Service sanitaire d'Anvers.—Surveillance des navires en déchargement.

LÉOPOLD II, Roi des Belges,

A tous présents et à venir, Salut.

Vu le décret du 18 juillet 1831, sur la police sanitaire;

Vu l'arrêté royal du 17 août 1831, prescrivant des mesures sanitaires;

Vu l'arrêté royal du 8 février 1897, relatif à l'organisation et aux attributions des autorités sanitaires;

Vu l'arrêté royal du 8 mars 1898, relatif aux navires remontant l'Escaut sans avoir subi la visite à la station sanitaire du Doel;

Vu l'arrêté royal du 10 juin 1903, instituant un service sanitaire à Anvers;

Considérant que la convention sanitaire internationale de Paris 1903, ratifiée le 6 avril 1907, recommande entre autres objets qu'il soit établi dans les grands ports de navigation maritime une surveillance médicale permanente de l'état sanitaire des équipages et qu'elle détermine les mesures à appliquer aux navires porteurs de rongeurs atteints de peste;

Vu l'avis de la commission sanitaire de l'Escaut;

Sur la proposition de Notre Ministre de l'agriculture ad interim,

Nous avons arrêté et arrêtons :

Art. 1er. Endéans les deux heures de l'ancrage de son navire en rade d'Anvers, de son amarrage à quai ou de son entrée dans les bassins, tout capitaine d'un navire dispensé de la patente de santé devra se rendre ou envoyer un de ses officiers au bureau sanitaire pour y montrer ses papiers de bord et répondre aux questions d'ordre sanitaire qui lui seront posées.

Art. 2. Tout capitaine d'un navire non dispensé de la patente de santé qui n'aurait pu subir la visite à la station sanitaire de Doel, par suite de circonstances de force majeure, ancrera son navire en rade d'Anvers, à l'endroit qui lui sera indiqué par le pilotage et y attendra, sous quarantaine, la visite de l'agent sanitaire.

Il devra notamment hisser le pavillon et exhiber les feux prescrits par l'article 2 de l'arrêté royal du 8 mars 1898 et empêcher toute communication avant l'admission à la libre pratique.

Art. 3. Tout capitaine de navire admis à la libre pratique au port d'Anvers est soumis à la surveillance du service sanitaire.

Cette surveillance sera exercée de manière à ne pas entraver les opérations de déchargement du navire.

Art. 4. Si, au cours de cette surveillance, des accidents, tels que la survenance d'un malade atteint de maladie pestilentielle, ou la présence de rongeurs reconnus ou soupçonnés pesteux, ou des communications de nature suspecte sont constatés, le capitaine devra, sur réquisition soit de la commission, soit de l'agent sanitaire, suspendre toute opération et se conformer aux indications qui lui seront données par la commission sanitaire ou l'agent susdit.

Art. 5. Dans ce cas, le capitaine est tenu notamment:

1° D'arborer immédiatement sur son navire un pavillon de couleur jaune et d'exhiber de nuit les feux prescrits par l'article 2 de l'arrêté royal du 8 mars 1898;

2° D'empêcher toute communication avec terre ou avec d'autres navires;

3° Eventuellement, de faire conduire son navire dans le lieu qui lui sera indiqué;

4° De se soumettre aux mesures extraordinaires de surveillance, d'isolement, de désinfection et de dératisation qui seront ordonnées par les autorités sanitaires, conformément aux prescriptions de la convention sanitaire internationale de Paris 1903.

Art. 6. Toutes les fois que des faits, visés à l'article 4, auront conduit l'agent sanitaire à enjoindre verbalement au capitaine de suspendre les opérations de déchargement du navire, l'agent sanitaire devra, dans le plus bref délai, et en tout cas endéans les deux heures, remettre au commandant du navire un ordre écrit de suspension des opérations de chargement et de déchargement du navire.

Art. 7. L'agent sanitaire devra de même, dans le plus bref délai possible, et en tout cas endéans les deux heures, notifier, par la voie la plus rapide, la situation au président de la commission sanitaire et au bourgmestre de la ville.

