FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1908.

India Office, 22nd May, 1908.

The following General Order, dated 20th March, 1908, publishing a despatch from Major-General Sir James Willcocks, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., regarding the operations of the Bazar Valley Field Force from the 13th February to the 2nd March, 1908, has been received from the Government of India :—

G. G. O. No. 188, dated 20th March, 1908.

The Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council has much pleasure in directing the publication of the following letter from the Chief of the Staff in India, dated the 16th March, 1908, forwarding a despatch from Major-General Sir James Willcocks, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., describing the operations of the Bazar Valley Field Force from the 13th February, 1908, to the 2nd March, 1908.

The Governor-General in Council concurs with the Commander-in-Chief in his opinion that the able manner in which the operations were conducted reflects great credit on Major-General Sir James Willcocks and the Brigade Commanders and Staff working under his orders.

His Excellency in Council also shares with the Commander-in-Chief his appreciation of the soldierly conduct displayed by all ranks throughout the operations.

No. 347-M. C., dated Calcutta, 16th March, 1908.

From the Chief of the Staff, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department.

I have the honour, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to submit, for the information of the Government of India, the accompanying despatch from Major-General Sir James Willcocks, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., describing the operations of the Bazar Valley Field Force.

2. The speed with which the Force was mobilised, and the rapidity of its movement into the Bazar Valley and subsequent operations, contributed very largely to the quick and successful termination of the expedition.

3. To secure speed in movement, the troops operated on a much lighter scale of equipment and transport than has been adopted on previous occasions on the frontier; but although the climatic conditions were severe, the health of the Force and the admirable spirit displayed by all ranks left nothing to be desired.

4. The losses inflicted on the Zakka Khel were unusually heavy, and were due to the excellent handling of the troops and to their training and efficiency in the field.

5. Lord Kitchener is confident that the Government of India will agree with him in considering that the work done reflects the greatest credit on all concerned.

His Excellency desires especially to commend to the notice of Government the excellent services of Major-General Sir James Willcocks, who so ably conducted the operations and brought them so rapidly to a successful conclusion.

He trusts also that those who have been brought to notice in this despatch may be considered deserving of commendation.

Field Operations, dated Peshawar, 5th March, 1908.

From Major-General Sir James Willcocks, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O.; Commanding Bazar Valley Field Force, to the Chief of the Staff, Army Head-Quarters, Calcutta.

I have the honour to submit the following report for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief on the operations of the Field Force under my command in the Bazar Valley.

1. On the 3rd February I received telegraphic orders from His Excellency which informed me that a punitive expedition against the Zakka Khel Afridis had been approved by the Secretary of State for India. It was enjoined on me to keep the matter secret and to so arrange that within a few days the troops which were to form the expeditionary force should be ready to move at once on the orders for an advance being issued. I also received written instructions which gave a general idea of what was to be done; with detailed orders for the composition of the Force and a scheme of operations as a guide up to the time the troops entered the country of the Zakka Khel.

The following were the strengths :—

First Brigade.

1st Battalion, Royal Warwickshire Regiment.
53rd Sikhs (Frontier Force).
59th Scinde Rifles (Frontier Force).
2nd Battalion, 5th Gurkhas (Frontier Force).

Second Brigade.

1st Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders.
28th Punjabis.
45th Sikhs.
54th Sikhs (Frontier Force).

Third Brigade (in reserve).

1st Battalion, Royal Munster Fusiliers.
23rd Peshawar Mountain Battery (Frontier Force).
1st Battalion, 6th Gurkha Rifles.
55th Coke's Rifles (Frontier Force).

Divisional Troops.

2 Squadrons, 19th Lancers.
2 Squadrons, 37th Lancers.
23rd Sikh Pioneers.
25th Punjabis.
No. 3 Mountain Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery.
4 guns, 22nd (Derajat) Mountain Battery.
No. 6 Company, 1st Sappers and Miners.
No. 9 Company, 2nd Sappers and Miners.

Attached.—800 Khyber Rifles.

