FRIDAY, 1 AUGUST, 1913.

Whitehall, July 30, 1913.

The following Addresses were presented to the KING on the occasion of Their Majesties' recent visit to Lancashire:—

Address presented by the LANCASHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL on the 7th July, on Their Majesties' arrival at Knowsley:—

To His Most Excellent Majesty King George V.

May it please Your Majesty.

We, the Chairman, Aldermen, and Councillors of the County Council of the County Palatine of Lancaster, desire on our own behalf as well as for the community we represent to avail ourselves of the privilege, so graciously granted, of giving Your Majesty and Your Royal Consort a sincerely loyal and hearty welcome on this occasion of Your visit to Your Duchy and the County Palatine of Lancaster.

We beg to assure Your Majesty that the people of the County Palatine deeply appreciate this further evidence of the great interest Your Majesty has always shown in all that concerns the welfare of Your subjects, and especially of the present purpose of Your Majesty to obtain a more intimate knowledge of the conditions under which the teeming populations in Your Duchy are employed, and of the methods adopted in carrying on the extensive industrial and commercial undertakings of the County, upon the maintenance and development of which the happiness and well-being of so large a number of Your Majesty's subjects depend.

We humbly trust that Your Majesty and Queen Mary will find Your visit interesting and informing, and will ever retain a pleasing recollection of the welcome You will receive from Your faithful subjects in Lancashire.

We earnestly pray that every blessing may be vouchsafed to Your Majesty in the occupation of the Throne, and that health and happiness may attend Your Majesty and Queen Mary in a long and prosperous Reign.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

On behalf of the Queen and Myself I thank you very heartily for your kind Address of welcome to My Duchy and County Palatine of Lancaster.

Your County, so often the scene of momentous events in our history, has now become a hive of industry, and is connected by innumerable ties with all parts of My Empire. The Queen and I retain very pleasant and grateful memories of all that We saw and learned during Our visit to you last year, and We hope on this occasion to renew and extend still further Our acquaintance with the industries for which your County is famous, and with the men and women upon whose devotion and energies under Providence those industries depend.

I trust every worker in your populous County will feel that the continued development of the industries of Lancashire is a work of national and Imperial importance.

Addresses presented on Their Majesties' visit to Liverpool, on the 11th July:—

LIVERPOOL CORPORATION.

To Their Most Excellent Majesties King George V. and Queen Mary.

May it please Your Majesties.

We Your Majesties' loyal and dutiful subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the City of Liverpool, in Council assembled, beg leave to approach Your Majesties with the expression of the dutiful homage of ourselves and of the ancient and loyal community we represent, and of our gratification at the high privilege of welcoming Your Majesties on this the memorable occasion of Your first visit to this City since Your Accession to the Throne of these Realms.

We recall with great pleasure the fact that this City was honoured on several occasions by visits from our late Venerated Monarch, King Edward VII.

The opening by Your Majesties of the new Dock, which has been constructed to meet the growing requirements of the Port of Liverpool, is an event of great importance to our commerce and local history, and Your Majesties' presence on this auspicious occasion is regarded by us as another example of the profound interest taken by You in all movements having for their object the welfare and prosperity of Your subjects.

It is our heartfelt prayer that the Almighty may bestow every blessing upon Your Majesties, and that You may both be long spared to direct the destinies of this great Empire, to advance the happiness of which Your best endeavours are always given.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

The Queen and I thank you most warmly for the loyal and dutiful Address which you have presented on behalf of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of Liverpool.

I am happy to have this opportunity of again visiting your City and of renewing the associations between My House and Liverpool. I remember that nine years ago My Father came here to lay the foundation-stone of your Cathedral, and it gives Me pleasure to know of the progress made in the erection of the building. The occasion of My present visit is to open an important addition to the great Docks which line the banks of the Mersey and provide accommodation for ships from every sea. I congratulate you on the happy necessity which compels you to add to your magnificent facilities for commerce, and I am sure that in the future as in the past you will worthily maintain your City's claim to a foremost place among the ports of My Empire and of the world.

We offer you Our most sincere thanks for your good wishes, and We look forward with every confidence to the increasing prosperity of your fortunes.

UNIVERSITY OF LIVERPOOL.

To Their Most Excellent Majesties King George V and Queen Mary.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, the Members of the University of Liverpool, humbly offer to Your Majesties a loyal and dutiful welcome to our City. We desire to express our heartfelt gratitude for the sympathy and goodwill that Your Majesty has been graciously pleased to show for the work in which we are engaged.

