PROCLAMATION by his Excellency Sir Henry Brougham Loch, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's Colony of the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa, and of the Territories and Dependencies thereof, and Her Majesty's High Commissioner for South Africa, &c., &c., &c.

Whereas by my Proclamation No. 169, dated the 8th day of May, 1893, I did under and by virtue of the provisions of section 2 of Act No. 20 of 1868, entitled the "Cattle Diseases Act of 1868," prohibit the landing at any port or place in this Colony from any ship, vessel, or boat of any dog from any place or places beyond this Colony;

And whereas by Act No. 27 of 1893, entitled the "Animals Diseases Act, 1893," it is enacted that it shall be lawful for the Governor, by Proclamation in the Gazette, to prohibit the importation or introduction into this Colony from any place beyond the same in which any infectious or contagious disease affecting animals shall be known or be supposed to be prevalent, of any such animals as in such Proclamation shall be mentioned, or otherwise to permit such landing subject to such restrictions and regulations as may in such Proclamation be imposed;

And whereas the disease known as rabies is reported to be prevalent amongst dogs in the United Kingdom and elsewhere;

Now, therefore, I do hereby proclaim, declare, and make known that under and by virtue of the powers vested in me by the said Act 27 of 1893, the landing at any port or place in this Colony from any ship, vessel, or boat, of any dogs from any place or places beyond this Colony, shall after the date of this Proclamation be prohibited: provided nevertheless that such dogs as may on arrival at the port or harbour at Cape Town in this Colony be found to be free from all symptoms of the disease known as rabies, may, after undergoing a period of three months' quarantine at the Government Quarantine Station on Robben Island, subject to such restrictions and regulations as are set forth in the schedule hereto, be permitted to be transferred to the mainland.

Proclamation No. 169, dated 8th day of May, 1893, is hereby repealed.

*Board of Trade (Harbour Department),

THE Board of Trade have received, through the Foreign Office, a Despatch from Her Majesty's Representative at St. Petersburg, enclosing the following Quarantine Regulations, issued by the Russian Government respecting the establishment of rules for the adoption of precautionary measures against the introduction of epidemic diseases across the maritime boundaries of Russia.

By Section 5 of the Regulations confirmed by His Majesty on the 26th April (8th May), 1893, for the adoption of precautionary measures against the introduction of epidemic diseases across the maritime boundaries of the Empire, the Minister of the Interior is empowered to issue, within the scope of those regulations, rules of obligatory force for all branches of the service, institutions, and persons.

In fulfilment of such Imperial Ordinance the Minister of the Interior confirmed on the 3rd (15th) day of July, 1893, the following: (1) Instructions for the disinfection of goods imported at frontier medico-inspection stations and Maritime Quarantine Establishments; (2) Instructions for Maritime Quarantine Establishments; (3) Rules for the guidance of shipowners and masters of seagoing passenger vessels plying between internal ports; (4) Instructions for ships' surgeons on board seagoing passenger vessels plying between internal ports.

The Minister of the Interior forwarded on the 10th (22nd) July, 1893, copies of these Regulations to the Ruling Senate for promulgation.

Regulations for the Disinfection of Goods imported at Frontier Medico-Inspection Stations and Quarantine Establishments.

1. Goods arriving from places declared by the Minister of the Interior as being infected by cholera may be imported, but are subjected to disinfection if the wrapping or exterior surface of such goods bears evident traces of being defiled by human or animal excreta, or if there be reason to suppose that these goods have been in immediate contact with persons suffering from infectious diseases. (Section 15 of the Regulation confirmed by His Imperial Majesty on the 24th March, 1893.)

2: All goods arriving from places free from cholera, but passing in transit through localities declared by the Minister of the Interior to be infected with cholera, are allowed free importation if there be no sufficient grounds for suspecting that they could, en route, have come in contact with infectious diseases; in the contrary cases they are treated as goods that have arrived from cholera-infected places.

3. In the cases enumerated in the above paragraphs the wrapping or exterior layer of goods shall be subjected to disinfection, damage to them being at the same time as far as possible avoided.