2. Later on I received instructions to be ready to move forward from Peshawar as soon as the Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, had interviewed the Afridi jirgahs, which had meantime been ordered to assemble there.

3. During the few days remaining all the railway, transport, supply, medical and other arrangements were completed, mostly by verbal orders. In accordance with instructions from Army Head-Quarters and in communication with the General Officer Commanding, Rawal Pindi Division, the troops and followers from that Division which were to form part of the Field Force were held in readiness. Up to the last moment secrecy was maintained and not until within a few hours of starting were all ranks of the advanced troops equipped with field service clothing, &c.

4. On the 12th February the Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, interviewed the Afridi jirgahs. This same afternoon troops began to move forward, and next day the piquets in the Khyber Pass were taken over by detachments of the Field Force; and line of communication posts were established at Jamrud and Ali Musjid. Half a battalion, 5th Gurkhas, marched to Lundi Kotal.

5. During the 12th February the 2nd Brigade from Nowshera and other troops from outside the 1st Division area arrived by road or rail at Peshawar and the Force which was to make the first advance was completed. The troops moving from the above two stations were at once replaced by the Reserve Brigade which arrived by train.

6. On 13th February the 1st and 2nd Brigades and Divisional troops left Peshawar and bivouacked at Jamrud. No tents were carried and all officers were on half field service scale of baggage.

7. On 14th February the Force moved to Lala China near Ali Musjid.

8. I felt convinced, considering the quiet way in which the Force had been mobilised, and how little was even known of its departure from Peshawar, that by a rapid march into the centre of Bazar we should not only morally surprise the enemy but forestall them in any of the positions they might have selected to defend. Accordingly at dawn on 15th February the following troops, under command of Major-General Barrett, C.B., left Lala China :—

With the Divisional Staff I accompanied this Column.

Strength.

3rd Mountain Battery.
Seaforth Highlanders.
28th Punjabis.
45th Sikhs.
54th Sikhs.
Wing 2-5th Gurkhas.
6th Company, Sappers and Miners.

Excepting a very small proportion of water, ambulance and other necessary mules, no transport accompanied this advance and officers and men carried three days' rations on the person. The route taken was by Chora in Malikdin country. The strong fort belonging to Yar Mahomed Khan at this place was occupied by troops from General Anderson's Brigade which moved up from Ali Musjid this same day.

No opposition was met with until after passing Chora when the Zakkas began firing on the advanced guard near Tanda Tangi and from the high hill Tsapara on to which the 5th Gurkhas were advancing. The column moved on, being fired at regularly from our left flank till we reached Walai, east of China. Only one casualty occurred, a gunner of the 3rd Mountain Battery being wounded.

It was getting late now and a position for the night was selected. The Seaforth Highlanders swarmed up Khar Ghundai, a steep hill 1,000 feet above the bivouac, and established themselves in sangars on the summit. Piquets were also placed round the Walai nala. Heavy firing was kept up throughout the night, but only caused us the loss of one Highlander and one sepoy, 28th Punjabis, killed, both in the piquets. The Highlanders also had an officer and four men struck by rocks hurled from close quarters into the sangars. The Zakkas lost three killed and seven wounded on Seaforth's hill, amongst the latter being the well-known raid leader Dadai, badly hit.

9. The 5th Gurkhas on Tsapara hill were also sniped all night, but had no casualties.

10. Whilst we were marching to Walai, a small column from Lundi Kotal, consisting of a wing 5th Gurkhas and 700 Khyber Rifles, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Roos-Keppel, Chief Political Officer with the Force, moved on the same date and rapidly crossing the Bazar pass entered the Valley without opposition and occupied China itself. The piquets were fired on all night but no casualty occurred. This column moved without any transport whatever and carried its ammunition and 3 days' rations on the person.

11. Thus within 12 hours of leaving the Khyber the two columns had established themselves in the heart of the Zakkas country. From information since received it is clear that the Zakkas had no idea of our date of leaving Ali Musjid and had made up their minds we should in any case halt at Chora for a day, and in consequence had not had time to occupy Khar Gundai, the strongest position in the Valley.

