Department), London, August 31, 1899.

THE Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch, dated 26th August, 1899, from Her Majesty's Representative at Christiania, containing the following précis of Quarantine Regulations:—

Précis of Norwegian Quarantine Regulations against Bubonic Plague.

The Norwegian Legislature distinguishes between two kinds of quarantine—"discharging quarantine" and "observation quarantine."

"Discharging quarantine" is enforced on:—

1. Vessels arriving from a plague-infected country or place and bringing thence infected goods.

2. Vessels which on their voyage have held intercourse with a plague-smitten country or vessel and which have taken infected goods on board from them.

3. Vessels on which during the voyage there have been or on arrival there are found to be persons suffering from plague.

Discharging quarantine which can at present only be performed in Norway at the Island of Odderö, near Christiansand, consists in the complete emptying of the vessel and the disinfection of the goods discharged while the persons who have been on board are kept isolated in the lazaret.

The goods are returned to the proper persons entitled to receive them after twenty days have elapsed from their discharge from the vessel and disinfection. In the case of vessels bringing infected goods, or which on arrival have persons suffering or dead from plague on board, quarantine will last for twenty days reckoned from the day on which the goods, persons infected, or bodies are removed from the vessel and the disinfection of the latter has begun.

Vessels which have not brought infected goods or persons suffering from, or who have died of, plague will be kept in quarantine for fourteen days from the date of the vessel having left the infected country, or from the date on which the vessel last had intercourse with a ship coming from an infected country.

Persons recovering from the plague will be kept in quarantine for fourteen days from the date of their being declared to have recovered.

"Observation quarantine" is enforced on vessels which do not fall under any of the three classes above enumerated and after whose departure from or intercourse with an infected country or vessel sufficient time has elapsed to free them from quarantine.

Observation quarantine consists in the vessel being laid up at a proper distance from land and from any other vessel under continual watch preventing all intercourse with the vessel.

The above Regulations apply at present (August 25th, 1899) to vessels arriving at Norwegian ports from the following countries or places:—

Oporto, China, Egypt, Arabia, Persia, India, Formosa, the Pescadores, Mauritius.