4. Wearing apparel, linen, bedding, carpets, pillow and feather cases, blankets, and other articles forming the personal belongings of passengers, or of a caravan when passing the frontier, shall be disinfected in the following cases:—

(a.) When the owner of such belongings shall be found, on medical inspection, to be suffering from cholera or an attack resembling cholera; and

(b.) If these articles shall have on the way or at the point of departure been polluted by the evacuations of persons suffering from cholera.

5. In carrying out the process of disinfection and preparing disinfecting solutions the Medical Officers in charge of the medico-inspection stations and marine quarantines shall follow the instructions drawn up by the Medical Council for disinfecting habitations, clothing, soft articles, and discharges of cholera-sick.

6. In accordance with the above instructions, medico-inspection stations and quarantines must be supplied sufficiently, and some time beforehand, with means of disinfection.

3-15 July, 1893.

(Confirmed) DURNOVO,
Secretary of State,
Minister of the Interior.

Instructions to Marine Quarantine Establishments.

1. At every Marine Quarantine Establishment Medical Officers shall always be on duty in turn.

2. The duties of Medical Officers shall consist:—

(a.) In verbal examination of passengers and crew and in the inspection of vessels arriving in port;

(b.) In issuing bills of health to vessels;

(c.) In the immediate supervision and direction of a systematic purification of vessels and disinfection of their berths, goods, and luggage.

(d.) In rendering medical aid to sick or suspected occupants of a quarantine lazarette or reception quarters; and

(e.) In the sanitary inspection, when necessary, of vessels and passengers leaving the port (section 20 of the Regulations confirmed by His Imperial Majesty).

3. The object of a sanitary oral examination of the master or captain of a vessel is to ascertain the sanitary state of a vessel.

4. All information obtained at such examination, as also all the sanitary measures to which a vessel may be subjected, are to be recorded on an examination paper.

5. A bill of health is issued by the medical officer on duty, bearing his signature and seal of the quarantine establishment.

6. Vessels arriving with unclean bills of health, or coming under one of the conditions mentioned in section 17 of the Regulations confirmed by His Imperial Majesty, for preventing the spread of epidemic diseases across the maritime boundaries of the Empire, shall, besides oral examination, be subjected to an inspection of their berths, crews, and passengers.

7. To the conditions which shall serve for recognizing the sanitary condition of a vessel as being bad belong:—

(1.) Crowding of passengers.

(2.) The accumulation in the berths, &c., of a vessel, of dirty rags and unwashed bed and body linen, animal refuse, and various rubbish.

(3.) Unsatisfactory condition of stored water, and the absence, during the prevalence of Asiatic cholera, of means for supplying passengers and crew with boiled water.

8. Vessels, the sanitary condition of which shall be recognized as bad, shall receive free pratique when they shall, with the means at their disposal, have made good the sanitary defects observed by the Medical Officer; at the same time passengers free from sickness and their luggage shall be allowed to land.

Observation.—The hold of a vessel shall be purified in the following manner:—a fire hose shall be attached to the driving pump and lowered into the hold; a full stream of sea water is ejected on every part which it is necessary to cleanse, and the process of cleansing shall only cease when the water pumped out shall be the same as that pumped in.

In case of well-founded suspicion of the infection of the hold of a vessel by persons suffering from cholera or by their evacuations the hold shall be disinfected.

9. Passenger vessels plying between internal ports and provided with a doctor, shall be freed from oral examination and inspection on the production of a certificate of the ship's doctor testifying the satisfactory condition of the vessel in sanitary respects.

10. The oral examination of and inspection of vessels plying between internal ports may be intrusted to an official belonging either to a Quarantine or Customs Establishment.

11. Only such passengers shall be liable to examination who shall excite suspicion by reason of the locality they may have arrived from, or who shall themselves declare their illness, or who shall be pointed out by other passengers as suffering from ill-health.

12. In the event of the discovery on board a vessel of persons suffering from Asiatic cholera, the berths occupied by such persons, their luggage, and the things with which they may have come in contact, shall be disinfected, as also all other places on board which, in the opinion of the medical officer, may have become infected.

13. When having recourse to the process of disinfection marine quarantine establishments shall be guided by the instructions for disinfection against Asiatic cholera, published in the Official Gazette, No. 85, of 1893, and free pratique shall be given to vessels immediately after the process of disinfection shall have been carried out, without waiting for the complete drying and airing of the parts of the vessel subjected to disinfection.