12. On the same day as I moved to Walai the major portion of the first Brigade occupied Chora, thus connecting up the line of communications.

13. On 16th February the advanced camp was moved up the Walai stream to a well protected site where there was a plentiful supply of running water. Here the telephone apparatus of the Peshawar Division was set up and proved most useful; Head-Quarters being connected with the two Brigades and all important piquets, rendering immediate communication safe and easy.

During this afternoon the Lundi Kotal column marched into Walai from China. A large convoy of supplies from Chora also arrived in camp. Whilst this convoy was moving in, the 45th Sikhs who were piquetting the lower spurs of Sara Paial hill were being annoyed by fire from the crest, which in consequence it was decided to occupy. The leading companies advanced but were brought to a standstill by a heavy fire from what appeared to be a considerable number of Zakkas. The Zakkas endeavoured to push forward, but other companies were sent in support of the Sikhs and by my orders a steady fire of shrapnel was kept up on the enemy who were plainly visible from the guns. Meantime half a battalion of the Seaforth Highlanders arrived from camp and the combined troops soon cleared the hill. The Sikhs had a native officer and a sepoy wounded. The Zakkas lost 5 killed and 10 wounded this day.

14. On 17th February most of the 1st Brigade had reached Walai, and I had sufficient troops to form two columns for daily operations. This became the headquarters, from which punitive measures were hereafter carried out in every direction, according to the movements of the Zakkas.

15. Before daybreak on 18th February a column under Major-General Barrett moved out to destroy the towers and enclosures at China. With the Divisional Staff, I accompanied this Column.

Strength.

Seaforth Highlanders.
3rd Mountain Battery.
54th Sikhs.
5th Gurkhas.
23rd Pioneers.
6th Company Sappers.

The Seaforths and Gurkhas moving by Sarmundo and Khwar and covered by the mountain guns occupied the hills north of China. Lieutenant Macfadyen of the Seaforths was mortally wounded in this advance.

After destroying the main towers and securing a quantity of wood and fodder the column began its return march to camp and the Zakkas at once closed in on the rear-guard and flanks. The troops retired very steadily, the battery and its escort of Seaforths which were in the comparatively open country south of China being specially selected for attack. The 54th Sikhs also on this flank were hotly engaged, some of the tribesmen closing to revolver range. Many Zakkas were here placed hors-de-combat.

By 4.20 P.M. the Gurkhas who held the hills above China had moved off them and the Seaforths had also come down from the eastern spurs which they had been occupying.

The column now retired quietly, the Zakkas making brave but fruitless attempts to follow. Their losses this day were heavy and they avoided the open country as far as possible, for the future. Our casualties were 1 British officer wounded (since dead), 2 British officers, 2 British rank and file, and 4 Native rank and file wounded.

16. On 19th February a column under Brigadier-General Anderson proceeded to China to complete the destruction of towers and bring in fodder. No opposition was offered to the advance, but as usual, the Zakkas followed up the retirement and were again severely punished. The troops returned to camp by the Jabagai gorge.

17. On 20th February Brigadier-General Anderson again moved out with a column to reconnoitre the Tsatsobl Pass and the Algad Valley. I accompanied this reconnaissance. The advanced guard was fired on from both sides of the Pass, but a good survey was obtained by Captain Rich, R.E.

Whilst the towers at Sarmundo and Khwar were being destroyed, a portion of the column moved up the Algad Valley and from Sarwakai Pass saw a body of Zakkas advancing from the direction of Halwai. A few shells soon scattered them. The retirement to camp was followed with less vigour than on the 18th instant, but the enemy again suffered loss.

18. News had been received for some days that the tribesmen had collected in large numbers at Halwai where they had been joined by many Sangu Khels and other Shinwaris from across the Afghan border. On 21st February I moved with two columns under command of Generals Barrett and Anderson, keeping a squadron of the 37th Lancers with me in case an opportunity for the employment of cavalry presented itself.

Strength.

Barrett's Column.

