La Lambarde—Buoy Replaced by Light-Buoy.

The French Government has given notice, dated 6th November, 1906, that the black spindle buoy marking La Lambarde Shoal in the entrance to Loire River has been replaced by a Light-buoy, painted black, exhibiting a red fixed light.

Approximate position, lat. 47° 10' N., long 2° 20½' W.

Devonport Reef—Position of.

Montrado (Menterado) Breakers—Non-existence of.

The Netherlands Government has given notice, dated 12th November, 1906, that a search has been made for Devonport Reef in approximately lat. 3° 54½' N., long. 108° 31½' E., without any indication of its existence being discovered.

It is thought probable that the ship Devonport was lost on the easternmost of the Penungul Reefs, on which a depth of 2½ fathoms has been recently found to exist in approximately lat. 3° 52½' N., long. 108° 29' E. From this position the bearing of Kamodi Island (S.W. by W.) is the same as that given to fix the position of the Devonport, and if the second bearing (N.W.) given by the Devonport be applied to the summit of Cape Senubing instead of Senua Island, for which it may have been mistaken, it would place the vessel on the easternmost of the Penungul Reefs, as already described.

The name of Devonport Reef has therefore been transferred to the Eastern Penungul Reef, the former Devonport Reef being expunged.

Also, that a search for Montrado or Menterado breakers has also been made, but that no indication of its existence could be found, depths of from 40 to 50 fathoms being found over the position assigned to it. It has therefore been expunged from the charts.

Approximate position, lat. 3° 31' N., long. 108° 4' E.
