Board of Trade (Fisheries and Harbour

Department, London, February 21, 1899.

THE Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch from Her Majesty's Representative at Copenhagen, intimating that a new law with regard to trawling and the presence of trawlers in the territorial waters of the Farøe Islands, has come into force. A translation of the law is subjoined:—

Law for the Farøe Islands concerning the prohibition of Trawling.

Section 1.—Trawling is prohibited in the territorial waters of the Farøe Islands.

Section 2.—Breaches of section 1 are punished by fines of 1,000 to 4,000 kroner to the Treasury, and all the fishing implements, including the cables that draw the trawl, and all the catch on board shall be forfeited and sold for behoof of the Treasury. The confiscated implements shall be made unfit for trawling. The ships may be arrested and sold after legal execution in payment of fines and expenses.

Section 3.—If a fishing vessel is found inside territorial waters with a trawl on board, although not engaged in fishing, it is liable to fines of 200 to 2,000 kroner to the Treasury. If the same vessel is found a second time in the territorial waters with these implements on board it will be treated according to Section 2. These penalties shall not, however, be enforced in the following cases:—

1. When vessels are in distress, which includes vessels that require to seek a harbour on account of the want of provisions or coal.

2. When vessels are considered to have entered territorial waters unintentionally or in ignorance, owing to currents or weather or fog obscuring the land.

3. When vessels on the way to the fishing grounds or going from one fishing ground to another, pass the Straits between the Islands without stopping.

The exceptions in favour of ships referred to in paragraph 3 of this section and of ships seeking the land to obtain provisions or coal, are only allowed on the condition that all the fishing gear is stowed away on board while the ship is in territorial waters.

Home-owned (belonging to the Farøe Islands or Danish) trawlers are always at liberty to seek the land in order to discharge their fish and to procure water and other necessities, but their fishing implements must then also be stowed away on board.

Section 4.—Actions which arise out of breaches of this law shall be treated as public police actions.

Section 5.—This Law shall come into force the 1st of February, 1899.
