Rome, July 14.

At last we have got a new Pope; The Honour of which is very much owing to the Cardinals Casimiri and Guidici; who finding the Difficulties that lay in the way of Barberigo, Acciajoli, Conti, and Marescotti, were not to be overcome, began underhand to endeavor the Promotion of Cardinal Antonio Pignatelli, Archbishop of Naples, which they managed with that Address, that when the French spoke of it to Guidici, he seem'd very cool in the Matter, as if he thought it could not succeed, for that Pignatelli would be very unacceptable to the Spaniards, on account of the Differences that formerly happened between him and the Viceroy of Naples: This had the Effect he proposed, and made the French, together with the Party of Alcieri and Orsiboni more zealous for him. The Spaniards seeing the French engaged, concurred with all their Voices, as did likewise most of the Zealots, and the Party of Chigi, so that at the Scrutiny on Thursday the 12th instant in the Morning, of the 61 Voices that composed the Conclave, 55 were given for Cardinal Pignatelli; who being accordingly chosen Pope, the same was soon after declared to the People; The Cardinals and Foreign Ambassadors have made their Compliments and Submissions according to Custom, and to morrow will be performed the Ceremony of his Coronation. He is a Neapolitan, aged 76 Years, and 4 Months, was Created Cardinal in the year 1631, by Innocent XI., in Consideration whereof he has taken that Name: He possessed great Dignities in the Kingdom of Naples; has a Brother who is Grandee of Spain, and a Cousin that is Maître de Camp General in Catalonia; He has chosen Cardinal Spada to be Secretary of State, Cardinal Panciatichi for Datary, and Cardinal Abasi for Secretary of the Chiphres; And has declared, that he will maintain the Decrees of his Predecessors for the Abolishing of Nepotism. This Election has been Solemnized here with the usual Demonstrations of Joy.

Turin, July 17. The State of Affairs in these parts is very much changed. The Raising of the Siege of Coni has gained great Reputation to his Royal Highness's Arms, and very much dejected the French, who will be put upon Acting on the Defensive so soon as the German Succours arrive, of which the Regiments of Foot of Mersbourg and Stadel, are in 2 or 3 days expected in our Camp, and the Bavarian Regiment of Strimm, that of Horse of Bareyth, and the Dragoons of Savo are arrived near Cono. The Duchess of Savo is on her return hither from Vercell.

Vienna, July 19. Prince Louis of Baden arrived the 15th instant in the Imperial Camp near Mohatz, and the next day the Army marched towards Esseeke, having advice, that a Body of Turks, (who at first were reported to be 40000, but as we hear since, are nothing near that number) had passed the Savo, and encamped at Salankement: The last Week 20 pieces of great Cannon for Battery, with divers Mortars, and a vast quantity of Bombs and Ammunition, were sent from hence down the River, towards Buda, where they are to expect Prince Louis's Orders. Great Waradin is again blockt up; and they talk of attacking Temsvar. General Dunewalt parted from hence on the 20th for Hungary, to Command a separate Body of German and Hungarian Troops upon the River Tayffe; and the Duke of Croy is gone to Command in Croatia. They write from Esseeke of the 12th, that the Party designed to Attack Pessiga, was come back without attempting it, not having had Provisions sufficient for so long a march; but that the Rascians had in a late Excursion taken 70 Turkish Prisoners, with two Ensigns, and good Store of Booty. General Veterani, who Commands in Transylvania, has given an account to the Council of War here, that he had received advice of the Grand Signiors Death at Adrianople of a Dropick, and that the Son of the late Sulran Mahomet was likely to succeed him, but we wait for the Confirmation of this News. A Courier is arrived here from Moscovy, to acquaint this Court that 100000 Russians are actually marched against the Crim

Tartars, and are to be joined by 60000 Cossacks, which will make a powerful Diversion, and recal all the Tartars from our Borders. Yesterday Morning arrived here an Express from Rome, with an account of the Election of Cardinal Antonio Pignatelli, a Neapolitan, and Archbishop of Naples, to be Pope, who has taken the Name of Innocent the XII. The Promotion of one who has been always in the Interests of Spain and the House of Austria, does not a little rejoice this Court, and is doubtless a great disappointment to France.

From the Elector of Saxony's Camp near Oberheim, July 27. Count Palfi, who was sent out some days ago with 300 Horse to observe the Enemy, returned yesterday with an account, That they had abandoned Neustadt; and that the Marschal de Lorge is encamped between Landslud and Philipsburg. Several of the Inhabitants of Neustadt are since come into our Camp, and confirm the same, telling us farther, That the Marschal de Lorge expected a Reinforcement from the Moselle, but had yet received but 700 Men; That his Army was weak, and in no condition to make head against the Confederates, so that he would be still forced to retire as we advanced. We are now making another Bridge over the Rhine near Munheim, and are raising several Works to secure it; His Electoral Highness has likewise given Orders for the Fortifying of Munheim.

Cologne, July 31. The Letters from the Palatinate of the 28th instant, tell us, that the Elector of Saxony march'd the same day from Oberheim, and advanced towards Landslud; that the French Army lay between Landslud and Germerheim, being covered by the River Quich, but that they would hardly be able to maintain that Post upon the approach of the Confederates. They write from Esseeke of the 15th, that the Turks had repaired the Savo upon Advice that Count Guido of Staremberg was advancing that way with a Body of German Troops; that the Imperial Army, being reinforced by the Auxiliary Forces of Brandenburgh, was on its march from Mohatz towards the Drave; and that a Spy was come from Belgrade to Esseeke, who Reported, That the Grand Signior was Dead, and that this had caused a great disorder among the Turks.

Paris, July 28. On the 25th instant the Dauphin entered into the Council for the first time. The Sieur de Pomponne, who was divers years ago put out of the place of Secretary of State, is recalled to Court, and made Minister of State; as is likewise the Duke of Beauvilliers. The Sieur de Barillon, who was formerly Ambassador in England, is dead lately after a long Sickness. We are told from Marseilles, That the French Squadron Commanded by the Count d'Essee, has been before Barcelona, and Bombaraded that place, having shot above 700 Bombs into the Town, and that they threaten the like to Ivica and Alicant. From Spain we have an account, That several Genouese Merchants have been Imprisoned at Madrid, Cadix, and Alicant, for bringing French Merchandises into Spain, contrary to the King's Declarations. By an extraordinary Courier we have advice, That Cardinal Pignatelli, Archbishop of Naples, was on the 12th instant chosen Pope, and that he has taken the Name of Innocent XII.

Brussels, August 1. The two Armies continue very near each other, and almost in the same Stations mentioned in our last, except that the French are retired a little from Florennes, and have posted themselves behind Philippville; The King does all he can in order to advance towards them, having caused the Woods to be cut down, the Ways to be plained, and several hollow Grounds to be filled up. The Enemy begin to suffer through the scarcity of Provisions, a Loaf of Bread that's worth but 3 Sols, being Sold in their Camp for 15 and 20 Sols. It is impossible that these great Armies can long subsist in so narrow a compass of Ground, as is this where they are now between the Sambre and the Meuse; and it will be very difficult for them to part without a Battle. Our Governor General marched the 27th past with the Troops that were encamped at Heuer, on the Canal near this City, and advanced towards Hamme on the Denare, where he was yesterday expecting the Detachements that are drawn from our Garisons
