OFFICIAL VOCABULARY FOR CODE TELEGRAMS.

THE International Telegraph Office at Berne will shortly issue an official vocabulary, or book of code words, to be used for telegrams in code, or preconcerted language.

The vocabulary has been prepared in conformity with the decision of the International Telegraph Conference, held at Paris in 1890, and is intended to facilitate the transmission of International code telegrams.

The employment of words taken from this vocabulary will become obligatory for European code telegrams after the expiration of three years from the date of its publication; and its general adoption for the extra-European, as well as the European, régime is desirable.

The vocabulary will contain about 200,000 words, arranged in alphabetical order, drawn from the eight languages authorized for code telegrams by the International Telegraph Convention. The numbering of the words, as at present proposed, will be as follows:—the thousands will appear in large figures at the head of the page, and the hundreds, tens, and units in smaller figures to the left of each word.

The price per copy will be about ten shillings.

The books will be supplied in England through the General Post Office.

The International Telegraph Office being desirous of ascertaining the number of copies which are likely to be required, intending subscribers are requested to forward their applications before the end of January, to the Secretary, General Post Office, London, E.C.
