TUESDAY, JUNE 14, 1910.

Whitehall, June 13, 1910.

The following Address has been received by the Secretary of State for the Home Department from the Civil Servants of the United Kingdom for presentation to The King, and has been presented to His Majesty accordingly:—

May it please Your Majesty,

The Civil Servants of the Crown throughout the United Kingdom desire to tender to Your Majesty their profound sympathy in the loss which has befallen Your Majesty and the Empire by the death of His late Majesty: and to express their deep devotion and loyalty to Your Majesty's person, and their prayers for Your Majesty's long and prosperous reign.

G. H. Murray,

Secretary of the Treasury,
on behalf of all Civil Servants of Great Britain and Ireland.

To which Address the following gracious reply has been sent by His Majesty's command:—

Home Office, Whitehall, 6th June, 1910.

Sir,

I have had the honour to lay before The King the Address of Condolence from the Civil Servants of Great Britain and Ireland on the death of His late Majesty, and I am to say that The King highly appreciates this expression of sympathy, and desires me to request that you will convey

His sincere thanks to the Civil Servants of the Crown.

The King is pleased at the assurances of loyalty and devotion contained in the Address. He knows that novel and arduous duties, requiring for their discharge superior personal qualities besides knowledge and industry, are constantly being imposed upon the Departments of State by the legislative Measures needed to regulate the growing complexity of national life, and by an increasing refinement in the details of administration.

He is sure that the good service which was rendered during King Edward's Reign will be loyally continued to Himself and to His Ministers.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

Winston S. Churchill.

Sir George H. Murray, G.C.B., I.S.O.,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Whitehall, June 13, 1910.

The following Addresses were presented to His Majesty, at St. James's Palace, on the 9th instant:—

To The King's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please Your Majesty,

We, Your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London, humbly approach Your Majesty for the purpose of giving expression to our feelings of
