Board of Trade (Fisheries and Harbour Department), London, September 22, 1899.

THE Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch from Her Majesty's Representative at Christiania, enclosing the following Notice respecting quarantine, viz. :—

Royal Quarantine Proclamation for Norway.

I. Vessels, on which during the voyage there have been or upon whose arrival there still are persons attacked by plague, are directed to the quarantine establishment on Odderø, near Christiansand, where they are subjected to the following treatment :—

(a.) Sick persons are brought at once to shore on Odderø and are kept in seclusion for 10 days after they are cured.

The dead are buried with all the precautions laid down by the quarantine regulations.

(b.) Clothes and other objects which have been used by person on board, as well as the cabins in which the sick have lain, shall be cleansed to the full degree laid down by the Quarantine Commissioners. The Quarantine Commissioners are also empowered, if they think proper, to order a cleansing of other objects and other parts of the ship than those already named.

(c.) As soon as possible after the arrival of the ship, its closets shall be cleansed, its bilge water disinfected and pumped out, and the drinking water on board exchanged for fresh water.

(d.) The vessel as well as all the persons on board will be kept isolated for 10 days after all such persons as have died of plague, or have been attacked by or suspected of it, have passed out, and after the cleansing described above has been carried out.

As long as the isolation lasts, the vessel must carry the quarantine flag, and have no other communication with shore or with other vessels than the Quarantine Commissioners permit.

If any fresh case of plague breaks out among the persons remaining on board, a fresh period of 10 days must begin from the date when this fresh case is completely dealt with.

II. Vessels which, without having been in any of the conditions described in I, come from a place attacked by plague or have had any sort of communication with vessels carrying plague patients on board or persons coming from a plague centre, must on reaching this country be kept isolated at a place indicated by the Quarantine Commissioners until 10 days have elapsed since the time when the vessel last left a place infected with plague or had communication with a plague-smitten vessel.

As soon as possible after the arrival of the ship its closets shall be cleansed, its bilge water disinfected and pumped out, and the drinking water on board renewed.

If the vessel is released after this said period has elapsed, the clothes and other objects which have been used by people on board shall be cleansed in full accordance with the directions of the Quarantine Commissioners.

So far as the possibility goes of cases of plague breaking out whilst the vessel lies in quarantine, the directions for such cases under I must be followed, but so that the vessel must not continue to lie at the quarantine establishment in