3rd Mountain Battery.
500 Seaforths.
28th Punjabis.
4 Companies, 54th Sikhs.
500 Khyber Rifles.

Anderson's Column.

22nd Mountain Battery.
Section No. 9 Company Sappers.
400 Warwicks.
400 of 5th Gurkhas.
53rd Sikhs.
59th Rifles.

The 28th Punjabis of Barrett's Brigade occupied the China heights soon after daylight and held them during the day to cover the retirement; the remainder of this Brigade took the route south of China. The Khyber Rifles and 6th Company, Sappers, moved by the Bazar nala and destroyed the towers at Kago Kamar.

Fire was opened on them by the Zakkas and kept up during most of the day. The Seafortths on our extreme left occupied the Saran hills and kept the enemy to the south and west of Halwai.

Meantime Anderson's Brigade, moving north of China by Khwar and the Sarwakai pass, debouched on to the plain north of Halwai. During this movement the Zakkas kept up a dropping fire from the direction of Pastakai. The two columns now advanced simultaneously. The steep hills overlooking Halwai were occupied without a check, the mountain guns making the enemy's sangars quite untenable. Anderson's right was very well protected from any attack from the Thibai or Mangal Bagh passes by the 59th Rifles.

19. The towers and stacks of timber in Halwai were destroyed and the Force commenced its return march to camp. This was, as usual, the signal for numerous parties to come down from the Thabai direction. These opened fire at long ranges, but the Derajat Battery, very well handled, kept them on the move. Both Brigades were now moving by the south of China hills which were held by the 28th Punjabis. By the time the rearmost battalion had arrived abreast of China the Zakka fire had almost died away, but as the 28th Punjabis began to leave the hills, covered by the fire of six guns, the tribesmen appeared in considerable numbers and closely pressed the battalion. The Punjabis withdrew steadily, but lost one man killed and 8 wounded during the operation. Several acts of individual gallantry are reported and I am recommending three men for the Indian Order of Merit.

On our left (facing enemy) the Seafortths and Khyber Rifles were also attacked, the Zakkas advancing to close range, several of them being shot by both corps. It was whilst gallantly directing his rearmost companies at this stage of the fight that Major the Honourable Forbes-Sempill, Seaforth Highlanders, was killed.

The 53rd Sikhs who formed the rear centre covered the retirement and were very well handled.

By the time the rear guard had got east of China hills, the Zakkas drew off and only fired at long ranges. Our casualties were 1 British officer and 1 sepoy killed and 10 native rank and file wounded. Not a shot was fired into camp this night.

20. On the night of 22nd February the tribesmen tried the effects of sniping from several directions simultaneously, but although they wounded a sergeant in the Warwicks, their own casualties are reported to have been a good deal heavier.

21. Next morning General Anderson again visited China with a column and brought away most of the remaining wood and fodder. The Zakkas kept at a very respectful distance, but the mountain guns again did some good work. Whilst demolishing the last tower, two sappers and a follower were injured.

During the afternoon the first of the Afridi jirgahs arrived in camp and asked for terms and mercy for the Zakka Khel and expressed their eagerness and ability to deal with them in the future. I gave them 48 hours to complete these arrangements and they all left for Halwai. In order that they might meet the Zakka elders, I suspended active operations in the Halwai direction for that period.

22. On 24th February Lieutenant-Colonel Buchanan, 54th Sikhs, with a small column visited Jabagai and destroyed the towers. The Zakkas offered but a feeble resistance.

23. On 26th February a water escort of 45th Sikhs on Tsapara hill was attacked in thick scrub jungle and had one sepoy killed and two wounded.

24. On 27th February the combined Afridi jirgahs, about 1,100 men (including 300 Zakka Khel) arrived at China from Halwai with white flags. Lieutenant-Colonel Roos-Keppel, Chief Political Officer, went out alone half way to China to meet them and conducted them into camp.

