

Distinguished Conduct Medals—Continued.

| Regimental No. | Rank. | Name. | Corps. | Action for which commended. |
|----------------|---|----------------------|--|---|
| 42680 | Corporal .. | Jordan, H. | 119th Battery, Royal Field Artillery | For gallant conduct in voluntarily repairing, under heavy shell fire, a telephone wire at a forward observing station. A high explosive shell burst within a few yards of Corporal Jordan, but he continued working with great coolness, until his task was completed. |
| 1199 | Driver ... | Joslin, T. B. | 12th Battery, Royal Field Artillery | For conspicuous gallantry and resource on 27th October, 1914, when three gun teams had suffered heavily in the loss of ten horses, and several drivers, he found a fresh team, thus enabling the guns to be withdrawn. Was exposed to very heavy fire during his gallant action. |
| 11107 | Private ... | Kearney, C. | No. 2 Section, 3rd Signal Company, 3rd Battalion, Worcestershire Regt. | For conspicuous gallantry in repairing telephone wires under heavy fire, and again for gallant conduct in the attack on the enemy's position on 10th November, 1914, being the leading man in the charge. |
| 25436 | Corporal .. | Kells, J. | 2nd Battery, Royal Field Artillery | For gallantry and good work performed, in continually superintending the work of our bomb guns in the trenches, the fire of which he has greatly improved. |
| 9188 | Serjeant ... | Kelly, T. | 1st Battalion Connaught Rangers | For conspicuous gallantry on 5th November, 1914, near Neuve Chapelle, during an attack on the enemy's trenches, in going out under a very heavy fire and bringing back the body of an Officer. On a previous occasion (2nd November) he rescued with great gallantry two wounded men under very heavy fire. |
| 7740 | Company-Serjeant-Major (now 2nd Lieut.) | Kennedy, J. | 2nd Battalion, Royal Highlanders | For conspicuous gallantry and dash on 23rd and 24th November, 1914, in voluntarily assisting in the leading of parties of the 58th Vaughan's Rifles, which resulted in the recapture of the enemy's trenches. |
| 10164 | Private ... | Kennedy, W. | 1st Battalion, Connaught Rangers | For gallant conduct on 23rd December, 1914. When the soldier working the trench mortar was killed, Private Kennedy at once took up the duty and carried out the work with success, shewing great zeal and ability. |
| 8468 | Company-Quarter-Master-Serjeant | Kenny, B. | 1st Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders | For gallant conduct and ability throughout the campaign. On the 8th November, 1914, he brought up supports, under heavy shell fire, to a trench which was being heavily attacked, thereby effectually stopping the enemy's advance. |
| 10441 | Lance-Serjeant | Kenny, T. R. | 2nd Battalion, Connaught Rangers | For gallant conduct on the 20th and 21st December, 1914, when he left his trench and erected wire entanglements in front; under heavy sniping fire from the enemy. |
| 5558 | Company Serjeant-Major | Kent, C. | 2nd Battalion, Durham Light Infantry | For gallant conduct on 20th September, 1914, at Troyon, valley of the Aisne, when he voluntarily assisted in the rescue of a wounded Officer under a heavy fire. |
| 8062 | Private ... | Kerry, J. | 1st Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders | For gallant conduct on 20th December, 1914, at Givenchy, when he did very effective work in counter-bombing the enemy, and for great coolness in going forward close to the German trenches to ascertain the situation. Has been previously brought to notice for his good work. |
| 147 | Company Serjeant-Major | Kirby, W. J. | 54th Field Company, Royal Engineers | For conspicuous ability and gallantry. Owing to casualties he had to undertake command of his section, and performed his duties with great skill until wounded. |