During the ten years that have passed since the University received its Charter from His late Majesty King Edward, the development of our work and the increase of our resources have shown, as we venture to believe, that we were not unworthy of the privileges and powers so graciously bestowed on us. It has been our aim to serve not a class but a community; and the beneficence of the Corporation of this City, with that of neighbouring authorities, enables us to say that the children of the humblest homes find an open road to the highest academic distinction, and can secure an effective training for any service that they have it in them to render to the City or to the State.

The commercial and manufacturing industries that Your Majesty has lately surveyed require for their continuance and development minds that have learnt to observe and to think; and set in their midst as we are, our endeavour has been not only to impart knowledge, but to extend it. Nor have we been unmindful of the higher duty of molding character and of quickening that spirit of devotion and sacrifice on which the strength of a nation must ever depend. Our aim is to make citizens as well as students.

We pray that the Divine Blessing may rest upon Your Majesties, and that Your Majesties' reign may long continue, enriched by progress, blest by peace, and crowned by love, over a loyal and united people.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

It gives the Queen and Myself much pleasure to receive your loyal and dutiful Address, and to assure you of Our continued interest in the University of Liverpool and Our high appreciation of the valuable work of this great institution.

I am impressed with the breadth and wisdom of the aims which guide and animate the members of the University. A learned body which, without departing from its special functions of teaching and research, sets before itself the ideal of "making citizens as well as students," cannot fail to become a powerful and beneficent influence.

The work accomplished by Liverpool University shows clearly the excellent results that may be produced by the mutual services of a learned institution and of a great commercial city. The University has provided abundantly for those branches of learning which are more immediately associated with business life. Its work in connection with the study of tropical diseases has been of inestimable value in promoting the health and prosperity of My tropical Dominions; and, thanks to the liberality of your public-spirited citizens, it has been able to provide for the teaching of archaeology and to pave the way for the wonderful results which have rewarded the researches of its members at Meroe and other places.

It is My earnest prayer that your devoted labours may long continue to enjoy the Divine blessing and to minister to the welfare of My people.

THE INCORPORATED CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF LIVERPOOL.

May it please Your Majesty.

We, the representatives of The Incorporated Chamber of Commerce of Liverpool, desire, on behalf of our Council, to associate the Chamber in the universal welcome extended to Your Majesty by your loyal City of Liverpool.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce cherish the recollection of Your Majesty's last visit to Liverpool in 1906, when as Prince of Wales you, with Her Gracious Majesty our Queen, inaugurated the buildings of the Liverpool Cotton Association.

In view of the auspicious circumstance that, since the year of that memorable and gracious visit, the annual exports and imports of the Port of Liverpool have steadily advanced, and that the total trade of the Port comprises more than one-fourth of the trade of the United Kingdom, the members of the Chamber rejoice to recognise in the advancing prosperity of their City and Port an eloquent and convincing proof of the strength and growth of the inexhaustible resources of Your Majesty's Empire.

Praying that Your Majesties will long continue in good health to reign over the British Empire.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

On behalf of the Queen and Myself I thank you most heartily for your loyal and dutiful Address of welcome.

We recall with pleasure Our visit of seven years ago to open the buildings of the Liverpool Cotton Association, and it is with great satisfaction that We learn of the continued advance in the trade and prosperity of the Port of Liverpool. It is impossible to overrate the part played by Liverpool both in distributing to the world the manufactures of this country and in receiving from abroad the raw materials of industry and the food supply of My people. Powerful bonds of mutual interest and service in this way help to link Great Britain with My Overseas Dominions and with the great and friendly States of North and South America.

The functions of your Chamber in watching over the maintenance and development of the vast and world-wide commerce of Liverpool and in accumulating information as to the conditions of trade in so many distant parts of the world are of the highest importance for the welfare of the City of Liverpool. I am confident that you will continue to discharge these functions with the ability which you have shown in the past, and I pray that your labours and those of all the citizens of Liverpool may be crowned by Divine Providence with growing success.

At the opening of the new Gladstone Dock the following Address was presented:—

MERSEY DOCKS AND HARBOUR BOARD.

To Their Most Excellent Majesties King George V and Queen Mary.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, the members of the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board, humbly desire to express our grateful sense of the great honour conferred upon us by Your visit to the Dock Estate to open the Gladstone Dock, and we assure Your Majesties of our deep loyalty and affection.