Next day I held a public jirgah at which they presented a petition, the details of which are known to Government. They deposited 53 rifles of English manufacture as a guarantee of keeping their promise to punish the individual raiders and begged we would now spare the Zakka Khel; undertaking to hold themselves responsible for the conduct of the tribe in future. As in my opinion the terms more than satisfied the demands of Government, I accepted them and a formal agreement was drawn up and signed by 322 chiefs and elders, representing all the Afridi tribes, including the Zakka Khel.

25. Before the terms of above agreement were known at Chora on the night of 28th February, the camp at that post was heavily fired into and one sepoy, 23rd Pioneers, and four sepoys, 45th Sikhs, were wounded.

26. Immediately the terms of settlement with the jirgahs had been signed on 28th February secret orders were issued for the entire Force to leave the Bazar Valley at dawn next morning. The Zakka Khels and such others of the jirgahs as desired were allowed to proceed to China at once, and this proceeding convinced them that we had no intention of leaving for a few days at least.

27. At daylight on the 29th February Major-General Barrett's Brigade began to leave camp for Ali Musjid via Chora, a distance of 15 miles. The transport and baggage of both Brigades had gone by 9 a.m., and by 10 o'clock the rearmost piquets began to withdraw. Anderson's Brigade covered the withdrawal and his arrangements were very well carried out. I remained with this Brigade at Chora the night and next day marched through to Jamrud, where the entire force was concentrated prior to demobilisation. A battalion and two squadrons were left at Ali Musjid as a temporary guard to surplus stores.

28. From the time we left China till arrival in British India not a shot was fired by the Zakkas. I am glad to be able to add that during the entire operations not a single follower, public or private, was killed or wounded by the enemy, and only one rifle was lost in the Bazar Valley and that was on a man killed while skirmishing in thick bush.

29. I beg to bring to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the soldierly conduct of all ranks of the Force. Their good discipline and cheerfulness have been very marked, and it has indeed been an honour to command such a fine division in the field. The fact that Brigades were employed intact under their own Generals and Staff, as they had been trained in peace time, made the carrying out of all operations a simple matter, and my own share in the work was appreciably lightened by having been allowed to select my Staff Officers from the permanent Divisional establishment.

That the enemy lost heavily whilst our own casualties were small is due to the improvement in musketry training and the manner in which the troops work and run up shelter at the shortest possible notice. Sangars and pits quickly covered the bivouacs and the piquets were secured against a rush at night by wire entanglements, &c. Constant night work now forms a regular part of infantry training and the results were very plainly visible. As far as hill fighting is concerned our troops had little to learn from the Afridis.

The various departments of the Force were all satisfactory and especially the transport service, where the discipline and order that prevailed were very noticeable.

The good conduct of the Khyber Rifles, many of whom were actually serving against their own kith and kin, is a remarkable testimony to their efficiency and loyalty. Not a rifle was lost by the corps, nor was there a single desertion.

30. The enemy's losses, as far as can be ascertained at present, have been at least 70 killed and the wounded may reasonably be put at a much higher figure.

31. I have much pleasure in bringing to the favourable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the names of the following officers and others who have rendered exceptionally good service:—

Divisional Staff.

Brigadier-General H. Mullaly, C.B., Chief Staff Officer.—I cannot speak too highly of this Officer. From start to finish his work was done with a thoroughness which left nothing to be desired. His knowledge of Staff duties, his ability and his untiring energy in the field have all helped considerably in bringing the operations to a successful issue. I specially recommend him for advancement in the service.

Colonel A. W. Money, Royal Artillery, Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster-General.—An excellent Staff Officer who materially helped in organising the force. His past experience in the field, combined with his decided ability, energy and zeal, have been of the greatest assistance and I specially commend him to the Commander-in-Chief's notice.

Captain A. B. Whatman, D.S.O., Somerset Light Infantry, Chief Signalling Officer.—No Officer in the Force did better work. The signalling to and from India and tactically in the field was of a very high order. His energy, perseverance under trying conditions, and his coolness in all circumstances are remarkable and I strongly recommend him for advancement.

Captain N. J. C. Livingstone-Learmonth, 15th Hussars.—A fine soldier. Did very good work in the field and was most helpful in all the duties of a Staff Officer.

