EXPLOSIVES IN COAL MINES ORDER OF THE 20TH DECEMBER, 1897.

ORDER MADE BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE HOME DEPARTMENT UNDER SECTION 6 OF THE COAL MINES REGULATION ACT, 1896.

WHEREAS by section 6 of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1896, it is enacted that a Secretary of State, on being satisfied that any explosive is, or is likely to become, dangerous, may by Order prohibit the use thereof in any mine or in any class of mines either absolutely or subject to conditions.

I hereby, in pursuance of the power conferred on me by the aforesaid section, make the following Order:—

Absolute prohibition of certain Explosives in unsafe Mines.

1.—(1.) In all coal mines in which inflammable gas has been found within the previous three months in such quantity as to be indicative of danger, the use of any explosive, other than a permitted explosive, as hereinafter defined, is absolutely prohibited in the seam or seams in which the gas has been found.

(2.) In all coal mines which are not naturally wet throughout, the use of any explosive, other than a permitted explosive, as hereinafter defined, is absolutely prohibited in all roads, and in every dry and dusty part of the mine.

Conditional prohibition of other Explosives in unsafe Mines.

2. In all such coal mines or parts thereof as aforesaid, the use of permitted explosives is prohibited unless the following conditions are observed:—

(a.) Every charge of the explosive shall be placed in a properly drilled shot hole and shall have sufficient stemming:

(b.) Every charge shall be fired by an efficient electrical apparatus, or by some other means equally secure against the ignition of inflammable gas or coal dust:

(c.) Every charge shall be fired by a competent person appointed in writing for this duty by the owner, agent, or manager of the mine, and not being a person whose wages depend on the amount of mineral to be gotten:

(d.) Each explosive shall be used in the manner and subject to the conditions prescribed in the Schedule hereto:

Provided that nothing in this Order shall prohibit the use of a safety fuse in any mine in which inflammable gas has not been found within the previous three months in such quantity as to be indicative of danger.

Conditional prohibition of all Explosives in Main Roads.

3. In every coal mine the use of any explosive is prohibited in the main haulage roads and in the intakes unless all workmen have been removed from the seam in which the shot is to be fired, and from all seams communicating with the shaft on the same level, except the men engaged in firing the shot, and in addition such other persons, not exceeding ten in number, as are necessarily employed in attending to the ventilating furnaces, steam boilers, engines, machinery, winding apparatus, signals, or horses, or in inspecting the mine; or unless a permitted explosive is used, and every part of the roof, floor, and sides of the main haulage road or intake, within a distance of 20 yards from the place where it is used, is, at the time of firing, thoroughly wet, either naturally or from the application of water thereto.

This section shall not apply to such portions of the main haulage roads and intakes as are within 100 yards of the coal face.

This section shall not authorize the use of any explosive in any case where the use of such explosive is prohibited by Section 1 or 2 of this Order.

Application of Order.

4. This Order shall not apply to mines of clay, or stratified or nodular ironstone, nor shall it apply to shafts in course of being sunk from the surface, or deepened, or to drifts and other outlets being driven from the surface, if such shafts, drifts, or outlets are not ventilated by return air.

Where a mine contains several separate seams this Order shall apply to each seam as if it were a separate mine.

Definitions.

5. In this Order the term "permitted explosives" means such explosives as are named and defined in the Schedule hereto: provided that where the composition, quality or character of any explosive is defined in such Schedule, any article alleged to be such explosive which differs therefrom in composition, quality, or character, whether by reason of deterioration or otherwise, shall not be deemed to be the explosives so defined: provided further that an owner, agent, or manager shall not be responsible for the composition, quality, or character of an explosive, if he shows that he has in good faith obtained a written certificate from the maker of the explosive that it complies with the terms of the Schedule, and that he has taken all reasonable means to prevent deterioration of the explosive while stored.

The term "road" includes all roads of any description extending from the shaft or outlet to within 10 yards of the coal face.

The term "main haulage road" means a road which has been, or for the time being is, in use for moving trams by gravity or by steam or other mechanical power.

Commencement.

6. This Order shall come into force on the first day of January, 1898.

Revocation of former Order.

7. The Explosives in Coal Mines Order, 1897, is hereby revoked.

Citation.

8. This Order may be cited as the Explosives in Coal Mines Order of the 20th December, 1897.

M. W. Ridley,

One of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Unsuccessful Search for Diana Shoal.

INFORMATION has been received from Captain A. Mostyn-Field, Her Majesty's Surveying Vessel "Penguin," that, in August, 1897, he sounded over an area embracing 80 miles in longitude and nearly 40 miles in latitude, in the vicinity of Diana Shoal, originally reported in 1852 as having a depth of 6 feet on it, and as being situated in lat.  $8^{\circ} 40' N.$ , long.  $157^{\circ} 20' W.$

The "Penguin" spent 5 days in the search, obtaining soundings of from 2,560 to 2,946 fathoms at distances of 7 to 10 miles apart, and observing no indication of a shoal in any part of the locality.

In view of the above, and the fact that schooners have plied for many years between Honolulu and Fanning Island over the position of the shoal, and that it has not been seen since the first vague report, Diana Shoal has been expunged from the Admiralty Charts.