This auspicious visit is the first which circumstances have permitted Your Majesties to make to this City since your Accession, but we recall with pleasure visits made by Your revered Father, both as Sovereign and as Prince of Wales. It will be recollected that, in 1881, accompanied by your august Mother, then Princess of Wales, he opened a system of docks to which the Princess gave her own name Alexandra. We also remember that your Grandfather His Royal Highness The Prince Consort opened the Albert Dock and Warehouses in 1846, and that five years later Your Grandmother, the great Queen Victoria, was the first British Sovereign to visit this Port and Dock Estate.

Many developments of the Estate have been made since the completion of the Alexandra system, and the Board have again found it necessary to construct new docks to meet the demand for increased accommodation for ships of the largest size. In addition to the Gladstone Dock, which Your Majesties have graciously consented to open to-day, the Board are constructing on the land adjoining docks capable of accommodating vessels of 1,100 feet in length.

We rejoice in this opportunity of acknowledging the great interest which Your Majesties have always shown in every matter which concerns the welfare of Your people. This interest is again displayed in the visit which Your Majesties have made, and are making, among Your subjects in Lancashire during this week, and in the gracious act of opening the Gladstone Dock to-day.

We earnestly pray that every blessing may rest upon Your Majesties and upon the Royal House.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

The Queen and I are happy that We are able to visit you to-day for the purpose of opening this splendid dock, and We thank you most heartily for your loyal and dutiful Address of welcome.

The history of the Port of Liverpool from the construction of the first dock in 1715 to the present day is a wonderful record of maritime and industrial development of which all Britons have good reason to be proud.

These great docks, busy with no less than one quarter of the whole maritime trade of the country, present a spectacle hardly equalled by any other port in the world. The works of extension and improvement which are constantly going on bear witness to the energy and efficiency with which you exercise your responsible functions.

The trade of the Port of Liverpool with My Overseas Dominions is an important factor in our Imperial development, and I am confident that the completion of this and other new Docks will extend and strengthen your relations with all parts of the Empire and secure the commercial pre-eminence upon which our common well-being so largely depends. Liverpool appeals to the imagination as the gateway through which vast numbers travel from this country to the Continent of North America, many to start a new career in My Dominion of Canada, others to visit that great sister nation with whom we are soon to celebrate with gratitude a century of unbroken peace.

I hope and pray that to-day may be the beginning of a period of prosperity which may be greater than any you have enjoyed in the past and in which the growth of trade and the increase of wealth may bring contentment and happiness to all classes of My people.

Addresses presented on Their Majesties' visit to Manchester, on the 14th July:—

To Their Most Excellent Majesties
The King and Queen.

The dutiful and loyal Address of The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of the CITY OF MANCHESTER, in Council assembled.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, Your Most Gracious Majesties' faithful and loyal subjects, The Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of the City of Manchester, humbly approach Your Majesties with the homage of devoted attachment for the purpose of offering to Your Majesties a most cordial welcome to the City of Manchester and of expressing our great sense of gratitude and appreciation of Your Majesties' most gracious visit to this centre of industrial and commercial activity.

We have followed with the deepest interest Your Majesties' recent journeys through various parts of Your Kingdom in which those manufactures and industries are carried on which are of so much importance to the welfare of Your subjects, and we share the enthusiastic feelings of loyalty and affection with which Your Majesties have been everywhere received, and humbly venture to predict that Your Royal progress will be attended with beneficial results to Your people and nation.

We recall the great pleasure and satisfaction afforded to our citizens and inhabitants by the previous visits to Manchester of Your Majesties, when Prince and Princess of Wales, and of Their Majesties King Edward the VIIth. and Queen Alexandra, and we venture to regard Your present tour in Lancashire as a signal evidence of Your benevolent sympathy and care for the workers in the industrial portions of the country.

We rejoice to have the opportunity of testifying the deep and devoted patriotism and loyalty of the Citizens of Manchester to Your Majesties and to Your Throne and Dynasty.

And we fervently pray that Your Majesties, under Divine Providence, may be long spared to reign over and to continue in Your noble work of promoting the happiness, well-being and prosperity of the vast numbers of loyal and contented people who constitute Your grateful subjects at home and abroad.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

The Queen and I thank you most heartily for your warm welcome and for the loyalty and devotion so fittingly expressed in your Address.

We recall with much pleasure Our previous visit to Manchester, and We observe with interest and satisfaction the progress which your great City has made since that time. Our present tour has given Us the opportunity of personally studying the great industries of Lancashire, which are famed throughout the world, and have conferred remarkable benefits on the peoples of all My Dominions. The centre and controlling power of these industries lie in Manchester, which by the unparalleled efforts of its citizens has been converted from an inland town into a great seaport. If Manchester has derived its wealth and prosperity from commerce, it has also shown that success in business is compatible with an active discharge of the duties of citizenship and a keen and practical interest in art, literature, and science.

