the boulders on which dry at low water, has been reported to exist on the east side of the Strait of Georgia, with the south-east extreme of Savary Island bearing about N. 5° E., distant 3 miles.