Lieutenant A. P. Y. Langhorne, Royal Artillery, Aide-de-Camp.—An exceptionally good Officer, very zealous and energetic and possesses plenty of common sense. He rendered me valuable aid in the field and I specially commend him to the Commander-in-Chief.

Captain E. T. Rich, Royal Engineers.—A very good Officer, most energetic and always to the fore. His maps and reports were of great assistance during operations. He has completed a very careful survey of the Bazar Valley.

Major A. Mullaly, D.S.O., Divisional Transport Officer.—A very practical and useful Officer in the field. Under his orders everything worked most satisfactorily.

First Brigade.

Brigadier-General C. A. Anderson, C.B.—Twice commanded columns with marked success, also covered the retirement from the Bazar Valley, which operation was conducted with skill. He is a very good Brigadier and possesses the thorough confidence of all ranks.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Stewart, 2nd Battalion, 5th Gurkhas.—An excellent Battalion Commander who was frequently assigned difficult duties which he invariably carried out most satisfactorily.

Captain C. de Sausmarez, D.S.O., R.A., 22nd Mountain Battery.—A gallant soldier and very good gunner; did splendidly on every occasion that the battery was employed.

Captain A. L. Tarver, 124th Baluchistan Infantry, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, 1st Brigade.—A good Staff Officer whose work in the field was exceedingly well performed.

Second Brigade.

Major-General A. A. Barrett, C.B.—Commanded the Brigade in the first advance into Bazar and again on 18th February near China when the enemy were very severely handled. He has much frontier experience and is a most reliable soldier.

Captain and Adjutant K. G. Buchanan and Major R. S. Vandeleur, 1st Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders.—I specially bring these two Officers to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's notice. The Seaforths have throughout the operations proved themselves a very fine battalion and have done a great share of the work of the Force. Had Major the Honourable Forbes-Sempill lived I should have recommended him for a reward for his distinguished services.

Lieutenant-Colonel K. J. Buchanan, 54th Sikhs (Frontier Force).—An able and energetic Commanding Officer. Has a fine regiment and has shown himself a capable leader of men.

Captain H. A. H. Rice and Lieutenant S. R. Shirley, 54th Sikhs (Frontier Force).—These two Officers behaved with great gallantry before China on 18th February, and I recommend them for some mark of distinction.

Captain J. P. Villiers-Stuart, 55th Rifles, Orderly Officer to General Barrett.—A good soldier, active and resourceful. Did very good work in the field.

Lieutenant C. B. Harcourt, 28th Punjabis.—Acted with coolness and much judgment on 21st February during the withdrawal from China hills.

Khyber Rifles.

Captain H. A. H. Bickford, 56th Rifles (Frontier Force).—Commanded the corps with ability and showed how well trans-border soldiers will work even against their own people when well led.

Political.

I strongly commend to the favourable notice of the Commander-in-Chief and of Government the services of:—

Lieutenant-Colonel G. O. Roos-Keppel, C.I.E., Chief Political Officer with the Force.—He commanded the column which advanced from Lundi Kotal on 15th February. This duty was very well carried out. He also accompanied me every day with the various punitive columns. It is due to his tact, judgment and thorough knowledge of all the Afridi tribes that the settlement of the Zakka Khel question was so rapidly and satisfactorily brought to a conclusion. I cannot speak too highly of his valuable services which are deserving of full recognition.

Khan Bahadur Sahibzada Abdul Qaiyum, Assistant to the Chief Political Officer.—I have brought his services prominently to the notice of the Foreign Department of the Government of India, and I would here only add that his assistance to the troops during our first advance was thoroughly appreciated by us all.

Mr. J. W. Littlewood, District Traffic Superintendent, North-Western Railway.—Gave me great assistance and at the shortest possible notice arranged for the many trains necessary to move up the Reserve Brigade to Nowshera.

32. For His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's information I have attached on a separate list—Appendix A—the names of officers, warrant and non-commissioned officers and men (British and Native) who did extra good work during the operations.