Your City has specially distinguished itself by its intelligent and discriminating patronage of the art of painting, and the efforts it has made to establish and perfect its system of technical education are worthy of high praise.

I pray that continued prosperity may attend Manchester, and that Divine Providence may bless the labour of its citizens in all the manifold branches of their activity.

THE VICTORIA UNIVERSITY OF MANCHESTER.

To Their Most Excellent Majesties King
George V. and Queen Mary.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, the Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor, Court of Governors, professors and lecturers, graduates and students of the Victoria University of Manchester, humbly crave leave to offer to your Gracious Majesties the expression of our devoted loyalty and dutiful attachment.

We gratefully remember how the encouragement given by Your Majesties and Your illustrious predecessors has aided the work in which we are engaged of adding to knowledge and of training persons fitted, we trust, to take a useful part in industry and in commerce, as well as in the professions and in the public service. Especially here in Manchester do we recall the foundation of our University by the Charter granted by Queen Victoria in 1880, its reconstitution under the Charter granted by King Edward VII. in 1904, and His subsequent visits to our City and gracious replies to the Addresses which we had the privilege of presenting to him, nor can we ever forget the visit paid by Your Majesties to our University on the occasion of the celebrations of the Jubilee of Owens College and the opening of the Whitworth Hall, and how the words then addressed to us by Your Majesty stimulated our efforts and aided our cause.

We pray that Your Majesties' reign may be long and prosperous and memorable for the advances made not only in material prosperity, but also in learning and in science and in the better education offered to all classes of Your subjects.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

The Queen and I are much indebted to you for the loyal and dutiful Address which you have presented on behalf of the Victoria University of Manchester.

We recall with pleasure Our previous visit to you at the Jubilee of Owen's College and the opening of the Whitworth Hall, and it is a great satisfaction to Us to observe the continued development of the University, and to learn that the sympathy and encouragement of Our Predecessors and Ourselves have assisted you in your efforts.

While you have added your contribution to the world's store of knowledge by your works of research, and notably by valuable studies in the history of this country, from the Roman era to the present day, you have devoted strenuous and unremitting labours to the attainment of the great object for which a University exists—the training of men and women to play a worthy part in the life of the City and of the State. In this respect your position in the midst of one of the greatest industrial and commercial cities of the modern world at once adds to your responsibilities and enlarges your opportunities. It is to the Universities that the whole Empire looks for men equipped with scholarship and technical knowledge and with the will and energy to devote these gifts to the service of the community in every sphere of action. I rejoice that the Universities are seeking to fulfil this high function by the continual extension of facilities for higher education to all classes of My subjects.

I pray that success may attend your efforts in the noble mission which has been entrusted to you.

MANCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

To Their Most Excellent Majesties King George V. and Queen Mary.

May it please Your Majesties.

The members of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, who represent the principal industrial and commercial activities of Lancashire, desire to thank Your Majesties for the opportunity afforded them of expressing their dutiful, loyal and affectionate sentiments.

Your Majesty's personal knowledge of the Overseas Dominions and of the Indian Empire—the prosperity of which is so essential to the trade of this district—ensures a sympathetic appreciation of the close business ties which bind this city to every part of Your Majesty's world-wide Empire.

Convinced as they are that a good understanding with all countries is the greatest of British interests, it is with peculiar pleasure that the members of the Chamber gratefully recognise Your Majesty's love of peace. They join with all Your Majesties' devoted subjects in the prayer that Your Majesties' united reign may be long and increasingly prosperous.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

I thank you heartily for your dutiful Address and for your kind expressions of welcome to the Queen and Myself.

It is difficult to realise that Manchester, with its vast area, its abounding wealth and its ever-increasing prosperity, had, 150 years ago, a population less than 40,000 inhabitants. The surprising development which has taken place is due in no small degree to the energy and ability of those captains of industry whom your Chamber now so worthily represents.

The name of Manchester and the excellence of Manchester cotton goods are famous throughout the world. I am well assured that you will maintain the prestige of the City and will ever seek, in the development of your commerce, to ensure the permanence of your good name.

The prosperity of your Chamber and of the trade and commerce of Manchester will always be the constant object of My solicitude.

Address presented on Their Majesties' visit to Salford:—

SALFORD CORPORATION.

