Great Yang Tse Bank—Shoal Reported Eastward of.

INFORMATION, dated 22nd August, 1900, has been received from the General Manager of the Peninsular and Oriental Company that the steamship "Socotra," drawing 18½ feet, when on a voyage from Japan to Shanghai, struck on a shoal north-eastward of the Great Yang Tse Bank at 9h. 40m. P.M., on 5th June, 1900, in approximately lat. 32° 9' N., long. 125° 7' E., and that, when the vessel was subsequently docked, clay and stones were found adhering to the damaged portion of the bottom. A shoal, with a depth of 3 fathoms over it, has in consequence been placed on the Chart in the above position.

It is to be observed that in 1896 the P. and O. steamship "Shanghai," reported having obtained a sounding of 9 fathoms, just after noon, in lat. 32° 1' N., long. 125° 9' E.; the weather at the time was fine but foggy, and consequently no astronomical observations were obtained; on receipt of this report Notice to Mariners No. 312 of 1896 was issued, and amended afterwards by Notice to Mariners No. 618 of 1896.

In December, 1896, Her Majesty's ship "Plover" was sent to search for this reported shoal, and sounded over an area of 4 miles without finding any such depths; when this information was received Notice to Mariners No. 340 of 1897 was issued, expunging the 9-fathom sounding from the Chart.

These are, however, not the only reports of a shoal in this locality, as in 1868 Her Majesty's surveying-vessel "Sylvia" searched for breakers reported by P.M.S.S. "Costa Rica" in lat. 32° 10' N., long. 125° 3' E., without finding any sign of danger, the depths all round being very even (about 25 fathoms) over a space of 15 square miles.

Whilst it is difficult to suppose that a danger could continuously exist on a route so much frequented as that between the Yang Tse and Japan without having been more frequently reported, it is evident a bank of some sort must have existed somewhere in the neighbourhood in June last, and until the area has been thoroughly examined, mariners are warned to avoid the locality.

It is not impossible that such banks may occasionally be formed by the deposit brought down by the Yang Tse when in flood, and afterwards dispersed by wave action in the N.E. monsoon.

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Charts:—China Sea, No. 1263; Nipon Island, &c., No. 2347; Hongkong to Liau Tung Gulf, No. 1262; Amoy to Nagasaki, No. 2412. Also, China Sea Directory, Vol. III, 1894, page 518; and Supplement, 1898, page 27.

A radial projecting traveller has been erected on the dolphin, over which the lights (two white fixed, vertical) will be exhibited in the centre of the dolphin.

Dolphins B and C will be treated in a similar manner.

Mariners are warned, therefore, to avoid passing close to the dolphins.