14. If a vessel arriving from a place infected with Asiatic cholera shall have on board goods prohibited to be imported under the list annually published by the Minister of the Interior, such goods shall not be allowed to be discharged from the vessel. At the same time, however, the vessel may load other merchandise under the supervision of the quarantine authorities, and with the observance of the precautions prescribed by the latter.

15. Seagoing vessels not wishing to be subjected to measures of purification and disinfection recognized as necessary by the quarantine authorities, preserve their right of putting to sea. The landing of passengers from such vessels may be permitted, but the former shall be subjected to medical inspection, and in case of their displaying symptoms of cholera, or that of any kindred complaint, they shall be placed in a local cholera lazarette, and their effects shall be disinfected.

16. Persons suffering from infectious diseases (paragraph 5 of the Regulations imperially confirmed) or suspected of the same, and removed from a vessel by the local police, shall be transferred to the inspection wards of local hospitals, and shall only be left in the reception rooms of a quarantine establishment when, owing to their serious state, they cannot be so removed.

(Signed) DURNOVO,

Minister of the Interior and
3-15 July, 1893. Secretary of State.

Respecting the duties of Ship Owners and Masters of seagoing passenger vessels plying between interior ports.

1. Medical men selected by owners of seagoing passenger vessels or steamship companies (section 23 of the Regulations imperially confirmed on the 26th April, 1893) shall present themselves at the places of registration of vessels to the Governor or Prefect for the confirmation by the latter of their appointments, and they shall be at liberty to join their vessels after their interviews with the above authorities.

2. The master of a vessel shall carry out all the directions of the ship's doctor in regard to the sanitary condition of the vessel and its passengers.

3. No crowding of passengers shall be allowed on board passenger steamers, i.e., no greater number of passengers shall be received on board than that determined by the number of berths in the cabins and on deck by its square superficies, reckoning nine square feet to each passenger. Inscriptions of the normal number of passengers which a vessel may carry shall be made on conspicuous parts of a ship.

4. Passenger cabins must be heated during cold weather. Accommodation on deck must be protected against cold and bad weather by special tarpaulins or tentings.

5. Boiled and cooled drinking water for passengers must be stored in sufficient quantity during a prevalence of cholera in clean and well-closed vessels.

6. During a prevalence of cholera every seagoing passenger vessel shall have cabins set apart for the accommodation therein of persons attacked by cholera or complaints resembling it, such quarters for men and women being apart. Each such cabin shall contain not less than two berths, and these shall not be one above the other; special receptacles for the evacuations of the sick shall be provided filled to the extent of one third of their capacity with a disinfecting liquid: these sick quarters shall be kept in a clean condition, the presence of any other articles therein than those necessary for the treatment of the patients not being permitted. The linen, clothing, bedding, and other articles soiled by the evacuations of the sick must, before being washed, be disinfected by current steam or steeped in contagion-destroying liquids.

7. Persons attacked by cholera on a voyage shall be taken to the nearest port provided with wards for contagious diseases, in which they shall be immediately placed, and the cabin that had been occupied by the sick person must be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected.

8. All seagoing vessels shall during the prevalence of cholera, be provided with a separate, completely isolated, easily cleansed and disinfected mortuary chamber for placing therein those who have died of cholera on board during a voyage.

July 3, 1893.

(Signed) DURNOVO,
Minister and Secretary of State.

(b.) He shall see that the quarters occupied by passengers and crew are kept in a state of cleanliness.

(c.) He shall give directions to the master of a vessel as to the best means to be employed for the removal of rubbish and impurities from the same, and also as to the cleaning of the water-closets.

(d.) He shall observe that the provisions supplied on board are of good quality.

(e.) He shall see that the supply of drinking water is of good quality.

(f.) He shall attend the sick and adopt all necessary measures for the isolation of infectious cases and for disinfection.

(g.) He shall examine the passengers arriving and observe that no persons be admitted on board the vessel who may be suffering from one of the infectious diseases specified in section 5 of the Regulations confirmed by His Majesty.

(h.) Should a master of a vessel not carry out the directions of a ship's doctor in a matter relating to the sanitary condition of a vessel, the latter must report such disregard of directions to the owner of the vessel, or to the Company to which it may belong, reporting at the same time the circumstance to the proper Governor or Prefect.