To Their Most Excellent Majesties King George and Queen Mary.

May it please Your Majesties.

We, the Mayor, Aldermen and Burgesses of the Ancient and Loyal Borough of Salford, moved by feelings of loyalty and attachment to Your Majesties, offer You a hearty welcome to Salford.

We have peculiar pleasure in welcoming Your Majesty to Salford owing to Your Majesty's personal relations with the Borough as Lord of the Manor.

We have an affectionate remembrance of Your Majesties' previous visit to this Borough in the year 1896, to perform the opening ceremony of the Technical Institute, which visit is one of the most memorable incidents in the history of this ancient Borough, and marks an epoch in the educational advancement of the County Borough and surrounding districts.

We earnestly pray that Your Majesties may be long spared to manifest your interest in the industrial institutions of the country, and that you may be blessed with health and strength, so that you may have great joy in ruling over your loyal and devoted subjects.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

The Queen and I thank you most cordially for your loyal and dutiful Address.

We recollect with pleasure Our visit to Salford in 1896, and it is gratifying on revisiting your ancient Borough to see around Us so many proofs of your enterprise and prosperity. I am very glad to learn that the Technical Institute which I opened on that occasion has fulfilled the hopes which were then entertained of its value and usefulness. As Lord of the Manor of Salford I shall always feel a warm interest in the fortunes of your town, its institutions and its people.

The following Address was presented to the King on Thursday, the 24th July, on the occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of the new Offices of the Commonwealth of Australia in London:—

To His Most Excellent Majesty the King.

The Loyal and Dutiful Address of the High Commissioner for the COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA in London.

On behalf of Your Majesty's Australian Government, I beg leave to tender most grateful thanks to Your Majesty for your gracious consent to lay the Foundation Stone of the new Offices of the Commonwealth in London.

I also beg leave to be permitted to ask Her Majesty the Queen to accept the grateful thanks of the Australian Government for graciously consenting to accompany Your Majesty.

I hope and believe that this edifice, when completed, will prove worthy of the kindness of Your Majesty, worthy of Australia and of this Imperial city. A spacious exhibition of the resources of Australia will be one of the chief features of this Commonwealth Building.

That display will be a perpetual reminder of the noble opportunities which our Continent presents for vigorous development and successful enterprise.

The people of Australia remember with great satisfaction that Your Majesty and Her Majesty the Queen have a close personal knowledge of them and of their country. Indeed, the same may be said of all the large divisions of the vast Empire over which the auspicious reign of Your Royal and Imperial Majesty extends.

The difficulties and dangers of navigation which used to make Australia seem to be at such an immense distance from Great Britain have disappeared. Emigration has ceased to be exile. Secure and prosperous conditions of life have been established over immense areas of our virgin continent. The flag planted by Captain Cook less than a hundred and fifty years ago on our then unknown coasts has become the emblem of a sway over the Southern Seas almost universal.

I feel I need not remind Your Majesty that this new building will proclaim something more than the industrial growth of Australia. It will also testify to the increasing intimacy and harmony of the political relationship between the Mother and the Daughter lands. Some ties have gone, but the ties that really do unite Britain and the Dominions beyond the seas—mutual betterment—pride of race—grandeur of tradition—glory of achievement—loyalty to the Throne—a resolve to stand shoulder to shoulder when our King calls—all these remain and they are strengthened by the flight of time.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

It gives Me much pleasure, and not less pleasure to the Queen, who accompanies Me, to be present on this interesting occasion for the purpose of laying the foundation stone of the new Offices of the Commonwealth Government in London.

I congratulate the Commonwealth on the acquisition of this splendid site and on the noble structure which it is proposed to erect upon it. When completed it will take its place as a worthy and welcome addition to the buildings which adorn the centre of the Empire, and it will not only serve those useful purposes for which it is designed, but will also call to the mind of all who pass by the immense opportunities and limitless resources of the great continent under the Southern Cross. I cherish the most happy recollections of My two visits to Australia in 1881 and 1901, and of the warmth of the reception accorded to Me in all the States on both occasions. My second visit remains to both of Us an inspiring memory, when I was deputed by My dear Father to inaugurate the first Parliament of the Commonwealth.

Nothing can gratify Me more than the testimony which you bear to the growing sense of kinship and unity which pervades the self-governing communities of the Empire, and to those indissoluble ties which knit them to one another and to My Throne.

I am well assured that, as in the past, in any national emergency Australia will be ready to play her part for the common cause, and that the loyalty of her sons will never be appealed to in vain.
