

Vienna, Dec. 6. The Campaign is ended in Hungary, and the Imperial Forces are gone into their Quarters, which are distributed in the most convenient places about Great Waradin, with Orders to relieve from time to time the Troops who are more immediately employed in the Blockade of that Garrison, and are for that purpose posted in the new Fort, and in the Palace of Olojech. A German Soldier, who was taken Prisoner, and now lately made his escape out of the Castle, gives this account; That our Cannon and Bombs had made a great havoc among the Enemy, that 8 of their principal Officers with 500 private Soldiers were killed, and the Aga of the Janisaries with many others wounded; That there remained not in the place above 1400 Men fit for service, who wanted divers Necessaries, and lay exposed in great measure to the Weather, the Buildings where they were before lodged being all burnt or broken down; That the Bassa considering the ill condition they were reduced to, and that they had no hopes of Relief, shewed an inclination to Capitate, but that the Aga of the Janisaries was of another mind, and resolved to expect the last extremity. Prince Lewis is daily expected here from Hungary, where he has visited the principal Garrisons. This Count is wholly taken up with the Preparations for the next Year. The Count de Coming Jeck, Son to the Vice-Chancellor of the Empire, is appointed by the Emperor to go in the Quality of his Envoy Extraordinary to the King of Denmark. And the Prince de Lobowitz is declared the Emperor's Plenipotentiary to the Dyer at Ratisbonne, whither he will in a short time begin his Journey.

Frankfurt, Dec. 12. The Imperial Regiments, that are quartered at Erlangen and in the Black Forest, have been lately mustered, and at the same time strict Orders were given to all the Officers to have their Companies and Troops compleat by the middle of February. We hear from Strasbourg, that the Marquis d'Uxelles, who at present commands the French Forces in Alsace, had sent a Detachment of 3000 Men to surprise some German Troops that were quartered about Schonau, but their Design being discovered, and the Alarm given to the Country thereabouts, they retired without attempting any thing, besides the burning of several Houses in their march.

Hamburg, Dec. 14. The Letters from Poland tell us, that the Forces of that Crown are marched to their Winter Quarters; and that the King had summoned a Dyer to meet at Warsaw in January next.

Geneva, Dec. 5. The Advices from the French Camp before Montmelian of the 2d instant say, That they had then 23 Pieces of Cannon and 12 Mortars in Battery, which played without intermission, and had almost ruined one of the Batteries of the place; That on the 28th and 29th of the last month they made several attempts to possess themselves of the Ravellin of the outward Ditch, but were as often repulsed by the Bellegard, who at last finding they were not in a condition to maintain that Post any longer, and that the French were preparing for a new Assault, blew it up, and retired into another Work which covers the Half-Moon; That the Bellegard continued to make a great fire from their Cannon and Muskets, and had dismounted most of the Cannon on the Battery of Perouse; That between the 29th inst and 2d instant above 200 of the French with 14 Officers were killed, and a much greater number with their Chief Engineer wounded, and that 'tis reckoned they cannot have lost less than 1000 Men since the beginning of this Siege, in which they have yet made no great progress, although the Weather has been very favourable to them.

Paris Dec. 14. The last Letters from the Camp before Montmelian tell us, the Siege advanced very slowly; and that a Mine the Bellegard sprung had not had the effect they expected, which was a great disappointment to them; For the rest they only say, that the Sieur de Lappara the Chief Engineer was so well recovered of his Wounds, that he had begun to enter again up in Service. Montieur de Vauban is ordered to visit all the Maritime Places of this Kingdom, and to make a Project of such Fortifications, as he shall think fit. The Squadron, commanded by the Sieur de Chastillon Renaud, which set in the Road of Briss on the 3d of this month, is said, that about 10000 Fish are in all arrived there, including Women and Children.

Brussels, Dec. 16. The Prince de Vaudemont Governor of Alsace, the Marquis de Badmar Maître de Camp-General, and the Generals of Battalia Don Joseph Muniques, and the Count de Thian, are on their return hither from visiting the Garrisons of Namur and Charleroy, and taking such Measures as they thought necessary for the security of those places. The Letters from Maastricht of the 30th of the last month advise, that the Council of State had under consideration the dispatching of the Government of these Countries, and that there were good grounds to believe, that it would be given to the Elector of Bavaria. They write from Codex of the 15th, that the Galeons had not yet been permitted to unload, because the Installment to be paid to the King was not settled; But they thought it would come to 5 or 6 Millions of Pieces of Eight.

Lisbon, Dec. 18. The Letters from Geneva of the 6th instant say, that the Garrison of Montmelian made a very vigorous Defence, and seemed to be in a condition to hold out; That the hardness of the Rock hindered the Enemies advancing their Works, and that they had yet done little harm to the Castle, though they had raised against it 11 Batteries, 7 for Cannon and 4 for Mortars. We hear, that the French are in motion in 2 or 3 Bodies in Flanders. Count Oxenstjerne, Envoy Extraordinary from the King of Sweden, took this day his Leave of the States General, in order to his going with the same Character for England. The President de la Tour, Envoy Extraordinary from the Duke of Savoy, intends to go over likewise with the first Convoy. Prince Waldeck is here very ill. We have advice, that two English Regiments of Horse and one of Dragoons are arrived at Wilmsloot and Moredykke. The States of Holland are adjourned till after Christmas.

Chester, Dec. 9. On Monday last General Ginck arrived at Higblyke in the Monmouth Yacht from Dublin, and in the evening came to this place, where he was saluted by the Cannon from the Castle, and Complimented by the Magistrates. Yesterday the Corporation gave him a splendid Entertainment at the Penitence, the several Companies of the Citizens appearing on this occasion in their Formalities; and this day he set out from hence on his Journey towards London.