Endéans le même délai, une notification identique sera faite télégraphiquement au ministre de l'agriculture.

Art. 8. Les infractions au présent arrêté seront punies des peines comminées par le décret sanitaire du 18 juillet 1831.

Art. 9. Notre Ministre de l'agriculture ad interim est chargé de l'exécution du présent arrêté, qui entrera en vigueur le 1er octobre 1908.

Donné à Bruxelles, le 18 septembre 1908.

LÉOPOLD.

Le Ministre de l'agriculture ad interim,

G. HELLERUTTE.

The Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the following translation of a Notice, dated September 28rd, issued by the Danish Government, prescribing the measures to be taken for the prevention of the introduction of cholera into Denmark:—

In virtue of §23 (c.f. §15) in the Notice of the Ministry of Justice of May, 14, 1900, the following is herewith decreed:—

Until further notice every person who desires to enter the Kingdom by sea from any country against which the Health Regulations in virtue of the above mentioned Notice of the Ministry of Justice of May 14, 1900, Section 2 I, have been imposed, is required to furnish the Quarantine Commission or the Customs Inspection with his full name and place of destination and so far as possible with his address here.

The information thus obtained is to be immediately reported, so far as possible by telegraph, to the police of the place of destination. Before this report has been despatched, the traveller must not be allowed to proceed.

The police are required to take measures, in co-operation so far as may be necessary with the Sanitary Commission, to ensure that persons, whose arrival has been reported to them in accordance with §1, shall for the space of five days after their arrival in this country, be inspected once daily by a doctor appointed for the purpose. With that object the doctor may require them to be present at their residence at a definite time of the day.

The place of destination given in pursuance of §1 may not be changed by the person concerned for the five days next after his arrival, until such person has notified his new place of destination and so far as possible his address there to the police of that place, who shall thereupon report by telegraph to the police of the new place of destination, provided that place is not without the kingdom. The same procedure shall be applied to each change of place of residence within the above named limits of time.

The doctors appointed in virtue of this notice to carry out the examinations are to be indemnified according to the rules of the Law of March 31, 1900, §24, concerning measures against the spread of contagious diseases.

This notification comes into operation at once.

The Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the following translation of two Orders, issued by the Spanish Government, prescribing certain precautions to be taken against cholera:—

(1) The epidemic of Asiatic Cholera which has invaded the Russian Empire, spreading to populous towns in extensive relations with the rest of Europe, and the fact, which has been proved, that man and the objects of his immediate use are the most efficient means for propagating this serious disease, necessitate the adoption of all measures which may conduce to prevent the appearance in our country of the dreaded illness, such measures to be adopted without alarm or precipitation since the danger is far off to-day. With this end in view, and in conformity with the duties incumbent on the Ministry of the Interior to safeguard the public health in the present circumstances, His Majesty the King has been pleased to direct (this Circular is addressed to the Civil Governors of the Provinces) that Your Excellency should exercise the most detailed and continuous watchfulness in order that all the rolling-stock in the railway stations for the conveyance of passengers, and especially sleeping-cars, the linen used in the same, restaurant cars and closets, be kept perfectly clean, and that Your Excellency should see that the provincial and municipal Sanitary Inspectors frequently visit the above-mentioned railway stations with the object of ascertaining whether the aforesaid hygienic measures are being carried out, and of immediately reporting cases of neglect.

(2) In conformity with existing legislation and in view of the sanitary state of extensive districts of the Russian Empire which have actually been invaded by a deadly cholera epidemic, and as a measure of precaution for the prevention of the introduction of the disease into our territory, His Majesty the King has resolved (this is addressed to the Civil Governors of the maritime and frontier provinces and the Commandants of Ceuta and Melilla) to prohibit the entry into our ports or across our frontier of old clothes, rags, soiled personal and bed linen proceeding from Russia.

If the above objects are considered as baggage or as goods in transit they will be admitted; but they will have to arrive wrapped up in tarred canvas, and the rags in large pressed bales bound with iron hoops.
