TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1906.

Whitehall, November 6, 1906.

The following Addresses were presented to His Majesty yesterday on the occasion of Their Majesties' visit to King's Lynn for the purpose of opening the new buildings of the Grammar School named after His Majesty "King Edward VII Grammar School":—

To Their Most Gracious Majesties King Edward the Seventh and Queen Alexandra.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, Your Majesties' most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of King's Lynn, in the county of Norfolk, humbly beg leave to approach Your Majesties, and to offer to Your Majesties a respectful and heartfelt welcome to our ancient Borough.

We recall with sincere pleasure the previous occasions on which Your Majesties (when Prince and Princess of Wales) visited our Borough, and we gladly renew on this occasion the assurance of our devoted loyalty and dutiful attachment to Your Majesties.

We are exceedingly grateful for the distinguished honour you are so graciously conferring on us by again visiting our ancient Borough, and we rejoice that this visit should be associated with the inauguration of an Institution which will so greatly increase the educational facilities of the town and district.

We earnestly pray that Your Majesties may long continue to reign over Your devoted subjects, and that Your vast Empire may ever enjoy the great blessings of peace and prosperity.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

I thank you on behalf of The Queen and Myself for your loyal Address of Welcome.

I have always been deeply interested in your ancient Borough, so full of attraction to the antiquarian and to the student of history; and we re-visit you with sincere pleasure.

The occasion of Our presence here to-day shows that you are not content with the traditions of the past, however worthy of remembrance these may be, but through the liberality of an old pupil of the School which bears My Name—the new Buildings of which I am about to open—are determined to keep abreast of the times and are conscious that it is only by a thorough education that the younger generation can hope to prove successful in later life.

You may be assured that the prosperity and welfare of your Borough will always be a subject of Our warmest interest.

To The King's Most Excellent Majesty and to Her Majesty The Queen.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, the Governors of King Edward VII Grammar School, King's Lynn, desire to offer our humble duty and to express our gratitude to Your Majesties for the honour You have conferred on our ancient foundation by Your presence on this auspicious occasion.

May Your Majesties permit us to recall many previous acts of grace You have bestowed upon this School. We are reminded by the Honour List on the walls of this hall of the encouragement annually afforded by the gift of Your Majesty's Medal; and we cannot allow this occasion to pass without offering our humble but grateful thanks for graciously permitting two new Scholarships to bear Your Majesties' names.

The oil painting in this hall may warrant us in reminding Your Majesties that this School was founded in the reign of King Henry VIII.

Possessing but a small endowment, the Governors have, in recent years, felt no little anxiety respecting the structural deficiencies of the old buildings. Hence the generous offer of Mr. Lancaster, an old pupil, to endow as well as to provide, at his sole cost, a building fully equipped for the most varied and efficient educational work, has given the Governors much exercise in finding terms adequately expressive of their gratitude.

The situation of this institution is peculiarly well adapted for offering higher education to the youth, not alone of the borough of King's Lynn, but of a large area of the county of Norfolk. Geographically, King's Lynn may justly be termed the centre of West Norfolk; the seven lines of railway, which here meet, make it easy of access for students of a population of not less than 100,000 inhabitants to reach the School with the minimum of time and cost.

The curriculum of the School will remain, as hitherto, of the first grade; and whilst that which is to-day termed the modern side of education will receive its full meed of attention, the study of ancient learning will in no wise be neglected.

Your Majesty has, in the past, graciously recognized the successes obtained, not alone by Your Majesty's medallists, but also by many other pupils of the School.

We earnestly pray that this School—the first to be distinguished by Your Royal Title—possessing such increased advantages, may succeed in rearing a still larger number of able and loyal citizens, qualified to develop and strengthen Your Majesty's mighty Empire.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

I thank you on behalf of The Queen and Myself for your loyal and dutiful Address. It is a great pleasure to Us to open your new School buildings.

You are aware of the deep interest which I have always taken in the public institutions of the county of Norfolk, and in all schools established for the purpose of imparting higher education. It is not easy to over-estimate the far-reaching benefits of the tuition obtained in such an institution as this. The young men of King's Lynn and West Norfolk whom you send out into the world will, throughout their lives, bear traces of the influences which have guided them during their stay in the school. They are at the most impressionable period of life, and the teachings of your masters will remain in their minds even when later experiences are forgotten. You, as Governors of the School, will, I feel sure, exercise the most solicitous care in the direction of the studies of your pupils that they may be able to face the stress of life with an intellectual equipment such as will enable them to hold their own in the world and bear their part in its work and duties with efficiency and to the benefit of others. Nor will, I feel confident, the higher teaching of morality, truth, and self respect be neglected. The traditions of your School, dating back for so many generations, will help to foster those ideals of honour and patriotism which render this country respected in all parts of the world. Wherever they go your pupils will remember not only what they owe to you, but what they owe to England.

These buildings are a proof of the gratitude of one of your pupils for the advantages he received here, and of his mindfulness of the importance of providing for his fellow subjects an education of the highest class. I know of no nobler use of wealth than its expenditure for the benefit of those who are to follow us, and no greater pleasure than what I trust will fall to the lot of Mr. Lancaster in witnessing some of the results of his splendid example of public spirit and munificence. I pray that the blessing of God may attend the future of your School.

Whitehall, November 5, 1906.

The KING was this day pleased, on the occasion of His Majesty's visit to King's Lynn to open the new buildings of King Edward VII Grammar School, to confer the honour of Knighthood upon Mr. William John Lancaster, the donor of the School.
